Nation honor bound to redeem its promise of independence to Cuba.

People of Porto Rico congratulated on territorial government. Encouragement held out to islanders to fit themselves for future statehood.

Peaceable annexation of Hawaii and growing trade with the islands viewed with favor. No expression as to possible statehood.

Monroe doctrine reaffirmed and declared to be in full effect.

Firm, vigorous and dignified foreign policy called for.

United States should build and control Nicaragua canal.

Trusts condemned and government supervision and control advocated.

Protection policy reaffirmed and reciprocity commended.

Declaration for gold standard, with possible reference to silver on international basis.

Reduction of war tax favored.

Fair treatment to both civil and Spanish war veterans favored.

McKinley administration indorsed.

ONE MILLION A DAY.

The following correspondence from Washington, published in the Chicago Record, should be interesting reading for all anti-expansionists:

"The people of the United States are paying $1,000,000 a day for tropical products used in manufacturing or for food and drink. Most of them are, or can be, readily produced in the islands which have come under our control during the last three years. The April summary of the bureau of statistics shows that in the ten months ending with April our imports of tropical products have been over $300,000,000 in value, indicating that, for the full year, they will reach $365,000,000.

"India rubber, fibers, raw silk, cotton, gums, cabinet woods, indigo, ivory, dye woods and chemicals make up the share which the manufacturers require in constantly increasing quantities, and now forms more than one-third of our total imports. Of India rubber alone the imports for the ten months amount to more than $27,000,000, of fibers to 20,000,000, of unmanufactured silks $40,000,000, of cotton over $7,000,000 and of gums more than $5,000,000.

"Of the foodstuffs, sugar, of course, is first, and of that the portion which comes from the tropics is vastly greater in the last year than in the immediately preceding years. The Dutch East Indies, which lie just alongside of the Philippines, have been our largest single source of supply for sugar since the Cuban revolution began."

In a fiery and vigorous article in the June number of the North American Review, Demetrius C. Boulger makes the confident assertion that the time has arrived when the rivalry between England and Russia must be submitted to the arbitrament of the sword. Russia's movement toward the Persian Gulf and toward Herat, and her action in Manchuria, constitute a distinct and deliberate attack on the position of Great Britain in Asia which should be resented. In Mr. Boulger's judgment, England has nothing to fear regarding the result of an encounter with Russia, as she would not lack allies:

"The Ameer of Afghanistan has his finger on the pulse of Islam. He knows it throbs with hatred for the Russian. Would Turkey keep aloof from the movement under the green flag of the prophet that promised her revenge and relief from suffocation? The participation of France in the struggle entails the alliance of Italy against her, and a more rapid clearing of the Mediterranean. The war could not be many weeks old before these alliances would pass into the sphere of accomplished facts. After its development by successes on the sea and at Port Arthur, there would be still more powerful European alliances at England's disposal. Finland would be a warning to Sweden and Norway, if Russian movements on the Mourman coast rendered any further warning necessary; and the fine Scandinavian people would not be backward in participating in a movement that promised to dispel the danger of annexation, with which they are repeatedly threatened in a wanton and bullying spirit. Nor is it conceivable that Austria, which is tied to the triple alliance without gaining much benefit from it, could stand aloof when so favorable an occasion presented itself to relieve the pressure on her eastern borders, and to take part in the resuscitation of that kingdom of Poland, the downfall of which commenced her own deterioration."

WORK DONE BY CONGRESS.

When the fifty-sixth congress closed its first session last week, it left a noteworthy record of good work accomplished and of bad measures suppressed. It has left some desirable bills over to the next session, notably the one repealing the stamp taxes, but, on the whole, it has been an industrious, wise and effective body. It has passed some bills of far-reaching importance and beneficence, and has wrestled earnestly and successfully with some new and difficult problems. It has done its work thoroughly and promptly, and has not marred its record by any palpable or important error.

Undoubtedly the most significant questions dealt with by this session of congress were those relating to finance and the new dependencies. The first bill passed was that placing the finances of the country firmly on the gold standard, and this was also the most important in the length and breadth of its bearing upon the business prosperity and individual happiness of every man, woman and child in the nation. This law placed every dollar issued by the United States upon the one unquestioned basis of security known to the world, abolished the possibility of the "endless chain" menace to the treasury in time of depression, and placed the business of the whole nation on a sound foundation of confidence. Another praiseworthy financial measure was the one for refunding the national debt into 2 per cent bonds, thus saving the nation many millions of interest.

In colonial matters the bill that created the most stir and adverse comment at the time is now generally recognized as having been the wisest and best possible under the circumstances. This was the bill laying a slight tariff on Porto Riban products to furnish the necessary revenue to maintain the island government. The people, impoverished by a great storm, were unable to meet local expenditures by direct internal taxation. Under the present arrangement all the money collected for tariff dues at both ends of the line is turned over to the Porto Ricans for the next two years, together with $2,000,000 collected on goods imported from Porto Rico since the American occupation. At the end of two years, when the people will again be financially on their feet, the trade between Porto Rico and the United States becomes absolutely free. Such treatment of a new dependency is unparalleled for generosity.

Other good work done is seen in the act giving Hawaii a satisfactory government and in providing a much needed civil code for Alaska. This congress has passed the free homes bill, giving free home leases on public lands to bona fide settlers. It has done a good thing for the shipping industries of the country by allowing the free passage in bond of all foreign goods shipped through this country to other foreign countries. Among the 150 or more bills passed by this congress there is none tending to check the unprecedented commercial prosperity which the country is now enjoying. It has dealt liberally by the American exhibit at Paris, and has given St. Louis $5,000,000 for its Louisiana purchase exposition. This should be sufficient to insure to the Missouri city a most attractive fair.

In the hurry of the closing hours of the session, the last touches were put upon the usual belated appropriation bills. In the aggregate the appropriations made by this congress have been large, but, in general, the items have been justifiable. The continued disturbances in the Philippines have swelled the army expenditures unavoidably. A large appropriation was made for naval purposes and for the contingent building of an armor plant; but the navy deserves all that has been given it. The military academy bill, accepted by the house at almost the last moment, makes many desirable reforms in the army, besides elevating Major General Miles to the rank of lieutenant general, and Adjutant General Corbin to that of major general. Brigadier Generals Wheeler and Otis are also made major generals. With this new distribution of honors, with a new system of promotion, and with the rotation of staff and line in the Washington bureaus, the army seems fairly on the way to a more satisfactory organization.

Not least among the things to be set down to the credit of this session of congress are the harmful things it has left undone, chief among which was its refusal to enact the ship subsidy bill. Among the uncounted hundreds of measures submitted to it, it has chosen with commendable discrimination.—Chicago Tribune.

A CREAMERY.

A Chance to Secure One for This City.

J. W. Campbell, a representative of a St. Paul company that builds creameries, was in the city yesterday conferring with Wiley Tindolph. Mr. Campbell states that if a meeting of the farmers living adjacent to the city can be arranged for sometime in the near future he would be pleased to be present and deliver an address setting forth the advantages of a creamery. A meeting will be called, the exact date, however, has not as yet been decided upon.

There is perhaps no other branch of the farming industry that will pay as well as the selling of milk to the creameries, and it is to be hoped that every farmer living near this city will be present and give the project their honest support.

Can't Commute.

Register Peterson and Receiver George, of the U. S. land office, today received instructions from Commissioner Hermann, of the general land office, that are interpreted adversely to the belief that settlers upon the ceded Red Lake reservation lands will be allowed to commute their entries.

The intention of the framers of the free homes bill was that this privilege should be granted, and the construction placed upon the bill by the senators and congressmen is to that effect. The wording of the law, however, is such that Commissioner Hermann construes it that the commutation clause does not apply to the ceded Red Lake lands.—Crookston Times, June 12.

The Census.

Census Enumerator O. P. Johnson has completed taking the census on the west side of the river, with the exception of a few who were absent at the time he called. The work on the East side can probably be completed in a week. There is a good deal of speculation as to what the population of the city will be, but the people will have to wait until the reports are sent to Washington, as Mr. Johnson is not allowed to divulge any of the facts.

The Democrats.

The rock-ribbed and unterrified Democrats—those who have held aloft from the Populist party and are still true to the principles laid down by Jefferson and Jackson—are holding a convention at Red Lake Falls today. The primaries were held last Thursday evening, and the following delegates were elected from this city: M. K. Wall, N. W. Tarrant, James Meehan, Jr., C. C. Jackson, W. T. Mullarky and S. T. Johnson.

Base Ball Excursions.

J. B. Armstrong, manager of the Red Lake Falls base ball club, was in the city the first of the week, conferring with Manager Goodwin, of the local team. It is the intention to have a series of excursions and base ball games during the summer. The first excursion will be to Red Lake Falls on the Sunday following the Fourth, the next one to be to Thief River Falls two weeks later.

No Ditch.

At the meeting of the county commissioners held the first of the week, the matter of ordering ditch No. 2—which would drain that country lying north and west of Thief River Falls—built was postponed. There was some opposition from farmers living in the town of North, and, owing to the fact that there was a defectiveness in the service of some of the notices, the matter was dropped.

A NEW COMPANY

That Will Do Business in This City.

The Himle Land company, formed by a number of Iowa capitalists, is the name of an organization that will transact business—and lots of it, too—in Thief River Falls in the future. A. L. Himle, of Decorah, Iowa, is to be the president, and Fred G. Wells will be the local representative of the company. An office will be opened in this city as soon as a convenient location can be found. The business of the company will be be to buy and sell farm lands in Red Lake and Marshall counties. Already 16,000 acres of land tributary to this city has been purchased from the company that bought all the Northern Pacific lands in Minnesota, and will be placed on the market at once. The company expects to bring about 200 families up from Iowa during the summer and settle them upon lands in this vicinity, and it is sure to be an important factor in the development of the country tributary to Thief River Falls.

TO BE GLORIOUS.

The Celebration of the Fourth of July.

The celebration of the Fourth in Thief River Falls this year will be a decided success—present conditions being considered. The soliciting committee of the fire department report that already $400.00 has been contributed by the business men, and this will insure enough for a good celebration. A purse of $75 will be given for a base ball game, and the remaining amount will be spent in prizes for running races, etc. A complete programme will be published next week.

Gets $5,000.

Joseph Duchamp received a letter from France the first of the week, stating that his share of the personal estate left by his mother amounted to $5,000. The money is deposited in a bank in France subject to his order. It will take some time before the real estate can be divided, but "Joe's" many friends here hope it will amount to as much as the personal property—and it is said it will be more.

Solid as a Rock.

Bank Examiner James Compton was in the city yesterday and looked over the affairs of the First State bank of this city. Mr. Compton found the bank in excellent condition.

For Shooters and Fishermen.

The new 1900 edition of "Shooting and Fishing Along the Line of the Great Northern Railway" is without an equal amongst books of this class. It is handsomely bound in colored covers of new and attractive design. It is printed on fine plate paper, in two colors, is beautifully illustrated with photographs reproduced in half-tone, and is in all respects a magnificent specimen of the printer's art.

Complete information is given about all sorts and conditions of sport, from lion and grizzly bear to "cotton-tails," and including every fish that swims in the many lakes and rivers of the wide Northwestern states.

All the little details of lakes, boats, bait, distances, etc., have been carefully compiled by practical sportsmen and will be found a great convenience to anyone planning a trip. A new map of Minnesota in three colors is bound into each book.

The hunter or fisherman who is the fortunate possessor of this encyclopedia of sport in the Northwest needs no further guide to tell him where to go a-fishing or shooting. By mail for two cents from F. I. Whitney, general passenger agent, St. Paul, Minn.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil A. Kauffe, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Sons, St. Hilaire Spectator.
H. E. Mccrey, Thief River Falls Press.
John W Eastman, Thief River Falls News

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, June 4, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota on July 17th, 1900, viz: Johanna Gustafson, widow of Anders Gustaf Gustafson, deceased, H. E. No. 14,227, for the SE SE¼, NE¼ SE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 21, T. 157 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

John Hoffeas, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
George K. Muen, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
Erick Petterson, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
Knud Moen, of Ingalls, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

June 7 6t

Henry W. Lee,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. Campbell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty.
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN

Ira C. Richardson,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Frank H. Kratka
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

Aunt Rachel's
4 US
AFTERBATH

It makes the skin white and soft, removes pimples and dandruff and all eruptions from the person.

For the Head and Hair and Body.
The body and limbs of every child should be rubbed with 4 Us after every bath. Just enough dropped in the palm of the hand to rub over every part of the surface of a child, once a day will keep the skin soft and white, the pores free from getting clogged with impurity passing out from the system. A teaspoon full is sufficient to moisten the cuticle (skin covering) of a grown person. The effect is wonderful: pimples on the body and face are entirely removed by a few applications of the 4 Us. Druggists sell it.

READ THIS!
Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc Special prices for large lots.
C. KRETZSCHMAR.

TOWN TALES.

Sheriff Sampson was in the city yesterday.

O. J. Rollis was down from Rollis last week.

Wm. Lennon left Monday for the pine country.

Herb. Forder was down from Rollis the first of the week.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Houck Sunday.

Cass Gillette was up from Crookston the first of the week.

Emil Brink, of St. Hilaire, was in the city the first of the week.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

$200—buys a house and lot. Lot 50x150 feet. See James Meehan, Jr.

Clerk of Court Joseph Perrault, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city yesterday.

A frost Monday evening did considerable damage to gardens in this section.

A side walk is to be built from Langseth's store east to Meehan's addition next week.

Dr. Eshelby, of St. Paul, was in the city the first of the week, the guest of O. J. Knox.

Supt. Miller, of the St. Hilaire Lumber company, was in the city the first of the week.

The dance given by the base ball club last Friday evening was a success in every way.

Chas. E. Kiewel, representing the Crookston Brewing company, was in the city last week.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

J. W. Wheeler, the Crookston banker, transacted business in Thief River Falls the first of the week.

Capt. R. J. McDonald last week purchased eighty acres of land adjoining his farm north of here last week.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Mrs. Riley, of Eau Claire, Wis., arrived in the city last week to visit her brother, Capt. R. J. McDonald.

County Commissioner K. M. Hansen went to Red Lake Falls Monday to attend a meeting of the county board.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

The St. Hilaire Lumber company blasted several large rocks in the river between this city and St. Hilaire last week.

Pat Soards' house on the East side was struck by lightning last Saturday morning, considerable damage being done.

Mrs. L. Ulstad and children, who had been visiting friends in southern Minnesota, returned to this city last Friday.

Joe Roy, of the Red Lake agency, was here last week taking the census of the Indians living on this portion of the reservation.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

The St. Hilaire saw mill will run days only during the remaining part of the season—the night crew having been laid off Monday.

Michael Schmitz placed his hand too close to the saw in the planing mill Monday, and the result is that the ends of three fingers are missing.

John Pederson left yesterday for the Red lake with a crew of men and will bring down a drive of logs for the St. Hilaire Lumber company.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

A drive containing about 9,000,000 feet of logs, most of which belong to the Thief River Falls Lumber company, arrived in the city last Saturday.

The Thief River Falls Lumber company has leased of Carl Kretzschmar the piece of property on the east side of the dam, and also the flooding privileges.

Wayne Richardson the first of the week circulated a subscription paper, the money to be used to purchase the house in which Betsie Ross made the first American flag.

P. J. and John Kennedy, father and brother, respectively, of Mrs. O. J. Knox, are visiting in this city for a few days. Mr. Kennedy, Sr., is on his way to the Pacific coast on a business trip.

Olaf Hanson was down to Crookston the first of the week to inspect an engine which will be used in the steamboat he is building. He expects to have his boat completed by next week.

Secretary Richardson, of the drainage committee, announces that a fare of one and one-third will be given over all railroads to delegates to the drainage convention to be held in Crookston.

Shaw's Pure Malt—Exhilarates and does not poison, that's why doctors drink it. It is good for sick and old and excellent for young and well. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

E. O. Hughes has been transferred from the superintendency of the Red Lake agency school to be general superintendent of the Unita Indians in Utah. His new position means one thousand dollars per year salary, or a raise of $250.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

A large number of base ball boys went to St. Hilaire Sunday to attend the funeral of Barney Mosseau. Owing to the absence of the dead man's father, the funeral services were postponed.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

See What a President Says on Brandy for Sickness.

The president of the Baltimore medical college, who has thoroughly tested Speer's wines and brandy, says: "Speer's climax brandy is a pure and valuable article in all cases of disease in which a reliable stimulant is required. I regard it superior to most French brandies.

Notice.

The road leading north over the chief section will be closed June 1st.

Fred Rolette.

Notice.

The herd on the chief section for the coming season will be in charge of Fred Rollette.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?
—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.
JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.
M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.
M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

United States Map.
15c. A copy of our handsome map, 48x35 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

For fine job work call at the NEWS office.

Why does the boy hate the beer?

He doesn't—he loves it because it is Hamm's delicious brew. It is the medicine his kind aunty has mixed in it that he dislikes. Never mind he is to have a drink of the pure article afterwards to take the bad taste away.
Hamm's St. Paul Beer
Drink a beer you know is pure.
Theo. Hamm Brewing C. Tel. 972 St. Paul, Minn. Agents Everywhere.

If anybody has a message for the people of this community, he cannot deliver it to them so effectually, so cheaply, so quickly in any other way as through the columns of this paper.

It is the business of the NEWS to carry messages of one kind and another into homes. The message will be delivered, too, under favorable conditions, for few persons take up their local paper except in a pleasant and receptive frame of mind.

The sign upon the fence board may be good, but it can be seen only by travelers who go that particular road. The message in the local paper carries itself to thousands, no matter by which road they travel.

Select your space and put your message where it will do the most good. We, perhaps, can help you, if you will but ask us.

THE GREAT NORTHERN
Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars. Meals Served a la Carte.
Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east and south.
LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv.	Crookston	Ar.	6:30 p m
9:25 a m	"	Shirley	"	6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	"	Ives	"*	5:30 p m
10:21 a m	"	Wylie	"*	4:55 p m
11:30 a m	"	St Hilaire	Lv.	4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar.	Thief River F	"	1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv.	St Hilaire	"	4:30 p m
3:35 p m	Ar.	Red Lake F	"	3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.
Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address
W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY
Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.
JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Ads... In the News Always Bring Results.

The Affairs of Europe
are faithfully portrayed in the original and exclusive cable dispatches which THE CHICAGO RECORD prints daily from the leading capitals of the old world. This magnificent special service is in process of being greatly extended so as to include every important city in Europe; and it is supplemented by the full regular cable service of The Associated Press.

The Chicago Record, alone of all American newspapers outside New York city, now prints original and exclusive cable dispatches daily from the leading capitals of Europe.

PATENTS GUARANTEED
Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.
Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.
Send for sample copy FREE. Address,
VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
General Banking.
Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis, & Pacific Ry, Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.
ABSTRACTS OF TITLE, REAL ESTATE, FARM LOANS and INSURANCE,
Collections Promptly Attended to.
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.
M. O SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

DULUTH, SOUTH SHORE & ATLANTIC RY
THE STRAIGHT-AWAY LINE
BETWEEN THE GREAT NORTHWEST AND THE EAST.

GRAND FORKS
DULUTH
FARGO
WEST SUPERIOR
MARQUETTE
SAULT STE. MARIE
MONTREAL
QUEBEC
ST. JOHN
HALIFAX
OTTAWA
PORTLAND
TORONTO
BUFFALO
ALBANY
BOSTON
NEW YORK
DETROIT

FINEST MODERN TRAINS, DINING CARS A-LA-CARTE
T. H. LARKE, ASST. GEN'L PASS. AGT. DULUTH, MINN.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.
Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year
J. T. STIMMEL. State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn
F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

C. L. Dobner, President. H. G. Dobner, Cashier. L. Ellington Vice-President.

First State Bank

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Transact a general Banking Business.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. Gallach, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. Ellington, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. Hendricksen, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. Dobner, President.
H. G. Dobner, Cashier

Burlington Route

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF.

On the Burlington's Chicago and St. Louis Limited you can live as well as at the finest hotel in America. You can dine in a dining car; smoke in a smoking car; read in a library car; sleep in a compartment or standard sleeping car, and recline in a reclining chair car. All under one roof. Electric lighted and steam heated. Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., daily, arriving Chicago 9:25 next morning. The "Scenic" Express, an elegant day train, leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday.

Ask your home agent for tickets via this line, or address

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill. GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

TIME AND SPACE

are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

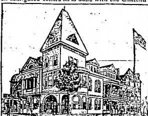
FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 23½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Chateau dé Speer Wines

of Passaic, N. J. Vineyards.

These Wines Rival the World in Excellence.

Old, rich and mellow by age and years of care and frequent racking in fumigated cellars as is done with the Chateau Wines in France.



Photograph of Chateau de Speer.

The Chateau contains a limited supply of Private Stock Port nineteen years old, besides Burgundy and Claret of nearly the same age. The Speer Port, however, nine years old, as well as the Burgundy Claret and Sherry, are high class wines. The ★★★ Climax Brandy is 18 years old. All are preferred where known by the Medical profession as superior to any that can be had, for their excellent effect upon the system when used by invalids, the weakly and aged persons and in general family use. Northern New Jersey climate, and soil abounding in iron is just adapted for this grape for Port wine. It is the same kind of soil as in Portugal. Speer's winery and vineyards are the only Port grape vineyards in the United States; only vineyards that cultivate the real Port wine grape of Portugal; while other wines or mixtures called port are made without a single Oporto grape in them. Mr. Speer is the first and only one who imported the vines and acclimated the real Port wine grape vines of Portugal. He spent thousands of dollars as a hobby to see what he could do toward acclimating these Portugal vines here. It took eight years for them to become acclimated before Mr. Speer got a single grape; during those years all died except about eight hundred vines, when these began to grow vigorous and bear fruit; from these, layers were made for new vines. The vineyards now cover fifty six acres. It has proven a success. The grapes are allowed to hang on the vines until they begin to raisin, when they have parted with some of the water and are rich in sugar; and the wine made from Port wine grapes is the only real genuine Port wine made in America. It is by far THE wine for weakly persons, the aged and for evening entertainments.

Sold by Druggists and Grocers.

MINOR GIRL BECOMES A WIFE.

Persistent Indiana Groom Carries Off a Blushing Fourteen-Year-Old Bride.

There was a sensation the other afternoon at Milford, north of Wabash, Ind., when Stephen Bird, aged 24, and whose home is at Britton, Mich., eloped from the town with Elsie Shireman, aged 14. The young man had been paying marked attention to the girl, and the parents of the latter were much incensed and ordered him to remain away from the house. Bird went to Warsaw and obtained a license. He then met the girl at the home of his brother and Rev. J. W. Keifer performed the ceremony. The groom, fearing trouble, had hired a double rig and immediately after the nuptials the pair jumped into the carriage and were driven pell-mell to New Paris, a station on the Wabash road, to take the train. They encountered the girl's father on the highway, he having learned of the ruse, but when he in a whirlwind of passion tried to stop the horses they whipped up and went by him like a flash. Shireman says he will kill Bird on sight and threatens to prosecute the minister who performed the ceremony and the official who issued the license, as his daughter is under age.

William L. Taylor, attorney general of Indiana, whose attention has been called to the frequent marriages of mere children in the state within the last three months, has issued an opinion holding that a county clerk is prohibited from licensing a man under 18 or a girl under 16 to wed. The clerk may issue a license for persons under those ages and the law does not reach the parties, though the clerk may be prosecuted if parental consent has not been obtained. The attorney general rules that the license to persons under 18 and 16 is not prima facie evidence that the parties can be married, and both the clerk and the officiating minister may be convicted of a misdemeanor.

MAN WITH BROKEN NECK.

New York Surgeons Perform an Operation and the Patient Is Getting Well.

That it is possible to save the life of a man with a broken neck is made manifest in the remarkable case of Walter B. Duryea, who is now almost fully recovered and who is to be removed from Roosevelt hospital to his home in Glen Cove.

Mr. Duryea is the son of a wealthy manufacturer. Last August he was bathing at Oyster bay and dived from a dancing pavilion into shallow water. His head struck bottom, and when he was pulled ashore it was found that his neck had been broken. He was brought to New York, placed in the Roosevelt hospital and was operated upon by Dr. Abbe, the well-known surgeon.

Medical men in all parts of the world have been eagerly awaiting results. The young man was very feeble for months after the operation. Of late, however, his improvement has been quite rapid, and he is now able to use his hands even to the extent of writing. Dr. Abbe believes that his wonderful patient will entirely recover, and that thus another triumph will be scored for modern surgery.

ENGLAND A GOOD BUYER.

Takes 60 Per Cent. of All Products Which the American Farmer Sends Abroad.

England buys 60 per cent. of all the products which the American farmer sends abroad, says Consular Agent E. L. Harris, at Eibenstock, in a report to the state department, treating upon the extent of United States trade with Great Britain. England, he says, is our best customer for foodstuffs, and the British colonies present the greatest field for our manufactured products. Mr. Harris provides a table for the fiscal year 1898-'99, showing that of our principal products, England bought in round numbers $73,000,000 worth, or 79 per cent. more than all the rest of Europe combined.

In concluding, Consular Agent Harris states that Great Britain has never shown the enmity toward our home products of corn, wheat, flour, beef and pork which has been evident in other European nations, and that the value of England's market cannot be overestimated.

FINDS BIG PEARL IN MUSSEL.

A Fresh Water Clam Digger at Lynxville, Wis., Opens Rare Prize.

As far as known the largest and most valuable pearl ever found was taken from a clam by John Haymond at Lynxville, Wis., recently. The pearl weighs 120 grains and is valued at more than $3,000, as Haymond has been offered this amount for his jewel, but refused to take it.

He has a fine collection of pearls, which he has found along the Mississippi river while digging for clam shells, and says he is going to take them to the Paris exposition. Haymond was at one time an engineer in the employ of the Milwaukee company, and it is said he lost his position and went to digging clams for a living.

Doesn't Go Far Enough.

Edith Sessions Tupper has written an article in which she tells men how to act after marrying rich women. If Edith will now pitch in and tell men how to arrange the preliminaries, the Times-Herald, of Chicago, is confident it can safely predict an immense circulation for her pamphlet.

The Match Trust Spreading Out.

The match trust has several factories in Europe and has now absorbed an important establishment in South America.

GEN. ALGER INVESTS.

He and His Associates Pay $1,500,000 for 230,000 Acres of Southern Timber Land.

Ex-Secretary Russell A. Alger and his associates have just completed the purchase of 230,000 acres of choice long leaf yellow pine timber lands, situated in the counties of Escanaba, Conecuh, Monroe and Baldwin, in Alabama, extending from the Alabama river on the north to the Florida state line on the south. The purchase was made from Martin H. Sullivan, the millionaire timber king of the south. The price paid was $1,500,000.

Gen. Alger and his associates will immediately organize a corporation to be known as the Alger-Sullivan Timber company. They will build on these lands several fine mills and the necessary railway tracks for carrying on the export timber business to which they will devote most of the lands. The mills will have a capacity of 200,000,000 feet per annum.

From government reports it appears that the forests are fast being depleted, and hence the great wisdom of northwestern enterprise in securing this, the last large body of timber land in the south. This land being connected by water with Pensacola, the logs can be floated direct to the mills, while ample railway facilities afford transportation to the wharves for shipping the timber to foreign ports. Included in this purchase by Gen. Alger is the finest wharf at Pensacola, upon which the new company will expend $100,000 in improving and extending. The water is of sufficient depth for the largest ocean-going steamers to come alongside. The South Atlantic squadron, headed by the New York, anchored out in the bay in front of it about three weeks ago.

The American Car company of Detroit, Mich., of which the ex-secretary is one of the largest stockholders, it is understood, will erect extensive works at Pensacola for building cars. They will place in charge some of the most expert workmen in their employ, many of them having 20 or 30 years' experience. The chief object in locating the works and sending the labor south is that the transportation of the timber to the works north is almost as much as the cost of the material itself.

SIAM'S FIRE PROTECTION.

King Interested in American Apparatus and Will Purchase for His Kingdom.

The king of Siam is planning to establish a fire department for his kingdom. His attention has been called to the fact that the fire department of New York city has something called a Siamese hose, and his majesty's curiosity is aroused.

With a view to obtaining the most advanced ideas of fire methods, the king's own representative, the Siamese minister, Phya Prasiddhi, has come to town. One thing he will learn about the "Siamese hose" is that it owes nothing whatever to Siam save the reputation of the Siamese twins.

Phya Prasiddhi has come from Washington with a purpose to spend as much time as may be necessary in an inspection of Chief Croker's department. A communication was received by Acting Mayor Guggenheimer from Isaac Townsend Smith, consul general for Siam, requesting permission for Minister Prasiddhi to inspect the service.

The acting mayor gave him a letter to Commissioner Scannel, and at such time as the Siamese minister may designate his tour of the department will be made with all the courtesies befitting his high rank.

SMOKE SHELLS TO BE USED.

French Officials Decide on an Innovation for the Artillery Service.

An innovation has been introduced in the French artillery service by the decision to furnish the guns with a smoke shell. Hitherto the cannon has been provided with melinite and shrapnel shell only.

This new shell is intended to be launched at an opponent's artillery, which, on bursting, will envelop it in a dense cloud of smoke, thus hampering the return fire. The new shell is the outcome of the introduction of smokeless powder.

Formerly, with the old powder, the result now aimed at was brought about by the guns themselves, the firing of which produced a smoke which blinded their own gunners. Experiments show that this invention creates a sort of veil before the enemy's artillery. Both the army and the navy will be supplied with these shells.

AMERICAN OWNERS BARRED.

Cannot Hold Property in the Exclusive Japanese Settlements in Corea.

United States Consul General Horace N. Allen, at Seoul, has been seeking to obtain an interpretation of the treaty regarding the right of non-Japanese to own land in the exclusive Japanese settlements in Corea. The question involved is one of great interest to Americans, as land so situated is very valuable for business purposes. Upon thorough inquiry, Mr. Allen has found that the holding of property in the Japanese settlements is confined to Japanese alone, and that though an American or other foreigner could take a mortgage on such property in the event of enforcing the payment of the debt the property would be sold at auction and only a Japanese could buy it in.

Mortality in Rome.

The mortality in Rome has been reduced within a few years from 25 per 1,000 to 15 per 1,000.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,

C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.

Thief River Falls, Minn.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

Strictly First Class.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,

John Forsberg. - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

La Bree Avenue. Thief River Falls.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

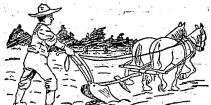
With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD

The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS

and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS

PRINTS THE NEWS

12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 24. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JUNE 21, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

WON AGAIN.

Thief River Falls vs. Red Lake County.

The Thief River Falls base ball club has again demonstrated the fact that they are the champions of Red Lake county. At the ball game played at St. Hilaire Sunday, the local club defeated an aggregation composed of the best players of St. Hilaire and Red Lake Falls, the score being 12 to 13. The game was one of the most exciting ever played in the county, and was witnessed by a large number of people from Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls. The following is the official score:

T. R. Falls—	AB.	R.	1B.	SH.	PO.	A.	E.
Fuller, 2 b.	5	2	4	4	0	0	2
Bensie, A. 1 b.	5	1	3	2	11	0	0
Crowe, r. f.	5	2	3	2	0	0	1
Bensie, D. c.	5	2	2	2	10	3	1
Vaughan, s. s.	5	2	4	3	4	4	1
Paranto, A. 3 b.	4	0	1	0	0	1	0
Browning, p.	5	1	3	2	0	8	0
Paranto, D. c. f.	5	1	2	1	0	0	0
Heritage, l. f.	5	2	3	3	2	0	0
Totals	45	13	25	19	27	16	5
St. Hilaire and Red Lake Falls—
Douglas, Joe s. s.	6	0	0	0	1	4	0
Warner, p.	6	1	3	3	2	9	0
LaChapelle, c. f.	6	3	4	2	0	0	0
Murphy, c.	5	1	4	3	7	1	1
Mitchell 1 b.	5	2	3	3	4	1	2
Conan, 3 b.	5	3	4	2	3	1	1
Martin, 2 b.	5	1	2	1	2	0	2
Kelley, r. f.	5	1	3	1	2	0	1
McAndres, l. f.	5	0	3	2	2	0	1
Totals	48	12	26	17	23	16	8

Inning—	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
St. H. & R. L. F.	1	0	0	3	0	3	3	2	0	—12
Thief River Falls	0	0	1	0	2	7	0	3	x	—13

COUNTY POLITICS.

The Democrats will probably put a complete ticket in the field in this county this year. Two years ago the Populists refused to fuse with them, and, while they are willing this year, they do not want to make an equal division of the spoils. The Democrats claim that they are more numerous than the Populists, and should have at least one-half of the county offices if they fuse.

Judge S. T. Johnson, of this city, is being supported by a large number of voters throughout the county for the office of judge of probate. Mr. Johnson is an "old timer," and is well acquainted throughout the county.

W. A. Case, of Rocksbury, will be a candidate for register of deeds on the Republican ticket. Mr. Case is well known throughout the county and would poll a good vote.

M. E. Todd will be a candidate for the office of superintendent of schools. Mr. Todd is well acquainted throughout the northern portion of the county, and, if he gets the nomination, will be sure to get acquainted in the southern portion of the county.

The Republicans will undoubtedly nominate as their candidate for judge of probate John Kivel. "Jack" is an old soldier, a good fellow, and would make an excellent official. He will be enthusiastically supported by all who know him, regardless of political affiliations.

John Quincy Adams, of Red Lake Falls, has a number of friends living throughout the county who would like to see him go after some county office, but Mr. Adams states positively that he could not afford to neglect his business for any office in the county.

Nels Holberg, who was the Republican candidate for register of deeds two years ago, is again a candidate for the nomination for the same office.

The News believes that if Lars Backe, of this city, would accept the Republican nomination for county auditor, he would be elected. Mr. Backe would make a good man in any position—and the people know it.

The Republicans will undoubtedly re-nominate Sheriff Charles Sampson. Mr. Sampson has proved himself to be a capable official, and is entitled to another term.

It is rumored that our own Francis Hibner has entered into the race as a candidate for county attorney. If there are any more Populist attorneys in this county who are not seeking this office, we would like to hear from them.

All of the Democrats throughout the county are endeavoring to urge James Meehan, Jr., to be a candidate for the legislature in Red Lake and Beltrami counties. Mr. Meehan states that he does not desire the nomination, but would probably accept it if tendered him unanimously by both the Democratic and Populist parties.

O. H. Brink, of St. Hilaire, can undoubtedly have the Republican nomination for county treasurer, if he wants it—and there are a whole lot of people in the county that want Ole to take it.

About every man in Red Lake Falls is a candidate for some office on the Populist ticket.

Said a Populist—not an office seeker—to the News the other day: "Unless the Populist party in this county throws overboard a lot of the would-be bosses, the whole ticket will be defeated this fall. Voters will not support candidates who secure their nominations through trades and combinations.

A Novel Plan.

John Dinsmore, with James Strathdee, has just completed breaking 200 acres of prairie. His plan was novel in this part of the country, as he used a traction engine and three gang plows hitched behind. The engine, with plows, ran a mile east, turning over seven feet of sod, and, on the return trip, broke up another seven feet of the prairie. The total distance covered each day by the engine and plows was 24 miles. The engine used was a 20 h. p. J. I. Case compound, equipped with the Wolf valve gear, and was worked up to 24 horse power. It is owned by John Dinsmore, of Riverton township, and is used by him in the fall in operating his threshing outfit. The fuel used each day was three-fourths of a ton of soft coal. Mr. Strathdee says this engine, with the three plows, can easily break twenty acres of prairie in a day.—Moorhead Independent.

Drowned at Gentilly.

Last Thursday a distressing accident occurred at Gentilly, which resulted in the death of the 2-year-old son of Remi Fortier, Jr. The little one was playing in the yard, and, being missed, search was made, which disclosed the fact that he had fallen in a well, and was dead when the body was recovered.

His Salary Raised.

Postmaster Richardson has received word from the postmaster general that on July 1st the salary of the postmaster at Thief River Falls will be $1,200 a year—an increase of $100. This is due to the increased amount of business being transacted.

A Depot for Wylie.

At the request of citizens of Wylie, the state warehouse commissioners have ordered the Great Northern to erect a passenger depot at that place. Great is Wylie.

ARE NUMEROUS.

The Prairie Chicken Crop Will Be Good.

The absence of violent rain storms this spring has had a favorable effect upon the prairie chicken crop, and exceptionally good sport is promised for the fall. Usually in the spring many nests of eggs and many young broods are destroyed by these sudden and violent downpourings, but this spring there has been nothing of that sort, and the eggs have hatched and the young ones have developed without any setback. Young broods are already very numerous.

The Wheat Crop.

After a trip through the wheat fields, the crop "expert" of the Minneapolis Journal has reached conclusions surprisingly close to the facts in the case. For this reason the News reprints the following:

First—The wheat crop will show the smallest average per acre raised in the northwest in years.

Second—A part of the wheat is beyond help, and no amount of rain will restore it to yielding basis.

Third—The crop is half grown at this period, sixty or seventy days after seeding, and showing a tendency to head six to twelve inches from the ground.

Fourth—Flax will be a great disappointment to those who anticipated a large yield, except as the season develops favorably from now on and holds late without frost.

What the exact result will be for wheat must depend on whether there are soaking rains within ten days to two weeks. If these rains do not come, the wheat yield of the Northwest will drop to a point that will be very small. If good rains—not showers of an hour—come this month, a fair crop of wheat is the most that can be expected.

A striking peculiarity of the crops this year is the evenness of the wheat in all sections. The Red River valley has no apparent lead over the sandy soil of Sherburne county. There is as good wheat in Hennepin county as the best average of the Red river counties. There are touches of extreme drought conditions intervening between these localities. While the crop as a whole cannot rise above a condition of fair, there will be large areas of absolute failures. If the total acreage is placed at 15,000,000, there will be the largest percentage of area that will not be cut that has ever been known.

The Minneapolis Times reviews the wheat situation thusly:

Reports of the damage to spring wheat in the northwest have poured in in overwhelming volume during the present week, coming from the interested speculator, the farmer, the elevator operator, the country editor and from the various railroads, and they have invariably been of a pessimistic character. Strange as it may seem, not one correspondent has been able or willing to enlighten the world regarding one locality where wheat is not a total failure, only half a crop, being plowed under, eaten up by locusts, chinch bugs, etc., etc.

That there will be a shortage in the spring wheat yield, as compared with last year or recent years, there is no doubt, but there will be enough wheat raised in this great northwestern country this year to keep the wolf from the door until another harvest rolls around, and enough for seed-purposes another year. All this hue and cry about a crop failure is having its intended effect, as may be seen in the market for wheat futures, where July wheat was quoted at 68⅝c a week ago, whereas it is now 72¼c. So long as the crop is not an utter failure, as some in interest would have it, and is a fair average—as it undoubtedly will be in some sections—farmers need not object to this superabundance of crop damage talk.

Rain has fallen over a considerable area of the spring wheat region during the past week, and there is little doubt that it was of material benefit. Some sections have been more favored with rains than others, and, in these a fair average crop will undoubtedly be harvested. In some localities, where there has been little or no precipitation for some time, crops will be very poor and even total failures, but it is believed that such conditions are the exception and not the rule.

The condition of winter wheat is unchanged from a week ago. The plant has made seasonable progress and harvesting has begun as far north as Kansas, southern Illinois and Missouri, and the crop is being gathered under quite favorable conditions, although too much rain is noted in some localities. The acreage is somewhat smaller than a year ago, but, owing to the favorable conditions in the southwest and on the Pacific coast, the general average on June 1 was better than a year ago.

Wheat, including flour, shipments for the week aggregate 4,678,029 bushels, against 4,230,221 bushels last week, 2,794,471 bushels in the corresponding week of 1899, 4,396,787 bushels in 1898, 2,547,319 bushels in 1897, and 3,020,317 bushels in 1896. Since July 1, this season, the exports of wheat aggregate 191,824,982 bushels last year and 225,272,818 bushels in 1897-98. Corn exports for the week aggregate 3,634,205 bushels, against 3,084,474 bushels last week, 3,285,301 bushels in this week a year ago, 4,106,706 bushels in 1898, 1,924,213 bushels in 1897 and 1,510,761 bushels in 1897. Since July 1, this season, corn exports aggregate 196,254,327 bushels, against 162,425,726 bushels during the same period a year ago and 199,614,020 bushels in 1897-98.

According to Bradstreet's, the volume of business is considerably larger than a year ago, judged by such indicators as railroad traffic and the statistics of foreign trade. Bank clearings are smaller than last year's, but they undoubtedly included much of a speculative character than that is absent now. However, outside of New York, clearings are heavier than last year.

The failures for the week in the United States number 180, as compared with 184 last week, 50 in this week a year ago, 207 in 1898, 226 in 1897 and 265 in 1896. Failures in the Dominion of Canada number 23, as against 20 last week, 25 in this week a year ago, 19 in 1898, 34 in 1897 and 35 in 1896.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

Notice.

The road leading north over the chief section will be closed June 1st.

Fred Rolette.

Notice.

The herd on the chief section for the coming season will be in charge of Fred Rollette.

We Are Doing a Very Satisfactory Business

---and the cause of it is that we are making prices that are right. Just see a few of our prices:

Sea Island percales, 36-inch wide, latest patterns, per yard	12c
Parkhill ginghams, fancy patterns, per yard	10c
Good assortment of white goods, prices from 10 to	35c
Foulard fancy prints, none better, per yard	6c
Luzon fancy prints, light figures, per yard	6c
Simpson percales, per yard	6c
L L fine brown sheeting, per yard	6c

Highest price paid for produce.

Mullarky & Hansen.

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 23c to 45c	Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts 45c
You can buy a good business suit for $7.50	Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to $1.50
Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to $1.25	Pique front white shirts for men 48c
Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to $4.50	Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for $2.98
Pants for men from $1.00 to $5.00	Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to 50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,

Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, JUNE 21, 1900.

The city council is deserving of considerable praise for the good work it has caused to be done upon roads leading into the city. Now the farmers should keep them in repair.

More than a sufficient number of delegates to the Kansas City Democratic convention have been instructed for Bryan, and the nomination will probably be made by acclamation. The northern and eastern Democrats will endeavor to prevent the adoption of a free silver platform, and their chances of success are good.

Here is a guess from the Princeton Union, State Auditor Dunn's paper: For governor, S. R. Van Sant; lieutenant governor, Lyndon A. Smith; secretary of state, Swan B. Molander; treasurer, J. H. Block; attorney general, W. B. Douglas; railroad commissioners, C. F. Staples and ———; supreme court justices, C. M. Start and L. W. Collins.

The Minneapolis Journal notes a marked increase in the death rate at the Minnesota Soldiers' Home during the past year, and advances several theories as to its probable cause. We do not suppose that the removal of the doctor who had cared for the physical welfare of the old vets for eight years, until about a year ago, when he had to go to make room for a friend of Lind's, has anything to do with the case.

An amusing incident during the Wisconsin Democratic state convention last week showed the drift of public sentiment even among Democrats. The temporary chairman of the convention, in taking his seat, said: "Where the United States has planted its flag it shall never be hauled down——" The convention broke into cheers, which were hearty and long, and which showed clearly that the sentiment was that of the majority of those present. But his auditors had misunderstoon the chairman, who continued when the applause subsided: "Except by the people of the United States." There was some laughter when the delegates realized that they had applauded too soon.

Ignatius Donnelly's letter of acceptance of the Middle-of-the Road Populist nomination for vice-president was made public last week, and was unique in its way. While Mr Donnelly's letter has no political significance, it is pleasing to observe that he makes assertions with as much vigor and picturesqueness as he did when he was considered the leader of the People's Party in the United States. He gives no comfort to the Democratic party, "with its head in Wall street and its tail in the Mississippi Valley." The Populist party is "the forward movement of God for the blessing of his children against the throglodyte in his cavern, cracking the leg bones of his victim to extract the marrow for his cannibalistic feast." In conclusion, Mr. Donnelly finds comfort in being "the eagle on the mountain top nigh famished in the fellowship of storms rather than the beastly reptile in the swamp, bloated with filth and sleeping away its wretched existence," and in the thought that if this nation is to live, it needs the Populist party, "with its heroic breed of statesmen."

NEXT SUNDAY

A Special Excursion to Red Lake Falls.

An excursion train with twelve passenger coaches will carry a crowd from this city to Red Lake Falls Sunday to witness a game of base ball between the Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls base ball nines. J. E. Campbell, of Crookston, will umpire the game, and it promises to be an interesting one. A return game will be played in this city on Sunday, July 14th, and the Red Lake Falls crowd will also come up in a special train.

THE DEMOCRATS

Held Their County Convention Last Thursday.

The Democrats held their county convention in Red Lake Falls last week. W. T. Spillane was selected as chairman, and M. K. Wall was made secretary. The convention was held for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the state convention, and the following we chosen: James Meehan, Jr., P. G. Paradis, Dan Lonehan, N. W. Tarrant, W. T. Spillane, M. K. Wall, Theo. LaBissoniere, J. W. Peterson, C. C. Jackson, Matt Skala, H. W. Lee, Fred Borchers, J. W. McGinty and William O'Brien.

The chairman was given power to name the delegates to attend the congressional convention which convenes at Fergus Falls June 28th.

James Meehan, Jr., was indorsed as a member of the state central committee.

For Shooters and Fishermen.

The new 1900 edition of "Shooting and Fishing Along the Line of the Great Northern Railway" is without an equal amongst books of this class. It is handsomely bound in colored covers of new and attractive design. It is printed on fine plate paper, in two colors, is beautifully illustrated with photographs reproduced in half-tone, and is in all respects a magnificent specimen of the printer's art.

Complete information is given about all sorts and conditions of sport, from lion and grizzly bear to "cotton-tails," and including every fish that swims in the many lakes and rivers of the wide Northwestern states.

All the little details of lakes, boats, bait, distances, etc., have been carefully compiled by practical sportsmen and will be found a great convenience to anyone planning a trip. A new map of Minnesota in three colors is bound into each book.

The hunter or fisherman who is the fortunate possessor of this encyclopedia of sport in the Northwest needs no further guide to tell him where to go a-fishing or shooting. By mail for two cents from F. I. Whitney, general passenger agent, St. Paul, Minn.

See What a President Says on Brandy for Sickness.

The president of the Baltimore medical college, who has thoroughly tested Speer's wine and brandy, says: "Speer's climax brandy is a pure and valuable article in all cases of disease in which a reliable stimulant is required. I regard it superior to most French brandies.

Lost.

A roll of bills containing $60—two twenties and four fives—was lost last week, probably on the East side. Finder will be liberally rewarded.

Notice.

The herd on the chief section for the coming season will be in charge of Fred Rollette.

THE CENSUS.

It Is Nearly Completed in Thief River Falls.

Census Enumerator O. P. Johnson has about completed taking the census of the city, and he expects to send his reports to the supervisor next Monday. If you have been overlooked and not counted, please report the fact at once, Mr. Johnson is making an honest and earnest effort to count every resident of the city, but there are sure to be a few who have been overlooked, and if you know any one, report the fact to Mr. Johnson at once.

FOR THE FOURTH.

Crookston Base Ball Club Will Play Here.

The Crookston base ball club has decided to play ball in this city on the Fourth with the local club. A special train will be run from Crookston to this city, and it it is expected that a large crowd will be present.

AN INDIAN ROMANCE.

Story of Frances Slocum and Her Life Among the Redmen.

Monument Unveiled Over the Spot Where She Now Lies Buried—Captured by Indians When But Five Years Old.

An impressive ceremony was observed at the little village of Peoria, Miami county, Ind., the other day in the unveiling of a monument to mark the resting place of Frances Slocum.

The story of Frances Slocum dates back to a period in the revolutionary war. When she was five years old she lived with her parents near the Wilkesbarre (Pa.) fort. One night the log cabin in which they lived was besieged by Indians. The father and brother were massacred by the savages, but the mother and children were spared. Frances was taken west with the Indians, and her people were in ignorance of her whereabouts. The mother did not abandon hope. She said her soul constantly communed with that of her lost child, and she often said that she knew by intuition that Frances was alive and that she would again see her. Finally, the family heard of a white woman who was living with a tribe of Indians in western Pennsylvania. The brothers left the mother and, taking guns and provisions, began their long tramp through a trackless forest to the point they had been directed. Their efforts were rewarded, for, on arriving at the village, they found their sister, now grown to nearly womanhood.

She finally consented, after much deliberation, to accompany the brothers home. The Indians were loth to give her up, but on her promise to return to them they acquiesced to her plans. Mrs. Slocum cherished her with a mother's tenderness, but the wild flower from the forest pined for a life of freedom. At last Frances returned to the Indians who had reared her.

In 1837, 50 years after her capture, her relatives again heard from her. She was living near Logansport, Ind. Her brother, Joseph Slocum, and a sister journeyed from Pennsylvania to visit her. Soon after the death of her foster parents her hand was sought in marriage by a young chief of the tribe, and she was happy in her domestic relations. Her first husband died, and she again married, taking for a husband one of the Miami tribe.

She died in 1856, and was buried in what is now the village of Miami with considerable pomp, for she was regarded as the queen of the tribe and a woman of much more than passing consequence.

HOAX ON BRITISH MUSEUM.

Mysterious Box, Bequeathed in 1834, Opened and Found to Contain Only Trash.

The British museum trustees, who include Premier Salisbury, Lord Rosebery, Alfred Rothschild and several other eminently important personages, have just been made the victims of an extraordinary hoax.

Francis Douce, a famous antiquary, who died in 1834, bequeathed a box to the British museum trustees, stipulating it should not be opened until 1900.

At a meeting of the trustees the box was solemnly unsealed and unlocked by the curator of the museum, when it was found to contain nothing but old fragments of paper, torn book covers and other rubbish, with a note from Douce saying that, in his opinion, it would be wasting any more valuable or interesting objects to leave them to persons of the average intelligence and taste of the British museum trustees.

The trustees tried to look amused, but the meeting dispersed in silence. The janitor was called to throw Douce's bequest into the ashbin.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches,
Clocks,
Jewelry
and
Guns.

Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as The North American Review. — Boston Journal.

IN THE

North American Review

YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND

The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "The North American Review constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the North American Review."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.

The North American Review, N. Y.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3101, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

For fine job work call at the News office.

Why does the boy hate the beer?

He doesn't—he loves it because it is Hamm's delicious brew. It is the medicine his kind aunty has mixed in it that he dislikes. Never mind he is to have a drink of the pure article afterwards to take the bad taste away.

Hamm's St. Paul Beer

Drink a beer you know is pure.

Theo. Hamm Brewing Co.
Tel. 972 co St. Paul, Minn.
Agents Everywhere.

Aunt Rachel's

4 US AFTERBATH

It makes the skin white and soft, removes pimples and dandruff and all eruptions from the person.

For the Head and Hair and Body.

The body and limbs of every child should be rubbed with 4 Us after every bath. Just enough dropped in the palm of the hand to rub over every part of the surface of a child, once a day will keep the skin soft and white, the pores free from getting clogged with impurity passing out from the system. A teaspoonful is sufficient to moisten the cuticle (skin covering) of a grown person. The effect is wonderful: pimples on the body and face are entirely removed by a few applications of the 4 Us. Druggists sell it.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.

OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.

A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,

C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

United States Map. 15c.

A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.

Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.
Phil A. Kauper, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Broughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
H. E. Mussey, Thief River Falls Press.
John W Eastman, Thief River Falls News

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, June 4, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota on July 17th, 1900, viz: Johanna Gustafson, widow of Anders Gustaf Gustafson, deceased, H. E. No. 11,227, for the SE¼ SE¼, NE¼ SE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 21, T. 157 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

John Hoffnas, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
George K. Muen, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
Erick Petterson, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
Knud Moen, of Ingalls, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
June 7 6t Register.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., June 18, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on July 31st, 1900, viz: Edvart Fasteson, H. E. 15,116, for the W½ SW¼ and SW¼ NW¼, Sec. 15, Tp. 157 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Andrew Olson, of Breese, Minn.
Phillip Larson, of Breese, Minn.
Carl Petterson, of Breese, Minn.
August A. Petterson, of Breese, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
June 21 6t Register.

Henry W. Lee,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - MINN

N. Campbell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN

Ira C. Richardson,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - MINN

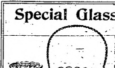
Frank H. Kratka
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

Special Glassware Sale.



The "Somerset," 25c.

A Berry or Blanc Mange set of seven pieces. An unprecedented offer of a dainty imitation cut-glass Berry Bowl (with silvered wire handle) and six berry dishes like the accompanying illustration.

A Regular 50 Cent Set.

Don't fail to get one of these beautiful sets. Guaranteed to be exactly as represented. Will make a dainty, graceful ornament for any sideboard or table, and can be used for a thousand different purposes. Never before sold for less than 50 cents. Our Special Price............25c.

H. M. HICKS,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

TOWN TALES.

Robert Lonson is down from the Red lake.

Pat Welch is down from the Red lake.

John J. Soll, of St. Hilaire, was in the city last week.

Frank Wiley came up from Crookston the first of the week.

John Sweeney came down from the Red lake country last week.

John Sargent came down from the Red lake the first of the week.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

Attorney F. A. Grady, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city last week.

I. Dahleen, the royal Sweed of St. Hilaire, was in the city last week.

Day F. Stacy, the Red Lake Falls surveyor, was in the city yesterday.

$200—buys a house and lot. Lot 50x150 feet. See James Meehan, Jr.

Wiley Tindolph went to Minneapolis yesterday on a short business trip.

Ira C. Richardson went to Crookston Tuesday to attend the drainage convention.

James Meehan last week sold to T. F. Blair, of Moorhead, a farm in the town of Lambert.

Will Vaughan was down from Germantown the first of the week after a load of supplies.

Hans Johnson, deputy internal revenue collector from Crookston, was in the city Monday.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

Mike Wall has received a large photograph of the mayor of Cass Lake, to whom he is related.

Miss Linda Robbecke and Miss Olga Kretzschmar visited friends in Red Lake Falls the first of the week.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

Don't fail to attend the social to be held in James Meehan's new building on La Bree avenue tomorrow evening.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Dr. Francis was called to Tweet last Friday to repair the fractured skull of a man who was accidentally hurt while grubbing trees.

Louis Hanson was down to St. Paul last week as a delegate from the local I. O. O. F. lodge to attend a meeting of the grand lodge.

A large number of prospective farm purchases, were made in the city the first of the week. The local dealers report many sales.

A. Wright is building a hotel on some lots west of the depot. It is 24x24 and 18 feet high, with an addition 14x18 and 14 feet high.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

The Thief River Falls Lumber company's steamboat, the Alice, is now making regular trips from Highlanding to points on the Red lake.

Dellos Douglas, who, since his removal to Red Lake Falls, has changed his first name to "Joe," was in the city the first of the week.

W. A. Schreiter, of Red Lake Falls, has been granted a franchise to put in a telephone system in that city, and will begin business at once.

Hallock will hold a three days' mid-summer fair to be combined with a Fourth of July celebration, and has $1,500 to spend in making it a success.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Misses May and Sarah Vaughan are on their claims up near Germantown, where they will remain for several weeks. Dorothy Dobner is visiting with them.

P. E. Smidesang, the genial Wylie merchant, was in the city last week transacting business. Mr. Smidesang noted many substantial improvements in the city.

Elmer Eaton, wheat buyer for the St. Anthony and Dakota Elevator company, left last week for his old home in Chester, Iowa, to spend a few weeks visiting friends.

Ole Estem, who has been at work on the experiment farm during the past two years, left this morning for Thief River Falls, where he has purchased land.—Crookston Times.

Billie Warner became tired of living in a town where the residents could not play ball, and the first of the week removed to this city from St. Hilaire. He will work in the saw mill.

The Catholic Ladies Aid society will give a strawberry social June 22nd in James Meehan's new building on La Bree avenue. Another social will be given at Mrs. James Meehan's June 28th.

A Bemidji saloon keeper cashed a 25-cent town order, paying the holder $25 for it. The payee says that the booze jerker "stuck it into him" once last summer, and intimates that, being from Missouri, it's up to the complainant to show him where the false pretense comes in.

Last Sunday was the Modern Woodmen's Memorial Sunday, and in the afternoon they decorated the graves in Greenwood cemetery. In the evening they attended the Methodist church in a body.

Walter Robbecke left last Saturday for Crookston, intending to work on a farm near there during the summer. He changed his mind, however, and will board at the Ogahmah during the summer.

Shaw's Pure Malt—Exhilarates and does not poison, that's why doctors drink it. It is good for sick and old and excellent for young and well. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

At Bemidji there was a dam by a mill site, but there was no mill by the dam site (the mill was being built at Cass Lake.) The result is there is now no dam by a mill site. (The Bemidji people blew it up.)—Hibbing Tribune.

James Meehan, Jr., Henry W. Lee and C. C. Jackson left Tuesday for St. Paul to attend the meeting of the Democratic state convention. Mr. Meehan will be recommended by the local Democrats as a member of the state central committee.

The wheat crop in the northwest will be a decided failure this year. Locally the crops have not suffered to any great extent, except upon the sand ridges, where, in many places, it will be a failure. Unless we have rains inside of ten days, the outlook will not be bright.

The many friends of Mrs. A. C. Adams will be pleased to learn that she is entirely out of danger since taking treatment at the Fargo hospital. She arrived home Saturday somewhat fatigued after the trip, but was able to get into the carriage at the depot without assistance.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

The Growler draws the line on obituary poetry, but here is a little gem on the death of a boy over in Becker county that we really think has merit. A humble boy, with a shining pail, went gaily singing down the vale to where a cow, with a brindle tail, on the clover pastures did regale. A bumble bee did gaily sail over the soft and shady vale to where the boy, with the shining pail, was milking the cow with the brindle tail. The bee lit down on the cow's left ear, her heels flew up through the atmosphere, and, through the leaves of a jack pine tree, the boy soared into eternity.—Battle Lake Review.

The idea that small towns must necessarily depend upon a very limited amount of trade is altogether erroneous. Just as soon as any town gets a reputation as a money saver for the purchasers, just as soon as the farmer becomes convinced that he can get as much or more for his money, that town, no matter how small, will draw trade. There is nothing so sure to bring a customer to your store the second time as to give him a bargain the first. Two business transactions with a moderate profit make more money than one deal with a large gain. And if merchants will advertise persistently and judiciously the people will come their way in search of bargains.

A dance will be given by the Thief River Falls base ball club, in the Odd Fellows' hall, tomorrow (Friday) evening, June 22. Admission, 50c. All are invited.

Salvation Army.

The Devil's Christmas Tree will will be on exhibition at the Methodist church tonight. An interesting lecture will be given, touching upon the various articles exhibited. Doors open at 7:30. Meeting to start promptly at 8 p. m. An admission of 10 cents will be charged to defray expenses. No one can fail to see and hear this striking lecture. All are invited. Secure seats early. A full house is assured. John Schurman, Captain.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.

M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

If anybody has a message for the people of this community, he cannot deliver it to them so effectually, so cheaply, so quickly in any other way as through the columns of this paper.

It is the business of the News to carry messages of one kind and another into homes. The message will be delivered, too, under favorable conditions, for few persons take up their local paper except in a pleasant and receptive frame of mind.

The sign upon the fence board may be good, but it can be seen only by travelers who go that particular road. The message in the local paper carries itself to thousands, no matter by which road they travel.

Select your space and put your message where it will do the most good. We, perhaps, can help you, if you will but ask us.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv. Crookston	Ar. 6:30 p m
9:25 a m "	Shirley	" 6:00 p m
10:05 a m*"	Ives	"*5:30 p m
10:31 a m "	Wylie	"*4:55 p m
11:30 a m "	St Hilaire	Lv. 4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar. Thief River F	" 1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv. St Hilaire	" 4:30 p m
2:33 p m	Ar. Red Lake F	" 3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

Just talk to R. B. Vining at Thief River Falls.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Ads... In the News Always Bring Results.

The Affairs of Europe

are faithfully portrayed in the original and exclusive cable dispatches which The Chicago Record prints daily from the leading capitals of the old world. This magnificent special service is in process of being greatly extended so as to include every important city in Europe; and it is supplemented by the full regular cable service of The Associated Press.

The Chicago Record, alone of all American newspapers outside New York city, now prints original and exclusive cable dispatches daily from the leading capitals of Europe.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in The Patent Record, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

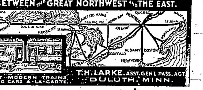
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

DULUTH, SOUTH SHORE & ATLANTIC RY.

THE STRAIGHT-AWAY LINE

BETWEEN THE GREAT NORTHWEST AND THE EAST.



FINEST MODERN TRAINS. DINING CARS A-LA-CARTE.

T. H. LARKE, ASST. GEN'L PASS. AGT. DULUTH, MINN.

The John Hancock

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year

J. T. STIMMEL State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn

F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn.

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON Vice-President.

First State Bank

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Transact a general Banking Business.

DIRECTORS:

A. G. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
G. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier

Burlington Route

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF.

On the Burlington's Chicago and St. Louis Limited you can live as well as at the finest hotel in America. You can dine in a dining car; smoke in a smoking car; read in a library car; sleep in a compartment or standard sleeping car, and recline in a reclining chair car. All under one roof. Electric lighted and steam heated. Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., daily, arriving Chicago 9:25 next morning. The "Scenic" Express, an elegant day train, leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday.

Ask your home agent for tickets via this line, or address

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill. GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

TIME AND SPACE are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

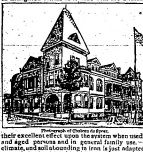
FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 23½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Chateau de Speer Wines

of Passaic, N. J. Vineyards.

These Wines Rival the World in Excellence.

Old, rich and mellow by age and years of care and frequent racking in fumigated cellars as is done with the Chateau Wines in France.



Photograph of Chateau de Speer.

The Chateau contains a limited supply of Private Stock Port nineteen years old, besides Burgundy and Claret of nearly the same age. The Speer Port, however, nine years old, as well as the Burgundy Claret and Sherry, are high class wines. The ★★★Climax Brandy is 18 years old. All are preferred where known by the Medical profession as superior to any that can be had, for their excellent effect upon the system when used by invalids, the weakly and aged persons and in general family use. Northern New Jersey climate, and soil abounding in iron is just adapted for this grape for Port wine. It is the same kind of soil as in Portugal. Speer's winery and vineyards are the only Port grape vineyards in the United States; only vineyards that cultivate the real Port wine grape of Portugal; while other wines or mixtures called port are made without a single Oporto grape in them. Mr. Speer is the first and only one who imported the vines and acclimated the real Port wine grape vines of Portugal. He spent thousands of dollars as a hobby to see what he could do toward acclimating these Portugal vines here. It took eight years for them to become acclimated before Mr. Speer got a single grape; during those years all died except about eight hundred vines, when those began to grow vigorous and bear fruit; from these, layers were made for new vines. The vineyards now cover fifty six acres. It has proven a success. The grapes are allowed to hang on the vines until they begin to raisin, when they have parted with some of the water and are rich in sugar; and the wine made from Port wine grapes is the only real genuine Port wine made in America. It is by far THE wine for weakly persons, the aged and for evening entertainments.

Sold by Druggists and Grocers.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN

United States Exports Continue to Increase.

The Total for April Exceeds by $30,000,000 Those for a Corresponding Period of Any Previous Year.

The fiscal year 1900 continues to break all records in the matter of exportations. April is an example of this fact. The total exports in April, as just announced by the treasury bureau of statistics, are $118,926,507, which is $20,000,000 more than in any preceding year, $30,000,000 more than April of last year and double that of April, 1893. Never before has April, which is usually a light export month, reached the $100,000,000 mark in its exports.

Every branch of industry lends its aid to this increase. The total figures for the month of April have not yet been sufficiently analyzed to show the exact increase in each class, but an analysis of those for the month of March shows that agricultural exports in that month were $18,000,000 greater than in the corresponding month of last year, that manufactures were $3,000,000 in excess of the corresponding month of the preceding year; that products of the mine were nearly 50 per cent. in excess of those of the corresponding month of 1899, while products of the forests, the fisheries and those grouped as miscellaneous all showed an increase. The advance in prices of cotton, corn, oats, wheat and provisions accounts in part for the increase in the value of agricultural exports, while there is also an increase in quantity exported, especially in cotton, and the advance in values also accounts in part for the great increase in exports of manufactures.

It is now apparent that in all the great classes of our exports the record of the year 1900 will exceed that of any earlier year. In the nine months ended with March exports of agricultural products were $18,000,000 greater than those of the corresponding months of 1899, manufactures were $70,000,000 greater than those of the same months in the preceding fiscal year, products of the mine exceeded those of the corresponding months of 1899 by 33 per cent., those of the forests showed a like increase, and fisheries and miscellaneous also showed a gain over the corresponding months of the preceding fiscal year, and with the phenomenal increase of $30,000,000 in April, 1900, as compared with April, 1899, it is quite apparent that the record of the year which ends less than 60 days hence will exceed that of any earlier year in our history.

COLLECTED FROM PHILIPPINES

Representative of Smithsonian Institution Returns from a Third Visit to Island.

Col. F. F. Hilder is back from his third visit to the Philippines in the interests of the Smithsonian institution, and is here on his way to Washington with the first lot of a collection of specimens that aggregate about 15,000 pieces, having an intrinsic value of something like $12,000, and constitutes an exhaustive exhibit of the manufactures, trades, arts, tools, domestic utensils, costumes, weapons, woods and industries of the Philippine islands. The balance of the exhibits will arrive in the course of the next two months. The whole interesting display will first be arranged at the Pan-American exhibition that will open at Buffalo next May. Afterward the collection will be returned to Washington and arranged as a Filipino department in the National museum.

Col. Hilder says that the greatest and most profitable industry of the future in the Philippines will be that connected with the marketing of the magnificent timber that covers the islands. There are extensive groves of hard cabinet woods unknown to the commercial world. He has also made a collection of all the fibers of the country, among them the celebrated one from which manila rope is made. This fiber, he says, is not hemp at all, but comes from a species of banana peculiar to the Philippines. Next to the hard woods these fibers will be of great commercial value.

WEDS HER COACHMAN.

Grandfather Threatens to Disinherit the Fair Heiress Unless She Returns Alone.

Although she was heiress to millions and was courted by men of wealth and rank, Miss Annie Jackman, the 17-year-old granddaughter of James E. Miller, of 160 East Eighty-third street, eloped with a poor man, her former coachman, Alfred C. Terwilliger. The young couple are established in a top floor flat in Harlem.

Mr. Miller never suspected that his granddaughter took the least interest in Terwilliger. "Why, she must have been either crazy or hypnotized," said the old gentleman. "She has everything that wealth could give. I would not have been disappointed, however, if she had decided to marry a poor man, but one who had an ordinary amount of intelligence. I cannot understand how she could marry this drivel.

"My granddaughter will be forgiven," he continued, "if she returns alone. The man shall never be forgiven."

British Naval Divers.

Divers in the British navy, before being passed as proficient in their craft, have to be able to work in 12 fathoms of water for an hour and in 20 fathoms for a quarter of an hour.

MUST BE FORTIFIED.

Defense of Isolated Coaling Stations Is Advocated.

T. H. Gignilliat, Graduate of the Naval Academy, Argues That It Would Be a Real Economy.

In discussing the importance of isolated coaling docks and their defense, T. H. Gignilliat, a graduate of the naval academy, says: "There is now no other way by which great economy of warships can be effected in the event of hostilities than by the fortification of isolated coaling stations. It is probable that in the matter of actual economy in the protection of harbors the ratio is as great as ten to one in favor of land defenses, that is to say, $500,000 expended at a place like Pearl harbor would probably in time of war leave vessels costing $5,000,000 or more free to go wherever they would otherwise be of the most service, and such fortifications would be vastly more formidable to an attacking fleet than a battleship or cruiser costing ten times as much. In other words, for $500,000, batteries of mortars and disappearing guns more powerful than the batteries of our largest battleships could be emplaced at any coaling station, which, being more impregnable and having greater stability, with proper handling would outfight any battleship that could be built. Until the United States navy is greatly increased this will be a most important consideration, especially in case we should be in danger of hostilities with a first-class naval power.

"The value of shore batteries was more than ever established in the war with Spain, even by the doubtful defenses built by that government. England has foreseen the necessity of acquiring and fortifying coaling stations if she has foreseen nothing else in warfare. With her fortresses at Halifax, Bermuda, Nassau and Gibraltar, and with the Azores probably under her control in time of war by treaty with Portugal, she dominates the Atlantic beyond present hope of competition. But with Alaska, the Aleutians, Pearl Harbor, Pango Pango, Guam and Cavite in our hands we can and ought to dominate the Pacific, and the way is to do in the Pacific what the English have done in the Atlantic and in the Mediterranean.

"With the aid of modern fortifications, selected places like Pearl Harbor, Pango Pango and Guam may soon become to the United States as important as Bermuda and Malta are to England. For the garrisoning of such fortifications battalions of marines, after the training they get on board ship, will make the most efficient set of heavy artillerymen in the world."

HEIR TO A BIG ESTATE.

Walter Adamson Suddenly Finds That He Has Become a Very Rich Man.

Walter Adamson, a citizen of Durand, Mich., is heir to $1,000,000 and more and has been wandering about the country for years unconscious of this fact. He was standing in the corridor of the Boody house, in Toledo, O., when he chanced to pick up a New York paper and began to look over its pages. Suddenly his face lighted up and he said to a bystander: "Well, that's surely my picture, and I am surely the Walter Adamson advertised for."

He says that years ago he left the Empire state for the west and has drifted from place to place so that his relatives have not been able to keep track of him.

In 1702, when Queen Anne ascended the throne, John Adamson, a wealthy citizen, died in London and his estate has been handed down until E. B. Humphreys, of New York, found that Alexander Adamson was the only living heir and had several children, of whom the Michigan man is one. The elder Adamson died in 1869 and the relatives have been looking for the wanderer since that time. Adamson immediately left for New York to claim his vast wealth. He has been connected with the Union News company.

WAX INSOLENT IN PROSPERITY

Cabmen in Paris Not Only Raise Their Prices But Insult Passengers.

With the exhibition in full blast Paris cabmen are not only exorbitant in their charges but are often insulting. Mlle. Jane Hading had a little experience with one of them the other day. Having taken a street cab, she called on various tradespeople, and at last pulled up before a dressmaker's establishment in the Rue Laitbout. Mlle. Hading was about to go into the shop when cabby called:

"You must give me fare. How do I know that you are not going to slip out another door?"

"But—" said Mlle. Hading.

"I don't want no 'buts,'" retorted the insolent jehu. "I know who you are. I have seen your name often enough on the playbills. That don't matter. Come, fork out!"

It is needless to say the money was immediately given and the cabman's number was taken, the popular actress having to find another conveyance in which to return home.

Iowa Duck Farm.

On a duck farm near Fort Dodge, Ia., there were recently 13,000 ducks. They ate 100 bushels of corn daily.

Cheap Tea.

You can buy tea in China for 1½ cents per pound.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES,
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

LA BREE AVENUE, THIEF RIVER FALLS.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD

The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS

and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS

PRINTS THE NEWS

12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.

I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

V.95
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. [redacted] THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

A SAD DEATH.

Willie Vorachek Was Drowned Last Saturday.

One of the sadest deaths it has been the duty of the NEWS to record for sometime occurred last Saturday forenoon, when Willie, the 11-year-old son of J. J. Vorachek, was drowned in the Red Lake river. The little lad was fishing down at the dam, and, in endeavoring to cross a place over which the water was running, slipped and fell into the river. Two small boy companions who were with him at once ran up town and gave the alarm, and a search for the body was commenced. A large number of men dragged the river all day, and about 7 o'clock in the evening William Ford, foreman of the St. Hilaire Lumber company's boom, found the body. It was laying on the bottom of the river at a point a few feet below where he had fallen in.

The boy was an exceptionally bright little fellow, and his untimely demise is mourned by the entire community.

The funeral services were held Monday evening, and a large number of the friends of the parents of the deceased attended.

EMPTY HONOR.

M. J. Daly Nominated by the Pops for Congressman.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 23.—The Populist congressional convention was held here today and nominated Senator M. J. Daly, of this county for congress on the fifth ballot. The nomination is a surprise to none here, but the fight was interesting while it lasted. Mayor Aaker, of Moohead, who was one of the leading candidates, is already the Prohibition nominee, and when the convention assembled at 2 p. m. he was called upon to state his position with reference to the two parties. He made a brief speech, stating that he indorsed every plank in the Sioux Falls platform. Nominations were called for and Mr. Strandsberry, of Kandiyohi, nominated T. C. Hodgson, of Grant county. County Attorney Nye, of Clay county, nominated Mayor Aaker. Gossman, of Crookston, nominated County Attorney A. R. Holston, of Polk county. Harry Ives nominated Senator Daly. Mr. Daly arose and stated that he was not and would not become a candidate for congress. He preferred to remain in the state senate and serve out his term. C. F. Hanson said that Mr. Daly was the only man in the district who would stand any show of defeating Congressman Eddy, and that he should be nominated regardless of his wishes.

The first ballot resulted in 48 votes for Holston, 44 for Hodgson, 41 for Aaker and 22 for Daly. On the second ballot Daly's strength increased to 31 and Holston was reduced to 42. On the third there was practically no change. On the fourth Daly received 61, Aaker 51, Holston 39 and Hanson 4. On the fifth Daly received 95, Aaker 45 and Holston 15. The defeated candidates then made Mr. Daly's nomination unanimous. The platform adopted indorses the Sioux Falls platform and Populism generally; lauds Bryan, declares that all peoples who are not fit to become citizens of the United States should be given self government. It declares for bimetallism without making any reference to ratio, denounces trusts and favors an income and inheritance tax.

THE CROPS.

Wheat Yield Will Be Cut Short One-half.

The coming wheat crop is at present the absorbing topic of discussion by all residents of this section. The merchants are vitally interested in what the harvest will be. Scarcely a person whose means of information are reliable hesitates to say that the long continued drought has cut the crop in this section fully one-half, and, unless the conditions are extremely favorable from now on, it will go below this. The crops along the Red Lake river are looking considerable better than those on the ridges west of town, where, in many places, it is a complete failure. On the whole, the conditions in Red Lake county and the eastern part of Marshall county are better than in any other part of the state.

The hay crop will also be short, and this means that the price of cattle will be very low this fall, as many farmers will be forced to sell. An effort should be made to cut all of the grass growing in this section, and thus save the cattle.

The Chicago Times-Herald published a crop report prepared by Snow, the crop expert, who has just completed a two weeks' trip through Minnesota, North and South Dakota. He declares the situation a national calamity and claims the wheat failure the worst ever known. He estimates the Dakotas as promising only 20,000,000 each and Minnesota 35,000,000, a total of 75,000,000, against 200,000,000 last year and 225,000,000 in 1898.

A FLOWING WELL

Discovered on the Farm of Chris Henning.

A flowing well was last week discovered on what is known as the "Klondike Ridge," six miles east of Mud lake, in town 157, range 40. It is but thirteen feet deep and flows over seventy-five barrels an hour. The well is on the claim of Chris Henning, which adjoins John Sorum's farm, and will be worth many dollars to the owner, who is in the stock raising business. The "Klondike Ridge" is fast becoming one of the best developed sections of the diminished reservation. The farmers all have a great many head of cattle, and the crops this year are looking fine.

Will Lower the Rate.

Jas. J. Hill has startled the railroad and shipping world by a statement that when the great freight steamers of the Great Northern, which are now in course of construction at San Francisco, are completed, he will make a rate of $8 per ton from Buffalo and other points on the great lakes to Yokohama, Hongkong, Shanghai and other Chinese and Japanese ports. It is no wonder that this statement should create consternation in the ranks of railroad men, for the cheapest rate which is now in vogue to the Orient is $18 per ton. This is a great scheme, and the Northwest should be proud that it is one of her sons who is the author of it.—Todd County Argus.

Lost.

A roll of bills containing $60—two twenties and four fives—was lost last week, probably on the East side. Finder will be liberally rewarded.

ONLY DAYS.

The Mill Not to Run Nights Any More.

The night crew at the saw mill was laid off Saturday night and, unless there are heavy rains inside of a month, the mill will be run only days during the remaining part of the season. The company has a large number of logs on the banks of rivers running into the Red lake, but it does not appear from present indications that they will be able to drive them down to this city before fall.

A Winning Ticket.

The Republican county convention for Marshall county met last week at Argyle. Geo. W. Peck, of Argyle, served as chairman and J. A. Larson, of Stephen, as secretary. The following county ticket was nominated:

Auditor—A. B. Nelson.
Treasurer—E. Dagoberg.
Sheriff—William Forsberg.
Register of Deeds—A. B. Isaacson.
Judge of Probate—P. H. Holm.
County Attorney—Greely E. Carr.
County Supt. of Schools—F. G. Bennett.
Coroner—Dr. J. D. Taylor.
County Commissioner, 2nd Dist. H. Gunderson.
County Commissioner, 4th Dist. E. E. Stromgren.

Two Fires.

Fire last week destroyed the barn belonging to Samuel Dangerfield, a settler living near Germantown. Three horses, three harnesses and other goods were burned by the fire.

Ole O. Leo, of Newfolden, had the misfortune to lose his residence by fire last week. A small boy was playing with parlor matches in one of the bedrooms upstairs and started the fire. All the household goods were saved, but all the clothing, bedding and fine furniture were lost. The house was one of the best and finest in the town of Newfolden.

For Shooters and Fishermen.

The new 1900 edition of "Shooting and Fishing Along the Line of the Great Northern Railway" is without an equal amongst books of this class. It is handsomely bound in colored covers of new and attractive design. It is printed on fine plate paper, in two colors, is beautifully illustrated with photographs reproduced in half-tone, and is in all respects a magnificent specimen of the printer's art.

Complete information is given about all sorts and conditions of sport, from lion and grizzly bear to "cotton-tails," and including every fish that swims in the many lakes and rivers of the wide Northwestern states.

All the little details of lakes, boats, bait, distances, etc., have been carefully compiled by practical sportsmen and will be found a great convenience to anyone planning a trip. A new map of Minnesota in three colors is bound into each book.

The hunter or fisherman who is the fortunate possessor of this encyclopedia of sport in the Northwest needs no further guide to tell him where to go a-fishing or shooting. By mail for two cents from F. I. Whitney, general passenger agent, St. Paul, Minn.

See What a President Says on Brandy for Sickness.

The president of the Baltimore medical college, who has thoroughly tested Speer's wines and brandy, says: "Speer's climax brandy is a pure and valuable article in all cases of disease in which a reliable stimulant is required. I regard it superior to most French brandies.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches, Clocks, Jewelry and Guns.

Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW. — Boston Journal.

IN THE

North American Review

YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND

The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a Year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N. Y.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

We Are Doing a Very Satisfactory Business

---and the cause of it is that we are making prices that are right. Just see a few of our prices:

Sea Island percales, 36-inch wide, latest patterns, per yard	12c
Parkhill ginghams, fancy patterns, per yard	10c
Good assortment of white goods, prices from 10 to	35c
Foulard fancy prints, none better, per yard	6c
Luzon fancy prints, light figures, per yard	6c
Simpson percales, per yard	6c
L L fine brown sheeting, per yard	6c

Highest price paid for produce.

Mullarky & Hansen.

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 23c to 45c	Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts 45c
You can buy a good business suit for $7.50	Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to $1.50
Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to $1.25	Pique front white shirts for men 48c
Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to $4.50	Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for $2.98
Pants for men from $1.00 to $5.00	Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to 50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,
Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

THE NEWS,
By John W. Eastman.
PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.
$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.
THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1900.

Major Shaver, formerly of the Fourteenth Minnesota, committed suicide near New Prague, Minn., last Saturday. He was well known by all the volunteers from this section.

The rabid resolutions adopted by the late Democratic state convention is accounted for by the fact that Henry W. Lee, of this city, was one of the committee on resolutions.

Albert Berg, secretary of state has been nominated by the Republicans of Roseau county for representative. He will surely be elected and his influence in the legislature will be beneficial to Roseau county.

J. Q. Cronkhite, formerly state senator from Marshall county and one of the best known Populists in the northern section of the state, attended the Republican convention held at Roseau last week and told the people present that henceforth he would be found in the ranks of the Republican party.

McKINLEY FOR PRESIDENT.

It is an omen of victory that the nomination of William McKinley as standard bearer in the battle of the ballots next November was made by systematic and enthusiastic acclamation and by an accord which is exceptional in the records of nominating conventions. Not a dissenting voice was raised. The nomination, as well as the platform, expresses the will of a united party. No factional differences have disturbed the deliberations of this convention. Its proceedings have been harmonious, its temper excellent and its determination to place the strongest possible ticket in the field has been apparent from the outset. The favorite sons of states have put forth no claims in a convention resolved to nominate the favorite sons of all the states. It is gratifying also to note that in its preliminaries, as well as in its proceedings, there has been a conspicuous disposition to respect the president's wishes and to gratify them.

This of itself is an indication not alone that he will be supported by the united party, but that he commands the respect and good will of the party and of Republican voters all over the country, and that they are so well satisfied with his administration during the last four years that they wish him to continue in office another four years and bring the new issues which have been forced upon him by the chances of war and the logic of events to a satisfactory settlement. Under President McKinley's prudent and conservative administration every one of the promises made in the St. Louis platform has been fulfilled and the new issues which have come up have been met in a patriotic and statesmanlike manner. That platform promised the country the industrial prosperity which is the outcome of a protective tariff, and the country is now prosperous. It promised the country a sound currency, and congress has made the promise good by strengthening the gold standard and guarding it by law. The revenues of the government are sufficient and the national credit is firmly established. Business uncertainty is dispelled. Production has been greatly stimulated and our exports now vastly exceed our imports. The national policy has been maintained, and now our international policy is respected by the whole world. Since Mr. McKinley was inaugurated the United States has become a world power and is now preparing to enter foreign markets and trade with the whole world and secure our fair share of that trade. It has taken its seat at the council board of the nations.

Mr. Bryan, who will be nominated at Kansas City, represents the opposite of all this, the debasing of the currency, the hauling down of the flag where our troops have raised it, the diminution of our power abroad and the incumbering, if not the destruction, of our prosperity at home. It is beyond the limits of belief that the majority of the voters who four years ago placed Mr. McKinley in power, and who are sharing in the prosperity which the Republican party promised the country and has given to it, will deliberately reverse the verdict they returned at the polls in favor of a man who represents the exact opposite of the principles in favor of which they placed themselves on record.

It is neither wise nor safe absolutely to predict the success of any candidate, but the outlook is that the renomination of McKinley by acclamation, showing that he has the confidence of a united party, favors the continuance of Republican administration another four years under his careful and capable guidance. The nomination of Governor Roosevelt adds to the strength of the ticket and increases the prospect of its triumphant success at the polls next November.—Chicago Tribune.

SOUND ARGUMENTS.

Jonathan P. Dolliver, in an article discussing the issues of the present campaign, says in part:

"The effort to put the United States in disgrace because the government, in spite of universal popular sympathy with the unfortunate people of South Africa, standing up bravely before incalculable odds, has followed the traditions of our history and the suggestions of good sense in refusing to make an offensive intervention in affairs of foreign nations engaged in war. Everybody whose judgment is worth contending for in debate knows that the president of the United States, when every other nation in the world was silent, when even the kingdom of Holland kept aloof, tendered the good offices of the United States in a friendly effort to secure peace.

"And no man, except those who are more interested in other countries than their own, will dare to say that our government is under any obligations to invite any further humiliation by turning aside from our own business to mix ourselves with the business of others. Mr. Bryan never more completely demonstrated that the chief magistracy of a government like this is beyond his reach than when the other day, without an invitation, he plunged into a citizens' meeting in Omaha for the purpose of reciting a part of his political speech before the Boer commissioners, expecting to entertain them with the chaff of partisan politics which the wind driveth away.

"Nor will the clamor about trusts and monopolies avail. The only remedy for these evils which Mr. Bryan proposes is the appointment of a commission to sit in Washington and pass upon the character of domestic corporations created under the laws of the various states, so that if they find them good and sufficient and up to the populist standard they may license them to do an interstate business. It is doubtful if even in the palmiest days of the Farmers' alliance any such disordered dream of the imagination ever passed for wisdom. If the recent proceedings of the house of representatives are correctly recorded, it would appear that the Democratic party itself is a unit in refusing to congress a grant of power to control corporations doing business in the several states. If that is so, is it likely that they will authorize congress to put a power like that into the hands of a commission, thereby subjecting every man's business to the supervision of a group of politicians in Washington exercising the power of life and death? The Democratic leaders of the United States are likely to hear more on the subject of trusts before this campaign is through than will be helpful either to their feelings or strength.

"Are the American people to be turned aside for their defense of the business integrity and prosperity of the country by boisterous appeals on the subject of imperialism? The men who have acquiesced in or accepted the fruits of the overthrow of free citizenship in the United States, leaving an entire race disfranchised under our flag at home, are not likely to be accepted by discreet persons as the champions of civil liberty and the rights of colored persons on the other side of the world.

"And so one by one the clamors of contemporaneous politics will die away, and in November the solvent and prosperous interests of business and labor will make ready to deliver a death blow against Populism in the United States, with all its accessories, side partners and camp followers, both west and east."

SURPLUS OF LABOR

Different Than It Was a Year Ago.

Last year, at this time, the cry of the northwest was for more men to work in the fields. The cry has been changed, and the situation at present presents the feature of a surplus of labor. For a couple of years or more, the reverse has been true, and there have been more jobs than there were men, but, unless rain falls at once, and lots of it, the wheat fields will not show any prospect for any improvement in the situation.

If the crop fails as badly as it promises to do now, there will be little demand for laborers for the harvest, and this is a source of employment that is much depended upon. Now things have dropped off so much from various causes that there is little demand for labor in addition to that already employed, and, indeed, men are being laid off in many places. The greater part of the dullness is due to the lack of water, which has paralyzed the lumber industry temporarily. Not nearly so many men as usual are being employed in any of the various stages of the manufacture of lumber, and, unless the situation is relieved somewhat, the number employed will be even less.

Money to loan at straight legal rates. No commission. Privilege given to pay any part of principal on any interest-paying date. Lands bought. Himle Real Estate Agency, F. G. Wells, Mgr., Thief River Falls, Minn.

Reduction of Box Rents.

From July 1, 1900, the following will be the rates for boxes at the Thief River Falls postoffice:

Call boxes	15c	per quarter.
Lock " (small)	35c	" "
" " (medium)	40c	" "

Now is the time to secure a box.
Ira C. Richardson, P. M.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

The Cass Lake Times says that the census enumerators among the Indians on the reservation are having trouble in getting the Indians to answer questions.

THE FOURTH.

Celebrate the Day in Thief River Falls.

Next Wednesday is the Fourth of July, and the celebration in Thief River Falls this year will eclipse all former attempts. The special features of the day will be a grand parade headed by the Ogahmah band, in which will appear a tribe of Chippewa Indians in full war paint and feathers. A game of base ball between the Crookston and Thief River Falls nines for a purse of $75. A grand log rolling contest, horse, foot and bicycle races, athletic contests, steamboat excursions, etc.

Mayor Carl Kretzschmar will be the president of the day, W. C. Smiley the marshal, and the orators will be Ira C. Richardson and Henry W. Lee.

The Great Northern states that it is unable to run a special train from Crookston for the Fourth, but it will add three coaches to its regular train. The train will arrive here early in the morning and will remain here until 6 o'clock in the evening, thus giving the people of Crookston an opportunity to celebrate the day here.

THE RAINFALL

As Taken by the Government at This Place.

Through the courtesy of W. C. Smiley, recorder for the U. S. engineering department at Thief River Falls, the News is able to give the precipitation of moisture taken at this place since the 15th of April, 1899. It shows that there has been very little rainfall since last fall. The following are the the official figures in inches:

April,	1899, ½ month	2.60
May,	"	2.83
June,	"	2.34
July,	"	6.31
August,	"	2.69
September,	"	1.48
October,	"	1.06
November,	"	.94
December,	"	.23
January, 1900,		.38
February,	"	.46
March,	"	.40
April,	"	1.47
May,	"	.36
June,	"	1.09

GOOD ADVICE.

Framers Should Not Sell Their Stock.

Col. W. M. Liggett, director of the state experiment station, has issued a bulletin to the farmers of the state, urging them not to sell their cattle now on account of the drouth, as the only purchasers are speculators, who buy at low figures. He calls attention to the fact that, while the drouth in the northwest is serious, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and other nearby states have an abundance of food, and the farmers of those states will pay good prices for stockers in the fall months. In the meantime the farmers can replace their pasture by sowing oats and barley mixed, rape, winter rye, fodder corn and other foods, which will do well if rain comes within a reasonable time. If it does not, Col. Liggett advises the farmers to band together for the purpose of shipping such cattle as they sell to good markets, retaining the best ones to help build up the livestock industry in this state.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

AGAIN WE WON.

Our Ball Team Defeats the Red Lake Falls Ball Club.

The Thief River Falls base ball club won another victory Sunday when it defeated the Red Lake Falls club. The game was played on the grounds of the latter club, and a large number from this city witnessed the game. Owing to the fact that the Red Lake Falls people did not make arrangements with the Great Northern, no special train was run, and those going down went with teams. The game was an exciting one, and the local club won, the score being 6 to 22.

The boys returned to this city at about 12 o'clock Sunday evening and were greeted by a large number of enthusiastic citizens—who had secured the services of the Ogahmah band, and bought all of the fire works in the town.

The official score is as follows:

T. R. Falls—	AB.	R.	1B.	SH.	PO.	A.	E.
Fuller, 2 b	7	4	4	2	1	3	1
Crowe, r. f.	7	5	5	0	0	1	0
Bensie, A 1 b	7	3	3	1	10	1	1
Warner, 3 b	7	1	5	1	0	2	1
Paranto, D. c. f.	7	1	2	1	0	0	0
Vaughan, s. s.	6	3	3	2	2	4	0
Browning, p	6	1	2	0	1	4	0
Bensie, D. c	6	1	3	0	10	3	2
Heritage, l. f.	6	3	3	2	2	1	0
Totals	67	22	30	9	26	18	5
Red Lake Falls—
Miller, l. f.	4	1	1	0	1	0	3
Conan, 2 b	4	1	2	1	1	1	4
Murphy, c	4	1	1	2	10	3	1
LaChapelle, c f.	4	0	1	0	0	1	2
Douglas, Joe s. s.	4	1	2	1	0	4	1
Lambert 3 b	4	0	0	0	0	0	4
Drinkwine, 1 b	4	1	1	0	14	0	2
Smith, r. f.	4	0	1	0	1	3	2
Wolfe, p	4	1	2	0	0	3	2
Totals	36	6	11	4	27	15	21

Innings—	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Red Lake Falls	0	2	2	0	0	0	2	0	0	—6
Thief River Falls	2	7	2	1	1	5	4	0	x	—22

School Report.

School closed Friday, June 22, in Germantown, Marshall county. Number of scholars enrolled, 33. Average attendance, 24.1. Number entitled to apportionment, 25. A picnic was held the last day in a grove near by the school and was largely attended by parents and friends of the children. A program was rendered. Those taking part were: Elsie Bettan, Charley Clockman, Eddie Ristau, Emma, Freda and John Bondhund, Christina, Alvina and Emil Clausen, Detlef Dow, Henry Ristau, Lena, Louis, Fred and Freda Bettan, Sarah and Lydia Clockman, Clause Clausen, Oleander Johnson, Emily and Melvin Hamre, Maude and Winnie Crozier, Katie and John Clausen and Joseph Voker.

Anna L. Meehan, Teacher.

Notice.

The road leading north over the chief section will be closed June 1st. Fred Rolette.

Notice.

The herd on the chief section for the coming season will be in charge of Fred Rollette.

If anybody has a message for the people of this community, he cannot deliver it to them so effectually, so cheaply, so quickly in any other way as through the columns of this paper.

It is the business of the News to carry messages of one kind and another into homes. The message will be delivered, too, under favorable conditions, for few persons take up their local paper except in a pleasant and receptive frame of mind.

The sign upon the fence board may be good, but it can be seen only by travelers who go that particular road. The message in the local paper carries itself to thousands, no matter by which road they travel.

Select your space and put your message where it will do the most good. We, perhaps, can help you, if you will but ask us.

For fine job work call at the News office.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.
Phil A. Kauter, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
H. E. Mussey, Thief River Falls Press.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, June 4, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota on July 17th, 1900, viz: Johanna Gustafson, widow of Anders Gustaf Gustafson, deceased, H. E. No. 11227, for the S½ SE¼, NE¼ SE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 21, T. 157 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

John Hoffman, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
George K. Muen, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
Erick Pettersen, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
Knud Muen, of Ingalls, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
June 7 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., June 18, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on July 31st, 1900, viz: Edvart Fasteson, H. E. 15,316, for the W½ SW¼ and SW¼ NW¼, Sec. 15, Tp. 157 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Andrew Olson, of Breese, Minn.
Phillip Larson, of Breese, Minn.
Carl Pettersen, of Breese, Minn.
August A. Pettersen, of Breese, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
June 21 6t

ORDER TO EXAMINE ACCOUNTS, ETC.

State of Minnesota, county of Red Lake—ss. In Probate Court, special term, June 26th, 1900. In the matter of the estate of Ada F. Snyder, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of J. W. Wheeler, administrator of the estate of Ada F. Snyder, deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law,

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard by this court on Monday, the 23rd day of July, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock A. M., at Probate Office in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Thief River Falls News, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Thief River Falls, in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, this 26th day of June, A. D. 1900.

By the Court:
[SEAL.] J. T. KNIGHT, Judge of Probate.
6 28 3

Henry W. Lee,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - MINN

N. Campbell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN

Ira C. Richardson,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Frank H. Kratka
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY
Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.
JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address,
THE PATENT RECORD,
Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

READ THIS!
Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc Special prices for large lots.
C. KRETZSCHMAR.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?
—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.
JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3101, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14	all wool suits,	regular price	$ 8.00,	now $ 5.25
"	" " "	"	10.00,	" 6.50
5 "	" " "	"	9.00,	" 6.50
1 "	" " "	"	12.50,	" 8.50
7 "	" " "	"	16.00,	" 11.50
6 "	" " "	"	12.00,	" 9.00
8 "	" " "	"	14.00,	" 10.00
16 "	" " "	"	13.50,	" 10.00
8 "	" " "	"	10.50,	" 7.50
8 "	" " "	"	10.00,	" 7.00

7 "	" Black Clay worsted	15.00,	" 10.50
1 "	" " " "	12.50,	" 8.00
6 "	" " " "	11.00,	" 8.00
5 "	" " " "	13.50,	" 10.00
2 "	" Fancy worsted	14.00	" 11.00

3 all wool Blue Sage suits, regular price $13.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.
M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

TOWN TALES.

John Montgomery has returned to this city.

C. G. Dahl, of St. Hilaire, was in the city Sunday.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

John Ruiffer, of Grafton, N. D., was in the city last week looking over the place with a view of locating here.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

Geo. F. Murch, superintendent of the Crookston saw mill, was here last week looking after driving operations.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

J. J. Vorachek returned to this city from a business trip to North Dakota last week. He reports that the wheat crop over there is an entire failure, and that the farmers are plowing up the crop.

James Meehan, Jr., H. W. Lee and C. C. Jackson have returned to this city from Minneapolis, where they attended the Democratic state convention. James Meehan, Jr., was made a member of the state central committee.

Auditor Dunn has postponed the sale of school lands which were to have taken place in the northwestern part of the state this season. The uncertainty of the crops would make it hard for the settlers to meet their payments, and they would be left to the mercy of the speculators if the sales were held.

Viavi.
Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

Wm. Baulman is down from the Red lake.

Herman Gruel is down from the Red lake.

Timothy Craig came down from the Red lake Monday.

Several cases of diphtheria are reported at Bemidji.

W. B. Fuller came down from the Red lake Tuesday.

A. L. Himle came up from Decorah, Iowa, last week.

The Red Lake Falls saw mill has shut down for want of logs.

C. J. Knox and H. Lewin were down to Red Lake Falls Monday.

The base ball boys gave an enjoyable and well attended dance in the Odd Fellows' hall last Friday evening.

Supt. Crowe's wife and children arrived in this city last week from Wisconsin and will make this city their future home.

Chief Moose Dung made some heavy purchases for his store at the Agency of the local merchants in the city Tuesday.

J. B. Greene, of Mason City, Iowa, arrived in the city last week, and has purchased some land from the Himle Land company.

H. G. Dobner returned to this city yesterday from Lake City, where he had been visiting his parents for the past month.

Dornin & Halgeson have purchased the store building owned by W. P. Whitman and removed the same to their machine yards.

Farmers are worrying over what to do with the surplus stock on account of the prospective short hay crop. Some will sell down to a close margin.

The saw mill at Grand Forks has been shut down for lack of logs. Six million feet have been purchased at Bemidji, which will be shipped at once over the Great Northern.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

The social given by the ladies of the Catholic church in James Meehan's building on La Bree avenue was a decided success. Over $50 was netted.

Miss Fabiole LeBrun, of Argyle, has completed a term of school in the town of Cedar, about 25 miles north of here, and is visiting Mrs. James McGee and Mrs. A. Moran.

The man who suffers most from a short crop is the one who farms in a small way.—who needs every crop to make ends meet. His line of credit is small and his needs urgent.

Shaw's Pure Malt—Exhilarates and does not poison, that's why doctors drink it. It is good for sick and old and excellent for young and well. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Farmers have begun plowing under the wheat around Warren and, if no rain comes by the end of the week, most all will do so. With the best weather and plenty rain from now on, not more than an average of two or three bushels could be had.

Charles J. Knox the first of the week purchased of Chief Moose Dung 490 acres of land lying just north of the city. Of the section, Chief Moose Dung now has only 46 acres left, on which his house is situated. The consideration was $4,300 cash.

While on the dam last Saturday morning endeavoring to help find the body of Willie Vorachek, James Strader had the misfortune to slip and fall in the river. He could not swim, but was rescued by bystanders. In going into the river he lost a pocket book containing two ten dollar bills.

Mrs. Hendricks, of Crookston, was in the city the first of the week.

The Ladies of the Catholic church will meet with Mrs. James Meehan, Jr., this afternoon.

Wm. Lennon arrived in the city last week from the Red lake country and returned again Monday.

K. M. Hanson was down to Fergus Falls last week and helped to nominate Daly for congressman.

Mrs. Archibald arrived in the city Monday and is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Bailey.

Leo Kulklinska, the Shotley brook homesteader, is dangerously ill at the annex to the Hotel Ogahmah.

The St. Hilaire Lumber company has eight million feet of logs in the river between this city and the outlet.

The city council met as a board of equalization the first of the week. No changes in assessments were made.

Wm. Wright's wife and two children arrived in the city last week and will make this city their future home.

James Martin, who has been spending several weeks in Wisconsin visiting his parents, returned to this city yesterday.

H. W. Lee has appealed the case of Lee vs. the city of Thief River Falls to the supreme court. It will be decided during the fall term.

Rev. J. M. Dahl, of Lake Mills, Minn., was in the city the first of the week and purchased a section of land from the Himle Land company.

Little Miss Evelyn Lewin entertained a company of her young friends yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the fourth anniversary of her birth.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

The drought in the northwest will have a wide spread effect on business. Many of the merchants in this city are cancelling the orders given to wholesale houses earlier in the season.

Louis McMahon, the drayman, had the misfortune to break his leg Tuesday, caused by his team running away. As he is an old man, it will be sometime before he will be able to be at work again.

Saturday is the fifteenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. James Meehan, Jr., and they will entertain a large number of their friends that evening in commemoration of the event.

The spring being built at the west approach of the Red Lake river bridge by the city is nearly completed. It will prove to be an ornament to the city, and will furnish a supply of pure water to residents living in that vicinity.

A gentleman representing some North Dakota parties was in the city the first of the week and went to the Red Lake Agency to make arrangements to put in several hundred tons of hay on the reservation. Hay will be worth about $20 a ton in the Twin cities before December, it is said, and there will probably be considerable of it shipped out of this section during the fall and winter.

An exchange says: "It was the evening of a great game, and the renowned twirler sat on the sofa with his sweetheart. "Play nearer your base, darling," murmured she coyly, and, accepting her gentle coaching, he drew her to him with an enticing out curve. "And who shall umpire our nuptials?" said he, having taken a kiss and making a bold effort to steal second. "I care not, sweetheart," she said, gently, "so the game ends in a tie," and they fastened their faces together in one luscious two-bagger. And he telegraphed her father this liner: "Score one to two in my favor. Due to good team work. Send gate receipts at once, for we need support."

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv.	Crookston	Ar. 6:30 p m
9:25 a m	"	Shirley	" 6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	"	Ives	"*5:30 p m
10:31 a m	"	Wylie	"*4:55 p m
11:30 a m	"	St Hilaire	Lv. 4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar.	Thief River F	" 1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv.	St Hilaire	" 4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar.	Red Lake F	" 3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address
W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STEVENS FAVORITE
GIVE THE BOYS A
Stevens Favorite Rifle.
J. STEVENS ARMS & TOOL CO., Box Chicopee Falls, Mass.

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Love in a Cottage
Bread and cheese and kisses are all right but a few other things to eat and—
Hamm's
St. Paul
Beer
add a heap of comfort. Hamm's Beer is a pure delicious home brew. Won't you try it? ~ Agents everywhere.
Theo. Hamm Brewing Co.
Tel. 972—St. Paul, Minn.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in The Patent Record, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,
VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, • WASHINGTON, D. C.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

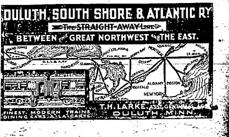
D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
General Banking.
Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.



C. L. Dobner, President. H. G. Dobner, Cashier. L. Ellington Vice-President.

First State Bank

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Transact a general Banking Business.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. Gallach, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. Ellington, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. Hendrickson, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. Dobner, President.
H. G. Dobner, Cashier

Burlington Route

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF.

On the Burlington's Chicago and St. Louis Limited you can live as well as at the finest hotel in America. You can dine in a dining car; smoke in a smoking car; read in a library car; sleep in a compartment or standard sleeping car, and recline in a reclining chair car. All under one roof. Electric lighted and steam heated. Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., daily, arriving Chicago 9:25 next morning. The "Scenic" Express, an elegant day train, leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday.

Ask your home agent for tickets via this line, or address

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.

GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

TIME AND SPACE

are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

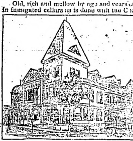
FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 23½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of The Chicago Record covers the entire civilized world. Address The Chicago Record, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Chateau de Speer Wines

of Passaic, N. J. Vineyards.

These Wines Rival the World in Excellence.

Old, rich and mellow by age and years of care and frequent racking in fumigated cellars as is done with the Chateau Wines in France.



Photograph of Chateau de Speer.

The Chateau contains a limited supply of Private Stock Port nineteen years old, besides Burgundy and Claret of nearly the same age. The Speer Port, however, nine years old, as well as the Burgundy Claret and Sherry, are high class wines. The ★★★ Climax Brandy is 18 years old. All are preferred where known by the Medical profession as superior to any that can be had, for their excellent effect upon the system when used by invalids, the weakly and aged persons and in general family use. Northern New Jersey climate, and soil abounding in iron is just adapted for this grape for Port wine. It is the same kind of soil as in Portugal. Speer's winery and vineyards are the only Port grape vineyards in the United States; only vineyards that cultivate the real Port wine grape of Portugal; while other wines or mixtures called port are made without a single Oporto grape in them. Mr. Speer is the first and only one who imported the vines and acclimated the real Port wine grape vines of Portugal. He spent thousands of dollars as a hobby to see what he could do toward acclimating these Portugal vines here. It took eight years for them to become acclimated before Mr. Speer got a single grape; during those years all died except about eight hundred vines, when those began to grow vigorous and bear fruit; from these, layers were made for new vines. The vineyards now cover fifty six acres. It has proven a success. The grapes are allowed to hang on the vines until they begin to raisin, when they have parted with some of the water and are rich in sugar; and the wine made from Port wine grapes is the only real genuine Port wine made in America. It is by far THE wine for weakly persons, the aged and for evening entertainments.

Sold by Druggists and Grocers.

OF PRIME IMPORTANCE.

Figures of Consul Show Value of Germany's Trade with the United States.

Vice Consul Murphy at Magdeburg has transmitted to the state department an extract from a German publication of a recent date containing facts and figures which indicate strongly the prime importance of Germany's trade with the United States.

A statement of the exports to the United States from the consular districts in northern Germany alone for the first quarter of 1900 is shown as amounting to $18,100,000. The amount is nearly double the value of the exports during the first quarter of 1898. These figures are for northern Germany alone. When the amounts for the remainder of the empire are added the total is estimated at about $142,800,000.

"How many thousands of Germans are now dependent upon this trade for their support," says the article, "would be without bread if it were to suddenly stop." In the trade with the United States Germany has won an important position, standing next to England in the matter of goods exported to the United States last year. In 1898 the United States imported $10,700,000 worth of sugar from Germany. The amount of sugar in bygone years that had been sent from Germany to the United States has varied with the crops, in favorable years as much as $23,800,000 worth being exported to that country. This immense trade in sugar," the article states, "will continue provided peaceful and friendly relations are maintained with the United States. But if the Americans are forced into retaliation by the strict enforcement of the meat inspection law and friendly trade relations are ruptured, the exportation of German sugar to the United States will come to a stop and Germany be left without a purchaser for the enormous mass of sugar produced."

MINISTERS TO FORM A TRUST.

The Fees for Funeral Services at Arcola, Ill., Are to Be Upheld.

The initial step has been taken in the formation of a novel trust among the ministers of Arcola, Ill., and it is not unlikely that a new scale of prices soon will be in evidence at all funeral sermons preached in the city. The foundation for the trust was laid a few days ago when the wife of a poor laborer died. When he sought the aid of a local minister to preach the funeral sermon the minister demanded one dollar, which the applicant had to borrow.

Meantime the report had reached some of the members of the minister's flock, and he was asked over the telephone if the news were true. This he denied, but said hereafter he would require a fee before giving his services at funerals.

The announcement has been made that the ruling is to stand, and another announcement, signed by the minister of another church, appeared in the columns of a local paper stating that he also favored a funeral fee, and desired to aid his brother minister in establishing a scal of prices.

RUSSIA PAYS A BIG DEBT.

War Obligations of 742,000,000 Rubles Cleared Off in Eight Years.

An imperial ukase has been published announcing the redemption of the debt of the imperial treasury to the state bank for bank notes issued for the purpose of meeting the expenses of the wars of 1853-56 and 1877-78. It provides that henceforward no bank notes shall be issued to meet the requirements of the treasury.

This liquidation is regarded as an indication that the imperial treasury will not need further loans to meet the budget expenditure.

In 1881 the war debt of the treasury to the Bank of Russia aggregated 964,000,000 rubles. When M. de Witte, Russian minister of finance, assumed his portfolio in 1892 the debts still totaled 742,000,000 rubles. This entire amount has been extinguished within less than eight years.

"LADY OF CASKET" DEAD.

The Woman's Coffin Cost $30,000 and Her Sarcophagus $500,000.

Mrs. Francis Hiller, widely known as "the lady of the casket," died at her home at Wilmington, Mass., the other day. She was buried in the magnificent $30,000 casket which she had carved for herself 13 years ago, a similar one being made at the same time for her second husband, which now contains his remains at the Protestant cemetery, Wilmington. The last resting place of Mrs. Hiller is in a sarcophagus which costs $500,000. The mausoleum has walls five feet thick and massive gates with double locks to prevent grave robbers from entering. The knockers on the doors are of gold and worth a fortune in themselves, and on the coffin are gold medallions said to be worth $500 each. Mrs. Hiller was immensely rich and eccentric. Her burial robe cost $20,000.

Getting Her Eyes Open.

It has taken Boston only about six months to convict a banker who stole over $1,000,000. Boston's Goddess of Justice, says the Chicago Times-Herald, must be getting her eyes open.

A Liberal Wife.

A laborer's wife at Tilsit, in East Prussia, has presented nine pairs of twins to her husband in ten years of marriage. Seventeen of the children are alive and well.

THE NEW INDIAN.

Statistics Show That He Is Fast Entering the Paths of Civilization.

That the Indian is leaving his native trail for the "white man's path" is well evidenced by statistics gathered from the annual reports of the United States Indian agents, says Youth's Companion. A greatly increasing number of Indians on the reservations, or what have lately been reservations, can read. Nearly a hundred thousand of them have completely adopted the white men's dress. Almost all of them have discarded the original dress of the people of their tribes.

Eleven hundred dwelling houses were built by Indians last year, and the Indians on the reservations now possess more than 25,000 dwelling houses. They are, as a rule, no longer nomadic, no longer dwellers in wigwams. Externally, at least, they are rapidly adopting the ways of civilization.

Are they at the same time "becoming civilized" in the true sense? It is not possible to answer yes with confidence. They are learning to read, to live in houses, and to wear white men's clothes; yet unfortunately, in some cases at least, the vices of civilization seem likely to overpower some of the native virtues of the race. On some reservations intemperance has increased almost exactly in proportion to the disappearance of the characteristics of the aboriginal red man.

To civilize means to endow with the proper qualities of a citizen; and so far as the reading and house-dwelling Indian lacks these qualities, his transformation into the outward semblance of a white man fails in its chief purpose. The duty of the white people toward the Indian is far from being ended with imposing upon him the superficial marks of their civilization.

STAIR CLIMBING.

A Physician Tells the Proper Way to Do It—Reprehensible Habit of Bending.

If one would avoid fatigue in climbing stairs, a necessary act in a city like Chicago, where many buildings have no elevators, he must learn how to do it properly, says the Record of that city. A physician of repute tells how this should be done.

"Usually," he said, "a person will tread on the ball of the foot in taking each step. This is very tiresome and wearing on the muscles of the legs and feet. You should in walking or climbing stairs seek for the most equal distribution of the body's weight possible. In walking upstairs your feet should be placed squarely down on the step, heel and all, and then the work should be performed slowly and deliberately. In this way there is no strain upon any particular muscle, but each one is doing its duty in a natural manner. The woman who goes upstairs with a spring is no philosopher, or, at least, she is not making a proper use of reasoning faculties. The habit, too, of bending over half double when ascending a flight of stairs is exceedingly reprehensible. In any exertion of the kind, when the heart is naturally excited to a more rapid action, it is desirable that the lungs should have full play. The crouching position interferes with their action, the blood is imperfectly aerated, and there is trouble at once. Give the lungs a chance to do their work everywhere and at all times."

BOER TACTICS.

Skill of the Hunter and Trapper Is Shown in Their Campaign.

"I don't take much stock in the theory that the superior tactics of the Boers have been due to their foreign officers," said a confederate veteran in the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "The strategy by which they have outwitted the British time and again during the present campaign is not book strategy at all. It is the kind of cunning that is developed by frontiersmen and pioneers, who learn it from the savages whom they are compelled to fight for existence. In the revolution a great many of our leaders, including Washington himself, were adepts in that variety of warfare, and they routed the enemy more than once by tactics that upset everything laid down by the authorities.

"It seems to me that the entire history of the Boer campaign shows the handiwork of the hunter and trapper rather than the modern scientific soldier, and whatever credit attaches to their successes belongs to the Boers themselves. The foreign experts have no doubt handled the artillery, but the natives are the fellows who have done the planning and scheming."

Warned by a Mocking Bird.

A mocking-bird with military tastes is described by a correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, London, writing from Ladysmith during the siege. He says: "While Puffing Billy was firing I tried to get sight of a small mocking-bird, which has learned to imitate the warning whistle of the sentries. In the Gordons the Hindu Purriboo-Singh, from Benares, stands on a huge heap of sacks under an umbrella all day and screams when he sees the big gun flash. But in the other camps, as I have mentioned, a sentry gives warning by blowing a whistle. The mocking-bird now sounds that whistle at all times of the day, and, what is even more perplexing, he is learning to imitate the scream and buzzing of the shell through the air."

Napoleon's Telescope Found.

According to the London Chronicle the telescope which Napoleon I. used to carry has turned up in Turin.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,

C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.

Thief River Falls, Minn.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

Strictly First Class.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,

John Forsberg, - - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection.

La Bree Avenue. Thief River Falls.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

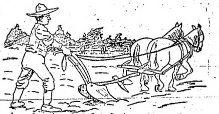
With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD

The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS

and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS

PRINTS THE NEWS

12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

[redacted] THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

DEFEAT AT LAST.

Our Base Ball Club Was Defeated at Warren.

For the first time this year, the Thief River Falls base ball club was defeated at Warren last Saturday, the score being 4 to 2. The local club played without three of their best players, and this probably accounts for their defeat.

The boys found Warren a very chilly town, and left Saturday, arriving at Joseph Duchamp's farm in Tweet at about 12 o'clock that night. Mr. Duchamp greeted them in his usual cordial and hospitable manner and served them with a bountiful supper. They remained there until Sunday morning before making the drive to this city, and are all loud in pronouncing Joe Duchamp one of the best fellows in Northern Minnesota.

A Great Modern Daily.

The greatest feat of modern civilization is the modern newspaper.

This thought comes to mind almost every day as we take from its wrapper the Minneapolis Tribune. It is simply astounding how much in the way of information and fact, as well as intelligent comment one can buy for a cent—new and fresh every day.

There is something to be said about the Tribune, which probably is untrue of any other Twin city daily. It is consistently and persistently Republican. The Tribune never goes off after false gods, nor do the flesh pots of office or the allurements of gain ever swerve it from its support of the right. At the same time, it is modest in its efforts to shape party policy and the selection of candidates for office.

All this may be understood, however, from the fact that the Tribune is in no sense an organ; it is a newspaper—with the accent upon the news.

No doubt this accounts for its over-topping circulation. When a paper in Minnesota averages for an entire year over 50,000 circulation, as the Tribune did (50,185 for the year ending March 31, 1900), it is going to more people, considering the number of people within its field, than any paper we know of.

There are more kinds of people in Minnesota interested in the dog in the Tribune's daily cartoon than in any other one daily creation. These cartoons are inimitably funny, and, at the same time, full of good sense. They drive home a witty thrust, when a whole column of editorial might glance off ineffective.

The Tribune has recently moved into its new marble front building, of which it is justly very proud. Its equipment is said to be without exception the finest and most up-to-date in America. No money has been spared to make it so, and the paper tells on its face that it is the product not only of the best mechanical facilities, but the best newspaper brains and character in the northwest.

We feel like saying to others: "Toe the mark with the Minne. Tribune."

The Favorite Summer Route East along the "south shore of Lake Superior," via the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway. Scenery the most picturesque. Very low fare tours by "train and steamer."

For full particulars apply to local agents, or T. H. Larke, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, Duluth.

LANDS YET OPEN TO SETTLEMENT.

All Are Situated in Northern Minnesota Counties.

The table below, compiled from the latest report of the commissioner of the general land office, gives a list of the northern counties in Minnesota in the Crookston land office district containing lands yet open to homestead and pre-emption claims, the quantity of unappropriated and unreserved lands, surveyed and unsurveyed, and a brief note as to the character of the lands:

County.	Surveyed acres.	Unsurv. acres.	Total acres.	Brief hints as to character of lands.
Becker...	14,173	....	14,172	Rough, broken, some timber.
Beltrami .	429,808	1,051,080	1,480,888	Prairie, timber, some swamp.
Cass	47,000	....	47,000	Timber, brush and swamp.
Kittson ...	45,653	840	46,493	Good land; some swamp.
Marshall .	102,693	....	102,693	" " " "
Norman ..	168,600	....	168,600	" " " "
Otter Tail	300	....	200	Broken and swampy.
Polk	12,210	....	12,210	Prairie, timber, some swamp.
Red Lake.	992	....	992	" " " "
Roseau ..	228,049	42,000	370,049	Good land; some swamp.
Total..	1,049,878	1,093,920	2,143,207

CASS LAKE FIRE.

P. H. Wall's Furniture Store Entirely Destroyed.

Cass Lake, Minn., June 29.—For the second time within a year, Cass Lake has been visited by a disastrous $30,000 fire.

At 11 o'clock last night, fire was discovered in the rear P. H. Wall's furniture store, and, in an hour, eleven buildings, including the fine Elston hotel, were entirely destroyed.

The flames spread with great rapidity, and it was only by herculean efforts that Miss Annie Wall, Con Costello, Jessie Notts and James Brown, who were lodgers in the Wall building, escaped with their lives. The fire department and citizens worked like trojans, but the fire, when discovered, had gained such headway that it was utterly impossible to check it.

The following are the losses and insurance, as near as can be ascertained at this time:

T. P. Cory, saloon building, total loss, no insurance; J. T. Gardner, drug store and postoffice building, total loss, $1,000, insurance, $500; R. H. Purdy, ice cream parlors, total loss, $300; P. H. Wall, furnishing house, building and stock, total loss, insurance on building, $900, on furniture, $500, on furnishing goods and dry goods, $750; McKeown & Co., building and stock of general merchandise, loss $3,000, insurance, $1,000; Elston hotel, loss on building and furnishings, $3,000, on furniture, $300; C. M. Taylor & Co., building and stock, total loss, insurance on stock, $4,5000; P. H. McGarry, bowling alley, total loss.

Too Many Subscribers.

W. W. Waters, editor of the Southern Missourian, made an announcement offering to send his paper to all who sent in their names, to be paid for at the regular subscription price when Bryan is elected. Since this offer was published, Mr. Waters has been fairly deluged with letters and postal cards bearing names to be added to his subscription list from all over the United States and Canada, and he has been obliged to back out of his offer on account of lack of means to meet the additional expense.

If Going East, Investigate the Merits Of Train and Steamer Trips via the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway "along the south shore of Lake Superior." The low rates will surprise you. The picturesque scenery and splendid service will delight you. For rates, etc., apply to local agents, or T. H. Larke, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, Duluth.

WINNING TICKET

Nominated by the Republicans of Minnesota.

The Republican state convention held at St. Paul last week nominated Capt. S. R. Van Sant, of Winona, for governor. He was nominated by acclamation, and the convention showed its good judgment, as he is one of the most popular and strongest candidates that could be placed in the field. The captain has many friends in Red Lake county who extend their congratulations and hearty support to him at the November election. His running mate is Lyndon Smith, who was also nominated by acclamation and will add popularity to the ticket.

The following is the complete state ticket:

Governor—S. R. Van Sant.
Lieutenant Governor—Lyndon Smith.
Attorney General—W. B. Douglas.
Treasurer Julius Block.
Secretary of State—C. E. Hanson.
Supreme Court Justices—L. W. Collins and Charles M. Start.
Warehouse Commissioners—C. F. Staples, J. G. Miller and Judge Mills.

Where Thousands of Papers Are Read.

There is, perhaps, but a single place in this country where almost all the newspapers of the United States are read. To the exchange bureau of the Ladies' Home Journal practically every paper in this country comes—an aggregate of nearly 9,000. It is the rule to read every one within a day after it is received, so a large staff of trained readers is kept employed constantly. By this plan it is possible for the editors to keep in close touch with the reading public, and accurately informed as to the topics that are uppermost in the public mind in every section of the country. In this reading, such selections are made as may be of special immediate interest, as well as matters for future reference and notes that may serve as a memoranda or suggest articles. Moreover, everything relating to the Journal is clipped and filed. Thousands of dollars a year are spent in this work alone, but Editor Bok regards it as a very profitable investment, as invaluable information is thus supplied that could be obtained in no other way.

Lost.

A roll of bills containing $60—two twenties and four fives—was lost last week, probably on the East side. Finder will be liberally rewarded.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches,
Clocks,
Jewelry
and
Guns.

Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as The North American Review. — Boston Journal.

IN THE

North American Review

YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND

The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "The North American Review constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the North American Review."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.

The North American Review, N. Y.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

We Are Doing a Very Satisfactory Business

---and the cause of it is that we are making prices that are right. Just see a few of our prices:

Sea Island percales, 36-inch wide, latest patterns, per yard	12c
Parkhill ginghams, fancy patterns, per yard	10c
Good assortment of white goods, prices from 10 to	35c
Foulard fancy prints, none better, per yard	6c
Luzon fancy prints, light figures, per yard	6c
Simpson percales, per yard	6c
L L fine brown sheeting, per yard	6c

Highest price paid for produce.

Mullarky & Hansen.

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 25c to............45c

Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts............45c

You can buy a good business suit for............$7.50

Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to............$1.50

Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to..$1.25

Pique front white shirts for men......48c

Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to..$4.50

Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for............$2.98

Pants for men from $1.00 to...$5.00

Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to............50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,
Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, JULY 5, 1900.

The people of this section have one consolation in the failure of the crops this season. The failure is general, extending over the entire northwestern wheat belt in this country and Canada. It will so effect the wheat supply as to practically insure a good price next year. The crop of 1901 may easily be the equal in value of two average crops. So let's be cheerful and hang onto our cows.—Alexandria Post News.

In view of the nomination of Governor Theodore Roosevelt for the vice presidency of the Republican party, the correct pronunciation of his name may be of interest. So many people pronounce it in two syllables, as though spelled "Roose-velt." In a letter dated October 16, 1898, when he was a candidate for the office which he now honorably fills, he wrote as follows: "My name is pronounced in three syllables, just as if it was spelt Ros-a-velt. The first syllable has the sound as in rose."—Memphis Scimitar.

Just what the national prohibition party expects to accomplish by the nomination of candidates for president and vice president is one of the mysteries of politics. In 1896 the party polled 130,000 votes, and it is extremely doubtful that as many will be polled this year. The vote will not be large enough to materially affect the result either way, and those who vote the ticket simply place themselves in the attitude of saying that questions of expansion, currency, civil service, tariff and good government along a dozen other lines are of no importance, that the only subject worthy the consideration of an American citizen is that of the suppression of the traffic in intoxicants. And even upon this subject the present Republican administration has accomplished more in the right direction than any of its predecessors.—Grand Forks Herald.

Gov. Lind will find, when he comes to the making of his campaign, that he is confronted with a very different proposition from that which confronted him two years ago. Then there was more or less dissension in the Republican ranks, and something of a disposition on the part of one faction to "get back at" another, and, on the whole, conditions were unfavorable. This year there is absolute harmony within the party, only one gubernatorial candidate in the field and a general disposition on the part of Republicans to get out and elect the ticket first and attend to matters of detail and re-organization afterwards. On the other hand, the present administration will be on the defensive from the outset, on account of the notoriously bad appointments and the misconduct of the various departments of the state government. It will take more than a mere corruption fund, extorted from the employes of the state, to pull Lind through.—St. Paul Herald.

Reduction of Box Rents.

From July 1, 1900, the following will be the rates for boxes at the Thief River Falls postoffice:

Call boxes		15c per quarter.
Lock "	(small)	35c	" "
" "	(medium)	40c	" "

Now is the time to secure a box.

Ira C. Richardson, P. M.

Notice.

The herd on the chief section for the coming season will be in charge of Fred Rolletto.

THE FOURTH.

It Was Celebrated in Grand Old Style.

The celebration of the Fourth of July in Thief River Falls yesterday was a success in every way. A large number from Crookston and St. Hilaire were present and all enjoyed themselves. The parade in the morning was a very creditable affair. The exercises were held in the grove and consisted of a prayer by Rev. Liening, an address of welcome by Mayor Kretzschmar, orations by Hon. Ira C. Richardson and Hon. Henry W. Lee, singing by the quartette and music by the band.

The base ball game in the afternoon between the Crookston and Thief River Falls clubs was witnessed by a large number of people. But seven innings were played, and the local club won by a score of 13 to 1.

The ball game was followed by horse races, foot races, etc., and proved interesting to the large crowd.

In the evening a large display of fire works was witnessed by a large crowd, and the two dances proved entertaining to a number of people.

NOTES.

Judge Samuel Johnson put on a coat yesterday that he had worn 37 years ago when a soldier in the Civil war.

The Ladies of the Catholic church served dinner in the James Meehan building and did a rushing business.

A grand stand was erected by F. H. Kratka and Capt. R. J. McDonald in the former's yard, and a large number of their friends enjoyed their hospitality and enjoyed the game.

The crowd in the early part of the evening circled about the Hotel Ogahmah where Mine Host Robbecke had the band and the Salvation Army entertaining his guests.

Joseph Duchamp and M. E. Todd acted as special policemen.

There was not the usual amount of drinking and crousing and the saloons did not do as much business as in former years. No arrests were made.

The Ladies of the Lutheran church served dinner to a large number of people in the O. H. Nelson building.

MARRIED 15 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Meehan Celebrate Their Crystal Wedding.

Saturday was the 15th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. James Meehan, Jr., and the event was duly celebrated by a large number of their friends at their home that evening. Dancing was the amusement, and at 12 o'clock elegant refreshments were served, after which the company departed. Among those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames C. C. Jackson, K. M. Hansen, J. Berry, Robert McGinn, J. E. Crowe, F. J. Stebbins, C. E. Winslow, C. A. Robbecke, Carl Kretzschmar, J. G. Ballard, H. Lewin, C. L. Dobner, C. J. Knox and John W. Eastman; Mrs. A. Donaldson; Misses Nellie Curran and Anna Connelly; Messrs. M. K. Wall, H. G. Dobner, Isedor Lewin, W. T. Mullarky and A. Young; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith and Mrs. Williams, of Crookston, and Mrs. Marshall, Misses Hunt and Zaiser, and H. H. Zaiser, of Red Lake Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Meehan were in receipt of many handsome cut glass presents as a token of the high esteem in which they are held in the city.

Notice.

The road leading north over the chief section will be closed June 1st.

Fred Rolletto.

THE CROPS.

The Outlook Is Now Considerable Brighter.

The cool weather of the past week, together with the refreshing rains of Saturday evening and Sunday, has had a tendency to give the wheat and other cereals a new lease of life, and the prospects for an average crop are bright. Many predict that the average throughout this section will be eight bushels per acre, which was much better than was expected a week ago.

For fine job work call at the News office.

AMERICAN POST IN PARIS.

The First Letter Mailed There Was Addressed to President McKinley.

The first letter, mailed at the United States post office at the Paris exposition was addressed to President McKinley by Commissioner General Peck. In the letter Mr. Peck said:

"It seems fitting that you should receive the first letter ever deposited in a post office of the United States located in a foreign land. I therefore have the honor of informing you that this communication is the first ever transmitted through such a channel. It is registered.

"A complete post office, under the direction of the postmaster general of the United States, is now in full operation in the national pavilion established by our government at the Paris exposition.

"You will be interested in knowing that in this building is located, in addition to the post office, an official bureau of information for the benefit of our American people; also, the American chamber of commerce organized in Paris, the reception rooms of the commissioner general, assistant commissioner general, secretary and the 18 national commissioners appointed under the act of congress. One floor will be known as 'states' headquarters.' Rooms are also set apart for the military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States and for women's organizations. The entire building is the home of our American citizens."

Ants Better Than Bullets.

One of the incidents of the war in South Africa did not appear in the general dispatches. A volunteer regiment got under a fire so heavy that, after spreading out in skirmish line, the order was given to lie down. One unfortunate soldier flopped squarely into an ant-hill. Thousands of the little pests swarmed angrily over him, biting with peculiar penetration. In a second the soldier jumped up, wild with pain. "Lie down there, you fool!" shouted the captain. "I can't," protested the poor fellow. "I'd sooner be shot than—". Just then a shower of Mauser bullets flew past him at all heights, from his shins to his head. It was marvelous that the standing soldier was not hit in a dozen places. But he changed his mind swiftly about the possibility of lying down. He dropped at once, regardless of ants, shouting to his commander: "Yes, I can, captain! I'm very comfortable now, sir!"

TO WELCOME BUDDHA'S BONES

Devotees in Japan Contribute $250,000 to Celebrate the Arrival of Sacred Relics from Siam.

The following advices were received by a steamship arriving from the orient: "Led by the Higashi Hongwan Ji, the Buddhist sects throughout Japan are preparing on a grand scale for the reception of bones of Buddha, which are to be dispatched from Siam to Tokio in a short time.

"A thousand Buddhist priests, wearing rich robes bedecked with jewels, are to be sent to meet Buddha's bones half way on the journey, and 500,000 yen is to be spent in Tokio in organizing a fitting reception.

"The project is exciting much ridicule among foreigners in Japan, who declare that the 500,000 yen is to be handed over to the priests."

ALL OF IRON.

The United States Cruiser Atlanta Will Not Have a Bit of Wood on Board.

The United States cruiser Atlanta, now fitting out at the Brooklyn navy yard, will be equipped with iron furniture throughout. A consignment of beds and chairs is expected at the yard in a day or two. This is a part of the navy department's plan to put iron furniture in all the ships. During the Spanish war all movable furniture was left on the shore or thrown overboard to lessen the danger from fire. There was, however, enough inflammable material left on the ships to make a dangerous blaze in case our vessels had been raked with the enemy's fire.

Many Idle Preachers in Kansas.

Over 20 applicants are on file for the vacant pulpit of the Presbyterian church at Atchison, Kan.

MRS. DEWEY'S POKER FLATS.

Strange Story About Property of the Admiral's Consort at Wichita, Kansas.

The recent visit of Mrs. Dewey to this city recalls a queer story about some western real estate she owns at Wichita, Kan., and the way in which she came by them, says the Chicago Chronicle. When Gen. Hazen, her first husband, was stationed in the west he used to be a fairly good poker player, and they said his luck was something which one would rather dodge than meet. At the time he was in Wichita the town was full of real estate boomers, speculators and other people who had land—not exactly to burn, but to sell as quickly as possible. One night there was a game among five players, their names being Harry Hill, Dave Payne, Dave Bancroft and Capt. Crouch, besides Gen. Hazen. They played cash at first, because the general was a canny and wise gentleman and did not wish to stake money against the more or less fictitious value of town lots. But as the game went on Gen. Hazen secured about all the cash there was in sight, and then they began to put up town lots. At the end of the game Gen. Hazen had 50 nice, large, realistic town lots, and when he died he bequeathed them to his wife. It happens that all the participants in that game except one are known to be dead, and it is not certain that the other one is living. The bottom dropped out of the Wichita boom, property values decreased and for a long time no attention was paid to this piece of property. The value of land there, however, is now going up and if Mrs. Dewey has no trouble in establishing her title she will have a nice little fortune.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

If anybody has a message for the people of this community, he cannot deliver it to them so effectually, so cheaply, so quickly in any other way as through the columns of this paper.

It is the business of the News to carry messages of one kind and another into homes. The message will be delivered, too, under favorable conditions, for few persons take up their local paper except in a pleasant and receptive frame of mind.

The sign upon the fence board may be good, but it can be seen only by travelers who go that particular road. The message in the local paper carries itself to thousands, no matter by which road they travel.

Select your space and put your message where it will do the most good. We, perhaps, can help you, if you will but ask us.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars. Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.

Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv. Crookston	Ar.	6:30 p m
9:25 a m "	Shirley	"	6:00 p m
10:05 a m* "	Ives	"*	5:30 p m
10:31 a m "	Wylie	"*	4:55 p m
11:00 a m "	St Hilaire	Lv.	4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar. Thief River F	"	1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv. St Hilaire	"	4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar. Red Lake F	"	3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

United States Map. 15c.

A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C. B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.

Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil A. Kaufer, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
H. E. Mussey, Thief River Falls Press.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, June 4, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota on July 17th, 1900, viz: Johanna Gustafson, widow of Anders Gustaf Gustafson, deceased, H. E. No. 14,227, for the SE SE¼, NE¼ SE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 21, T. 157 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

John Hoffaas, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
George K. Moen, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
Erick Petterson, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
Knud Moen, of Ingalls, Minnesota.

June 7 6t

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., June 18, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on July 31st, 1900, viz: Edvart Fasteson, H. E. 15,116, for the W½ SW¼ and SW¼ NW¼, Sec. 15, Tp. 157 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Andrew Olson, of Breese, Minn.
Phillip Larson, of Breese, Minn.
Carl Petterson, of Breese, Minn.
August A. Petterson, of Breese, Minn.

June 21 6t

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

ORDER TO EXAMINE ACCOUNTS, ETC.

State of Minnesota, county of Red Lake—ss. In Probate Court, special term, June 25th, 1900.

In the matter of the estate of Ada F. Snyder, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of J. W. Wheeler, administrator of the estate of Ada F. Snyder, deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard by this court on Monday, the 23rd day of July, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock A. M., at Probate Office in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Thief River Falls News, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Thief River Falls, in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, this 25th day of June, A. D. 1900.

By the Court:

[seal.] 6 28 3

J. T. KNIGHT,
Judge of Probate.

Henry W. Lee,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. Campbell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

Ira C. Richardson,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Frank H. Kratka
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye, ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office n Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m 1 to 4 and 7 p. m

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

The Affairs of Europe

are faithfully portrayed in the original and exclusive cable dispatches which THE CHICAGO RECORD prints daily from the leading capitals of the old world. This magnificent special service is in process of being greatly extended so as to include every important city in Europe; and it is supplemented by the full regular cable service of The Associated Press.

The Chicago Record, alone of all American newspapers outside New York city, now prints original and exclusive cable dispatches daily from the leading capitals of Europe.

The John Hancock

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year

J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn

F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3101, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,

C.A.SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

TOWN TALES.

Viavi. Room 33, Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

Ed. Burns, of Rollis, was in the city last week.

Emil Brink was up from St. Hilaire Monday.

G. H. Turville was down to Crookston last week.

E. M. Hoff, of St. Hilaire, was in the city last week.

Attorney H. W. Lee was down to Crookston Tuesday.

James Mullen came down from the Red lake last week.

Charles Hughes, of St. Hilaire, was in the city Sunday.

J. Q. Adams, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city Tuesday.

C. H. Helland, of Germantown, was in the city last week.

Alex Thompson, of Crookston, was in the city last week.

F. C. Butts, the genial life insurance agent, is in the city.

J. B. Senate and wife, of St. Hilaire, were in the city Sunday.

M. V. Evenson was down to Red Lake Falls the first of the week.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

J. B. Senate has purchased the saloon of Brink Bros. at St. Hilaire.

Chas. E. Kiewel, the Crookston brewier, was in the city last Friday.

Sheriff Charles Sampson, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city last week.

C. L. Dobner was down to Crookston the first of the week on business.

Mrs. Hoar, of Monticello, Minn., is in the city visiting her brother, C. C. Jackson.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14 all wool suits, regular price	$ 8.00, now	$ 5.25
" " " " "	10.00, "	6.50
5 " " " " "	9.00, "	5.50
1 " " " " "	12.50, "	8.50
7 " " " " "	16.00, "	11.50
6 " " " " "	12.00, "	9.00
5 " " " " "	14.00, "	10.00
15 " " " " "	13.50, "	10.00
8 " " " " "	10.50, "	7.50
8 " " " " "	10.00, "	7.00
7 " " Black Clay worsted	15.00, "	10.50
1 " " " " "	12.50, "	8.00
6 " " " " "	11.00, "	8.00
5 " " " " "	13.50, "	10.00
2 " " Fancy worsted	14.00 "	11.00

3 all wool Blue Sage suits, regular price $13.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.

M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Albin Knauf, one of the enterprising farmers of Holt, was in the city last week.

E. E. Zeh was up to Rollis last week for a few days. He has filed on a claim up there.

Rev. G. F. Liening left today for Breese, where he will attend a children's day picnic.

James Wright has rented the Cleveland hotel and proposes to run a first-class house.

Miss Sarah Vaughan and Dorothy Dobner came down from Germantown Monday.

H. Lewin has purchased another lot adjoining his residence on the east side of C. C. Knox.

John Baumann offers his building on Main avenue for sale or rent. The price is $1,600.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

Miss Theresa Bourque left Tuesday for Red Lake Falls where she will visit friends for two weeks.

Chris Amundson removed his saloon Saturday to the building recently built by Ben Hocking.

Lost—A 38-calibre S. W. revolver. Finder will leave same at the News office and be rewarded.

It is expected that the Warren base ball club will be here Saturday to play a game with the local nine.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

Miss Nellie Curran returned from Red Lake Falls Saturday where she had been visiting friends.

The ball boys say the next time they drive across the prairie all night to play ball they will take a compass.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Will Vaughan came down from his claim near Germantown to the first of the week to assist the local ball nine the Fourth.

There will be services at the parsonage hall of the Evangelical association Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in the English language.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

William Hislop and Alex Stewart, of Manvel, N. D., were in the city last week looking for land on which to pasture a heard of cattle.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Rev G. F. Liening and family returned to this city last Friday from an extended visit to friends at Fargo, N. D.; Traill county, N. D.; Bottineau county, N. D., and Barnsville Minn.

W. A. Case, of Rocksbury, was in the city Monday. He reports that he is receiving many assurances of support in his candidacy for the Republican nomination for register of deeds.

Hal Heritage has resigned his position as stenographer with the Thief River Falls Lumber company and leaves next week for Portland, Oregon, where he accepts a more lucrative position.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

George E. Cooney, the popular shipping clerk for the Thief River Falls Lumber company was married at Sauk Rapids, Minn., last Wednesday, June 27th, to Miss Elbertine A. Davis, the Rev. F. M. Bacon officiating. The newly wedded couple arrived in the city Tuesday and will make this city their future home.

It is rumored that one of the Royal sports of St. Hilaire was arrested last week for shooting ducks out of season. Sentence was suspended upon the promise, the bird-nest robber promising never to do it again.

Money to loan at straight legal rates. No commission. Privilege given to pay any part of principal on any interest-paying date. Lands bought. Hinlo Real Estate Agency, F. G. Wells, Mgr., Thief River Falls, Minn.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—When you are tired of nostrums and ready to "throw physic to the dogs," try Shaw's Pure Malt, and "life will be worth living." Absolutely pure. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Dr. J. E. Argue, the Red Lake Falls dentist, will be in Thief River Falls, at the Hotel Ogahmah, July 5, and will remain until the 10th. All parties wishing work done in this line will please call early and make dates. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Miss Clarice La Bree, of Thief River Falls, a sister-in-law of Mayor Campbell, of this city, was married last week to George F. Raddue, of Seattle, the ceremony occurring at Seattle. Mr. and Mrs. Raddue are enroute west and will visit here and at Winnipeg.

Last week a crew of men went upon the reservation and commenced the work of putting up hay for Hanson & Barzen. The firm expects to put up between three and four hundred tons of hay. They will bale the hay and ship it to Minneapolis next fall.

Henry Norland is superintending the work on the repairs to the water power company's dam, and this insures a thorough job being done. In the old days, before Red Lake severed her relations with Polk county, Henry was one who never missed a Populist convention, but it was different today.—Crookston Times, June 28.

A dozen Indians passed through the city late yesterday, bound for Devils Lake, where they will go to represent the Red Lake band in a big pow wow that will be held there between the Chippewas and Sioux. A dozen teams with covered rigs are moving to the same point 'cross country, and were at Stephen yesterday.—Crookston Times, June 28.

Patrick Welsh died yesterday morning from the effects of a protracted spree. Welsh was a well known lumberman, an industrious worker and could always command good wages and steady employment. His sad and tragic death is mourned by all his acquaintances. No relatives of the deceased reside in this section, but a brother in Wisconsin has been notified.

Herbert Fuller has passed the examination of the civil service board and been appointed a railway mail clerk. He commences work next Monday and has been assigned the task of transferring registered letters at the Union depot at St. Paul, which position he will probably hold for a few weeks before going on the road. Mr. Fuller states that he will continue to call this city his home.

Miss Theresa Bourque closed a very successful term of school in District No. 154, town of Rocksbury, last Saturday. The total enrollment was 39 and the number entitled to state apportionment was 32. The closing exercises were witnessed by a large number of the children's parents and were in every way a success. Miss Bourque gave such excellent satisfaction and is held in such high esteem by the people of Rocksbury that the school board unanimously offered her the school for another term.

Last Friday a tragedy was narrowly averted at Crier's Landing by the extraordinary agility of James Burns, a well known citizen of this place. In company with Orrin Allen, Mr. Burns attempted to cross the rapids of the Red Lake river at the above mentioned point in a bark canoe, and, when midway in the stream, it was discovered that the canoe was in a sinking condition. Burns bravely leaped into the raging torrent, and, grasping Mr. Allen with one hand and the canoe with the other, waded ashore amid the applause of the assembled multitude. A life saving medal has been sent for.

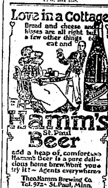
Ads... In the News Always Bring Results.

PORTER & PAULSON,
- - Proprietors of - -
CITY DRAY
- - and - -
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

STEVENS FAVORITE
GIVE THE BOYS A
Stevens Favorite Rifle.
Favorite (with Open Sights) $6.
J. STEVENS ARMS & TOOL CO., Chicopee Falls, Mass.

P. O. Box 1728.



Love in a Cottage
Bread and cheese and kisses are all right but a few other things to eat and Hamm's St. Paul Beer
add a heap of comfort. Hamm's Beer is a pure delicious home brew. Won't you try it? ~ Agents everywhere.
Theo.Hamm Brewing Co.
Tel. 972 St. Paul, Minn.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in The Patent Record, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.

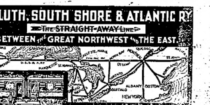
BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
General Banking.
Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE,

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.



DULUTH, SOUTH SHORE & ATLANTIC RY
THE STRAIGHT-AWAY LINE
BETWEEN THE GREAT NORTHWEST AND THE EAST.
GRAND FORKS
DULUTH
FARGO
WEST SUPERIOR
MARQUETTE
ST. IGNACE
SAULT STE. MARIE
MONTREAL
QUEBEC
OTTAWA
TORONTO
BUFFALO
ALBANY
BOSTON
NEW YORK
PORTLAND
DETROIT
FINEST MODERN TRAINS DINING CARS A-LA-CARTE
T. H. LARKE, ASST. GEN'L PASS. AGT. DULUTH, MINN.

V.95

IMPERFECT PAGE

C. L. Dorner, President. H. G. Dorner, Cashier. L. Ellington Vice-President.

First State Bank

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Transact a general Banking Business.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. Gallagh, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. Ellington, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. Hendricksen, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. Dorner, President.
H. G. Dorner, Cashier

Burlington Route

BEST LINE TO CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS.

"The Limited," the finest train in the world, leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., every day. Electric lighted, steam heated, has compartment and standard sleepers, reclining chair cars, coaches and dining car on the cafe plan. "The Scenic Express" leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.

GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

TIME AND SPACE

are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

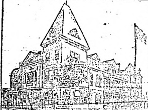
FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 22x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Chateau de Speer Wines

of Passaic, N. J. Vineyards.

These Wines Rival the World in Excellence.

Old, rich and mellow by age and years of care and frequent racking in fumigated cellars as is done with the Chateau Wines in France.



Photograph of Chateau de Speer.

The Chateau contains a limited supply of Private Stock Port nineteen years old, besides Burgundy and Claret of nearly the same age. The Speer Port, however, nine years old, as well as the Burgundy Claret and Sherry, are high class wines. The ★★★ Climax Brandy is 15 years old. All are preferred where known by the Medical profession as superior to any that can be had, for their excellent effect upon the system when used by invalids, the weakly and aged persons and in general family use. Northern New Jersey climate, and soil abounding in iron is just adapted for this grape for Port wine. It is the same kind of soil as in Portugal. Speer's winery and vineyards are the only Port grape vineyards in the United States; only vineyards that cultivate the real Port wine grape of Portugal; while other wines or mixtures called port are made without a single Oporto grape in them. Mr. Speer is the first and only one who imported the vines and acclimated the real Port wine grape vines of Portugal. He spent thousands of dollars as a hobby to see what he could do toward acclimating these Portugal vines here. It took eight years for them to become acclimated before Mr. Speer got a single grape; during those years all died except about eight hundred vines, when those began to grow vigorous and bear fruit; from these, layers were made for new vines. The vineyards now cover fifty six acres. It has proven a success. The grapes are allowed to hang on the vines until they begin to raisin, when they have parted with some of the water and are rich in sugar; and the wine made from Port wine grapes is the only real genuine Port wine made in America. It is by far THE wine for weakly persons, the aged and for evening entertainments.

Sold by Druggists and Grocers.

HE IS LEGALLY DEAD

Estate of Missing Man Administered and Insurance Paid.

Absent Sixteen Years, Is Given Up for Dead and Wife Marries Again—Modern Enoch Arden Case at Gloucester, Mass.

A romance in real life, similar to that of Enoch Arden, but with more complications, has come to light in Gloucester, Mass. News of a former resident, who has not been heard from for 16 years, and who was supposed to be dead, his estate having been administered upon and his former wife having remarried, have been received. Howard A. Saville, of Little Rock, Ark., a descendant of a well-known Gloucester family, is the party in interest, and his identity and location have been discovered as the result of an advertisement inserted in a St. Louis paper, asking for information concerning him, which was wanted to settle an estate in probate. By mere accident the paper fell into his hands and a correspondence ensued, resulting in his attorney visiting this city and bringing the news of his continued existence.

After going west Mr. Saville concluded to make a new start in life, cutting away from all former associations. He settled in Arkansas, where he again began life and in time rose to considerable local prominence, being at one time postmaster of Simpson, a town in Bradley county, Ark. Not hearing from her husband for some ten years, and a report coming to Gloucester that he had died in a hospital while undergoing a surgical operation, Mrs. Saville made a claim upon a life insurance company for the amount of a policy upon his life, which, after investigation, was paid by the company, and his estate passed through the probate court for settlement.

A few years later, having no further news of her husband, she again married, while Mr. Saville also took to himself a wife in his new western home. No children have resulted from either of these marriages, but Mr. and Mrs. Saville were the parents of three sons and a daughter, the eldest of whom is Prof. Marshall Saville, the well-known archaeologist, who has returned to New York, having spent the winter in Mexico, where he made important observations and discoveries relating to the Aztecs.

MORE SCHOOLS FOR EMPLOYES

The Educational Plan to Be Extended to the Factories of Chicago.

The plan of having schools established in the large stores downtown for the benefit of the younger employes, as urged by W. Lester Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, Chicago, will be pushed still further. Members of the board of education believe that the plan can be utilized for the education of employes of factories who are unable to attend day school and are too tired to attend night schools. Vice President Thomas Gallagher, of the board, is an earnest advocate of the method.

Superintendent Bodine is now arranging with several of the large factories to follow the example of "The Fair," Marshall Field and Siegel, Cooper & Co. in starting schools. The difficulty of placing schools in factories is, however, greater than in stores.

After the schools in the different stores have been firmly established it is expected that prizes will be offered by the board of education for those who do their work the best.

BATTLE WITH HAWKS.

Two Men Are Painfully Injured While Taking Eggs from a Tall Tree.

Poll Woll Young and John Hauptby had a thrilling escape from death while robbing a chicken hawk's nest. They had been trout fishing at Black creek and while on their way home saw the hawk's nest in the top of a tall pine tree. Hauptby armed himself with a club and climbed to the nest.

Just as he was about to take the eggs he was attacked by six hawks. They struck him in the face with their beaks and beat him with their wings. Hauptby defended himself until he weakened and then when the birds made a fresh attack on him he fell, lodging in the lower branches of the tree.

Woll Young went to his companion's assistance and then climbed up to the nest, only to receive the same treatment as Hauptby. Both are full-grown men, but they were so cut and bruised about the face, eyes, hands and neck that they dragged themselves home with extreme difficulty.

RAILS FOR RUSSIA.

The Biggest Single Shipment Ever Made Sent Out of Baltimore.

The steamship Samoa, which has sailed from Baltimore for Vladivostock, Russia, carried the largest shipment of steel rails ever sent to a foreign country. It amounted to 8,640 tons. The rails were invoiced at $21 a ton. A new steel industrial, which combines all the plants in the branch of the steel industry foreign to the existing combinations, is being organized at Canton, O. It is to be known as the American Sheet Metal company, and is to have a capital of $50,000,000. The combination includes 29 of the 32 plants in the country which manufacture corrugated iron and cornices of buildings.

GIVEN RARE PLANTS.

Annual Compliment Paid to Congressmen by Government.

One Hundred Choice Varieties Are Selected by Each Member of Congress from the Botanical Gardens.

One of the many choice attentions the government pays to congressmen is the gift of a hundred rare plants every year. As this is the favorite season for selecting them, the employes at the botanical gardens are busy packing them for shipment. As a representative or senator selects his proper quota they are taken up and packed in wooden boxes for shipment. The packing-rooms are now filled with these boxes, labeled for all parts of the United States. The wary Scotchman who has charge of the gardens is particular to cast his pearls where their real value will be known, hence his exceeding care in having his cherished treasures—those nourished and cared for under his own hand—go only to those who recognize their great value and appreciate them.

The custom of sending palms and flowering plants to the homes or apartments of members to use in decoration at large social functions is now almost a thing of the past. It was found that the greenhouses were often left almost empty, and the damage done to the plants by carrying them about through freezing weather was irreparable. Besides, it engendered much hard feeling, as the order had to be filed with the superintendent far ahead of the engagement.

As the last of the assignments for this session are being packed the hothouses look bare and uninteresting after the loss of the many thousands of plants this old custom entails. When the cost of labor, material and expenses of making the boxes and other expenses are considered, it does not appear in the light of a mean gift to members in either house.

BOW LEGS STRAIGHTENED.

Indianapolis Man Submits to Painful Surgical Operation to Correct Deformity.

Lewis Hoen, aged 24, will leave the St. Joseph hospital in Logansport, Ind., in about ten days, having almost entirely recovered from the effects of a singular operation for the correction of bow legs. He went months ago from Indianapolis. Shortly after his arrival he approached several local surgeons and stated that he was extremely sensitive and when in society was mortified by his legs, that were extremely bowed, and he wanted them straightened.

At first the surgeons refused, but Hoen showed a liberal supply of money, and stated that if the Logansport surgeons did not want to do it he would go elsewhere. The surgeons agreed to perform the necessary operation, and the tibia of each leg was broken ten weeks ago, and the limbs were placed in plaster paris casts for six weeks. He bore the pain stoically.

It is rumored that he is in love with a girl who objected to his curvature of the limbs, but this Hoen denies. When he leaves the hospital he will be an inch taller than when he entered, as the points of the bones when broken were separated that distance to allow new growth of bone in reuniting.

MODJESKA TO DEFY CZAR.

The Noted Actress Will Visit Her Native Land Despite Order of Exile.

Mme. Modjeska has returned to her home in southern California after a successful season of 31 weeks in the east. She will not act next season, but instead will brave the czar's edict and visit her native land, Poland. Modjeska for several years has been under the displeasure of the czar. During the world's fair at Chicago she delivered an address on Poland before the woman's parliament. Modjeska was carried away by patriotic ardor and said things that displeased Nicholas, and the edict followed, making her an exile. Recently a longing to visit her native land came over the actress. The Russian government was communicated with, but word came back from St. Petersburg that the ban could not be raised. The Russian ambassador and other powerful influences at Washington have been at work and Modjeska has been advised to go to Poland and take her punishment. This she has decided to do.

COSTS A PRETTY SUM.

Detailed Statement Regarding Expenses of United States Paris Exposition Commission.

The detailed statement sent to the senate of the cost of the Paris exposition commission from the date of its organization to December 31, 1899, shows that the total amount paid for salaries was $167,768, and for traveling expenses $53,397. There are a number of items charged in lump, as, for instance, furniture and office incidentals, $19,000; newspapers, press clippings, photographs, messenger service, cab hire, express and freight charges, $16,000; temporary services of draftsman, $10,477.

The commissioner general, Mr. Ferdinand W. Peck, has received $11,031 as salary and $3,724 as traveling expenses, a total of $14,755.

A Reason for Haste.

A four-day ocean greyhound is promised. The object seems to be to hurry the passenger across before he has recovered from his seasickness. It will, says the Chicago Tribune, effect a great saving in the steward's department.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.
Thief River Falls, Minn.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

"Strictly First Class."

The City Blacksmith-Shop,

John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

La Bree Avenue. Thief River Falls.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

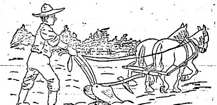
With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD

The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS

and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS

PRINTS THE NEWS

12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. [redacted] THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JULY 12, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14	all wool suits, regular price	$ 8.00,	now $ 5.25
"	" " " " "	10.00,	" 6.50
5	" " " " "	9.00,	" 5.50
1	" " " " "	12.50,	" 8.50
7	" " " " "	16.00,	" 11.50
5	" " " " "	12.00,	" 9.00
5	" " " " "	14.00,	" 10.00
15	" " " " "	18.50,	" 10.00
8	" " " " "	10.50,	" 7.50
8	" " " " "	10.00,	" 7.00
7	" " Black Clay worsted	15.00,	" 10.50
1	" " " " "	12.50,	" 8.00
6	" " " " "	11.00,	" 8.00
5	" " " " "	13.50,	" 10.00
2	" " Fancy worsted.	14.00	" 11.00

3 all wool Blue Sage suits, regular price $13.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.

M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in The Patent Record, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

HE STOLE HORSES

And Will Have to Suffer the Consequences.

Louis Soucie was arrested in Crookston last Saturday evening, charged with stealing a team of horses from F. B. Stewart, of Little Falls. The team was stolen last spring and sold to Joseph Duchamp, who lives near Tweet, west of this city.

Soucie again appeared in town last week and had another team, which had been stolen from Devils Lake, N. D. He offered it for sale at such a low price that Michael Burns considered it a snap and bought it. Mr. Duchamp heard of the transaction and went to Mr. Burns, and, after comparing notes, they came to the conclusion that the team had been stolen, and they found Soucie upon the streets and demanded the return of the money. The man gave it up reluctantly, and it convinced Mr. Burns that the team had been stolen, and so he refused to return the team to him. Soucie left on the pretence that he was going after an attorney, took the train for Crookston where he was arrested.

Soucie was accompanied by his wife and child, who were taken to Little Falls Monday by Sheriff H. A. Rider, of Morrison county.

As Mr. Duchamp had sold the team and wagon he had purchased of Mr. Soucie to other parties, he settled for the team with Mr. Stewart, and no law suit for the recovery of the stolen property will be commenced.

TRAINING SCHOOL

To Be Held at Red Lake Falls July 1st.

The teachers' training school in and for Red Lake county will be held in the high school building, in the city of Red Lake Falls, beginning Monday, July 16th. Persons expecting to teach in this county the coming year will please attend this school or furnish a valid excuse for not doing so. The school will be under the efficient management of Prof. McArthur, a member of the faculty of the St. Cloud normal, and the work will be along a line which will be of the most service to the rural school teacher. Certificates will be issued to those attending the full term, and due consideration will be given these certificates in my recommendation of teachers for the different schools throughout the county.

The fall examinations will be held at the close of the summer school and a month's work here will strengthen your work in the examination.

Those attending will bring what text books they have, and, if more are needed, they will be furnished by the undersigned.

A full program of the work will be published next week. Those desiring a boarding place will please notify me at once, so that proper arrangements may be made.

Frank Jeffers,
Co. Supt. of Schools.

Variety the Spice of Life.

Long journeys by train are fatiguing, and a trip of several consecutive days on a lake steamer is likely to grow tiresome, but the "train and steamer trips" offered by the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway provide the change which begets rest and furnish that variety so dear to all mankind.

For rates and full particulars apply to local agents, or T. H. Larke, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, Duluth.

THEY ARE UGLY.

The Indians Don't Want the School Built.

C. G. Davis, who is superintending the construction of one of the Indian schools on the point between the two Red lakes, was in the city the first of the week after supplies.

Mr. Davis reports that he is experiencing considerable trouble with Indians, who do not want the school erected, and have threatened to do bodily harm to the men if they continue the work. The authorities at Washington, however, have instructed him to go ahead, with the work, and say that protection will be given if it is needed. The Indians living on this section of the reservation are known as the Crosslakers and have always strenuously objected to any encroachment of the whites. Their modes and custom of living are extremely primeval, and people who have been in that section and are acquainted with their disposition say that they would not be surprised if there was an uprising.

Mr. Davis, while here, rented the steam yacht Handy Boy of Peter Eberhardt, which he took with him to the Red lake.

NIGHT AND DAY.

The Saw Mill Is Now Again Running Nights.

The Thief River Falls Lumber company's saw mill again commenced running nights Monday and will continue to be run both night and day during the remaining part of the season. The recent heavy rains insure that all of the company's logs can be floated to this city, and a large crew of men have gone up to bring them down.

DIDN'T PLAY.

Saturday Was Not a Good Day for Base Ball.

The Warren base ball club, together with the band and a large number of citizens of that place, came over last Friday evening, but, owing to the inclemency of the weather Saturday, a game of ball could not be played. The disappointment to the ball players was welcomed by the farmers, however, who were glad to see the rain.

$25.—Canadian Excursion—$25.

Via Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Ry. to Montreal, Quebec and Ste. Anne de Beaupre. Leave Duluth 7:00 p. m. July 22d, and return limit August 31st. Tickets good for stop off at any point in Canada. Through tourist sleeping cars. Double berth, $3.00. Passengers should reserve sleeper berths in advance. T. H. Larke, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, Duluth.

Summer Trips.
Rates the Lowest.
Standard the Highest.

By land and water, "along the south shore of Lake Superior, via the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway." Circuitous tours covering all the famous eastern summer resorts. Apply to local agents, or T. H. Larke, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, Duluth.

Notice.

The herd on the chief section for the coming season will be in charge of Fred Rollette.

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 23c to	45c	Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts	45c
You can buy a good business suit for	$7.50	Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to	$1.50
Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to	$1.25	Pique front white shirts for men	48c
Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to	$4.50	Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for	$2.98
Pants for men from $1.00 to	$5.00	Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to	50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,
Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

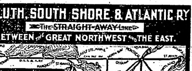
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

DULUTH, SOUTH SHORE & ATLANTIC RY

THE STRAIGHT-AWAY LINE

BETWEEN THE GREAT NORTHWEST AND THE EAST.



FINEST MODERN TRAINS
DINING CARS A LA CARTE

T. H. LARKE, ASST. GEN'L PASS. AGT.
DULUTH, MINN.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, JULY 12, 1900.

The wheat crop on the whole in this section of the state will be better than last year. The refreshing rains during the past two weeks have enjected new life in the growing grain.

C. W. Scrutchin, an attorney of Bemidji, is said to be a candidate for representative from this legislative district, comprised of Red Lake and Beltrami counties. At present there is no aspirant for the office in this county.

"Senator" Clark, of Montana, has contributed $1,000,000 to the campaign fund which is raised in an effort to elect Bryan and Stevenson. Mr. Clark spent an equal amount to secure a seat in the United States Senate, but it was of no avail.

The St. Paul Globe, the leading Democratic paper in Minnesota, has bolted the Democratic national platform, candidates and all. It gives the silver issue as the main reason for throwing the national ticket overboard, and says the party is being forced to destruction by one man, W. J. Bryan.

The Republican State Central committee was selected by the candidates at a meeting held in Minneapolis last Saturday. W. C. Masterman, of Stillwater, was chosen chairman, and C. C. Whitney, of Marshall, secretary. The committee is an unusual strong one and will carry on a successful campaign. The members from this congressional district are O. H. Myran, of Ada; Andrew Grindeland, of Warren, C. S. Mitchell, of Alexandria, E. J. Jones, of Morris, and Marcus Johnson, of Atwater.

The results of the last census taken in Mexico have just been published. Our neighboring republic has a population of 12,491,573, about equally divided between males and females. Two states, Jalisco and Guanajuato, have a population of over 1,000,000, while the third largest state, Mexico, has about 500,000. Among foreign-born people, the United States comes next to Spain, the latter having 12,859. The illiteracy returns are not complimentary to this otherwise prosperous neighbor, there being 8,000,000, or over two-thirds of the population, who can neither read nor write. The Roman Catholics number only 200,000 less than the entire population. Over 2,000,000 of the people do not speak Spanish, but use fifty-two Indian languages. In all sixty-three languages are spoken in that country.

Ex-Senator Edmunds has been strongly opposed to retaining the Philippine Islands, but when it comes to a choice between "imperialism" and Bryanism he is troubled by no doubts. He announces that he is for the Republican ticket and is emphatically opposed to any separate action by those Republicans who object to the expansionist policy, because such a step would improve the chances of Bryan and that would be dangerous for the country. "Saying that imperialism is the most important issue does not make it so," remarks Mr. Edmunds. "You cannot separate the idea of getting one of the two gentlemen—Mr. McKinley and Mr. Bryan—for president." I choose the one that has the less faults." In other words, Mr. Edmunds acknowledges that his fears of imperialism are as vaugue as the word itself, while the danger from an unsound financial policy is definite and disastrous. Bryan stands pledged to tamper with the nation's money so far as he is given power to do it, and to work for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a dishonest ratio. Bryanism means the unsettling of the nation's private and public credit, the closing of factories, and the return of hard times. Though Mr. Edmunds would like to be rid of the Philippines, he is not willing to pay such a price for that consummation. Since he cannot vote for anti-imperialism without at the same time time voting for immediate disaster at home, he wisely prefers to vote for prosperity and the Philippines. His attitude is that of the overwhelming majority, even of those who are unfriendly to expansion.—Chicago Tribune.

General C. H. Grosvenor, who is generally regarded as a spokesman for the Administration, contributes a ringing article to the July North American Review, in which, in reply to Mr. W. J. Bryan's pronouncement in the June number of that periodical, he discusses the issues in the presidential campaign as they are seen from the Republican point of view. General Grosvenor repudiates the notion that the Republican party is under the necessity of adopting a defensive or an apologetic attitude, inasmuch as its achievement in bringing the country from the state of desperate depression in which it languished in 1896 to the condition of unparalleled prosperity which it enjoys in 1900, is the best possible proof of the wisdom of the policy for which it stands. The Republican party, he contends, has kept every promise it made to the country, and to it can be most safely intrusted the practical solution of the grave problems connected with the finances of the republic, with the so-called trusts and with our new trans-oceanic dependencies. One of the most important issues before the country, in General Grosvenor's judgment, is the re-election of William McKinley, who has served the American people wisely and well in circumstances of unprecedented difficulty.

"Abraham Lincoln was confronted with the single question of his duty to overthrow rebellion and save the Union; but there have thronged upon the administration innumerable questions—questions of constitutional construction, questions of the power of the president at home and abroad, questions of the relation of the annexed islands to the United States. All these questions have been met by the administration and practically solved in the interest of our country and of the countries thus being assimilated. No such power was ever in the hands of a human being, within the two past centuries, as has been placed in the hands of William McKinley. Not only has it been his duty, under the constitution, to enforce the laws of congress and of the country at home, but he has found himself possessed of power without limitation. He has found himself making decisions regarding questions of enormous import where there was no court of appeal, and yet it may be stated with absolute confidence that there has been no act of his that savored of tyranny, oppression, wrong or indifference to duty or failure to do justice to all."

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express
Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done
Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

THE TALLEST ACTRESS.

She Is Considerably Over Six Feet and Her Name Is Miss Mary Tull.

The tallest woman on the American stage, according to the Saturday Evening Post, is Miss Mary Tull, who, besides her decided histrionic talent, has won world fame as the favorite model of the foremost American sculptors for their recent goddesses of liberty. Miss Tull's height, which is considerably over six feet, naturally limits her field of endeavor on the stage, but in her especial line of parts it is not exaggerating to say that she stands head and shoulders above her rivals. On a western tour some time ago a programme printer misspelled her name, calling her "Miss Mary Tall." The management at first declined to pay the printing bill, but after the programme man, who was also the manager of the local theater, had visited the show and seen the actress he refused to deduct a cent, claiming that if Tall was not her name, it ought to be.

Last fall, in New York, Miss Tull was photographed as the Goddess of Liberty in a Broadway studio, and in answer to a telephone call she hastily left the gallery and went into the adjoining building, neglecting, meanwhile, to remove her classic draperies. As she stepped on the street a small crowd gathered to view the unusual sight. She was only in evidence a fraction of a minute, and then she returned. A man asked a boy what the excitement was.

He replied: "They've moved the Bartholdi statue from the bay and are making a picture of it in the gallery."

PUSS SAILED AWAY.

She Went Aboard a Steamship and Made Herself Quite at Home.

If there is anything in the popular superstition among sailors that "a cat brings good luck," the voyage of the British steamship Thalia will be a pleasant one, says the Savannah News. A fine, large Maltese cat went aboard the vessel the day before she sailed and composedly curled herself up on the heavily upholstered crimson sofa in the officers' saloon, and when the vessel sailed she was a contented passenger.

"She is an old traveler," said the steward, as he stroked her soft fur, "and this is not her first voyage. Cats like a change, and they will visit one vessel and then another in port until they find one that suits them; and they are knowing animals, and seem to have some intuition when a vessel is going to sail.

"Do I think a cat brings luck? Oh, yes. It's good luck to have a cat come to you. Why, that's not a superstition of sailors alone. Did you ever see a landlubber that didn't believe it? That cat will have the best treatment on board; besides, there's no end to the rats on board, and the cat will be useful as well as lucky for us."

SCARED MONEY OUT OF HIM.

This Deadbeat Couldn't Stand the Chicago Policeman's Methods.

"The first man I ever arrested in Chicago," said Lockup-Keeper McGuire, of the central station, to a Chronicle man, "was a man who beat me out of $20 in the West Indies. I was a young and guileless youth when that fellow got my money. I was chancing it around the world and loaned the money to an American whom I met in Hayti. He promised to return the money right off, but he disappeared, and I never saw him again until I was appointed to the police force here. I ran across the man while traveling beat on the West side. I had been on only two weeks, but I was up to business, just the same. The sight of the fellow made me angry and I grabbed him and put him under arrest. I had on a bright new uniform and, moreover, really believed I had the right to arrest the man for the debt. I started to take him to the station, but he became so scared that he agreed to pay me right off. He handed me the money and I turned him loose. I never knew until a year afterward that I had no right to place the man under arrest."

Americans Are Time-Savers.

The members of the international commercial congress recently held in Philadelphia were told by Mr. W. C. Barker, as the result of his observations among European manufactories, that time seems to be regarded as of comparatively little value abroad, while in America the maxim that "time is money" is practically applied. Mr. Barker found that in a large agricultural machinery manufactory in Europe the only trip-hammer in use was worked by hand, the weight being drawn up with ropes and pulley, and allowed to drop. The American power-hammer strikes 100 and more blows in a minute.

Cruelty of Natives of Congo.

The Nieuwe Gazet of Antwerp gives authentic details of cruelties inflicted by Belgians on the natives of Congo region. In one case 22 women were shot for not having come in time to carry away a load of rubber. In another case 60 women were put in chains and allowed to starve to death because their village had not supplied any rubber.

The Canadian Indian.

Canadian Indians in summer prefer to live in their tents, now made of canvas, as buffalo hide is scarce, but in winter take up quarters in their small wooden huts. Many of these so far civilized "reds" have agricultural machinery and ponies and cattle of their own.

A Great Modern Daily.

The greatest feat of modern civilization is the modern newspaper.

This thought comes to mind almost every day as we take from its wrapper the Minneapolis Tribune. It is simply astounding how much in the way of information and fact, as well as intelligent comment one can buy for a cent—new and fresh every day.

There is something to be said about the Tribune, which probably is untrue of any other Twin city daily. It is consistently and persistently Republican. The Tribune never goes off after false gods, nor do the flesh pots of office or the allurements of gain ever swerve it from its support of the right. At the same time, it is modest in its efforts to shape party policy and the selection of candidates for office.

All this may be understood, however, from the fact that the Tribune is in no sense an organ; it is a newspaper—with the accent upon the news.

No doubt this accounts for its over-topping circulation. When a paper in Minnesota averages for an entire year over 50,000 circulation, as the Tribune did (50,185 for the year ending March 31, 1900), it is going to more people, considering the number of people within its field, than any paper we know of.

There are more kinds of people in Minnesota interested in the dog in the Tribune's daily cartoon than in any other one daily creation. These cartoons are inimitably funny, and, at the same time, full of good sense. They drive home a witty thrust, when a whole column of editorial might glance off ineffective.

The Tribune has recently moved into its new marble front building, of which it is justly very proud. Its equipment is said to be without exception the finest and most up-to-date in America. No money has been spared to make it so, and the paper tells on its face that it is the product not only of the best mechanical facilities, but the best newspaper brains and character in the northwest.

We feel like saying to others: "Toe the mark with the Minne-Tribune."

If anybody has a message for the people of this community, he cannot deliver it to them so effectually, so cheaply, so quickly in any other way as through the columns of this paper.

It is the business of the News to carry messages of one kind and another into homes. The message will be delivered, too, under favorable conditions, for few persons take up their local paper except in a pleasant and receptive frame of mind.

The sign upon the fence board may be good, but it can be seen only by travelers who go that particular road. The message in the local paper carries itself to thousands, no matter by which road they travel.

Select your space and put your message where it will do the most good. We, perhaps, can help you, if you will but ask us.

THE GREAT NORTHERN.

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars. Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.

Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv.	Crookston	Ar.	6:20 p m
9:25 a m	"	Shirley	"	6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	"	Ives	"	*5:30 p m
10:31 a m	"	Wylie	"	*4:55 p m
11:30 a m	"	St Hilaire	Lv.	4:30 p m
12:10 n m	Ar.	Thief River F	"	1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv.	St Hilaire	"	4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar.*	Red Lake F	"	3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address
W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

United States Map. 15c. A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We can't well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.
Phil A. Kaufer, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Boll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
H. E. Mussey, Thief River Falls Press.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, June 4, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota on July 17th, 1900, viz: Johanna Gustafson, widow of Anders Gustaf Gustafson, deceased, H. E. No. 14227, for the SE¼ SE¼, NE¼ SE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 24, T. 157 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
John Hoffans, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
George K. Muen, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
Erick Petterson, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
Knud Muen, of Ingalls, Minnesota.
SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.
June 7 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., June 18, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on July 31st, 1900, viz: Edvart Festeson, H. E. 15,116, for the W½ SW¼ and SW¼ NW¼, Sec. 15, Tp. 157 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
Andrew Olson, of Breese, Minn.
Phillip Larson, of Breese, Minn.
Carl Petterson, of Breese, Minn.
August A. Petterson, of Breese, Minn.
SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.
June 21 6t

ORDER TO EXAMINE ACCOUNTS, ETC.

State of Minnesota, county of Red Lake—ss.
In Probate Court, special term, June 26th, 1900.
In the matter of the estate of Ada F. Snyder, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of J. W. Wheeler, administrator of the estate of Ada F. Snyder, deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law;

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard by this court on Monday, the 23rd day of July, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock A. M., at Probate Office in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Thief River Falls News, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Thief River Falls, in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, this 26th day of June, A. D. 1900.

By the Court;
[SEAL.] J. T. KNIGHT,
Judge of Probate.
6 28 3

Henry W. Lee,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. Campbell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

Ira C. Richardson,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Frank H. Kratka
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m.

THE BEER THAT
MAKES ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY
Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.
JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

The Affairs of Europe

are faithfully portrayed in the original and exclusive cable dispatches which THE CHICAGO RECORD prints daily from the leading capitals of the old world. This magnificent special service is in process of being greatly extended so as to include every important city in Europe; and it is supplemented by the full regular cable service of The Associated Press.

The Chicago Record, alone of all American newspapers outside New York city, now prints original and exclusive cable dispatches daily from the leading capitals of Europe.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year
J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn
F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn.

READ THIS!
Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.
C. KRETZSCHMAR.

For fine job work call at the News office.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.
JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

The Chicago Tribune

Is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

STEVENS FAVORITE

GIVE THE BOYS A Stevens Favorite Rifle.

P. O. Box 1721.

TOWN TALES.

M. K. Wall was down to St. Hilaire Monday.

Everything new and up-to-date with Skerbeck's show.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

James Meehan, Jr., transacted business in the county seat yesterday.

A. D. McKinnon, of Crookston, was in the city the first of the week.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

Don't fail to attend the dance to *be given by the base ball boys to*morrow evening in the Odd Fellows' hall.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

Misses Addie Palmer and Francis Kerns, of Crookston, were in the city last week visiting Miss Ester Stebbins.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

A large number of men went up to the Red lake Tuesday. They will be employed by the Thief River Falls Lumber company in driving logs.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Money to loan at straight legal rates. No commission. Privilege given to pay any part of principal on any interest-paying date. Lands bought. Himle Real Estate Agency, F. G. Wells, Mgr., Thief River Falls, Minn.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—When you are tired of nostrums and ready to "throw physic to the dogs," try Shaw's Pure Malt, and "life will be worth living." Absolutely pure. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

The report comes from the Red lake that at least five inches of water has fallen up there during the past two weeks. This greatly exceeds the amount of rainfall here, and insures a sufficient amount of water for the steamboat men and loggers.

P. S. Ware, the Warren druggist, was a visitor it the city for a brief time between trains Tuesday morning, having returned from a business trip to Minneapolis, and went to Thief River Falls. Mr. Ware is making preparations to remove to Minneapolis, where he will engage in business.—Crookston Times.

Fred Rolette and wife returned to this city last Saturday from a visit at Pembina. They were accompanied by Mr. Rolette's mother, the widow of Joe Rolette, whose name has found a permanent lodgment in the history of Minnesota through his defeat of the attempt to remove the state capital to St. Peter, which was accomplished by surreptitiously gaining possession of the bill and absenting himself from the sessions of the legislature, of which he was a member, until the session closed.

While the train was pulling in at Fosston last Friday afternoon, Dellos Douglas, who was standing near the edge of the platform, with a valise in his hand, was pushed against a moving train by some one in a greater hurry than himself, but luckily did not fall under it. He grabbed hold of the step-railing on a coach and held fast, being dragged about twenty-five feet until the train stopped. He came out of it with a sprained and severely bruised ankle.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Viavi. Room 33, Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

N. W. Tarrant is indisposed.

P. S. Ware and wife, of Warren, were in the city last week.

James McAndress, of St. Hilaire, was in the city Monday.

Remember the day and date and see the grand free street parade.

See Skerbeck & Co.'s great one-ring show Saturday, July 14th.

Judge of Probate Knight, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city last week.

Mrs. L. P. Stranahan and children, of Crookston, are in the city visiting friends.

See the smallest horse on earth five years old—weighs 38 pounds—with Skerbeck's show.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

John Pederson's drive for the St. Hilaire Lumber company, containing about 8,000,000 feet of logs, arrived in the city last week.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

Dan Shaw returned to this city last week from Pittsburg, Pa., where he had been several weeks visiting his brother. He made the return trip via the Great Lakes.

The base ball club will give a dance tomorrow evening in the Odd Fellows' hall. Music will be furnished by Prof. Juliot, the Crookston harpist. All are invited.

F. H. Kratka and family leave next week for a trip over the reservation and will spend a week or two camping out, hunting, fishing, etc. It will surely prove to be an enjoyable trip.

Wm. Field, of Manvel, N. D., arrived in the city last week. Mr. Field has been engaged as professor of the Knox school on the East side. The Central school has not as yet hired a superintendent.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Deputy Sheriff Heasley went out to Norden yesterday with a warrant issued by Judge Tarrant for the arrest of Fred Olson, a brother of Andrew Olson, of this city. Olson is charged by a neighbor of breaking down a fence.

Testimony was taken today before Judge McLean in an action brought against S. Bisazza by C. F. Miller charging assault. The trouble was over a garnishee case. The judge dismissed the case.—Crookston Tribune, July 7.

Hollan Bros., who are to open up a general merchandise store in the James Meehan building, expect to open up the first of next week. They will have an entirely new stock and solicit the patronage of the public.

Quite a serious fire occurred at Dwyer's camp near Solway Sunday afternoon. It started in a stable and six horses were burned to death before the flames could be extinguished. It is thought the blaze originated from a pipe being taken into the barn lighted.

The annual school meetings for both the independent districts in this city will be held on Saturday, evening, July 21st at 7 o'clock. Officers are to be elected, and on the East side a proposition to bond the district for the purpose of building an addition to the Knox school will be voted upon.

Frank Jeffers, county superintendent of schools, announces that the faculty for Red Lake county which convenes at Red Lake Falls next Monday will consist of N. J. McArthur, of the St. Cloud normal school, and P. J. Kuntz, superintendent of the schools of Owatonna. The former will instruct in arithmetic, grammar, reading and literature, and the latter in theory and practice, history, civics and geography.

Fred Gallenbeck is confined to his home by illness.

Dan Shaw was down to Red Lake Falls Tuesday.

H. F. Brown, of Crookston, was in the city Tuesday.

Geo. F. Murch, of Crookston, was in the city yesterday.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

Milton Forder and wife went up to their claim near Rollis Monday.

Mrs. Andrew Clements, who has been quite ill, is reported improving.

Wanted—A nurse girl. Apply to Leo Kulklinska, Hotel Ogahmah Annex.

George Schlotfeldt, and John Dahleen, of Germantown, were in the city last Friday.

The Ladies of the Catholic church meet this afternoon with Mrs. C. L. Dobner.

The board of county commissioners meet next Monday as a board of equalization.

The Ladies of the Methodist church met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. F. J. Stebbins.

The Himle Land company has rented an office in the Gilbertson building on La Bree avenue.

James Meehan last week sold a quarter section of land in the town of Poplar River to F. J. Percival.

Wiley Tindolph returned to this city last Saturday from an extended business trip to the Twin cities.

County Commissioner K. M. Hansen went to Red Lake Falls Monday to attend a regular meeting of the county board.

The Ethel left Tuesday for the Red lake, it being the first trip the boat has made this season. It will run regularly hereafter.

Mrs. C. C. Jackson entertained a company of lady friends last Saturday afternoon in honor of her guest, Mrs. Hoar, of Monticello.

Halvor Steenerson and W. E. Rowe, of Crookston, who have been associated together in the practice of law, have dissolved partnership.

Dr. Argue, the Red Lake Falls dentist, arrived in the city last Friday and has been doing a rushing business. He leaves for home today.

The taste runs to wild beast pets up at Warroad. One man has a moose calf and a pair of wolves that follow him like he was their mother, and another has a pair of bear cubs that he took to raise after killing their mother.

The Hallock News gives it out cold that it has positive information that the Great Northern officials have concluded to extend their road from Thief River Falls north into Roseau county without delay.

The remains of Patrick Welsh were last Friday taken to Necedah, Wis., for burial. Dr. and J. W. Welsh, two brothers of the deceased, were up from Wisconsin last week and superintended the shipping of the body.

Frank Tilton and Mrs. Lonson, both well known residents of this city, went to Red Lake Falls yesterday, where they were united in marriage. Peter Newman and Mrs. Iverson accompanied the bridal party and acted as best man and brides maid, respectively.

The annual picnic of the Northwestern Picnic association of the Modern Woodmen will be held at Detroit lake July 25, 26 and 27. Arrangements are being made for a large attendance. Free tents will be furnished to visiting Woodmen and an interesting program of sports on land and water has been arranged for.

The Lake of the Woods Boom and Salvage company, the first to organize with headquarters at Warroad, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state of Minnesota, placing its capital stock at $10,000. The incorporators are W. F. Powell and Wm. J. Brown, of Warren, and D. Finley, Wm. Neal and John Q. Cronkhite, of Warroad. The company is organized for the purpose of reclaiming logs on the river.

Chas. F. Umbright, of this city, has been granted a pension.

Milton, the six-year-old son of Samuel Dainard, was hooked in the face by a vicious cow yesterday morning. A deep gash was cut, and it required twelve stitches to sew it up. The little fellow stood the task bravely and did not take any opiates while Dr. Francis performed his work. He is now getting along nicely.

BASE BALL.

A Game Will Be Played Here Sunday.

A game of base ball will be played on the grounds in this city Sunday between the local club and the team from Red Lake Falls. It promises to be an interesting affair, and there will be a large number in attendance It was the intention to run an excursion from Red Lake Falls on that day, but the Great Northern announces that it is unable to furnish a special train.

Minnesota Crop Bulletin.

The severe drought has been effectually broken in all parts of the state by rains, which began on the morning of July 2, and continued, as showers, till late in the week, though in Polk, Clay, Becker and Hubbard counties there were splendid rains as early as June 30. The temperatures were moderately high till the last days of the week, the highest being on July 4. The rains have been very beneficial to corn, late potatoes, pastures, wild grasses, forage, crops, flax and fruits; and of some value, depending on the condition of the plant, to spring wheat, oats and barley; some fields of these small grains, especially in the northern half of the state, were too poor to receive any benefit from the rains, and others had already been plowed for forage or other crops, or cut for hay, but some on heavier soils, and grown under better conditions, stood the drought better and have been improved by the rains by a lengthening of the stalk, an increased capacity of head and better filling. A fair crop of winter rye is nearly all in stock, and a moderate winter wheat crop is being cut. Barley harvest has begun in the south, and oats is ripening. Flax is irregular, but it is improving, and a larger crop is expected than was thought possible before the rains began. A poor crop of hay is being cut, though the work is retarded by the rain, which have spoiled some of it. Fodder corn and milet are being grown to supplement winter feed. No timothy will be grown for seed. Chinch bugs are numerous in southern counties, where they are attacking the corn. High winds have blown off many apples, but not enough to materially reduce the splendid crop. Corn and potatoes are growing rapidly.

Wait for the Big Show.

The Great Syndicate English and American Show will exhibit at Thief River Falls Thursday, July 26—afternoon and night—and, judging from the eulogistic press notices they have received, we opine that our amusement lovers will have a most enjoyable time upon their advent. This is the first real big circus to visit this city and will doubtless have a large attendance. They have 100 horses and Shetland ponies, 120 people and a corps of arenic stars, a fine menagerie, with two brass bands. They give a grand parade at noon. Wait for the big show and get your money's worth. See the display ad in our next issue.

Notice.

The road leading north over the chief section will be closed June 1st.
Fred Rolette.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches,
Clocks,
Jewelry
and
Guns.

Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as The North American Review. — Boston Journal.

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "The North American Review constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the North American Review."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a yea

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N.

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Hamm's
St. Paul
Beer
There's Honest Blood, Bone and Sinew in this Strengthening brew!
Agents everywhere
Theo. Hamm Brewing Company.
Tel. 972
St. Paul, Minn.

C. L. Dobner, President. H. G. Dobner, Cashier. L. Ellington, Vice-President.

First State Bank
OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Transact a general Banking Business.

DIRECTORS:
A. O. Gallach, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. Ellington, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
O. Hendricksen, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. Dobner, President.
H. G. Dobner, Cashier

Burlington Route

BEST LINE TO CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS.

"The Limited," the finest train in the world, leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., every day. Electric lighted, steam heated, has compartment and standard sleepers, reclining chair cars, coaches and dining car on the cafe plan. "The Scenic Express" leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

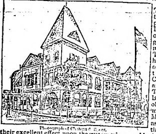
TIME AND SPACE

are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 23½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Chateau de Speer Wines
of Passaic, N. J. Vineyards.
These Wines Rival the World in Excellence.

Old, rich and mellow by age and years of care and frequent racking in fumigated cellars as is done with the Chateau Wines in France.



Photograph of Chateau de Speer.

The Chateau contains a limited supply of Private Stock Port nineteen years old, besides Burgundy and Claret of nearly the same age. The Speer Port, however, nine years old, as well as the Burgundy Claret and Sherry, are high class wines. The ★★★ Climax Brandy is 18 years old. All are preferred where known by the Medical profession as superior to any that can be had, for their excellent effect upon the system when used by invalids, the weakly and aged persons and in general family use. Northern New Jersey climate, and soil abounding in iron is just adapted for this grape for Port wine. It is the same kind of soil as in Portugal. Speer's winery and vineyards are the only Port grape vineyards in the United States; only vineyards that cultivate the real Port wine grape of Portugal; while other wines or mixtures called port are made without a single Oporto grape in them. Mr. Speer is the first and only one who imported the vines and acclimated the real Port wine grape vines of Portugal. He spent thousands of dollars as a hobby to see what he could do toward acclimating these Portugal vines here. It took eight years for them to become acclimated before Mr. Speer got a single grape; during those years all died except about eight hundred vines, when those began to grow vigorous and bear fruit; from these, layers were made for new vines. The vineyards now cover fifty six acres. It has proven a success. The grapes are allowed to hang on the vines until they begin to raisin, when they have parted with some of the water and are rich in sugar; and the wine made from Port wine grapes is the only real genuine Port wine made in America. It is by far THE wine for weakly persons, the aged and for evening entertainments.

Sold by Druggists and Grocers.

DOING GOOD WORK.

Signal Corps Connecting Entire Visayan Group by Wire.

Nearly 2,000 Miles of Telegraph Wire Already Laid with 160 First-Class Telegraph Offices—Further Work Planned.

A new progress map of signal corps telegraph lines and cables in the Philippines, just prepared under the direction of Gen. A. W. Greeley, is of especial interest at this time. It shows not only the system as it existed on March 31, but also projected military telegraph lines and cables now in process of construction.

Telegraphic communication between Manila and the south has been entirely dependent upon the English cable to the Visayan Island of Panay, Negros and Cebu. This cable, which was broken by an earthquake on April 14, has not yet been repaired, and the long interruption emphasizes the great military importance of the alternate telegraph route to the southern islands from Manila, which is now being constructed by the signal corps. The system recommended by Gen. MacArthur has been fully approved by Secretary Root, and will be pushed to rapid completion.

It is expected that the entire Visayan group will be connected by military lines before July, and that the southern system of cables and land lines will be in operation by the end of the rainy season. The extent and magnitude of the telegraph and cable operations of the signal corps in the Philippines is hardly realized or known. There are 160 first-class telegraph offices, manned by nearly 200 skilled operators, who handle by telegraph on the Island of Luzon alone about 300,000 words each day. In addition, there are about 150 long-distance telephone stations in operation in various parts of the archipelago.

The work of the signal corps, when completed, will stretch through nearly 14 degrees of latitude. Six signal corps cables are now in operation, and in all probability the cables and land lines which were nearly 2,000 miles in length on March 1 will aggregate at present 2,500 miles. While some branches are for strictly military purposes, the most of these lines are permanent structures which will have a very important bearing in the development of the trade relations of the various islands.

OUTING TRIP BY WAGON.

Chicago Student at Princeton Starts Out on a Novel Vacation Trip.

James W. Thorne, of Chicago, a senior in Princeton, left Princeton the other morning in a covered wagon for the far west. He will start on the journey alone, but will be joined later by John G. Ralston, of Chicago, who graduated last year from Princeton; G. L. Denny, of Indianapolis, a senior in the university, and E. B. Meigs, of Philadelphia, also a senior. The students are going for a good time and expect to travel in the wagon all summer. They intend to make their first long stop at Yellowstone national park, where several weeks will be spent in hunting wild animals with cameras, with which the expedition is well equipped. The wagon was built especially for the purpose and will constitute living-room, kitchen and bedroom. Guns and fishing tackle have been provided in abundance and three dogs will act as mascots and afford amusement. After the stay in Yellowstone park the party will go to San Francisco.

WEDS HIS NURSE.

Kenosha Man, Now Fighting in South Africa, Surprises His Friends.

The Kenosha (Wis.) friends of Charles J. Spruce, a Kenosha man who is fighting with the British army in South Africa and who was decorated recently with the Victoria cross, were surprised the other morning when the relatives of Spruce in Kenosha received a letter from him announcing his marriage to a young woman of Johannesburg who had recently been a nurse with the British army.

The story of the wedding was the old romance of the battlefield. Two years ago Spruce was taken ill and was sent to the hospital, and fell in love with the young woman who attended him during his illness. In connection with the announcement of his wedding Mr. Spruce writes that he will retire from the army in the near future and go to London for a brief visit and then return to Kenosha.

Duke of Fife.

Queen Victoria has secured the social position of some of her great-grandchildren by making a new grant of the dukedom of Fife to the prince of Wales' son-in-law and creating him earl of Macduff in the peerage of the United Kingdom. The earldom and dukedom, in default of male issue by Princess Louise of Wales, go to each daughter they have or may have and her male successively according to priority of birth.

Church Communicants.

By the last census there were 20,612,806 communicants in all the churches of the United States. Of these, 6,257,871 were Catholics, 4,589,284 Methodists, 3,712,468 Baptists, 1,278,332 Presbyterians, 1,231,072 Lutherans and 540,500 Episcopalians.

Literary Centers.

There is a man in Boston who has a collection of 10,000 autographs of literary people. He doesn't explain, however, says the Chicago Times-Herald, whether he got them in Boston or Indiana.

BRANDY FOR TROOPS.

Army Surgeons Considering Question of Supplying It as Ration.

Suggestion of Capt. Woodruff Receiving Attention—Matter Liable to Excite Opposition of Temperance People.

Army surgeons are engaged in the consideration of a question which will probably excite the temperance people to greater protest than the discussion over the army canteen. The matter has been brought forth by a surgeon of the army, Capt. Woodruff, who served in the Santiago campaign, and who has had some experience with troops in the Philippines. Capt. Woodruff some time ago reported that the troops in the tropics required alcoholic drink as a preventive of disease. He said this information came to him originally from a surgeon of the Spanish army who had seen a great deal of service in the Philippines. He was not inclined to accept the advice, which was at variance with the prevailing theory among medical experts and dietetic authorities.

He found, he says, that the Spanish medical officer was right, and that alcohol to a limited extent and in temperate measure contributed to the health of soldiers exposed to the climatic conditions in the Philippines. He assumes, as a result of his experience and observation at Santiago, that the same rule will apply to the troops in Cuba. He has recommended to the war department that there be a regular issue of brandy, as is done by the French medical authorities and by the British to troops in tropical countries.

The army medical officials have taken the matter under advisement. They realize fully the importance of Dr. Woodruff's contention and they appreciate the opposition which is likely to be aroused among the total abstainers, who have fought the army canteen with such ferocity. Most of the army surgeons do not share Dr. Woodruff's conclusions, but they are deemed worthy of serious consideration. It is possible the army ration for troops in the tropics, therefore, will embrace an alcoholic beverage for the sake of the soldiers' health.

YIELDS TO TREATMENT.

Leprosy Patient at New York Treated with Chaulmagroon Oil Is Practically Cured.

Pietro Gometti, 25 years old, has been discharged from the City hospital, on Blackwell's Island, New York, practically cured of leprosy, for which he had been under treatment by Dr. Kelly, the house physician, for over three years. This is the first case on record where anything approaching a cure has been effected. Applications of chaulmagroon oil gave to Gometti practically a new skin.

Chaulmagroon oil is a rare substance, which comes from a plant of the same name in India. It is used in leprosy cases in that country, Dr. Kelly says, but not with much success, owing to the heat there.

A lot of the oil was imported to this country to be used in the public hospitals. The New York climate, Dr. Kelly says, seemed to give new life, and it performed its work almost magically.

After a year of almost constant application of the remedy the patient began to show signs of improvement.

LAMPS FOR POTENTATES.

Enterprising New York Manufacturer Finding Ready Sale for His Goods in the Orient.

"Carrying coals to Newcastle" is a proverb out of date, for an enterprising New York manufacturer is shipping lamps to Bagdad, the home of Aladdin. He had made a lamp that seems to have captured the whole orient, and princes and potentates are clamoring for his goods. Missionaries were responsible for the introduction of the lamps. Realizing that the heathen were dwelling in darkness, they informed the benighted that the Americans had good light to sell.

Many of the buyers are exalted personages. The lamps go to the emperor of Siam's palace at Bangkok, to the sultan of Morocco's palace at Morocco, and to a number of caliphs at Damascus and viziers at Bagdad.

WAITERS BELIEVE IN "TIPS."

At Their Banquet One Who Serves Them Gets $30 and Others Half That Much.

The sentiment of Chicago waiters on "tipping" was illustrated the other night at the opening of the clubhouse of the Chicago Hotel and Restaurant Employes' society, 14 Custom House place.

During the banquet one of the waiters gathered from his fellow waiters and the chefs at the board $30 in "tips," and his less fortunate companions did no worse than $15 each.

"Let this be the clarion note to the world," said President Max Koppel, when the "tips" had been counted, "of the position of the men who perform these services."

Better Job Than President.

It took Paderewski about four months to earn $60,000 more in this country than the president of the United States gets in four years, and the caricatures of him were not a bit worse, says the Chicago Times-Herald, than are those of the president, either.

Give Us One Good Mark.

Let us bear in mind, says the Washington Post, the fact that we stamped out bullfighting in Cuba.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,
Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,
Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

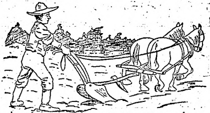
Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD
The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS
and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS
PRINTS THE NEWS
12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

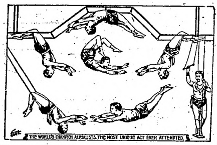
THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 28. [redacted] THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JULY 19, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The only big show coming this year.
Thief River Falls,
One day only, Thursday, July 26.

--- THE GREAT ---
SYNDICATE - - ENGLISH-AMERICAN SHOWS



THE WORLD'S CHAMPION AERIALISTS. THE MOST UNIQUE ACT EVER ATTEMPTED.

Huge monster menagerie of rare animals.
Seven large troupes of educated horses and ponies.
The best arenic performers of Europe and America.
Real Roman chariot races.

20----FUNNY CLOWNS----20

See without fail the perilous dive for life into a patent life-saving fire apparatus, invented and perfected by the noted Parisian fire fighter, CAPT. ALOIS ADAIRE, who daily dives headlong from a tower 100 feet high. The most thrilling, most terrific exhibition of nerve conceivable. To be seen free on the show grounds after the grand street parade.

Two performances afternoon and evening. Doors open at 1 p. m. and 7 p. m.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14	all wool suits, regular price	$ 8.00, now	$ 5.25
"	" " " "	10.00, "	0.50
5 "	" " " "	9.00, "	5.50
1 "	" " " "	12.50, "	8.50
7 "	" " " "	16.00, "	11.50
0 "	" " " "	12.00, "	9.00
5 "	" " " "	14.00, "	10.00
15 "	" " " "	13.50, "	10.00
8 "	" " " "	10.50, "	7.50
8 "	" " " "	10.00, "	7.00
7 "	" Black Clay worsted	16.00, "	10.50
1 "	" " " "	12.50, "	8.00
6 "	" " " "	11.00, "	8.00
5 "	" " " "	13.50, "	10.00
2 "	" Fancy worsted	14.00 "	11.00

3 all wool Blue Sage suits, regular price $13.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.
ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

FOUND GUILTY

And Fined $30 or Thirty Days in Jail.

The case of the state of Minnesota against Fred Olson, charged with the cutting of a fence on the farm of Gilbert Olson, was tried in this city in Justice Traverse's court last Friday and Saturday. H. W. Lee represented the state and F. A. Grady the defendant. The attorneys furnished considerable amusement for the crowd by calling each other the blackest kind of villains, and reeling off long bombastic phases calculated to ruin the chance of the other ever being elected county attorney. The dignity of the court at times was assailed, but Judge Traverse refused to come down from his lofty pinnacle, and rendered a decision upon each objection in the serene-like manner of a man making fifteen cents.

The case was first called Thursday afternoon and the defendant was asked whether or not he wanted the case tried by a jury. This question, Mr. Grady would not allow him to answer, and, as Judge Traverse did not want to put the county to any unnecessary expense, concluded to dispense with the calling of a jury, and proceeded with the trial of the case. After the state had put in all of its evidence, Mr. Grady, as attorney for Fred Olson, demanded a jury trial, and, after considerable discussion, it was granted, and the case was re-tried Friday in the city hall.

A jury was secured without much difficulty, and the trial began in real earnest Friday morning at about 10:30 o'clock. The state introduced evidence to show that Gilbert Olson had erected a fence to inclose a pasture, which made the road from his house a few rods longer than it was formerly. Fred Olson objected to this and cut the fence down as often as it was put up, and drove the cattle out of the pasture into the adjoining wheat fields. The fence was cut down three times, and the defendant was seen to commit the act and also had told a witness that he would cut it down as often as it was put up.

The defense tried to prove that, owing to a crop contract which he had with the plaintiff, he had a perfect right to cut the fence, but, upon the question being put to him directly as to whether or not he had destroyed the fence, said he had not. The arguments were all made and the case given to the jury at 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning, and the jury, after being out about thirty minutes, brought in a verdict of guilty. Justice Traverse imposed a fine of $30 or thirty days in jail.

Olson decided not to pay his fine, and was taken to the Polk county jail at Crookston by Deputy Sheriff Heasley Saturday. It was the intention of Attorney Grady to have his prisoner released on a writ of habeas corpus, but in this he failed. He had the court commissioner issue the writ and went to St. Hilaire Saturday, intending to meet Deputy Sheriff Heasley and his prisoner and serve the writ. Mr. Heasley, however, heard of this, decided that the prisoner should be punished, and did not go on the train. He drove across country and landed his man in jail.

Lost.

One black mare, small white star in forehead. One bay mare, long white stripe in forehead and white on hind leg. Hold and report to Farmers & Merchants Bank, Badger, Minn.

NOT SO UGLY.

Cross Lake Indians Just a Little Indignant.

Olaf Hanson, of the steamboat Lilly, came down from the Red lake Monday. He reports that the cross lake Indians are considerable quieter now than they were last week, and that there will be no trouble. The Indians at no time have thought of going on the war path. They did not want the government to build the school on the point, and have threatened to destroyed it if it is erected. Aside from the building of this school house, the Indians have no grievance, and it is not thought that this would be sufficient to induce them to go on the war path.

Washington, July 14.—Indian Commissioner Jones said today that he had no word from the Red lake reservation other than a letter from Father Aloysius, a priest who was with the Indians at the the time of the Bear Island troubles two years ago, in which it was stated that the Indians are opposed to the building of a new school at the agency. He did not say anything as to the probable extent of the trouble.

Commissioner Jones has received no word from Captain Mercer, and this fact he takes as an assurance that the trouble is not serious. He says Captain Mercer does not hesitate to advise the office when there is any uprising in prospect and to ask for aid if he thinks the conditions warrant it. Captain Mercer is an army officer, says the commissioner, who believes that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and he has always acted on that belief in his dealings with the Indians.

Mr. Jones does not attribute the present trouble to timber land frauds further than that it bears on it in a general way.

AS USUAL.

Red Lake Falls Ball Club Defeated Sunday.

The Red Lake Falls base ball nine was defeated in this city Sunday by the local club, the score being 14 to 5. The down river club did the usual amount of "rag chewing," and twice refused to play the game to a finish unless the umpire would reverse his decision. This was done upon the request of our home club, which was confident of winning. The Red Lake Falls club is, with a few exceptions, about as poor an aggregation of ball players as it would be possible to get together, Douglas, who, by the way, is a Thief River Falls boy, being the only man in the nine who plays ball. Our club will probably refuse to play with them again until they do some more practicing.

Says We Are All Right.

Thief River Falls is a hustling, wideawake, hospitable city, and her citizens entertained the visiting Warrenites right royally. The only regret we heard expressed—and that one was general—was that the condition of the weather prevented the bringing off of the game.—Warren Register.

Coming on Its Own Palace Cars.

The Great Syndicate English-American shows will be here on Thursday, July 26, in all its splendor. It is a veritable city of white tents, and all the acts are new and original. They also have a rare and costly menagerie, besides having a large troupe of educated horses and ponies.

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 23c to	45c	Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts	45c
You can buy a good business suit for	$7.50	Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to	$1.50
Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to	$1.25	Pique front white shirts for men	48c
Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to	$4.50	Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for	$2.98
Pants for men from $1.00 to	$5.00	Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to	50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,
Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.

M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

DEFECTIVL PAGE

THE NEWS,

BY JOHN W. EASTMAN.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, JULY 19, 1900.

DEMOCRATIC BOER SYMPATHY.

Democratic sympathy for the Boers is conspicuously illustrated by the outcome of the recent Boer sympathy meeting held in Washington under the auspices of Congressman William Sulzer, a member of Tammany, also would-be vice presidential nominee on the Democratic ticket, and chairman of the committee that entertained the Boer delegation. Mr. Sulzer presided over the meeting, the object of which was to raise funds for the help of the widows and orphans of the south African army.

Mr. Sulzer pleaded earnestly and eloquently to the audience in behalf of these widows and orphans, says the Chicago Tribune, and urged it to subscribe liberally, Touched by his appeal, the audience gave him and his committee $1,100. The committee promptly disbursed the money. It went to New York to meet the Boer delegates and take them back to Washington, and paid not only for the transportation of the latter, but for its own transportation both ways. It paid all the hotel expenses of the delegates. It paid for carriages and for music. It paid over $140 of the contribution for champagne. When Mr. Sulzer was urged to appoint a committee on disbursements, he remarked such a committee was not needed. The bills would be paid as they were reported.

The bills were paid as they were reported. When they were all paid and the treasurer of the Sulzer committee made up his accounts, he found that out of the fund of $1,100 there was just $18 left for the Boer widows and orphans. As it may cost what is left of the fund to get it to them, the committee finds itself with $18 worth of sympathy which it does not clearly know how to expend. As this $18 would have bought the committee half a dozen bottles more of champagne, it is a little strange its members did not strike a balance on the books by drinking it up.

The Boer widows and orphans may fail to understand financial sympathy of this greedy sort, but they can comfort themselves with the thought that they have the sentimental sympathy of the party to which Mr. Sulzer and his committee belong and which it expressed so eloquently in its platform. The sympathetic ratio in this case appears to be about 60 to 1. In the meantime, it will be interesting to know what advice Mr. Croker will give to Mr. Sulzer as to the disposition of the fund of $18 for the benefit of the Boer widows and orphans.

Died Tuesday.

Fred Gallenbeck, who had been ill for the past three week, died Tuesday morning. The deceased was well known in the city, was 47 years of age, and leaves a wife and son to mourn his loss. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon.

The deceased carried a life insurance policy in the Northwestern Life Insurance company, of Madison, Wis., for $2,000.

For a Creamery.

J. W. Campbell, representing a St. Paul firm that builds creameries, was in the city, the first of the week confering with the farmers. A meeting was held in the city hall Tuesday morning, at which time Mr. Campbell told of the benefits of a creamery. No definite action was taken, but a committee of farmers were appointed to canvass the situation.

THE PRESS SOLD.

It Will Be Run as a Democratic Organ.

H. E. Mussey the first of the week sold his newspaper, the Press, to an association to be known as the Press Publishing company. Several local Democrats are behind the deal, and the paper will support Bryan, Lind and Daly during the coming campaign. While the new proprietors promise to run a live paper, we are sorry to see them espouse dead issues.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Populist county central committee met in Red Lake Falls last week and issued a call for the convention to nominate county officers. It will be held in Red Lake Falls on the 1st day of August. The basis of representation is one delegate at large from each district and one for each fifty votes or major fraction thereof cast for P. M. Ringdal for congressman. There will be a total of 41 delegates.

Ed. Harmy, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city last week announcing the fact that he was a candidate for register of deeds.

The Red Lake Falls Gazette—the official organ in Red Lake county for the publication of probate notices—makes a strong appeal to the people of Red Lake county, regardless of political affiliation, to rally to the support of J. T. Knight for judge of probate. It asks the Populists, Democrats and the Republicans to nominate him, and, while the former two parties may do this, the latter party will positively not. John Kivel will be the Republican nominee.

The Republican county central committee meet in Red Lake Falls next Tuesday and issue a call for the county convention to nominate a county ticket. There are a number of candidates for each place on the Republican ticket, which indicates that the Republicans have an excellent chance of winning.

Nels Holberg, candidate for the Republican nomination for register of deeds, was in the city the first of the week looking after his fences.

Although H. W. Lee is not making any effort to secure the Populist nomination for county attorney, it is said that his chances of success are excellent.

The fusion forces in this county are going to make a grand effort to carry the county for Daly. It is said that they will sacrifice the county ticket and everything else in the interest of the Otter Tail county statesman.

K. M. Hansen, the popular commissioner from the Fourth district, is out for the Populist nomination for representative. Karl has made a good commisioner and is possessed of a goodly amount of legislative ability, and, if elected, the 61st district will be ably represented.—Red Lake Falls Courier.

Ads...
In the News
Always Bring
Results.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

The City May Put in a Plant of Its Own.

A petition was generally circulated about town the first of the week asking the city council to take some action in regard to having this city lighted by electricity, and at a meeting of the august fathers Monday evening a resolution was passed granting the prayers of the petitioners The members of the council were all in favor of putting in electric lights, and were also in favor of the city owning its own plant. Mayor Kretzschmar stated that he will lease the city sufficient power for an electric light and water works plant for $50 per month, which is considered very reasonable.

City Clerk Backe, whose knowlegde of city affairs cannot be questioned, states, however, that he does not believe the city is in a position to put in an electric light plant at this time. There is not enough money in the treasury to buy a plant, and we would be restrained from issuing bonds by the fact that the city is now bonded for 10 per cent of the assessed valuation, which is above the legal limit. Unless this obstacle can be overcome, the matter will probably be postponed, as most everyone is in favor of having the city own its own lighting plant, and do not want to see a franchise given to any corporation.

Can File Again.

General Land Commissioner Hermann has issued a circular to registers and receivers of local land offices, in which he calls attention to an act of the last congress which makes it possible for homesteaders to make second homestead entries. Particular attention is called to the fact that a homesteader who commuted his entry, that is to say, a homesteader who resided on his selection for fourteen months and then paid the government $1.25 an acre for the land, is also allowed to make a second entry in lieu of remaining on the land five years. If this selection should also be commuted he cannot make another entry.

Any person who has made a homestead entry, but from any cause has lost or forfeited the same, shall be entitled to the benefit of the homestead laws as though such former entry had not been made. This ruling will be taken advantage of by thousands who have been let in by the lowering of barriers that have heretofore been insummountable.

The Census.

The Fergus Falls Journal, which is edited by Elmer E. Adams, supervisor of the census for the Seventh district, has the following to say regarding the growth of population in the northern part of this district:

"It is expected that the last box of census schedules will be forwarded to Washington next week, and it is hoped that by the 15th of August Director Merriam will issue a bulletin giving the population in Minnesota. The Seventh district is going to show a very substantial increase. The largest growth is in Roseau, Kittson, Red Lake and Marshall counties. It is intimated that all of the cities and larger villages are going to be somewhat disappointed at the increase which they have made during the last ten years. Directory accounts and estimates made on voting and school population have been wide of the mark in all the larger cities and towns, and, as these have been accepted as correct, there will be some disappointment when the director of the census makes known the result."

A Great Modern Daily.

The greatest feat of modern civilization is the modern newspaper.

This thought comes to mind almost every day as we take from its wrapper the Minneapolis Tribune. It is simply astounding how much in the way of information and fact, as well as intelligent comment one can buy for a cent—new and fresh every day.

There is something to be said about the Tribune, which probably is untrue of any other Twin city daily. It is consistently and persistently Republican. The Tribune never goes off after false gods, nor do the flesh pots of office or the allurements of gain ever swerve it from its support of the right. At the same time, it is modest in its efforts to shape party policy and the selection of candidates for office.

All this may be understood, however, from the fact that the Tribune is in no sense an organ; it is a newspaper—with the accent upon the news.

No doubt this accounts for its over-topping circulation. When a paper in Minnesota averages for an entire year over 50,000 circulation, as the Tribune did (50,185 for the year ending March 31, 1900), it is going to more people, considering the number of people within its field, than any paper we know of.

There are more kinds of people in Minnesota interested in the dog in the Tribune's daily cartoon than in any other one daily creation. These cartoons are inimitably funny, and, at the same time, full of good sense. They drive home a witty thrust, when a whole column of editorial might glance off ineffective.

The Tribune has recently moved into its new marble front building, of which it is justly very proud. Its equipment is said to be without exception the finest and most up-to-date in America. No money has been spared to make it so, and the paper tells on its face that it is the product not only of the best mechanical facilities, but the best newspaper brains and character in the northwest.

We feel like saying to others: "Toe the mark with the Minne-Tribune."

If anybody has a message for the people of this community, he cannot deliver it to them so effectually, so cheaply, so quickly in any other way as through the columns of this paper.

It is the business of the NEWS to carry messages of one kind and another into homes. The message will be delivered, too, under favorable conditions, for few persons take up their local paper except in a pleasant and receptive frame of mind.

The sign upon the fence board may be good, but it can be seen only by travelers who go that particular road. The message in the local paper carries itself to thousands, no matter by which road they travel.

Select your space and put your message where it will do the most good. We, perhaps, can help you, if you will but ask us.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars. Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.

Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv. Crookston	Ar. 6:30 p m
9:25 a m	" Shirley	" 6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	" Ives	"*5:30 p m
10:21 a m	" Wylie	"*4:55 p m
11:30 a m	" St Hilaire	Lv. 4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar. Thief River F	" 1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv. St Hilaire	" 4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar. Red Lake F	" 3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

United States Map. 15c. A copy of our handsome map, 48x38 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

PHIL A. KAUFER, Red Lake Falls Gazette
JEFFERS & BOUGHTON, R. L. F. Courier.
IVES & SOLL, St. Hilaire Spectator.
H. E. MUSSEY, Thief River Falls Press.
JOHN W. EASTMAN, Thief River Falls News

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., June 18, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on July 31st, 1900, viz: Edvart Pesteson, H. E. 15,116, for the W½ SW¼ and SW¼ NW¼, Sec. 15, Tp. 157 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Andrew Olson, of Breese, Minn.
Phillip Larson, of Breese, Minn.
Carl Petterson, of Breese, Minn.
August A. Petterson, of Breese, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

June 21 6t

Henry W. Lee,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. Campbell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN

Ira C. Richardson,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Frank H. Kratka
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY
Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.
JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

PORTER & PAULSON,
--Proprietors of--
CITY DRAY
--and--
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

The Affairs of Europe
are faithfully portrayed in the original and exclusive cable dispatches which THE CHICAGO RECORD prints daily from the leading capitals of the old world. This magnificent special service is in process of being greatly extended so as to include every important city in Europe; and it is supplemented by the full regular cable service of The Associated Press.

The Chicago Record, alone of all American newspapers outside New York city, now prints original and exclusive cable dispatches daily from the leading capitals of Europe.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.
Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year
J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn
F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

READ THIS!
Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc Special prices for large lots.
C. KRETZSCHMAR.

For fine job work call at the NEWS office.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?
—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.
JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

PATENTS
Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,
C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

The Chicago Tribune
is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.
Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.
It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.
Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.
For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.
THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.
Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.
It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.
While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.
Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.
It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

STEVENS FAVORITE
GIVE THE BOYS A Stevens Favorite Rifle.
J. STEVENS ARMS & TOOL CO.
Chicopee Falls, Mass.
P. O. Box 1728.

TOWN TALES.

H. W. Lee went to Red Lake Falls Monday.

James G. Brady, of Wylie, was in the city Sunday.

H. H. Zaiser, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Dobner left yesterday for Crookston.

John Sorum was down from Rollis the first of the week.

Mrs. Ed. Wilcox was in the city from the reservation yesterday.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Caspar Weiner last Wednesday.

J. W. Wheeler, the Crookston banker, was in the city yesterday.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

Mrs. L. P. Stranahan and children returned to Crookston Monday.

Miss Alice Bose, of Red Lake Falls, visited friends in the city last week.

Randolph Gillette's wife arrived in the city last Saturday from Little Falls.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

A special advertising car for the Great Syndicate shows was in the city last week.

A party of Warren people have been camping in the city during the past week.

F. H. Kratka sold to R. J. McDonald the first of the week lots 1 and 2, block 2.

Married—Frederick G. Fair to Norah Rogers, Sunday evening, by G. F. Liening.

Fr. Ansgor, of Red Lake Falls, held services in the Catholic church in this city Sunday.

Philip Zeh and wife and Mrs. Fred Holzknecht were down to Crookston last week.

F. B. Newton, the Red Lake Falls saw mill man, was in the city the first of the week.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

A horseless carriage was in the city the first of the week. It was used to advertise patent medicines.

The ladies of the Methodist church will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. O. E. Winslow.

An election of school officers will be held Saturday evening in both of the school districts in this city.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

Charley Robbecke's hotel is becoming famous. They are naming steamboats after it over at Cass Lake.

H. Lewin leaves Monday for Chicago, where he goes to purchase his fall and winter stock of clothing.

Sam Dainard has gone to the Pacific coast, where he has accepted a position as superintendent of a saw mill.

Charley Phelps arrived in the city last week from Wausau, Wis., and has been engaged as sawyer in the saw mill.

Skerbeck's circus gave a very creditable performance in this city last week, and a large number were in attendance.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

If you have no girl, borrow someone else's girl and go to the Great English-American Shows on Thursday, July 26.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

Viavi. Room 83, Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

Mrs. Dougherty, mother of Mrs. James Meehan and Mrs. K. M. Hansen, is dangerously ill.

Bert Walker has sold his farm in the town of Rocksbury to Lawrence Hanson, consideration being $2,500.

Mrs. Schreiter, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city the first of the week the guest of Mrs. Carl Kretzschmar.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Mrs. Peter Olson, of the East side, died last Saturday afternoon. The funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

Mrs. E. A. Vibert went to Crookston last week for the purpose of consulting Dr. Morley, the eye and ear specialist.

Hal Heritage left Tuesday for the Pacific coast, where he will permanently locate. A large number regret his departure.

The Great Syndicate English-American Shows will be here as advertised. Don't fail to see the free morning exhibition.

Circus day on Thursday, July 26, will unite many old friends, as the people for miles around will be in town to see the big show.

Be sure to be on hand to witness the free morning exhibition of the Great Syndicate English-American Shows on Thursday, July 26.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, and thus save a trip to Crookston.

James Jenkins went to Minneapolis last week with two of his trotting horses and will enter them in some of the events at the state fair.

Wiley Tindolph received a telegram yesterday announcing the death in Minneapolis Tuesday of Mrs. Jane Dawns, a sister of his wife.

John K. Halvorson, of Polk county, has raised a hog which dresses 659 pounds, which heads the list, according to the Crookston Times.

Wm. Lachappelle, one of the Red Lake Falls base ball players, sprained his wrist quite badly Sunday evening in this city on a striking machine.

Mrs. Geo. Lipscomb and Mrs. Ed. Copp left Monday for Lake City, Minn., where they will remain for several weeks visiting their parents.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

There will be services at the parsonage hall of the Evangelical association Sunday at 3 o'clock p. m. in the German language, and at 7:30 o'clock p. m. in the English language.

A conservative and well-informed man, who has been doing some figuring on the matter, predicts that the population of Thief River Falls will be 2,000. It may go 100 over or below, he says.

Wheat is beginning to fill out and in most cases it is filling out well. Farmers report that the kernels are as plump and healthy looking as any wheat ever raised in the Red River valley.

Some of the merchants who countermanded orders for goods now wish they hadn't. There is going to be business here this fall after all, and quite a number of people are just finding it out.

Invitations have been received by several in this city to attend the wedding of Miss Marion Rogers and Luman Clendenen Simons, both very prominent young people of Red Lake Falls. The happy event will take place Wednesday morning, July 25, at 7 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, Red Lake Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Simons will be at home after November 15.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Money to loan at straight legal rates. No commission. Privilege given to pay any part of principal on any interest-paying date. Lands bought. Himle Real Estate Agency, F. G. Wells, Mgr., Thief River Falls, Minn.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—When you are tired of nostrums and ready to "throw physic to the dogs," try Shaw's Pure Malt, and "life will be worth living." Absolutely pure. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

County Commissioner K. M. Hanson, who is attending a meeting of the board of equalization, was in the city yesterday from Red Lake Falls. He reports that the board will not finish its labors before Saturday, and that few changes have been made as yet.

Minnesota, the sailing craft which won the race at White Bear last week, and will be entered in the international races in Canada, was built by Gus. Amundson, a brother of Chris Amundson, of this city. The boat is an exceedingly rapid one, and will probably make its builder famous.

Everything new and original and everything up-to-date, is the way the eastern papers speak of the Great Syndicate English-American Shows. Large menageries, troupes of trained horses and ponies, funny clowns to make you laugh and the best of talent will be in this city on Thursday, July 26.

A large number of the Chippewas from this part of the reservation, who had been over at Devils Lake, N. D., visiting the Sioux Indians in that vicinity, returned home Sunday. They had considerable luck gambling with the Dakota aborigines, and succeeded in beating them out of 17 ponies.

Married Sunday.

Peter Lindberg and Miss Olevin Olson were married Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in the Synod church the Rev. Mr. Anstad officiating, in the presence of a number of friends. Both the parties reside in this city and are well and favorably known. The bride and groom entertained a number of friends at a wedding dinner Sunday evening, and on Monday evening they entertained another company at a dance.

$25.—Canadian Excursion—$25.

Via Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Ry. to Montreal, Quebec and Ste. Anne de Beaupre. Leave Duluth 7:00 p. m. July 22d, and return limit August 31st. Tickets good for stop off at any point in Canada. Through tourist sleeping cars. Double berth, $3.00. Passengers should reserve sleeper berths in advance. T. H. Larke, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, Duluth.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

20,000 acres of wild and improved lands for sale in Red Lake and Marshall Cos.
Prairie Land, Speculator's Land, Timber Land.
Himle Land & Loan Co.,
(Purchasers of N. P. Ry. Co.'s Lands in Red Lake and Marshall counties.)
For information, maps, prices, etc., call on or address,
FRED G. WELLS, Local Mgr.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.
$150,000 to Loan on Farm Lands.

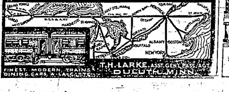
PATENTS GUARANTEED
Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.
Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.
Send for sample copy FREE. Address,
VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

Attention Settlers.

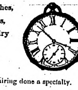
Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Fina Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.

DULUTH, SOUTH SHORE & ATLANTIC RY.
THE STRAIGHT-AWAY LINE
BETWEEN THE GREAT NORTHWEST AND THE EAST.



Cary, Traverse & Company.
Watches,
Clocks,
Jewelry
and
Guns.



Repairing done a specialty.
Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.
Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW. — Boston Journal.

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but
All Sides of All Questions
in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of
American Women
receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.
NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N. Y.

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

"Won't You Try
Theo Hamm Brewing Co Telephone 972 St. Paul Minn
Hamm's Delicious Beer?
It has a flavor all its own!"

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON Vice-President.

First State Bank

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Transact a general Banking Business.

DIRECTORS:
A. O. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier.

Burlington Route

BEST LINE TO CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS.

"The Limited," the finest train in the world, leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., every day. Electric lighted, steam heated, has compartment and standard sleepers, reclining chair cars, coaches and dining car on the cafe plan. "The Scenic Express" leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.

GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

TIME AND SPACE are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

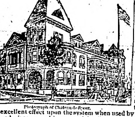
FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 22½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Chateau de Speer Wines

of Passaic, N. J. Vineyards.

These Wines Rival the World in Excellence.

Old, rich and mellow by age and years of care and frequent racking in fumigated cellars as is done with the Chateau Wines in France.



Photograph of Chateau de Speer.

The Chateau contains a limited supply of Private Stock Port nineteen years old, besides Burgundy and Claret of nearly the same age. The Speer Port, however, nine years old, as well as the Burgundy Claret and Sherry, are high class wines. The ★★★ Climax Brandy is 18 years old. All are preferred where known by the Medical profession as superior to any that can be had, for their excellent effect upon the system when used by invalids, the weakly and aged persons and in general family use. Northern New Jersey climate, and soil abounding in iron is just adapted for this grape for Port wine. It is the same kind of soil as in Portugal. Speer's winery and vineyards are the only Port grape vineyards in the United States; only vineyards that cultivate the real Port wine grape of Portugal; while other wines or mixtures called port are made without a single Oporto grape in them. Mr. Speer is the first and only one who imported the vines and acclimated the real Port wine grape vines of Portugal. He spent thousands of dollars as a hobby to see what he could do toward acclimating these Portugal vines here. It took eight years for them to become acclimated before Mr. Speer got a single grape; during those years all died except about eight hundred vines, when those began to grow vigorous and bear fruit; from these, layers were made for new vines. The vineyards now cover fifty six acres. It has proven a success. The grapes are allowed to hang on the vines until they begin to raisin, when they have parted with some of the water and are rich in sugar; and the wine made from Port wine grapes is the only real genuine Port wine made in America. It is by far THE wine for weakly persons, the aged and for evening entertainments.

Sold by Druggists and Grocers.

THE LARGEST AFLOAT.

Col. Drexel's New Yacht to Be the Finest Private Ship Ever Built.

Col. A. J. Drexel, of Philadelphia, now enjoys the distinction of owning the largest steam yacht afloat, as the Margarita was successfully launched upon the Clyde. Over a year ago Mr. Drexel commissioned G. L. Watson, the famous British naval architect, to design a yacht for him that would be as nearly perfect as human ingenuity, aided by unlimited freedom as to cost, would accomplish. Expense was nothing to Mr. Drexel so long as the Margarita, when completed, would prove to be the handsomest, most complete as to appointments, largest and safest pleasure vessel afloat.

Mr. Watson did not slight his opportunity. The Margarita's length over all is 323 feet; her load water line length, 272; beam, 36 feet 9 inches; draught, 16 feet 8 inches. A crew of 68 men will be employed on the yacht, which has a continuous double bottom, and will be fitted with Scotch boilers and triple expansion engines. She will have a coal capacity of 850 tons and an indicated horse power of 5,000, the same as that of the White Star liner Britannic.

Her internal arrangements are so designed that every inch of space is utilized to the best advantage. The drawing-room, extending the full width of the ship, will be furnished in the style of Louis XV., the library in empire and the dining-room in Chippendale. The contract calls for a speed of 17 knots over an 80-knot trial course.

LEAKED DIMES AND NICKELS.

A Butte (Mont.) Man's Trunk Creates a Sensation in St. Louis Depot.

A trunk belonging to Charles Lenz, of Butte City, Mont., bulged open the other morning in the Union station baggage room at St. Louis and leaked dimes and nickels. Lenz, who was boarding a train for Vandalia, Ill., was told of the mishap. "That's all right," he said. "Never mind the money; I've got to catch this train to see mother before starting for Cape Nome." Meanwhile John R. Bentley, general baggage agent for the Pennsylvania lines, guarded the trunk and had it placed in the car.

"You see," said Lenz, "I don't care about that trunk. It's full, of course, but the contents are only nickels and dimes. I'm interested in Montana mines. Out there everything costs a quarter. Every time I've received a nickel or a dime I've tossed the coin into that old trunk for mother."

The trunk followed Lenz on the next train. It contained a fraction over $500, all in dimes and nickels, according to Mr. Bentley. Lenz certainly showed his faith in the honesty of the railway men, as he did not go near the trunk, but trusted everything to them.

NOT ENOUGH CADETS.

A Growing Shortage of Men from West Point to Fill Vacancies—Provision for More Appointments.

An importance scarcely second to that of the increase of artillery is attached by the secretary of war to the clause in the pending army bill providing for the appointment by the president of 100 cadets at large to the military academy at West Point. This year's class at the academy graduates only 54 to supply 130 vacancies in the regular establishment, and after the enlisted men are found to increase the available worthy material perhaps to 80 there will still remain at least 50 vacancies in the grade of second lieutenant. The next class at the academy is now only about 75 strong and will graduate about 60. The vacancies will probably exceed 150, and four years from now the vacancies will amount to 250, with no increase in the properly qualified graduates to fill them.

FASTS FOR FOUR MONTHS.

The Case of a Young Indiana Woman Proves a Puzzle to Physicians.

Miss Paul Curry, the Howard county (Ind.) girl who on the last memorial day remarked to a friend: "On Memorial day next year you can decorate my grave," has now fasted 120 days and is still alive. Her case has puzzled the most eminent specialists in the country. She is evidently determined to make her words come true. The lack of nourishment has produced inflammation of the digestive organs and she could not now assimilate food if it should be forced into the stomach. She refuses to talk of her condition to the doctors and has uttered a very few words only since she began to fast. During all this period she has taken nothing but a little vinegar with lemon juice and a pinch of salt.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN ORE.

Students from the University of Minnesota on a Tour in Colorado Will Study It.

Charles E. Barneceld, professor of mining in the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis, is at Idaho Springs, Col., for the purpose of making arrangements for the accommodation of the class in mineralogy, which is to spend about three weeks at that place. Some 20 of the students will arrive, under the charge of Prof. Appleby. The purpose of the visit is to place the students on a more familiar standing of the mining in the Rocky mountains. They have visited the copper and iron mines in northern Michigan, but find in Colorado a more extensive field for study. They have already visited Aspen.

TAKES STRAY CUR TO FARM.

Bill Saunders, of Keytesville, Mo., Finds a Friend on the Streets of Chicago.

He said he was from Keytesville, Mo. He was attired in rare old gray jeans, the trousers of which looked as if they had been made for grain sacks and then turned into the more useful article of apparel by ripping open the ends and running a seam down the front and rear. His hat was of the slouch variety and fell so far down over his eyes that he was compelled frequently to give it an upward toss so he could see. His shoes were heavy and struck the pavement with the heavy click produced by hard sole-leather. In one hand he carried an old-fashioned carpet-bag. Gathered up in the other arm and held comfortably was a scraggy-looking brown cur, a cross between a bulldog and a pointer.

The man was bound for the Dearborn street station when a policeman stopped him with a query regarding the future life of the dog. The countryman responded promptly that the animal met the requirements of his farm and he thought the citizens of Chicago would not miss one lone dog that seemed homeless. The officer said he guessed that was about right and Bill Saunders continued his way rejoicing in the fact that he was taking home more than he had brought to the city, if his purse was lighter.

THE QUEEN'S IRISH GUARDS.

It Will Not Be the First Regiment of the Kind Organized in Great Britain.

The new regiment of foot guards, which Queen Victoria has ordered to be formed, will not be the first of Irish nationality, says the New York Sun. Two years after his restoration to the throne Charles II. formed a corps of household troops which he called Our Regiment of Guards in the Kingdom of Ireland. This corps, had it survived, would have ranked as the Fourth regiment of foot guards. It was originally raised in England and does not seem at first to have been composed of Irishmen, but in the days of James II. it became much too Irish to remain in the British service. Tyrconnell cashiered the Protestants in its ranks and filled their places with Roman Catholics, so that in the revolution the regiment gave its adhesion to James II. and fought for him against William III. at the Boyne and at Aughrim. After the capitulation of Limerick what remained of it went into the French service, and in the wars in Flanders carried on by William III. and Marlborough it more than once fought against British troops. At Malplaquet it crossed bayonets with the regiment which alone of the Irish corps raised by the Stuarts had passed over to King William, and, formerly numbered the Eighteenth regiment of the line, is now known as the Royal Irish.

BRASS RINGS ARE JEWELRY.

The Circumstances Under Which Uncle Sam's Revenue Officers So Decide.

Though Uncle Sam has just decided that brass finger rings constitute "jewelry," the old fellow, of course, doesn't expect that all of his countrymen will accept this classification for all purposes, says the New York Press. He meant to say only that when these articles are imported they are to be assessed for duty as jewelry and not as toys. These rings are composed of brass, in imitation of gold, and are set with various forms of colored glass in imitation of precious stones. They are of sizes suitable to be worn by children and also by "some adults." The importers contended that they were intended to be sold chiefly by confectioners and others in prize packages and that they were designed for the use and amusement of children as toys. But the board of general appraisers in New York has decided that they belong to the class of articles commonly known as jewelry. The same decision applies to necklaces of glass beads, to brass chains intended for watch guards or neck chains and to hairpins of gilded metal, set with colored glass. Therefore, as jewelry these articles must pay a duty of 60 per cent. ad valorem, instead of a lower duty as toys.

PHOTOGRAPHING ON MARBLE.

Process, Recently Perfected, Which Is Said to Give Fine Results.

The following process for making photographic impressions upon marble has recently appeared and is said to give very fine results, says the Scientific American. The surface of the marble is well smoothed but not polished. Upon this is spread a layer of the following mixture: Benzine, 500 grammes; turpentine, 500 grammes; bitumen, 50 grammes; beeswax, 5 grammes. This layer is allowed to dry, and the gelatine surface of the photographic plate is then applied and an exposure of 20 minutes made by sunlight. After removing the plate, wash with gasoline, which takes off that part of the varnish which has not been acted upon by the light, and the image gradually appears. The action of the gasoline is stopped at the desired point by washing in a stream of water. The surface thus prepared is plunged into an alcoholic solution of Prussian blue, eosine red, etc. When the color has penetrated by capillary action, the layer of varnish is taken off and the surface of the marble finely polished. In this way a permanent image of a fine color and great depth is obtained.

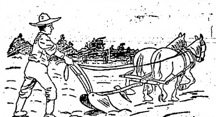
HOTEL OGAHMAH,
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.
SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.
STRICTLY FIRST CLASS.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.
General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.
WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,
Importers and Jobbers.
"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.
21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,
Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.
First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.
Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection.
LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.

The Pioneer Press,
"OLDEST AND BEST
With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD
The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS
and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS
PRINTS THE NEWS
12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R-I-P-A-N-S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R-I-P-A-N-S on the package and accept no substitute. R-I-P-A-N-S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 29. [redacted] HIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, JULY 26, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

NOBLE LIFE ENDED

Mrs. Dougherty Passed Away Last Thursday.

Mrs. Dougherty, mother of Mrs. James Meehan, Jr., and Mrs. K. M. Hansen, of this city, died last Thursday at about 12 o'clock. Funeral services were held at the residence of K. M. Hansen Friday morning, and the remains were shipped to Green Bay, Wis., where they were interred beside her husband.

The deceased had been an invalid for years, and her acquaintance in this city was somewhat limited. She was a most estimable lady, and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. Mr. and Mrs. Meehan and Mr. and Mrs. Hansen accompanied the body to Green Bay.

THE HAY CROP.

A Great Many Tons Will Be Cut Near Here.

Every spear of hay within a radius of 75 miles from here will be cut this year, and a great many tons will be shipped to the Minneapolis and St. Paul markets. The amount needed for home consumption will of course be greater than ever before, as all of the farmers living north of here are heavily engaged in the stock raising business, but it is estimated by conservative men that there will be at least 4,000 tons of hay shipped out of this city next winter. There are several hay baling machines at work at different places, and the farmers should be careful not to ship too much. Hay at present is worth in St. Paul from $10 to $12 per ton, and the price is sure to advance.

The Markets.

Our markets of the week are as follows: Young men—unsteady; girls—lively, in demand; coffee—considerably mixed; fresh fish—active and slippery; wheat—a grain better than barley; eggs—quiet, but will probably open in a few days; whiskey—steadily going down; onions—strong and rising; breadstuffs—heavy; boots and shoes—those in market "soled," and steadily going up and down; hats and caps—not as high as last fall, except foolscap, which is stationery; tobacco—very slow and has downward tendency; money—close, but not close enough to get hold of; feathers—light and going up; iron—very firm; butter—growing stronger; opium—a drug in the market; advice—good, but no demand.—Exchange.

Married.

Al Crawford and Miss Darrel Maxwell were united in marriage Monday morning at the residence of the bride's parents. Both the contracting parties are well known and highly esteemed in this city, and a large circle of friends will wish them much happiness. They left Monday for Michigan to make their future home.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

WHAT WE NEED.

Business Men Should Organize a Commercial Club.

There has been considerable talk of late of organizing a commercial club in this city to further the interests of Thief River Falls and vicinity, but no action has ever been taken. This part of the Red Lake reservation in Red Lake and Marshall counties should be opened to settlement, and, if the business men would organize and take the matter up, we believe that it could be accomplished next winter. There are but a few Indians living on the part that is proposed to be opened, and they could be easily persuaded to remove to the lake. While the people living in Thief River Falls and in the northern part of the state, for that matter, are unanimous in the belief that it should be opened to settlement, no organized effort has ever been made to secure the desired legislation, and, unless some action of this sort is taken, the probabilities are that our representatives and senators will never know our wants.

All Is Lovely.

Capt. Mercer, in charge of the Chippewa Indian reservations in Minnesota, gives the following account of the recent trouble with the Cross Lake Indians:

"The Cross Lakers are responsible for the disturbance. I had, with other officials, decided upon a site for a school building on the south side of the northern portion of the Red lake. We hardly dared expect that our move toward building a school on the land occupied by the Cross Lake Indians would be permitted to materialize without a stout opposition, for the government and church societies have tried time and again to educate the band, which is the worst of all the Chippewas, and had repeatedly failed. At one time the Indians tore down the part of the school building erected and hauled it off their ground. We were, therefore, in a measure prepared for the disturbance.

"The Cross Lakers made no protest when we selected and cleared the site for the house, but when we returned with the building material, we found that the clearing had been occupied by the Indians. I attempted to argue with them, but it was no use, and I returned to the agency. There I secured a force of ten regular police and about thirty deputies, all well armed, and we made the trip back to the peninsula. At first the Cross Lakers showed fight, and I admit that it looked for a while as though the result would be serious. But, with my force of men, I remained at the building site and made my demands stronger and stronger. The reds held out four days and then consented to withdraw. Ultimately they pledged that they would not molest the men working on the building nor destroy it when completed, and would send their boys to the school."

$25.—Canadian Excursion—$25.

Via Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Ry. to Montreal, Quebec and Ste. Anne de Beaupre. Leave Duluth 7:00 p. m. July 22d, and return limit August 31st. Tickets good for stop off at any point in Canada. Through tourist sleeping cars. Double berth, $3.00. Passengers should reserve sleeper berths in advance. T. H. Larke, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, Duluth.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

SCHOOL ELECTIONS

Were Held in This City Saturday Evening.

School elections were held in each of the two independent school districts in this city Saturday evening. The meeting on the East side was quite well attended, and an entire new school board was elected. H. E. Mussey was elected clerk, L. J. Higgans, treasurer, and C. L. Dobner, director. It was voted to hire four teachers during the next year, and grade up to a high school basis. It was also voted to bond the district for $2,500, the money to be used in the erection of an addition to the Knox school.

At the meeting at the Central school, Carl Kretzschmar was reelected director, and $2,500 was voted for the hire of school teachers, $100 for fuel, $25 for library, $100 for sinking fund and $100 for repairs.

As yet no action has been taken to unite the two districts, but it should be done, and the sooner the better.

Mail Order Houses.

The wide-spread complaint of the "mail order" house is calculated to impress the most doubting merchant with the value of advertising. These houses subsist on it. In many cases they have no other avenues of communication with their trade than their announcements. The local merchant who feels the inroads made on his business by these houses can not remedy the matter by vain repining. He must meet the conditions as they are, keep the goods to supply the needs of his customers, and let his customers know that he has them at prices just as low, and possibly a little lower, than the mail order house. The real live, up-to-time local merchant can make the mail order house play into his hands, for he can supply a great part of the wants these houses create. Study the methods of these houses. Find out what they are selling to your customers, or to people who should be your customers, and then give them as good, or better, right at home. It has been done, and you can do it.—General Merchant.

Great Northern Land Sales.

The land department of the Great Northern is preparing its annual report to the president and board of directors. This report shows that there were sold, for the year ending June 30, 113,874 acres of Great Northern lands. All of these lands are in Minnesota, and the majority are in the Red river country.

The total receipts from the sales of the year just closed were $1,040,828.25, as compared with $712,000 for the fiscal year 1899, an increase of $328,775. There were also heavy sales in Manitoba, where the average purchase per buyer was seventy-one acres. The average price paid for Minnesota lands was $9 per acre.

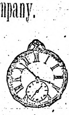
Hail Storm.

A hail storm swept this section of the country last Saturday afternoon, but the damage done was very small. Little or no wind accompanied the falling of the hail. The crops around Crookston suffered far worse, and some farmers are reported to have met with a total loss.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches, Clocks, Jewelry and Guns.



Repairing done a specialty.
Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.
Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW. —Boston Journal.

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N. Y.

If anybody has a message for the people of this community, he cannot deliver it to them so effectually, so cheaply, so quickly in any other way as through the columns of this paper.

It is the business of the NEWS to carry messages of one kind and another into homes. The message will be delivered, too, under favorable conditions, for few persons take up their local paper except in a pleasant and receptive frame of mind.

The sign upon the fence board may be good, but it can be seen only by travelers who go that particular road. The message in the local paper carries itself to thousands, no matter by which road they travel.

Select your space and put your message where it will do the most good. We, perhaps, can help you, if you will but ask us.

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 23c to	45c	Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts	45c
You can buy a good business suit for	$7.50	Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to	$1.50
Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to	$1.25	Pique front white shirts for men	48c
Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to	$4.50	Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for	$2.98
Pants for men from $1.00 to	$5.00	Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to	50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,
Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
General Banking.
Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.

M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, JULY 26, 1900.

The Crookston Journal is now being published as a daily, making three daily papers in Crookston.

A correspondent of Twin city papers at Solway has succeeded in making a few dollars during the past few week in writing of the Indian uprising on the Red Lake reservation. As a matter of fact, there has at no time been any danger of the Indians on this reservation going on the war path, and the correspondent at Solway knew as little of the cause of the trouble as the people living in southern Minnesota. Thief River Falls is in daily communication with all parts of the Red lake and the reservation, and the people here know that the Indians had no thought of being rebellious. While the correspondent at Solway may have succeeded in earning a few dollars, he has also succeeded in keeping many timid people from coming into this undeveloped, peaceful and law abiding part of the state which is offering untold opportunities to men who are willing to work.

A "GOOD" GOVERNOR.

Commenting on a newspaper assertion that "Lind had made a good governor," the Alexandria Post News gets right back at silver John in this style:

"In what way? Was it by vetoing the Miller bill; by recommending that no further railroad legislation was necessary; by filling the wheat inspection department with men from the cities who never saw wheat before; was it by appointing, to watch the banks, Pope, who borrowed trust money without asking; was it by Bowler's surrender of the food commission to the baking powder trust; does Lewis, who knows nothing of schools, expect to accuse teachers of forgery on no evidence, shed the luster on his administration; is it his appointment of the notorious Corser as inspector of logs and lumber, or is it that he avoids a Decoration Day speech by taking a Sunday hunt? Just what is it that makes John Lind such a good governor? We suspect that it is that, while he gained office as an 'orphan' and a 'good enough Republican' on all but a silver issue, he at once surrendered his Populist allies into the hands of Democracy and declares himself one of them."

SAYINGS OF M'KINLEY.

We have passed from a bond-issuing to a bond-paying nation.

No blow has been struck except for liberty and humanity, and none will be.

We have lower interest and higher wages; more money and fewer mortgages.

The declaration of principles adopted by the convention has my heartiest approval.

Cuba has been liberated, and our guarantee to her people will be sacredly executed.

The credit of the people has been advanced to the highest place among all nations.

The American people hold the financial honor of our government as sacred as our flag.

The Republican party has liberated ten millions of the human family from the yoke of imperialism.

The world's markets have been opened to American products, which now go where they have never gone before.

The menace of 16 to 1 still hangs over us, with all its dire consequences to credit and confidence, to business and industry.

The dollar paid the farmer, the wage earner and pensioner, must continue forever equal in purchasing and debt-paying power to the dollar paid to any government creditor.

Instead of 16 to 1, legislation has been enacted, which, while utilizing all forms of money, secures one fixed value for every dollar, and that the best known to the civilized world.

The people must once more unite and overcome the advocates of repudiation, and must not relax their energy until the battle for the public honor and honest money shall again triumph.

In the great conference of nations at The Hague, we reaffirmed before the world the Monroe doctrine and our adherence to it and our adherence to it, and our determination not to participate in the complications of Europe.

The Philippines are ours, and American authority must be made supreme throughout the archipelago.

There will be amnesty, broad and liberal, but no abatement of our rights, no abandonment of our duty.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Republican county convention to nominate a county ticket will be held Saturday, August 25. It undoubtedly will be one of the largest attended Republican conventions ever held in Red Lake county, and a good ticket will be put in the field. The Republicans have some good timber, and, if all do a little work, success will surely crown our efforts.

Politics is quite dull in Thief River Falls just at present, when compared with what it was four years ago at this time. There seems to be little or no interest taken in the presidential candidates, and the fight this year will be over the local officers to be elected.

Congressman Eddy's vote in this section will undoubtedly be larger this year than ever before. So many have been benefited by the free homes bill, and the fact that the services of an influential man will be needed in congress if we are to secure the opening of the Red Lake reservation will cause many to vote for him regardless of political affiliations. There are some strong Daly men here, however, who will endeavor to stem the tide which has set in favor of Eddy, but they will fail.

The indications are that the Republicans of Polk county will succeed in electing a majority of their county ticket there this fall. The Populists have put a very weak ticket in the field.

Sam Johnson, of Thief River Falls, aspires to the position of judge of probate of Red Lake county. He was down the first part of the week feeling the public pulse, but did not get any encouragement.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

For the benefit of the Gazette, it might be well to state that candidates living in the northern part of the county are not looking for any support in Red Lake Falls.

Congressman Eddy has arrived in Minnesota from Washington, and will make a tour of the Seventh district before he commences the fall campaign.

Hon. J. P. Dolliver, congressman from Iowa, will make a number of speeches in the Seventh district this fall for the Republicans, and it is to be hoped that he will visit Thief River Falls. Mr. Dolliver is one of the best orators in the United States.

County Auditor Zeh, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city last week looking after his political fences. He has no formidable opposition to the Populist nomination.

M. E. Todd states to the News that he has decided to withdraw as a candidate for county superintendent of schools. He has found that the people in Red Lake Falls who endeavored to have him enter the race are supporting another candidate, and wanted him to enter the race only to draw votes from Frank Jeffers in the northern part of the county.

He kissed the babe and rubbed the heads of Sam and Sue and swore the twins were beautiful, and wished that he had two—but that don't count. He asked about the corn bread that he vainly tried to chaw, and forthwith begged for a receipt, of course that tickled ma—but that don't count. But just before he left he stopped and winked, closed up his jaw, and, slipping out behind the barn, he took a drink with pa—and that's what counts.—Exchange.

A Good Record.

The following is a list of the scholars of the Thief River Falls schools who have passed the examinations prepared by the state high school board in the following named subjects:

Arithmetic—Emma Backe, Carl H. Winslow, Morton L. Moe and Grace Meehan.

Civil Government—Morton L. Moe and Wayne E. Richardson.

Freehand Drawing—Carl H. Winslow, Linda Robbecke, Olga A. Kretzschmar, Lena Karow, Erick Erickson, Emil Evenson and Emma Backe.

Geography—Linda Robbecke, Emma Backe, Carl H. Winslow, Mollie Lonson, John Parbst, Gertrude Meehan, Erick Erickson Leon Bourque and Homer Mussey.

Physiology—Morton L. Moe, Wayne E. Richardson, Emma Backe and Linda Robbecke.

U. S. History—Leon Bourque, Carl H. Winslow and Emma Backe.

Senior Arithmetic—Morton L. Moe and Wayne E. Richardson.

Senior History—Morton L. Moe and Wayne E. Richardson.

Senior Geography—Alice E. Bailey, Morton L. Moe, Flossie A. Fellows and Wayne E. Richardson.

CURFEW LAW FOR OSHKOSH.

Wisconsin City's Women Would Keep Children at Home in the Evening.

The Twentieth Century club, the most influential woman's organization in Oshkosh, is determined that there shall be a curfew law in active operation in that city this summer. At its annual meeting it decided to draw such an ordinance and present it to the common council.

In its resolutions the club avers that it is "the province and duty of women to take such action in public affairs as may be for the best interests of morality and good citizenship," and that "evil influences and consequent detriment to pure morals must necessarily result to children who are permitted to play about the streets during long evenings."

That the club will succeed in obtaining the passage of such a measure is not at all improbable, as its membership includes all the leading women of the city, and it is uniformly successful in getting what it wants from the council.

PHYSICIANS IN GERMANY.

An Increase of Over Fifty Per Cent. Noted in the Last Thirty Years.

Reports to the state department show a remarkable increase of practicing physicians in the German empire during the last 13 years from 15,824 to 24,725, or 56.25 per cent. During the same period the population has only increased 14 per cent. In Prussia, of 1,620 military and marine physicians, only 31 out of every 100 now become general practitioners. Formerly 57 out of every 100 left the service and entered general practice, demonstrating that the ranks of the general practitioners of medicine are becoming more and more crowded. There are 12,000 practicing dentists in the German empire. American dentists, or German dentists who have received the education in the United States, command the best fees and are held in the highest repute.

Women Doctors in England.

The South African war has deprived many English hospitals of the services of male doctors, and the women medicos are now reaping their reward.

FAVORS WOMEN DOCTORS.

Chinese Minister Wu Ting Fang Surprised at Opposition to Them by American Men.

The Woman's medical college of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, commemorated the semicentennial of the establishment of the oldest medical college for women in the world the other day, when 26 students received the degree of M. D., among them being Kei Okami, of Japan; Sabat M. Selamhooly, of Syria, and Hu King Eng, of China.

Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, addressed the graduates, and criticised American men for their opposition to women in the medical profession. He said: "I am not a little surprised to learn that for all the boast of Anglo-Saxon fairness and chivalry, medical women have had a hard time in fighting their way against strong opposition at every step to public recognition and professional standing. I am sure that they would receive better treatment in China. There the medical profession does not form a close corporation. Anyone who has sufficient skill and knowledge in the art of healing is freely allowed to practice, irrespective of nationality, sex or creed, so long as he or she can get patients."

In conclusion, Wu Ting Fang advised the graduates to go to China, where he said there is room for them owing to the small number of women doctors.

ONE MINISTER'S OPINION.

New York Preacher Declares He Would Put the Negro Back in Bondage Again.

Rev. Henry Frank, of the Metropolitan church, in the prelude to his discourse in Carnegie lyceum the other morning declared that the freeing of the negro was a failure. He said:

"His native sluggishness, the evidences of his gradual extinction since his enfranchisement, his imperceptible improvement since liberation, his startling lapses into barbarism, all must incline thinking people to conclude that the freeing of the negro has proved a disastrous failure.

"Every thinking man must believe that the franchise must be removed from the negro in such places, at least, where negro suffrage must mean negro domination.

"A new system of voluntary and penal servitude should be instituted. A section of country should be set apart to which all negroes would be permitted to voluntarily migrate and there yield themselves as slaves to such persons, as would agree to possess them, give them humane treatment and education."

AN ITALIAN AMAZON.

Seeks Work as Laborer on the Rapid Transit Tunnel at New York City.

Rose Vecbecho wants to work as a day laborer on the Rapid Transit tunnel. The other morning she sought a job in the big trench. She said she was ready to do manual labor with the hundreds of men who will shoulder the pick and shovel for Contractor McDonald. Rose Vecbecho is pretty and not yet 25 years old. She arrived in this country from Italy four years ago. She spent Thursday night in the municipal lodging house.

In the morning she made a strong appeal to Superintendent Blair to get work for her. She said she had not been able to find employment for six months, and, rather than become a charity subject, she would work eight hours a day at manual labor.

Superintendent Blair told her he did not think she would be allowed to do a man's work. She replied that in Italy women worked like men, and denounced the United States for not having similar ways.

NEVADA AND SISTER REUNITED

After Twenty-Eight Years the Singer Fulfills Her Mother's Dying Request.

Mme. Emma Nevada, the singer, is entertaining a sister at Cleveland, O., whom she has just met for the first time in 28 years. Incidental to the meeting is the fulfillment of a dying mother's request—a trust which Mme. Nevada discharged when she presented to her sister a diamond ring, which their mother had left in Nevada's charge, with the injunction that it should be given to "Laura," the sister, who had left home eight years before her mother's death. The sister, who is Mrs. Laura Icks, of West Brookfield, O., was lost track of by Mme. Nevada. The other day she came to Cleveland and sought out the singer. The mother died 20 years

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.

Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue; Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

PORTER & PAULSON,
--Proprietors of--
CITY DRAY
--and--
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.

Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars. Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv. Crookston	Ar. 6:30 p m
9:25 a m "	Shirley	" 6:00 p m
10:05 a m* "	Ives	"*5:30 p m
10:21 a m* "	Wylie	"*4:55 p m
11:30 a m "	St. Hilaire	Lv. 4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar. Thief River F	" 1:10 p m
1:30 p m	Lv. St. Hilaire	" 4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar. Red Lake F	" 3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Ads...
In the News
Always Bring
Results.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.

Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil A. Kaufer, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Sull, St. Hilaire Spectator.
H. E. Mussey, Thief River Falls Press.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., June 18, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on July 31st, 1900, viz: Edvart Pederson, H. E. 15,116, for the W½ SW¼ and SW¼ NW¼, Sec. 15, Tp. 157 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Andrew Olson, of Breese, Minn.
Phillip Larsen, of Breese, Minn.
Carl Petterson, of Breese, Minn.
August A. Petterson, of Breese, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

June 21 6t

In Bankruptcy.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, FOR THE DISTRICT OF MINNESOTA—Sixth Division.

In the matter of Joseph W. Peterson, bankrupt.

To the creditors of Joseph W. Peterson, of St. Hilaire, in the county of Red Lake, in said district, bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 24th day of July, A. D. 1900, the said Joseph W. Peterson was duly adjudicated bankrupt; and that the first meeting of his creditors will be held at the office of the undersigned referee in bankruptcy, at the city of Crookston, in the county of Polk, in said district, on the 8th day of August, A. D. 1900, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting the said creditors may attend, prove claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

Dated July 24th, A. D. 1900.

OLE J. VAULE,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

DE FORREST BUCKLEN, Esq.,
Attorney for Bankrupt,
Crookston, Minnesota.

ORDER TO EXAMINE ACCOUNTS, ETC.

State of Minnesota, county of Red Lake—ss. In Probate Court, special term, July 23rd, 1900.

In the matter of the estate of Jennie C. Lambert, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of J. P. Foote, administrator of the estate of Jennie C. Lambert deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard by this court on Monday, the 20th day of August, A. D. 1900, at ten o'clock A. M., at Probate Office in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Thief River Falls News, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Thief River Falls, in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, this 23rd day of July, A. D. 1900.

By the Court;
J. T. KNIGHT,
Judge of Probate.

[seal.]
July 26 3

Henry W. Lee,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. Campbell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

Ira C. Richardson,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS
Office over the postoffice,
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Frank H. Kratka
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

United States Map. 15c.

A copy of our handsome map, 48x38 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order.—We can't well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year

J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn

F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

For fine job work call at the News office.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

--if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

PATENTS

Caveats, and Trade-Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U. S. PATENT OFFICE and we can secure patent in less time than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing or photo., with description. We advise, if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.
A PAMPHLET, "How to Obtain Patents," with cost of same in the U. S. and foreign countries sent free. Address,

C. A. SNOW & CO.
OPP. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.
Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.
It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.
Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.
For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.
THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.
Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.
It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.
While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.
Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.
It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

STEVENS FAVORITE
GIVE THE BOYS A Stevens Favorite Rifle.

P. O. Box 178.

TOWN TALES.

H. E. Ives, of St. Hilaire, was in the city yesterday.

Dr. Dunlop, of Crookston, was in the city last week.

Dollos Douglas has again returned to this city to live.

Emil Brink was up from St. Hilaire the first of the week.

M. K. Wall transacted business in Red Lake Falls yesterday.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

Mrs. F. J. Stebbins and children visited friends in Crookston last week.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

P. K. Olson, the Red Lake Falls machine man, was in the city the first of the week.

Twins—a boy and a girl—were born to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schultz Tuesday. The boy died.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

Al Young, of Cloquet, arrived in the city Monday and has accepted a position as sawyer in the mill.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

H. W. Lee went to Red Lake Falls Tuesday to defend Gilbert Olson in a civil action commenced by Fred Olson.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

Fred Olson, who was sentenced by Judge Traverse to serve thirty days in the Crookston jail, has paid his fine and been released.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

Nye Farnham returned to this city Tuesday from Sault Ste. Marie, where he had been spending a short outing hunting and fishing.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

Work of building the addition to the Knox school on the East side has been commenced, and when it is completed, it will be one of the best school buildings in town.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Money to loan at straight legal rates. No commission. Privilege given to pay any part of principal on any interest-paying date. Lands bought.—Himle Real Estate Agency, F. G. Wells, Mgr., Thief River Falls, Minn.

People attending the circus this evening should be sure to see that their houses are securely locked. There are a number of desperate characters traveling with all circuses, and, if given any opportunity, will be sure to commit thefts.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—When you are tired of nostrums and ready to "throw physic to the dogs," try Shaw's Pure Malt, and "life will be worth living." Absolutely pure. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Wiley Tindolph the first of the week sold to H. E. Mussey block 22, Red Lake Rapids, and a strip of land 60 feet wide along the front of bloks 21 and 22 from Superior avenue to Third street. The property all adjoins Mr. Mussey's residence and greatly adds to its beauty.

Olaf Hanson was down to Red Lake Falls Monday.

Postmaster Rapp, of St. Hilaire, was in the city last week.

E. S. Davis, of Crookston, was in the city the first of the week.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dennie La Sarge last Thursday.

Samuel Heasley has resigned his position as deputy sheriff.

O. D. McDaniel, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city yesterday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bourque last Tuesday.

F. B. Newton, the Red Lake Falls lumberman, was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Weirs, of Waukegan, Ill., is in the city visiting her sister, Mrs. Caldwell.

Billie Murphy, the Red Lake Falls base ball catcher, was in the city yesterday.

For rent—Barn room and good house room, opposite the turn table. E. C. Purdy.

James Meehan, Jr., has been appointed a member of the Democratic congressional committee.

Will Kratka came up from Crookston last Saturday and has accepted a position on the Press.

The Warren base ball club was defeated last Friday by the Crookston boys, the score being 14 to 5.

C. L. Dobner last week sold 480 acres of farm land to two gentlemen from southern Minnesota last week.

Geo. F. Whitcomb and H. W. Whitcomb, two homesteaders of Rollis, were in the city the first of the week.

F. H. Kratka and family left last week for points on the reservation, where a week or more will be spent in camping out.

H. Lewin was up to the Red Lake agency on the steamboat Lilly the first of the week and sold goods to the merchants up there.

W. B. Fuller left Tuesday for the Red lake, where he will remain for a week or more looking after the shipment of goods on the Thief River Falls Lumber company's boats.

As will be noticed by a bankruptcy notice published in another column, Joseph W. Peterson, a St. Hilaire saloon man, declares himself a bankrupt. He places his assets at $120 and liabilities a $1,908.40.

An Irish picnic was held in the grove on C. A. Robbecke's farm west of the city Sunday. Carl Kretzschmar, C. A. Robbecke, Matt Barzen, Adam Zeh, Phil Zeh and E. E. Zeh, with their families, participated in the outing, and all report a very pleasant time.

The kid base ball club of this city was down to St. Hilaire Sunday and was defeated, the score being 18 to 19. The boys say that the umpire won the game for the St. Hilaire kids, but eye witnesses testify that the long bats did more for the down river club than the umpire.

Water has been struck in the Warren city well that has been drilled at a depth of 230 feet. A reservoir 20 feet deep, lined with brick, has been constructed to hold the water, as the flow is not strong enough to reach the surface. It is estimated that 100 barrels a day will be furnished by this well.

M. O. Sortedahl has just closed his third big real estate deal since the first of the year. The first was the acquisition of the Langevin estate, the second the purchase of 1,200 acres of syndicate farm lands and the last gives him title to the Wright lands, comprising three thousand acres, scattered over Red Lake and Polk counties.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

N. W. Tarrant was taken to Crookston Tuesday, where an operation will be performed upon his knee. The bone is deceased, and an opening will have to be made through the knee joint and a rubber tube inserted. It is a very delicate operation, and Mr. Tarrant's many friends here hope it will prove successful. He was accompanied to Crookston by his wife and Ira C. Richardson.

Dan Shaw leaves next week for the Red lake.

C. A. Brink was down to St. Hilaire last week.

C. J. Winton is expected to arrive in the city today.

Hollan Bros. last week received their stock of goods, and are now open for business.

H. O. Hanson, of Stephen, a former business man of this city, was here last week.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

Ole Thoreson is going to engage in the manufacture of pop and other soft drinks in this city.

There will be services at the parsonage hall of the Evangelical association Sunday at 7:30 o'clock p. m. in the English language.

The Great Syndicate English-American Shows will give two exhibitions in Thief River Falls today, this afternoon and evening.

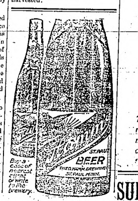
Mrs. Peter Morisette, who has been a guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. O. LaFroniere, the past two weeks, returned to her home at Cass Lake Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Morisette will leave next week for Colorado, where they will make their home in the future. The climate there was very beneficial to Mrs. Morisette's health, and it is believed she will be quite well if she remains there.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

HARVESTING.

Will Be General in This Section Next Week.

The harvesting of wheat in the vicinity of Thief River Falls has already commenced, but it will not be general before next week. While it is admitted that the crop is light, still the general feeling is vastly better than it was a short time ago. The principal cause for this is that many of the farmers, as well as the business men, took too radical a view of the crop situation when the conditions began to be unfavorable early in the season. It was the candid opinion of many at that time that the crop would be a total failure, and that, for the next year, the business of the country would be paralyzed. During the past two weeks there have been several good rains and the weather has been cool and as favorable to the filling of wheat as it possibly could be. This has operated to revive confidence, and, as a consequence, the feeling everywhere is much better than it was a few weeks ago.

In many places along the Red Lake river, the wheat that a month ago was estimated to yield from six to eight bushels to the acre, is now placed at fifteen. Of course, the land along the river forms but a small percentage of the entire acreage, but there are other portions in which there will be a good average crop. The places are comparatively few where the wheat is a total failure. The late flax is doing well, and will be a very profitable crop if nothing happens between now and the time it is harvested.



Buy a case of nearest client or write to the brewery.
ST. PAUL
BEER
THEO. HAMM BREWING
ST. PAUL MINN.

20,000 acres of wild and improved lands for sale in Red Lake and Marshall Cos.

Prairie Land, Speculator's Land, Timber Land.

Himle Land & Loan Co.,

(Purchasers of N. P. Ry. Co.'s Lands in Red Lake and Marshall counties.)

For information, maps, prices, etc., call on or address,

FRED G. WELLS, Local Mgr.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

$150,000 to Loan on Farm Lands.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14 all wool suits,	regular price	$ 8.00, now	$ 5.25
" " " "	"	10.00, "	6.50
5 " " " "	"	9.00, "	5.50
1 " " " "	"	12.50, "	8.50
7 " " " "	"	16.00, "	11.50
6 " " " "	"	12.00, "	9.00
5 " " " "	"	14.00, "	10.00
16 " " " "	"	13.50, "	10.00
8 " " " "	"	10.50, "	7.50
8 " " " "	"	10.00, "	7.00
7 " "	Black Clay worsted	15.00, "	10.50
1 " "	" " "	12.50, "	8.00
6 " "	" " "	11.00, "	8.00
5 " "	" " "	13.50, "	10.00
2 " "	Fancy worsted	14.00 "	11.00

3 all wool Blue Serge suits, regular price $13.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

The Affairs of Europe

are faithfully portrayed in the original and exclusive cable dispatches which THE CHICAGO RECORD prints daily from the leading capitals of the old world. This magnificent special service is in process of being greatly extended so as to include every important city in Europe; and it is supplemented by the full regular cable service of The Associated Press.

The Chicago Record, alone of all American newspapers outside New York city, now prints original and exclusive cable dispatches daily from the leading capitals of Europe.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.

IMPERFECT PAGE

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON Vice-President.

First State Bank

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Transact a general Banking Business.

DIRECTORS:

A. O. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. HANDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier

Burlington Route

BEST LINE TO CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS.

"The Limited," the finest train in the world, leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., every day. Electric lighted, steam heated, has compartment and standard sleepers, reclining chair-cars, coaches and dining car on the cafe plan. "The Scenic Express" leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill. GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

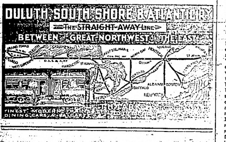
TIME AND SPACE are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 22½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Fina Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.



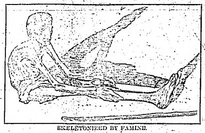
SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.
ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

THE FAMINE IN INDIA.

BY JUSTIN E. ABBOTT OF BOMBAY.

EIGHTEEN YEARS RESIDENT IN INDIA.

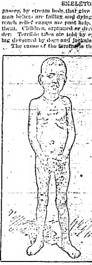
A famine the most widespread and severe of this century now darkens the whole of western and central India, an area equal to New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. Sixty million people are involved, of whom probably 10,000,000 will perish unless aided. The living skeleton is the indisputable evidence that the resources of the people are exhausted. Along the highways, in lonely passes, by stream beds that give no hope of water, weak and emaciated human beings are falling and dying by hundreds daily. Great numbers who reach relief camps are past help, and the very food they ravenously eat kills them. Children, orphaned or deserted, are picked up by scores as they wander. Terrible tales are told by eyewitnesses of these helpless little ones being devoured by dogs and jackals.



SKELETONIZED BY FAMINE.

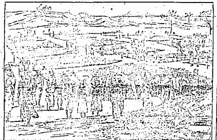
The cause of the famine is the failure of the monsoon rains from June to October last year. The farmers, who number 80 per cent of the population, were already impoverished by the famine of 1897. Expenditure of every kind was stopped; hence the laboring class and artisans have had no work. The British government is relieving the situation by gratuitously feeding the infirm, the aged, the emaciated and the children. The ablebodied are employed on cash wages in building reservoirs and irrigation works, railway embankments, roads, etc., which will greatly mitigate future famines. About 6,000,000 are now in daily receipt of official relief. Connected with the camps are hospitals where those in the extremes of emaciation are nursed back to strength. The death rate is by far the greatest in the native states where government control is least. Here, however, the government is assisting by loans of money and of the services of experienced officers. Already the authorities have spent $17,000,000.

With the failure of crops in the famine area there began a flow of grain from other parts of India and other countries. From Burma alone there was imported in ten months 427,000 tons of rice, worth $70,000,000. Merchants have carried grain everywhere, and the price has remained fairly uniform at a cost only twice that of ordinary years. There are millions of people, however, who have no money and no work. It is these moneyless millions for whom help or death is the only alternative.



"WHAT WILL YOU DO WITH HIM?"
[Famine girl not too far gone to save.]

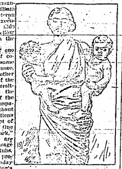
In spite of all that can be done by the government there is a vast field for the private charity now being so splendidly supplied by America, Britain and her colonies and various European countries. Doubtless the most efficient agency for distribution of this private benevolence is the body of several hundred American and European missionaries located in the famine districts, whose experienced services are freely given to this work of humanity. Missionaries supplement official efforts by assisting as many as possible to reach relief camps. Those too weak for the journey, unprotected young women, mothers with children and deserted orphans, are given refuge and tender care. Weavers and other petty artisans are supplied with work which prevents the breaking up of their homes. Industrial schools are maintained which in a few months give boys a training that makes them self supporting.



GOVERNMENT RELIEF WORK—MAKING A RESERVOIR.

It is the duty and privilege of every one to have some share in this sacred work of humanity. Money may be sent to Brown Bros. & Co., 59 Wall street, New York, treasurers of the committee of one hundred, William E. Dodge, chairman, and Dr. Jacob T. Chamberlain, executive director, by whom it will be cabled promptly to the responsible and representative America-Indian relief committee, under the chairmanship of United States Consul William H. Fee, at Bombay, with the veteran missionary, Robert A. Hume, as executive secretary. This committee aids and cooperates with our heroic fellow citizens of all denominations in the famine districts.

The New York committee of one hundred on Indian famine relief cooperates with committees of the same name in Boston, New Haven, Baltimore, Washington, Indianapolis and other cities, each of which has charge of the work in its own section. The committee announces that, thanks to the hearty assistance of the press of the United States and the express companies, which forward gifts without charge, it has received contributions amounting to $100,000. On receipt of a postal addressed "Committee of One Hundred, 72 Bible House, New York," supplies of illustrated literature are sent without charge and expressage free. The help of individuals, clubs, lodges, labor unions, employers, proprietors of hotels, churches, Sunday schools, young people's societies, King's Daughters, etc., is sought in distributing this literature and organizing relief movements. Two cents a day will save life, and $2 will provide work for a famished person until the next harvest.



THE HAPPY MOTHER BEFORE THE FAMINE.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - - MINN.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

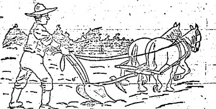
Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD
The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS
and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS
PRINTS THE NEWS
12 to 24 hours ahead
of any Northwestern paper.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII. NO. 30. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 23c to	45c
You can buy a good business suit for	$7.50
Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to	$1.25
Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to	$4.50
Pants for men from $1.00 to	$5.00
Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts	45c
Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to	$1.50
Pique front white shirts for men	48c
Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for	$2.98
Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to	50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,
Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS,
and INSURANCE,

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.

M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

WHO'LL RUN?

That Will Be a Hard Question to Answer.

C. W. Scrutchin, an attorney from Bemidji, and J. P. Nygaard, sheriff of Beltrami county, were in the city last week. Mr. Scrutchin is a negro, and is prominently mentioned as a candidate for representative from the counties of Red Lake and Beltrami. He says that he will have the solid support of his home county.

Considerable dissatisfaction has developed in the southern part of this county to Mr. Scrutchin, owing to the fact that he is a negro, and it is said that a candidate will be brought forward from Red Lake county, which has heretofore had no aspirant. The basis of representation will undoubtedly give each county an equal number of delegates, although Beltrami county cast 441 votes for Eustis in '98, while this county cast 422. Unless indications fail, the convention will be unable to agree upon a candidate, but we hope that the delegates will remember that they are Republicans and will find a peaceable solution of the difficulties.

Will Go West.

The Roseau County Times says that it has been informed that the firm of Mackenzie, Mann & Co. has ordered a preliminary survey of a proposed railroad from Warroad to the Red River valley. The survey will only extend to range 42, and the company will then wait for a decision as to which point in North Dakota it will head for. Grand Forks will make a strong effort to secure the road, and Warren is anxious to have the road touch its limits, while Drayton is also interested in having the proposed road cross the river there.

A New Order.

A recent order of Public Examiner Pope is worthy of note. The county treasurer is prohibited from placing funds for active account in more than one bank; and he is also prohibited from paying claims against the county by checks on the banks used as depositories of the county funds. Whenever the auditor issues an order to any person, it is simply indorsed by the treasurer, who, in his indorsement, designates the bank at which the warrant is to be paid. After this order goes into effect, taxes can no longer be paid by personal check, and remittances of this kind must be made either by money order, draft or cash. This order will be in force after August 1st.

Practical Game Protection.

About a dozen and a half of the nimrods of St. Hilaire have signed an agreement, and will see that anyone violating the game laws are prosecuted to the limit—this means $25 for each and every chicken, instead of $10. A fund for this purpose has been raised, and someone may learn the full meaning of the game law in regard to prairie chicken or grouse to their sorrow, says Editor Soll, of the Spectator.

Teachers' Examination.

The fall examination for the teachers of Red Lake county will be held at the high school building in the city of Red Lake Falls, Monday and Tuesday, August 6th and 7th. This will be the only examination in the county this fall, and those expecting to take the examination will please be present at 8 o'clock on the morning of the first day.

FRANK JEFFERS,
County Superintendent.

A NEW RULING.

It Gives the Ladies a Little Better Chance.

Unmarried women, who were settlers upon claims that they had not filed upon, and who became susceptible to cupids darts and married before entering the land, have heretofore been at a disadvantage. A recent ruling of the Interior department has set the matter right. It read as follows:

"When an unmarried woman, who has heretofore settled, or may hereafter settle, upon a tract of public land, improved, established and maintained a bona fide residence thereon, with the intention of appropriating the same for a home, subject to the homestead law, and has married or shall hereafter marry, before making entry of said land, or before making application to enter said land, she shall not on account of her marriage forfeit her right to make entry and receive patent for the land; provided, that she has not abandoned her residence on said land, and is otherwise qualified to make homestead entry; provided further, that the man whom she marries is not, at the time of their marriage, claiming a separate tract of land under the homestead law.

Clearing Land With Sheep.

In the park region and the forest region, where small timber grows, it is common to clear land by grubbing it, that is to say, by digging down and chopping off the roots of the green trees until they fall over. The stumps and trees are then removed at the same time. Such a mode of clearing land is very effective, but it is very laborious also. Why would it not be better to cut down the timber, sell it for what it is worth, and then burn the brush and scatter some kind of grass seed on the land, and then pasture with sheep? Nearly all kinds of stumps will decay in a very few years. Sheep will keep down sprouts so effectively as to facilitate such decay. The land would then be cleared at minimum cost. The objection may be raised that it would have to be fenced, but it should be fenced anyway. Land cannot be farmed for any long period without turning it occasionally into pasture, and it cannot be turned into pasture without having it fenced. To the writer it has seemed strange indeed that so little land in this northwestern country has been cleared in this way.—Farmer.

Bad Hail Storm.

Between 6 and 7 o'clock last Friday afternoon one of the most destructive hail storms that ever visited the Red River valley passed over a section of country in southern Polk and northern Norman counties. Everything was completely destroyed by the hail, which covered the ground from four to five inches in depth.

He's a Winner.

Henry L. Bergeron, of Excel, a former resident of this city, has been nominated by the People's Party of Marshall county for the office of superintendent of schools. Mr. Bergeron is a bright, progressive young man, and, if elected, would be sure to give excellent satisfaction. He has a large number of friends here who hope he will be successful.

Done Us Up.

The "Great Syndicate English-American shows," which gave an entertainment in this city last Thursday, was accompanied by a gang of short-change artists, skin-game gamblers, etc. A large number of the unsuspecting were robbed by the smooth-tongued guys, and all will know better next time.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14	all-wool suits, regular price	$ 8.00,	now	$ 5.25
"	" " " "	10.00,	"	6.50
5	" " " "	9.00,	"	5.50
1	" " " "	12.50,	"	8.50
7	" " " "	16.00,	"	11.50
6	" " " "	12.00,	"	9.00
8	" " " "	14.00,	"	10.00
15	" " " "	13.50,	"	10.00
8	" " " "	10.50,	"	7.50
8	" " " "	10.00,	"	7.00
7	" " Black Clay worsted	15.00,	"	10.50
1	" " " " "	12.50,	"	8.00
6	" " " " "	11.00,	"	8.00
5	" " " " "	13.50,	"	10.00
2	" " Fancy worsted	14.00	"	11.00

5 all wool Blue Serge suits, regular price $12.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

20,000 acres of wild and improved lands for sale in Red Lake and Marshall Cos.

Prairie Land, Speculator's Land, Timber Land.

Himle Land & Loan Co.,

(Purchasers of N. P. Ry. Co.'s Lands in Red Lake and Marshall counties.)

For information, maps, prices, etc., call on or address,

FRED G. WELLS, Local Mgr.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

$150,000 to Loan on Farm Lands.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars. Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv. Crookston	Ar. 6:20 p m
9:25 a m "	Shirley	" 6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	Ives	" 5:30 p m
10:21 a m "	Wylie	" 4:55 p m
11:30 a m "	St Hilaire	Lv. 4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar. Thief River F	" 4:10 p m
1:30 p m	Lv. St Hilaire	" 4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar. Red Lake F	" 3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STEVENS FAVORITE
GIVE THE BOYS A
Stevens Favorite Rifle.
J. STEVENS ARMS & TOOL CO.
P. O. Box

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 2, 1900.

Just because the Populists at their county convention held at Red Lake Falls yesterday refused to fuse with the Democrats, the latter are accusing Mark Hanna with furnishing the macadam for the middle of the road.

The credit of our country is so good that it can dispose of its 2 per cent bonds at par—a rate of interest which not other country can show in its entire history—and these are now at a premium of 3 per cent.—Knute Nelson.

The Democrats of Red Lake county are very indignant at the treatment they received at the hands of the Populists, and will put a full county ticket in the field. The Republicans will also put up a complete ticket, and the three-cornered fight will be interesting.

In nominating each prospective delegate from the Second ward last Friday evening to attend the Populist county convention, it was expressly stated that the delegate must pay his own expenses. Can it be possible that the delegates to Populist conventions in this county are being corrupted by office seekers?

Red Lake Falls last week had one of the hottest school elections ever held in that town, and, judging from the reports in the local papers, ill feeling has been stirred up. A total of 609 votes were cast, many of the voters being women, and the side opposed to re-election of Prof. McNally as superintendent were victorious.

The Republicans of Polk county have put an unusually strong ticket in the field this year, and, owing to the dissatisfaction in the ranks of the Populist party, will probably be successful. The ticket is as follows:

- Sheriff—E. J. Sullivan, East Grand Forks.
- Auditor—John Peterson, McIntosh.
- Treasurer—O. Osmundson, Mallory.
- Register of Deeds—O. A. Christianson, Crookston.
- County Attorney—G. A. E. Finlayson, Crookston.
- Judge of Probate—Ed. Barness, Fosston.
- Superintendent of Schools—Thomas Casey, Fisher.
- Court Commissioner—W. M. Marin.
- Representatives—Gunder Krostue, Fisher, and Andrew Opheim, Fertile.

Let's see: what does the Pop get out of the Kansas City Democratic platform? Does the platform indorse the Omaha Pop platform of '95 in any respect or principle? Not any. Does the Kansas City platform stand for government ownership of telegraphs and telephones? Not any. Does the platform ask for the referendum—the great referendum? Not any. Does the Kansas City platform mention even one—just one—of the "seven great conspiracies?" Verily, not one. Does the Kansas City platform ask for the greenback? Not even the greenback. What, then, does the Kansas City platform ask for that the Populist stands for? Nothing—not a single, one thing; yet the Pops are expected to, and many probably will, vote for the Democratic nominee.—Waseca Herald.

Congressman Eddy, accompanied by his secretary, left for the northern part of his district Sunday afternoon, and will spend thirty days in driving about. He has his own team and will, in this manner, see many people whom he has been unable to meet before. It will also enable him to investigate the many land and pension claims concerning which people have written to him, and he will thus be better able to assist them. The last of August he will go to Oklahoma territory to hold three meetings for Congressman Dennis Flynn, who was associated with him in pushing through congress the free homestead bill. The free home bill was a great thing for Oklahoma, and the homesteaders there have been very urgent for Congressman Eddy to come there and address them.—Fergus Falls Journal.

SHIPLOAD OF BEER LOST.

Sent Out from Manila for Army Canteens It Mysteriously Disappears.

Army quartermasters are a great deal interested in the mysterious disappearance of a ship load of beer. The cargo comprises 70 barrels of the bottled article, and was consigned to a former sergeant of the Third artillery at Malolos from Manila. The shipment was intended to furnish the canteens at Malolos, Gyugua and Ballaug, and naturally there was a great deal of interest in the freight. Formerly such articles were shipped by railroad from Manila, but recently the railroad facilities from that place have been taxed to take care of the regular army supplies, and other goods have been sent up by cascoes. One of these cascoes and the cargo was captured about two months ago by a party of Ladrones, who exacted a tribute of $20 from the Filipino in charge of the cargo before it was permitted to proceed on its way.

The disappearance of the large quantity of beer, which is worth $2,300 in the Philippines, is accounted for in some such way. The theory is that it has fallen into the hands of those who know how and where to make the best use of their booty. The pirates who infest the smaller bays of the archipelago keep a careful watch on the shipments from Manila, and cargoes which are sent out without guard are usually recognized and frequently attacked. It has become to be the practice that hardly any cascoes are permitted to leave Manila without an armed party for protection.

UPSETS MEDICAL THEORIES.

Woman Maintains a Remarkable Temperature for Fifty-Five Days.

Dr. Frank Sampson, of Penn Yan, N. Y., attending physician to Lieut. Mary Gregory, 24 years old, of the Salvation Army, who was sick with appendicitis, and whose continued high temperature is said to be without parallel, has issued this statement, telling how his patient's temparature has been for 55 days. The physician called in seven others, whose thermometers registered the same temperature, so there was no mistake. The statement says:

"The case is without a parallel in my experience, and I doubt if such a temperature, 112 degrees, for so long a time, 55 days, has ever been known. The previous theories of the blood being changed at a temperature of 108 degrees must necessarily be exploded, for the patient has now maintained a temperature of 112 degrees for 55 days, and is still alive. On Thursday of last week a thermometer was procured, which registered 120 degrees. It was applied, and Miss Gregory's temperature rose to the 119 point."

TOLSTOI'S VIEW OF SUICIDE.

Russian Writer Says That to Commit Self-Murder Is Neither Sensible Nor Moral.

Count Tolstoi has been giving his views on the ethics of suicide.

"To commit suicide," he says, "is neither sensible nor moral. Life is indestructible. It is not tied to time or space. Thus death can solely change its outward form and shorten existence in this world.

"Life has not only been given us for our pleasure, but for our personal perfection and to serve the general welfare. All work appears at the beginning disagreeable.

"Suicide is immoral. Life has been granted man to die a natural death, and, indeed, on condition that he serves the general universal peace and not that he only makes use of his life so long as it is personally agreeable to him.

"As long as a man still lives he can perfect himself and serve the whole community. He serves it only when he perfects himself more and more."

St. Louis' Opportunity.

Chicago has spent more than $30,000,000 for the purpose of getting purer water, and still the milk is rendered unfit for use by the stuff that is put in it. The Chicago Times-Herald suggests that now is the time for St. Louis to laugh.

A Hard Part to Play.

Emperor William was victorious in a sham battle at Metz the other day. The commander on the other side, says the Chicago Times-Herald, probably knows now how it feels to play the villain's part in a lurid melodrama.

FIRE IN MAN'S VEST POCKET.

Combination of Potash Lozenges and Safety Matches Starts a Blaze.

An English family doctor tells this story: "I was hastily summoned one morning to the offices of a well-known city merchant. He had been quietly writing at his desk, when to his amazement and alarm he found his waistcoat blazing furiously. Although he dashed it off in an instant he had been burned severely, and when I arrived and had treated his injuries we were both of us much puzzled to find a cause for the sudden outburst. But investigation showed that he was in the habit of carrying loosely in his watch pocket two or three of the tiny potash lozenges which so many people find useful for a sore throat. Among these he had thoughtlessly thrust a box of safety matches, the covering of which forms with potash a chemical combination which the slightest friction will set into a blaze.

"Unfortunately, too, his gold watch was protected by one of the common cases of transparent celluloid, which is nothing but a form of highly explosive guncotton; so that in fact he had innocently formed in his waistcoat pocket one of the most dangerous and powerful powder magazines known to science."

SIGNALING AT NIGHT.

Successful Experiment with Kite and Search Light at Bayonne, New Jersey.

A system of night signaling with flags held up by kites and lighted by a suspended search-light was tried some time ago at Bayonne, N. J., says Electricity.

The search-light was of about 300 candle power, and was suspended within a few feet of the flags. The light was sent up at a quarter to seven o'clock, hung two feet below the flags, each of which was two feet square. Both light and flags were supported by one nine-foot and one seven-foot kite. The flags were fastened to the kite cable by perpendicular staffs. To light the flags the search-light was rigidly braced on the kite cable in such a position that it pointed straight skyward. As the kites carried the cable upward, the glare of the fiery pencil passed beneath the flying kites and upward into space. The rapid fluttering of the flags caused the effect of a stream of blue, white and red fire, extending 10 or 12 feet beyond the search-light reflector.

This invention will probably not only be used in signaling in time of war, but will produce effects of great beauty in night carnivals.

THE "TRUE" NEGRO.

The Type from Guinea Is the Most Distinctly Characterized of All the Blacks.

Coming to the diversities of the stock among the pure Africans, we may first note the type which, in the rough judgment of the public, is the real or Guinea negro. That he is so taken is doubtless because he is the most distinctly characterized of all black people, says Prof. N. S. Shaler, in Popular Science Monthly. The men of this well-known group are generally burly fellows, attaining at a relatively early age a massive trunk and strong thighs; they have thick necks and small though variedly shaped heads. The bridge of the nose is low, and the jaws protruding. The face, though distinctly of a low type, very often has a very charming expression—one in which the human look is blended with a remnant of the ancient animal who had not yet come to the careful stage of life. The women of this group are well made, but commonly less so than the men. In general form the two sexes of the group are much alike, a feature which also indicates an essentially low station. These people of the Guinea type form perhaps one-half of the southern negroes.

Chinese Honor to an American.

The United States legation at Peking, China, has sent to the Essex institute of Massachusetts an attested copy of the imperial edict making a demigod of Gen. Frederick Townsend Ward, of Salem, who was killed in the service of China. Gen. Ward was the creator of the Chinese army, afterward commanded by "Chinese" Gordon. The document referred to is authenticated with the seals of the Chinese and American governments and is believed to be the only copy in the original Chinese to be found in this country, as the state department at Washington has only an English translation thereof.

How to Get a Room.

The day Queen Victoria entered Dublin, a few weeks ago, the number of visitors was so great that it was impossible to get a room. A certain stranger on arriving at the Irish capital entered a cab and said to the driver: "Take me to a good hotel, Jarvey." "Well, sir, which d'ye want?" "Any will do so long as I can get a room." "Then, axin' yer lave, sir, ye'd betther go across an' throw stones at a peeler." "Why?" "Ye'd get locked up thin, sir, an' 'tis the only way to get a room in Dublin this night, sir, heav'n be praised!"

A Gatacre March.

An indication of Gen. Gatacre's disregard of fatigue and distance is furnished by a tale of one of his famous long marches in the Soudan. The men were getting weary and falling out, while Father Brindle, the well-known Roman Catholic army chaplain, was endeavoring to cheer them up to renewed efforts. "Come, lads," he said, "it's only another mile to the next halt." "Yes, father," replied a man, "but it's a blessed Gatacre mile."

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

PORTER & PAULSON,

—Proprietors of—

CITY DRAY

—and—

TRANSFER LINE.

Great Northern Express Handled.

Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York

Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

If anybody has a message for the people of this community, he cannot deliver it to them so effectually, so cheaply, so quickly in any other way as through the columns of this paper.

It is the business of the News to carry messages of one kind and another into homes. The message will be delivered, too, under favorable conditions, for few persons take up their local paper except in a pleasant and receptive frame of mind.

The sign upon the fence board may be good, but it can be seen only by travelers who go that particular road. The message in the local paper carries itself to thousands, no matter by which road they travel.

Select your space and put your message where it will do the most good. We, perhaps, can help you, if you will but ask us.

Ads...
In the News
Always Bring
Results.

For fine job work call at the News office.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md. Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

United States Map. 15c.

A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We can't well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

Henry W. Lee,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. Campbell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty.
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

Ira C. Richardson,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Frank H. Kratka
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as The North American Review. — Boston Journal.

IN THE

North American Review

YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND

The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "The North American Review constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the North American Review."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.

The North American Review, N. Y.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil A. Kauper, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
H. E. Mussey, Thief River Falls Press.
John W Eastman, Thief River Falls News

ORDER TO EXAMINE ACCOUNTS, ETC.

State of Minnesota, county of Red Lake—ss. In Probate Court, special term, July 23rd, 1900.

In the matter of the estate of Jennie C. Lambert, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of J. P. Foote, administrator of the estate of Jennie C. Lambert deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard by this court on Monday, the 20th day of August, A. D. 1900, at ten o'clock A. M., at Probate Office in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Thief River Falls News, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Thief River Falls, in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, this 23rd day of July, A. D. 1900.

By the Court:

[SEAL.] J. T. KNIGHT,
July 26 3 Judge of Probate.

Bankrupts' Petition For Discharge.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, FOR THE DISTRICT OF MINNESOTA—Sixth Division.

In the matter of
BORRE E. BURKEE and JOHN E. BURKEE,
Bankrupts.

To the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the District Court of the United States, for the District of Minnesota.

Borre E. Burkee and John E. Burkee, of St. Hilaire, in the county of Red Lake, and state of Minnesota, in said district, respectfully represent that on the 17th day of April, A. D. 1899, they were duly adjudged bankrupts under the acts of congress relating to bankruptcy; that they have duly surrendered all their and each of their property and rights of property; and have fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching their bankruptcy.

Wherefore, they pray that they may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against their estates under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 11th day of July, A. D. 1900.

BORRE E. BURKEE,
JOHN E. BURKEE,
Bankrupts.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
District of Minnesota, Sixth Division—ss

On this 26th day of July, A. D. 1900, on reading the foregoing petition, it is Ordered by the court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 20th day of August, A. D. 1900, before said court, at St. Paul, in said district, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Thief River Falls News, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court, that the clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the said court, and the seal thereof, at Fergus Falls, in said district, on the 26th day of July, A. D. 1900.

{SEAL OF THE COURT.} CHARLES L. SPENCER, Clerk.
By L. A. LEVORSEN, Deputy Clerk.

Bankrupt's Petition for Discharge.

In the matter of
Ole P. Johnson,
Bankrupt. } In Bankruptcy.

To the Hon. William Lochren, Judge of the District Court of the United States, for the District of Minnesota and the Sixth Division thereof:

Ole P. Johnson, of Thief River Falls, in the County of Red Lake, and State of Minnesota, in said division, and within said district, respectfully represents that on the 16th day of March, A. D. 1900, last past, he was duly adjudged a bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore he prays that he may be declared by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 19th day of July, A. D. 1900.

OLE P. JOHNSON,
Bankrupt.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.
District of Minnesota, Sixth Divison—ss.

On this 28th day of July, A. D. 1900, on reading the foregoing petition, it is ordered by the court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 20th day of August, A. D. 1900, before said court, at St. Paul, in said district, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Thief River Falls News, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court, that the clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the said court, and the seal thereof, at Fergus Falls, in said district, on the 20th day of July, A. D. 1900.

{SEAL OF THE COURT.} CHARLES L. SPENCER, Clerk.
By L. A. LEVORSEN, Deputy Clerk.

Ogahmah Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

The John Hancock MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year

J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn

F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

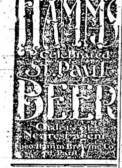
Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,

—PROPRIETOR OF—

The Thief River Falls Meat Market.



Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches,
Clocks,
Jewelry
and
Guns.

Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

TOWN TALES.

Dr. Francis was down to St. Hilaire Tuesday.

M. E. Todd was down to Red Lake Falls Tuesday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers Tuesday.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

M. McAndress, the St. Hilaire hotel man, was in the city Tuesday.

Fred Reynolds, an attorney from Duluth, was in the city the first of the week.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The ladies of the Catholic church will meet at Mrs. Paul Holzknecht's this afternoon.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

Joseph Jerome's family will remove to this city this fall in order that the children may attend school.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

John Pederson went up to the Red lake yesterday with a crew of men and will bring down a drive for the St. Hilaire Lumber company.

Joseph Jerome, a former resident of this city, who now runs a trading place up at the Red lake, came down on the boat the first of the week.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

The Royal Neighbors held a social session last evening. Visiting members from Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire were present and all report an excellent time.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Hank Goenen, the horse trader, arrived in the city yesterday and will remain for a few weeks. Hank has lots of friends here, and says he will have more when the people find of the bargains he can offer in horse flesh.

James A. Wilson, of Lake City, Minn., has been engaged as principal of the Central school. Mr. Wilson comes highly recommended, is a graduate of the State University and will greatly improve the faculty of the Central school.

A large number of Populist and Democratic politicians of this city were at Red Lake Falls yesterday attending the Populist county convention. Among those in attendance were: James Meehan, Jr., H. W. Lee, S. T. Johnson, K. M. Hansen, M. K. Wall, John Durnin, Geo. Jarman, Frank Tilton, Phil Zeh and Paul Holzknecht.

Mayor Kretzschmar has appointed Nick Hanson chief of police in this city vice Wm. Benzie, removed. The mayor took the action, it is understood, on the grounds that the police department was very lax during the visit of the recent circus, and allowed a number of people from this city and the country to be victimized. The new appointee is well spoken of, and will probably give excellent satisfaction.

Viavi, Room 38, Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

H. E. Ives, of St. Hilaire, was in the city Sunday.

A cook and several servant girls wanted at the Hotel Markham, St. Hilaire.

Henry Landsman, of Germantown, was in the city the first of the week.

For rent—Barn room and good house room, opposite the turn table. E. C. Purdy.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

Don Shaw left yesterday for the Red lake with a crew of men, and will put up hay for a month or more.

The citizens of the northern end of Cass county propose to form a new county, taking land from Beltrami and Itasca counties.

I. Beauchman, who has conducted a small second-hand clothing store in the Joseph Johnson building, has removed to Argyle.

H. Lowin came down from the Red lake Monday and left yesterday for Chicago, where he goes to purchase his fall stock of clothing.

G. F. Cooney has resigned his position as shipping clerk for the Thief River Falls Lumber company. He will go to the Pacific coast.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Rev. Dr. Forbes, of Duluth, will deliver a sermon tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Methodist church on the East side. All are cordially invited to attend.

Hanson & Barzen's hay press has been at work during the first part of the week, and they expect to ship two car loads of hay Saturday. The firm has two hay presses.

Money to loan at straight legal rates. No commission. Privilege given to pay any part of principal on any interest-paying date. Lands bought. Himle Real Estate Agency, F. G. Wells, Mgr., Thief River Falls, Minn.

The water in the Red Lake river just at present is lower than it ever was before, and is accounted for by the fact that there is a big jam of logs at the outlet. A crew of drivers went up the first of the week to break the jam.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—When you are tired of nostrums and ready to "throw physic to the dogs," try Shaw's Pure Malt, and "life will be worth living." Absolutely pure. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

W. A. Kratka last Saturday purchased the John O'Day house of the Thief River Falls Lumber company. This is one of the finest residences in the city, and will be occupied by Mr. Kratka's family, now living at Lansing, Iowa.

Mrs. John N. Whitman left Monday for McCouleyville, Minn., called by the death of her son-in-law, David McCouley, who died Sunday night. The deceased was a pioneer resident of the state, was highly respected by all and was 76 years of age.

Mrs. N. W. Tarrant went down to Crookston Saturday to spend Sunday with her husband, who is in a hospital at that place. She returned to this city Monday and reports that Nick is rapidly improving, and will be able to return to this city in a week or so.

Wm. P. Whitman was over to Grafton, Park River and other North Dakota towns last week on his wheel. He reports that the crops in portions of North Dakota as being entirely ruined, while there are other portions that will have an average yield.

C. G. Davis, who is superintending the construction of the Indian school on the point between the two Red lakes, arrived in the city Tuesday after supplies. He reports that the Indians are all quiet now, but is of the opinion that they will burn the school after it is completed.

Mrs. James Jenkins, of the East side, is quite ill.

Attorney Lee was down to Crookston last week.

H. M. Hicks, the furniture man, has a new delivery wagon.

Ira C. Richardson and family spent Sunday in St. Hilaire.

Attorney F. A. Grady was up from Red Lake Falls last week.

Isedor Lewin and George Curran were down to St. Hilaire Sunday.

It is reported that there are two cases of typhoid fever in St. Hilaire.

J. H. Wallin and Misses Helen and Florence Wallin were down to Crookston last week.

Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Hansen returned to this city last Saturday from Green Bay, Wis.

James Kelly arrived in the city last week from Rochester, Minn., to visit his brother, W. J. Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moylan left last week for Dexter, Minn., where Mrs. Moylan will visit her parents.

A. Wright expects to leave in a few day for the Pacific coast, where he will make some investments in timber lands.

P. A. Johnson, one of the enterprising settlers living up near Germantown, was in the city last Saturday and subscribed for the News.

John Daly and John Landers, two stockholders in the Thief River Falls Lumber company, were in the city last week from Wisconsin.

Mrs. Dennis Morin, of Argyle, who had been in the city visiting her sister and mother, Mrs. A. Morin and Mrs. James McGee, respectively, returned home Sunday.

A large number of Indians are camping on the point across the river from the city and have been indulging in a dance each evening. They invite the general public to attend.

Frank Jeffers, the genial superintendent of schools for Red Lake county, was in the city last week shaking hands with his friends. Mr. Jeffers has no opposition for the re-nomination by the Populist party.

Justice Toupin, of Red Lake Falls, last week rendered a decision in the case of Fred Olson vs. Gilbert Olson. The plaintiff was given a judgment of $60 and costs. It will be appealed to the district court.

The St. Hilaire Lumber company is going to build a dam across the Red Lake river half way between this city and St. Hilaire. Under the present conditions it is almost impossible to drive logs below here unless the river is improved.

James Meehan, Jr., returned to this city last Thursday from Green Bay, Wis., where he had been to attend the funeral of Mrs. Dougherty. Mrs. Meehan and son will spend several weeks at Spring Lake, Mich., before returning.

Even Anderson, a New Solum farmer, in attempting to stop a run away team in this city last Saturday, was thrown under the team and received a severe cut on the top of the head by one of the horses stepping on him. The wound was dressed by Dr. Francis, and the man returned home.

A. B. Gates is in the city endeavoring to organize a lodge of the Improved Order of Red Men. It is a social and beneficial order, one of the oldest in the United States, and a number of our citizens are becoming member. As soon as thirty are secured the lodge will be instituted.

The Populist primaries were held in all of the wards in Thief River Falls last Saturday evening, and there was considerable of a contest as to whether the delegates to be elected should favor Lee or Grady for county attorney. Lee's delegates were elected by big majorities, and were as follows: First ward—Geo. Jarman and John Durnin; Second ward—Fred Holzknecht; Third ward—Frank Tilton.

THE POPS

Nominated Their County Ticket Yesterday.

The Populists of Red Lake county nominated their county ticket at Red Lake Falls yesterday. There were a large number of delegates present and four or five candidates for each office. M. J. Daly, candidate of the fusion forces in the Seventh district for congressman, was present and addressed the meeting.

The following nominations were made:

- Auditor—Adam Zeh.
- Treasurer—O. T. Tandberg.
- Supt. of Schools—Frank Jeffers
- Register of Deeds—Sam Gibeau.
- Sheriff—Ed. Moran.
- County Attorney—F. A. Grady.
- Judge of Probate—J. L. Johnson.
- Surveyor—Phil Zeh.
- Coroner—Joe Blair.
- Commissioner, 4th district—Geo. Jarman; 2nd district—Thos Blair.

K. M. Hansen was chairman of the convention. The ticket nominated is very weak in spots—and the spots are not very far between.

Mrs. G. H. Turville, who has been quite ill, is reported to be improving.

EXCEL.

July 30.—Harvesting will be in full blast in a day or two.

Martin Steiner is doing the right thing—pulling the mustard out of his flax field.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo and baby, of Comstock, visited friends here during the past week.

H. L. Bergeron will attend the legislative convention for the 63rd district at Stephen August 3rd.

P. B. Malberg came over from Viking last week to look after his farming interests in this town. He returned to Viking Sunday.

A number of Excel people were circus victims last week—hearsay indicates that the city marshall was a favored guest of the circus gang.

The annual school meeting held on July 21st and adjourned to July 28th was at times quite interesting. Simon Warring was elected clerk. Seven months of school was voted, and the balance of the time was consumed in balloting for the selection of a school house site. It was finally decided to build the new school house north of the blacksmith shop, on the corner of Mr. Rupprecht's land. At about 12 o'clock the meeting adjourned. The notice of the annual meeting being defective in regard to the manner of voting to bond the district to get money for a new school building, a special meeting will have to be called for that purpose. Our school clerk is sadly in need of a new school code, and then considerable coaching in the matter of calling and holding school meetings, etc.

Favorite Summer Route East.

Hundreds of delighted travelers testify to the modest cost and excelencies of the summer trips by train and steamer arranged by the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway along the south shore of Lake Superior. For full particulars apply to local agents, or T. H. Larke, Ass't, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Duluth.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

UP IN SMOKE.

Thousands of Tons of Hay Burned by Indians.

Thousands of tons of hay in the stacks and upon the meadows were burned up the first of the week by the Indians living on this section of the reservation. Several parties had put up hay on the reservation, paying the Indians for the stumpage, and, before it was removed, the Indians demanded pay a second time. This the parties putting up the hay refused to do, and the Indians set fire to the hay in the stack. The wind being from the south, drove the flames northward and a large portion of eastern Marshall and Roseau counties were burned over. Numerous settlers have lost buildings and tons of hay have been destroyed. All are heavily engaged in the stock raising business, and, by reason of their meadows being burned over and their hay in stack burned, will suffer many hardships.

Just how long a little band of forty or fifty drunken and degenerated Indians will continue to devastate one of the most fertile regions in the state, it is hard to say, but one thing is certain, unless the Indians are removed to the lake, where they belong, and this section of the reservation thrown open to settlement, there will continue to be trouble. Under the present conditions, the Indians living across the river from Thief River Falls are not only a menace to the whites, but are in a state of degeneration both morally and physically that is a pity to behold.

Obituary.

Died, at Thief River Falls, Minn., July 19, 1900, of bright's disease, Mrs. Ann Dougherty, aged 61 years.

The announcement of the death of Mrs. Dougherty created a sad impression upon this community, among whom the deceased had been for many years a well known and esteemed member.

Mrs. Dougherty was born in Ontario, Canada, 61 years ago. After her marriage she lived in Indiana, coming to Green Bay 24 years ago, upon the death of her husband, John Dougherty, a brother of Messrs. Hugh and James Dougherty, formerly engaged in business here. She resided here for fifteen years, leaving this city nine years ago. During the years of her residence here, Mrs. Dougherty was highly esteemed for her kind qualities of heart. To this her neighbors and friends freely attest.

Of a family of eight children, she leaves five survivors—Mrs. William Farnsworth, of Chicago; Mrs. F. S. Nicholson, of Stevens Point, Wis.; Mrs. James P. Meehan and Mrs. Karl Hansen, of Thief River Falls, Minn., and Mrs. E. E. Sirrine, of Tucson, Arizona. All were present at the funeral, excepting Mrs. Sirrine. The funeral occurred from St. John's church last Sunday afternoon. The interment was at Allouez cemetery, where lie the remains of her dear departed ones.

While she has lived out life's extended span, those who knew and appreciated her excellent qualities will not refrain from extending to her relatives our sincere sympathies.—Green Bay (Wis.) Advocate.

Just Ask Us About the Summer Trips

Along the south shore of Lake Superior offered by the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway. Very low fare tours by rail and lake to all eastern points, through a territory famous for beautiful scenery and historic interest. For rates and full particulars apply to local agents, or T. H. Larke, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, Duluth.

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON Vice-President.

First State Bank

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Transact a general Banking Business.

DIRECTORS:

A. G. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier.

Burlington Route

ELECTRIC LIGHT IN EVERY BERTH

A special feature of the Burlington's Chicago Limited. When you retire, turn on the light. After you are comfortably ensconsed between the sheets, you can read by it. When you are sleepy, a twist of the wrist—and the light's out. Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul, 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Scenic Day Express leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday, arriving Chicago same evening. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.

GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

TIME AND SPACE

are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

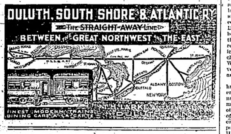
FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 23½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Attention Settlers.

*

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.



DULUTH, SOUTH SHORE & ATLANTIC RY
The STRAIGHT-AWAY Line
BETWEEN THE GREAT NORTHWEST AND THE EAST

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.

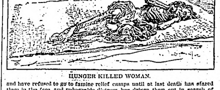
ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

FAMINE SHADOWED INDIA.

BY EDWARD S. HUME.

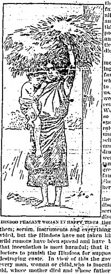
For Twenty-five Years an American Resident of Bombay.

Having just returned from India, I have read the accounts of the famine in American papers, I have seen the pictures, I have seen the conditions in the famine districts, and I can assure you that the actual state of affairs is much more terrible than painted or pictured. And the worst of it is that, even if the June rains are entirely favorable, no relief can be expected till the crop is gathered in October. Famine photographs frequently represent half starved and dying persons lying on the street or in some field. They are poor but self-respecting people, who have never been the objects of public charity and have refused to go to famine relief camps until at last death has stared them in the face, and unbearable distress has driven them out in search of help. Weary and hungry, they have laid themselves down to rest and have died before waking. Not long before leaving India, while walking with a brother missionary at Ahmedabad, not far from his house, he pointed to a tree at the roadside and said: "The other day I saw the emaciated figure of a man lying, face down, under that tree. On going near and touching the body I found it already stiff and cold. Examining it more carefully, I found one side torn away, evidently eaten by jackals. A couple of rods away lay the dead body of an infant. A little farther on was found a woman, still alive. She was the wife of the man and mother of the child. She, too, poor thing, died before she could reach the poorhouse, which stood within sight and call of the spot where these patient, helpless ones had fallen down to die."



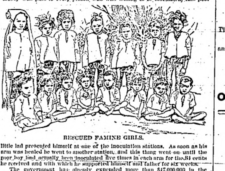
HUNGER KILLED WOMAN.

A starving man is devoid of judgment and of most of his natural feelings. In April we received a group of famine girls. Among them was one who, although much emaciated, began to improve from the day she came to us. After a week she rapidly grew worse. In spite of everything that could be done for her she soon died. We learned at last that, while she was so ill that we were giving her a few spoonfuls of nourishment at a time, raising her gently, because she seemed unable to make any effort to help herself, and even later, when she seemed unable to see or to speak, she had been dragging herself at intervals, when we were absent, out into the garden, a distance of 50 yards, in order to get some green mangoes to eat. For the poor famine child they were deadly poison. She knew it, but the awful gnawing in her stomach made prudence impossible.



HINDOO PEASANT WOMAN IN HAPPY TIMES.

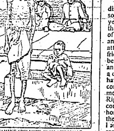
The only effective preventive to the spread of plague that has yet been discovered is inoculation with plague serum. Wherever an outbreak of the disease is imminent, inoculation stations are opened. Doctors are sent to them; serum, instruments and everything needed for efficient work are provided, but the Hindoos have not taken kindly to this remedy. All kinds of wild rumors have been spread and have been widely believed to the effect that inoculation is most harmful; that it has been devised by the European doctors to punish the Hindoos for supposed disloyalty and as a means for destroying caste. In view of this the government offers two days' wages to every man, woman or child who is inoculated. I know a little fellow 8 years old, whose mother died and whose father is a helpless invalid. Hearing that money was paid to every person who was willing to be inoculated, this poor little lad presented himself at one of the inoculation stations. As soon as his arm was healed he went to another station, and this thing went on until the poor boy had actually been inoculated five times in each arm for the $1 cents he received and with which he supported himself and father for six weeks.



RESCUED FAMINE GIRLS.

The government has already expended more than $17,000,000 in the free distribution of food to those who are unable to work and in employing the ablebodied at cash wages in the construction of reservoirs, irrigation ditches and other public works that will mitigate future droughts. In addition, there are generous and splendidly organized systems of private charity, the funds being supplied from every part of the civilized world and managed chiefly by American and European missionaries of long experience in India. It is the duty and privilege of every one to have some share in this sacred work of humanity. Gifts may be sent to Brown Bros. & Co., 59 Wall street, New York, treasurers of the committee of one hundred; William E. Dodge, chairman, and Dr. L. T. Chamberlain, executive director, by whom they will be cabled promptly to the responsible and representative Americo-Indian relief committee, under the chairmanship of United States Consul William H. Fee, at Bombay, with the veteran missionary, Robert A. Hume, as executive secretary.

The New York committee of one hundred on India famine relief co-operates with committees of the same name in Boston, New Haven, Baltimore, Washington, Indianapolis and other cities, each of which has charge of the work in its own section. The committee states that on receipt of a postal addressed "Committee of One Hundred, 77 Bible House, New York," supplies of illustrated literature are sent without charge and expressage free. The help of individuals, clubs, lodges, labor unions, employers, proprietors of hotels and summer resorts, churches, Sunday schools, young people's societies, King's Daughters, etc., is earnestly sought in distributing this free literature. Many who will lend a hand in this way can aid the cause as much as if they were able to draw a handsome check themselves.



FAMINE CHILDREN FROM GUZERAT.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,

John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done. Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

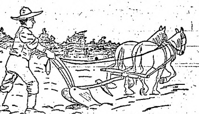
With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD

The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS

and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS

PRINTS THE NEWS

12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers; both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 31. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 9, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 23c to...... 45c	Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts...... 45c
You can buy a good business suit for...... $7.50	Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to...... $1.50
Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to.. $1.25	Pique front white shirts for men...... 48c
Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to.. $4.50	Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for...... $2.98
Pants for men from $1.00 to... $5.00	Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to...... 50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,
Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.

M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

FROM PHILIPPINES.

Samuel Bardelson Writes an Interesting Letter.

Ira O. Richardson last week received the following letter from Sam Bardelson, a former well known resident of this place, who is now winning glory fighting for the flag in the Philippine Islands:

"Your very welcome letter received sometime ago, how long I am unable to tell. I have lost all reckoning of time since the rainy season began. Each day is six weeks long, and a night is an eternity. Well, I presume we can afford to pay for the nice weather we have been having the last seven or eight months.

"The niggers! Oh, yes, they are getting gay as the weather gets worse. Our company enjoys a reputation, and we have had no attacks on our town, but we have hunted and found the black rascals twice within a week. The last time we had quite a time, our friends, the enemy, leaving sixty-two killed on the battle field. Our company was reinforced by Troop G, of the Fourth Cavalry, and Gen. Funston in person. Maj. James Wheeler, a son of the real and only Joseph, is in command of our town, and led us personally. We had one man killed and one slightly wounded, but two for sixty-two is not bad, and we charging up a hill.

"Gen. Funston has had much newspaper notoriety, but I think he deserved all he has had. He certainly is brave and cool, and our 'dear little' major comes as near the real thing as anyone I have ever laid eyes on. The black ones can not shoot, and their great number accounts for their great losses. I inspected a large number of bodies myself, and the majority were hit several times.

"I am home just one week today. I have been away with a detail of twelve soldiers working 250 niggers. Our governor hired them all over the island for work on the roads. This, however, has been suspended, and now the suckers are having a general uprising. I am inclined to think that it will not amount to much, however, because of the vigorous policy now pursued by our generals.

"What do I think of the island? For eight months of the year it is a paradise on earth, and its commercial value can not easily be over-estimated. The fighting notion should easily be taken out of the natives, but it will take a good many soldiers over here for a long time to come. Yet if we once gain an understanding with the better class of natives, we ought to have plain sailing. I have had a great chance to study the people of late, and find that they are not such a bad lot after all. I can talk some Spanish, but most of the natives talk so poorly that I have turned to learn their own lingo, or at least the one for this province. Tagalog is not so awful hard, and only for the disgusting ways of the people I could learn it in a short time."

Our Red Hot Sports.

Good shots up there at Thief River Falls—five of them were out in the town of Rocksbury last Sunday, and it took twenty-two shots to kill a medium size covey of half-grown chickens. The farmer informed us that they got the whole covey.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

Thief River Dried Up.

Before the rain of last Saturday, the Thief river was entirely dried up five mile from the mouth of the stream. The river is usually a good-sized one, and its source is the Thief lake, which covers an area of over ten square miles.

A VERY SAD CASE.

Driven to Insanity By Abuse of Her Husband.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: One of the saddest cases ever witnessed is that of Mrs. Julius Berg, who was brought to town Sunday by Messrs. Callahan and King, a raving maniac, bare-foot, and with scarcely sufficient clothes to cover her emaciated body. Her story is that of a life of misery. Married to Berg some seventeen years ago, she endured abuse and and persecution until tired nature could no longer endure the strain. The story is told how, some years ago, she was compelled to herd cattle for a livelihood, having as many as 500 head in charge at one time, while her worthless husband made the collections, squandering the money for drink, and gave her scarcely sufficient to subsist on. She left him at different times, but always went back to him. For the past two months the family have been living on the Phil Ryan farm, near Wylie, which they had purchased on crop payments. On the 23rd she came to the city to take action with a view to securing a divorce, and had the preliminary papers drawn up. When her husband heard of this he became enraged, and, it is said, chased her for several miles with a shot gun. She went to the Callahan home, where she soon developed into a raving maniac, and was brought to the city Sunday. All afternoon she raved, and her shrieks could be heard all about the city, as the window of her room at Hotel Wilmes was open. She kept this up all night and all the next day, until the Great Northern pulled out at 3:30, and did not take any nourishment during this time, so that before she left she was so weak as to be unable to walk. Judge Knight appointed Joseph Belair to escort her to Fergus Falls, and Mrs. Belair accompanied them.

NO FREE MEALS.

Lumbermen Adopt a New Set of Rules.

Hobos have become a nuisance about lumber camps. Hitherto lumbermen have been liberal with men coming into their camps ostensibly to obtain employment, and have often furnished them meals for considerable periods under the free meals system that has heretofore prevailed among loggers. This, and the free transportation system, under which many deadbeats have had free rides, is all to end. Loggers have shut down hard.

At a recent meeting of the Northwestern Loggers' Association, held in Duluth, it was resolved that all laborers should be hired by the month, the price of board to be included, and that board should be charged at the rate of $15 a month, or 50 cents a day, per man. It was also decided that 20 per cent should be deducted from the wages of each man who failed to work for the contract period. It was decided that the practice of paying or advancing railroad fares should be discontinued.

It was also agreed that the free meals system at camps should be discontinued, and that the price of meals should be 25 cents. Men will be expected to have hospital tickets or pay 75 cents a month to the employer, who will furnish hospital privileges in return. It was decided that only one check should be given in any one calendar month.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14	all wool suits, regular price	$ 8.00,	now $ 5.25
"	" " " "	10.00,	" 6.50
5 "	" " " "	9.00,	" 6.50
1 "	" " " "	12.50,	" 8.50
7 "	" " " "	16.00,	" 11.50
6 "	" " " "	12.00,	" 9.00
5 "	" " " "	14.00,	" 10.00
15 "	" " " "	13.50,	" 10.00
8 "	" " " "	10.50,	" 7.50
8 "	" " " "	10.00,	" 7.00
7 "	" Black Clay worsted	15.00,	" 10.50
1 "	" " " "	12.50,	" 8.00
6 "	" " " "	11.00,	" 8.00
5 "	" " " "	13.50,	" 10.00
2 "	" Fancy worsted	14.00	" 11.00

3 all wool Blue Sage suits, regular price $13.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,

Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

20,000 acres of wild and improved lands for sale in Red Lake and Marshall Cos.

Prairie Land, Speculator's Land, Timber Land.

Himle Land & Loan Co.,

(Purchasers of N. P. Ry. Co.'s Lands in Red Lake and Marshall counties.)

For information, maps, prices, etc., call on or address,

FRED G. WELLS, Local Mgr.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

$150,000 to Loan on Farm Lands.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars. Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m Lv.	Crookston	Ar. 6:30 p m
9:25 a m "	Shirley	" 6:00 p m
10:05 a m* "	Ives	"*5:30 p m
10:31 a m "	Wylie	"*4:55 p m
11:30 a m "	St Hilaire	Lv. 4:30 p m
12:10 a m Ar.	Thief River F	" 1:10 p m
1:50 p m Lv.	St Hilaire	" 4:30 p m
2:35 p m Ar.	Red Lake F	" 3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STEVENS FAVORITE
GIVE THE BOYS A Stevens Favorite Rifle.
Favorite (with Open Sights) $6.

P. O. Box 1723.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 9, 1900.

A number of the Scandinavians of this section, who voted for John Lind two years ago, will vote for Van Sant this year. They are dissatisfied with the appointments Mr. Lind has made, and believe he is becoming too closely affiliated with the Democrats. Two years ago they believed him to be an independent man.

Our enterprising little suburb down the line, Red Lake Falls, is to be congratulated. The post-office department has decided that they are entitled to a star route, and the people down there will receive their mail once each day in the future. A stage will leave Crookston at 8:30 each morning, going by way of Gentilly, and will arrive in Red Lake Falls at 1:30 p. m.

One Nebraska man's reasons for supporting Bryan are sufficient but unique, says the News-Tribune. He says: "No, I can't do it. It's simply a matter of business with me. I cannot vote to maintain the administration. I bought 2,000 sheep four years ago for $2.25 a head, and sold them out two weeks ago for $4 85 a head, and, in the meantime, I got all the wool. I bought Cleveland sheep and sold them as McKinley sheep. What I want now is some Bryan sheep to speculate on."

The following letter was received by Senator Nelson from E. V. Murphy, now, and for many years, the chief stenographic reporter of the senate proceedings. The letter speaks for itself, and is as high and as unprejudiced an endorsement as could be given Senator Nelson, as Mr. Murphy has literally grown up in the service of the senate:

Hon. Knute Nelson, U. S. Senator,
Alexandria, Minn.

My Dear Senator: I observe with great satisfaction, from the morning papers, that the Republican state convention of Minnesota has honored itself by indorsing you for re-election to the senate. This is an honor well deserved. In my long experience in the senate, I recall no man who has been more successful in securing legislation of great importance, not only for his state, but for the nation. Your record during your first term in the senate is phenomenal in this regard. You have so borne yourself in your high office that no words of commendation, however strong, would be extravagant. Your re-election will be a source of great gratification to all who know of you by reputation, or who have the honor of your personal acquaintance.

Very sincerely,
E. V. Murphy.

BRYAN'S ASSOCIATES.

The New York Evening Post turns the tables neatly upon one of its correspondents, who is unable to understand why it does not support Bryan, since his sincerity as a reformer is not questioned. The Post, conceding for the sake of the argument that Bryan is sincere, replies that it is unable to see what reform he could be expected to accomplish when his most trusted lieutenants are such men as Altgeld, "who would not lift a finger to suppress the frightful rioting at Chicago, but foamed at the mouth when President Cleveland put down the anarchy, which had come to threaten the peace of the whole country"; Croker, who "has made the Democratic party in New York a stench in the nostrils of the community"; and Clark, of Montana, who has given of his millions to help Bryan's cause. A man is known by the company he keeps, and the sincerity of a man who has chosen such intimate associates as the above may well be questioned. Bryan cannot rise above their level, and what their level is is sufficiently apparent. It is not in the line of honest money or pure politics.

ELECTION PROBABILITIES.

The relative strength of the Republican and Democratic presidential candidates is at the present time apparently greatly on the Republican side. Both in respect to electoral votes which are conceded to be surely Republican, and in respect to the votes of doubtful states, the Republicans have the advantage. The following interesting tables have been compiled to show the present outlook for the two presidential candidates:

States sure for McKinley—

California	9	N. Dakota	3
Connecticut	6	Ohio	23
Illinois	24	Oregon	4
Iowa	13	Pennsylvania	32
Maine	6	Rhode Island	4
Massachusets	15	S. Dakota	4
Michigan	14	Vermont	4
Minnesota	9	Washington	4
New Jersey	10	W. Virginia	6
N. Hampshire	4	Wisconsin	12

Total, 206 electoral votes.

States sure for Bryan—

Alabama	11	Montana	3
Arkansas	8	Nebraska	8
Colorado	4	N. Carolina	11
Florida	4	S. Carolina	9
Georgia	13	Tennessee	12
Louisiana	8	Texas	15
Mississippi	9	Virginia	12
Missouri	17

Total, 144 electoral votes.

The doubtful states are placed as follows:

Probable for McKinley—

Delaware	3	Kansas	10
Indiana	15	New York	36

Total, 64 electoral votes.

Probable for Bryan—

Idaho	3	Nevada	3
Kentucky	13	Utah	3
Maryland	8	Wyoming	3

Total, 33 electoral votes.

It will be seen from the tables that President McKinley has greatly the advantage of Mr. Bryan. By carrying New York state alone of the doubtful states, he would be elected, and by carrying Indiana and any other doubtful state, conceding New York and all the other doubtful states to the Democrats, he would still be elected. The probabilities are so strongly in favor of McKinley that it is to be noted that none of the Democrats are trying to figure out a victory at present—they will spring a general assortment of "ifs" after the election.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The ticket nominated by the Middle-of-the-road Populists at their convention held in Red Lake Falls last week has given such general dissatisfaction throughout the county that the nominees themselves have come to the conclusion that a nomination by the Populist party in this county is no longer equivalent to an election. Men were nominated without regards as to their ability.

* * *

It was natural to expect that the defeated candidates would suffer chagrin, but the questionable means used to defeat them makes the sting all the worse. It is freely charged that delegates were bought, sold and traded like a flock of sheep, and then the defeated candidates were insulted.

* * *

There were just 41 delegates entitled to seats in the convention, but the town of Wyandotte was not represented, and consequently there were but 40 delegates present. When the ballot for auditor was taken, 27 votes were cast for Adam Zeh, and John Finke received 18. It does not take much of a mathematician to figure that there was some crooked work done for one of the candidates, as there were 45 votes cast and only 40 delegates in the convention.

* * *

The refusal of the Pops to in any way recognize the Democrats was, of course, bad politics, and has resulted in a split in that party. The Democrats and fusion Populists now propose to put a ticket in the field, and their chances of success are just as good as that of the mid-roaders. The convention will be held Sept. 1st, and the following are candidates for nomination:

Auditor—B. E. Burkee, of St. Hilaire.

Treasurer — Jacob Thill, of Wylie.

Register of Deeds—Edonor Porusse, of Terrebonne.

Judge of Probate—S. T. Johnson, of Thief River Falls.

County Attorney—H. W. Lee, of Thief River Falls.

Representative—James Meehan, of Thief River Falls.

Commissioner, 4th district—Ole J. Tweet, of Tweet.

This ticket would be sure to poll a large vote, as all of the men are well known and prominent residents of the county.

* * *

S. A. Swanson, of Red Lake Falls, will be the Pop nominee for representative. He is among those of earth's downtrodden ones who are expecting great things after the election.

* * *

Frank Jeffers, the Populist nominee for superintendent of schools, and J. L. Johnson, the nominee for judge of probate, undoubtedly stand a good show of being elected, but it is because they are well known and popular throughout county, and not because the Populists nominated them.

* * *

The fourth commissioner district, which comprises the city of Thief River Falls and the towns of Nordon, North, Numedal and Sanders, and has a population of about one-third of the county, received no recognition at the hands of the Populist party. But they will need some votes up here to elect their ticket.

* * *

The Thief River Falls Press, which is for Bryan, Lind, Daly and Democracy, makes the following comment in regard to the Populist county convention:

"The Populist county convention held in Red Lake Falls was, undoubtedly, the most brazen piece of ring rule ever exhibited by any political machine in this county. Whether a party of the people or otherwise, the combination not only made itself obnoxious to all fair-minded voters, but put the first nail in its own coffin."

* * *

The large majority of the votes cast in the county this year will be for the man, regardless of what political party nominated him. With three candidates for every office in the field, there will be an opportunity to make an excellent choice—and you won't pick out many Pops either.

* * *

Our Populist friends should remember that in politics, as in business, fairness always wins in the long run. The cheap, trick politician may secure a temporary advantage, but it is temporary only. The great mass of events always average up, and the average is always one the side of square dealing.

* * *

We believe that there are enough able, competent men among the rank and file of the People's party to fill all county offices, therefore be it resolved that this convention recognize no candidates for nomination for county offices known to belong to other political parties.—Populist Platform.

And we believe that there are enough competent voters in this county to elect competent officials, regardless of the tag they wear.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

READ THIS!

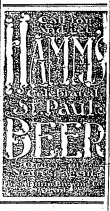
Minneapolis and Chicago prices--for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.



The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

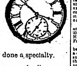
It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

United States Map. 15c.

A copy of our handsome map, 48x38 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches,
Clocks,
Jewelry
and
Guns.



Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as The North American Review. — Boston Journal.

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "The North American Review constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the North American Review."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N.Y.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil A. Kauper, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
H. E. Mussey, Thief River Falls Press.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News

ORDER TO EXAMINE ACCOUNTS, ETC.

State of Minnesota, county of Red Lake—ss. In Probate Court, special term, July 23rd, 1900.

In the matter of the estate of Jennie C. Lambert, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of J. P. Foote, administrator of the estate of Jennie C. Lambert deceased, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined and petition heard by this court on Monday, the 20th day of August, A. D. 1900, at ten o'clock A. M., at Probate Office in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Thief River Falls News, a weekly newspaper printed and published at Thief River Falls, in said county.

Dated at Red Lake Falls, this 23rd day of July, A. D. 1900.

By the Court:
[SEAL.] J. T. KNIGHT,
July 26-3 Judge of Probate.

Henry W. Lee,
Attorney at Law
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. Campbell,
Attorney at Law.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN

Ira C. Richardson,
Law and Collections
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Frank H. Kratka
Notary Public.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office n Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, hief River Falls, Minn.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY
Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.
Just talk to R. B. Vining at Thief River Falls.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.
Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year
J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn
F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33, Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

Arthur Crowe left Tuesday for Wisconsin.

John Havel was down to Wylie last Saturday.

Bert Young was up to the Red lake last week.

Dellos Douglas went up to the Red lake Monday.

G. F. Partridge, of Fergus Falls, was in the city Tuesday.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

M. E. Todd was down to Red Lake Falls the first of the week.

Chief Moose Dung, the Red Lake Agency man, is in the city.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

Wm. Lennon arrived in the city Monday from the Red lake country.

Geo. A. Ralph, the Crookston civil engineer, was in the city last week.

The heavy rains last week put out the fire in the bogs northeast of here.

A cook and several servant girls wanted at the Hotel Markham, St. Hilaire.

Miss May Buse, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city the first of the week.

Mrs. Mary A. Boe removed to this city from Crookston the first of the week.

Home Anti-Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Taken up—One sorrel mare and colt. C. F. Cary, section 34, town 155, rand 42.

J. L. Johnson and M. J. Nelson, of Red Lake Falls, were in the city last Friday.

Mrs. N. W. Tarrant was down to Crookston the first of the week to visit her husband.

For rent—Barn room and good house room, opposite the turn table. E. C. Purdy.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

The dance given by the band boys in the Odd Fellows' hall last Friday evening was well attended.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

The steamboats are now running on the river again. The rain of last week has swelled the stream considerable.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel; Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Meehan & Wall purchased of Gilbert Olson the first of the week the latter's farm. Mr. Olson will remove to this city.

The statement of the First State bank, published in another column, shows that institution to be in a prosperous condition.

E. M. Stone, who until recently was sawyer for the Thief River Falls Lumber company, leaves in a few days for the west.

Leo Kulklinska left Tuesday for Mt. Clements, Mich., where he will remain for a few weeks in the hopes of benefiting his health.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dobner left last Friday for Lake City, Minn., where they will spend a few weeks visiting Mr. Dobner's parents.

Mrs. C. A. Fuller, who had been visiting her parents at Winona during the past few months, arrived in the city last Saturday.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

Mayor Kretzschmar, C. A. Robbecke, Phil Zeh and Louis Hanson left for the Lake of the Woods country the first of the week for an outing.

John Pederson went up to the outlet with a crew of men the first of the week, and will bring down a drive for the Thief River Falls Lumber company.

G. A. Bahlau arrived in the city last week from Minneapolis, and has accepted a position as stenographer with the Thief River Falls Lumber company.

There is considerable talk of having some of the parties who set fires in the country northeast of here arrested, but as yet no action has been taken.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moylan returned to this city last Friday from Austin, Minn., where they had been to attend the funeral of Mrs. Moylan's mother, Mrs. Dee.

Rev. W. A. Loomis, of Warren, was in the city last Friday, and held services in the Methodist church. Owing to illness, Dr. Forbes, of Duluth, was unable to be here.

Mrs. Warren, mother of Erne M. Warren, of this city, arrived in the city last week from Little Falls, and will remain several days visiting. Mrs. Warren is accompanied by her daughter.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—Its value in sickness has been tried and proved. In the home it is not safe to be without it. Absolutely pure. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

The Democrats of Red Lake county have issued a call for a convention to be held in Red Lake Falls on the 25th of August. This is on the same date the Republicans will nominate their county ticket.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Money to loan at straight legal rates. No commission. Privilege given to pay any part of principal on any interest-paying date. Lands bought. Himle Real Estate Agency, F. G. Wells, Mgr., Thief River Falls, Minn.

Sheriff Charles Sampson, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city the first of the week. Mr. Sampson announced to a number of his friends, while here, that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for sheriff again this year, and asks all his friends to support him. Two years ago he was the only successful Republican in the county, and has given such universal satisfaction that he deserves to be re-nominated and re-elected.

A Fisher minister, whose congregation were too poor to purchase hymn books, and being offered the same by a patent medicine house, provided they be allowed to insert their advertisement, ordered three dozen for the congregation. He was elated upon receiving them to find no ad in the same. The next Sunday he distributed the books, telling his brethren of his good fortune, and requesting them to sing 119. His chagrin may be imagined when they sang the hymn: "Hark the heavenly angels sing, Johnson's pills are just the thing; The angelic voices meek and mild—Two for man and one for child."

DIED.

An infant child of Alex Guley, living in the western part of the city, died last week.

SHERIFF BEATEN

And Other Lawless Acts Committed.

The Great Syndicate Show was at Cass Lake last week, and a sheriff and deputy from Hubbard county had warrants for the arrest of crooks who were following the show, for alleged depredations at Park Rapids.

While trying to serve the warrants, one of the deputies was beaten, and papers and arms taken away from him. Later in the evening, citizens tried to have the train held, so as to get warrants for the arrest of the gang. While so doing, the railroad office was invaded by the gang, and Sheriff Alexander brutally beaten and left for dead.

They were followed to Grand Rapids, where one of them was captured, but that evening, while court was held, the court house was broken open and the prisoner released by force of arms.

One hundred militia men of Duluth arrested the circus crowd Monday at Cloquet. The train was stopped on a side track, and the circus people knew nothing of their presence until they woke up in the morning. The sheriffs of Cass and Hubbard counties, who were assaulted by the toughs, were there and picked out the men they wanted, twelve in all.

They were taken to Cass Lake. Most of them were armed, but made no display of their arms against the large force of soldiers. The notorious Doc Baker, of Texas, who is believed to be the leader of the gang, was not found so far as known here. They will have their trial at Cass Lake.

Minnesota Crop Bulletin.

There was no rain in the three southern tiers of counties, except near the Mississippi Aug. 1. The rest of the state was very dry till Aug. 4, when rains began, continuing at least parts of two days; many of the rains were heavy, with the following amounts reported: Alexandria, 6.21 inches; Detroit City, 2.08; Crookston, 2.05; Park Rapids, 1.87; Campbell, 1.81; Moorhead, 1.38; Duluth, 2.54; Granite Falls, 1.02. There were severe hail storms in parts of Marshall, Red Lake and Polk counties, which were very destructive to standing crops in comparatively small areas.

The week was very hot, with temperatures of 100 degrees in parts of the west and southwest Aug. 2. The hot, dry weather, accompanied by high south winds, was trying to corn, potatoes pastures and root crops in central portions before the rain fell. The harvest of wheat, barley and oats has progressed rapidly, and in the southern half of the state the cutting of all the grains, except flax, is nearly finished.

In parts of the Red River valley the wheat is hardly coming up to expectations of 10 days ago, though the heads are everywhere filled with grain of excellent quality, and south of the Minnesota river the threshing returns are so far very satisfactory.

The oats crop is generally poor, and many fields have been left for the ripening of the stools, which began growing early in July. Much of the early flax is very good; some of the late flax is good, and some is nearly worthless. Much of the barley is discolored. Stacking has been conducted with all possible speed during the dry weather, and some thrashing from the shock has been done. Forage crops are good.

The apple crop continues promising. The gathering of a fair crop of wild hay is going on. Flies are so troublesome to cattle that the milk yields are falling off.

BORN.

To Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wold, of the town of Rocksbury, Monday, a son.

A SEVERE STORM.

Hail and Wind do Harm to This Section.

A severe storm, accompanied by both wind and hail, swept over a section of Red Lake county south of Thief River Falls last Saturday forenoon, doing much damage in the town of Rocksbury. It was accompanied by a heavy wind, and many large trees and outbuildings were blown down. Among those who suffered a total loss were: A. O. Wiste, Halvor Skottem, John Hendrickson, Mike Johnson, Andrew Huseby, John Nomland, Chas. Wilson, Hans O. Rod, Mike Sweland, Ben Wold, R. Oen, Jorgen Erickson, Ole Renning and Ed. Aolula. Others suf*fering a partial loss were:* Peter Engelstad, Lars Leon, Chris Thompson, Fred Turnquist, Olaf Olson, S. Brandwold, Fred Soderberg, Knute Finstad, Henry Norland, John Johnson and W. A. Kratka. The section hailed out was one of the most fertile in Red Lake county, and the crops were all in excellent condition.

In this city no hail fell, but the rain fall was 2.02 inches, and considerable damage was done by wind and lightning. Swen Johnson's building, on Main street, was badly damaged by lightning, and the wind played havoc with the wind mill at the Great Northern depot, and the top of the Thief River Falls Lumber company's burner and many shade trees and outbuildings were blown over.

O. W. Brink's barn, just south of St. Hilaire, was blown down, and five horses were in it at the time. One was killed and the other four were injured by being badly cut by the falling boards and timbers.

The farm home of John Hendrickson, also near St. Hilaire, was entirely demolished, and Mrs. Hendrickson, who was in the house at the time, was blown almost a quarter of a mile, and is probably fatally injured. J. N. Peterson had his arm and collar bone broken.

A large number of buildings in the town of Rocksbury were blown down. Ole Renning's granary was removed several feet from its foundation, as was also Jorgen Erickson's.

Live Stock Burned.

Stephen, Minn., Aug. 7.—A terrific thunder storm passed over this place early Tuesday morning. The rain fell in torrents, and water is now standing on many fields, so that wheat harvesting will be delayed several days, and much loss will occur, as the wheat is now dead ripe.

The large barn of J. H. Merdinks, about two miles southeast of here, was struck by lightning during the storm and burned, with seven horses, four calves, 20 tons of hay and harness; loss, $2,800; insurance, $800.

Hurt in a Runaway.

J. G. Ballard, of the Thief River Falls Lumber company, met with a very painful accident last Thursday evening, sustaining a bruised face, sprained leg and many black and blue spots. He was being driven to Crookston from Euclid, where he had been transacting business. The team became frightened, the tongue of the buggy breaking, and started to run. The buggy was thrown into the air, the occupants spilled, and the catastrophe over in less time than it takes to tell it.

MARRIED.

John R. Dee, a brother of Mrs. John Moylan, of this city, was married to Miss Maria F. Foote, at Adams, Minn., Tuesday, July 24th.

Miss Elizabeth Hare and Wm. Dee, a brother of Mrs. John Moylan, of this city, were married in New York City July 5th.

MARKETS.

There was a further increase in the American visible supply of wheat last week, taking the total up to 45,869,000 bushels, against 36,182,000 a year ago, and 9,003,000 in 1898. No sign of decreas-stocks, in spite of recent tales of disaster, naturally tends to weaken the market. Cash business at the seaboard is also less helpful, foreign buyers having apparently decided to limit shipments for the present. Exports from all countries were somewhat lighter last week. Liverpool stocks increased about 50 per cent during July, but are still smaller than on August 1, 1899. Speculation was not active, and, outside of Chicago, there was much difficulty in securing quotations from that city, because of interruption to the ticker service. As Chicago is the leading grain market, and other cities base their quotations on news from that center, the irregular reports put a damper on local trade.

Efforts are still made by traders to support corn quotations in any possible way. One method of bolstering up the markets is persistent reference to the danger from frost. But the proportion of the crop in peril from cold is not very large, unless, of course, there should come a phenomenal fall in temperature. Freaks of the elements are always possible, but, in making estimates, a normal season should be anticipated. We have had drought and heat stories in abundance, which took this grain within a fraction of 50 cents at this city, and, although weather conditions have righted themselves and restored the average, prices are still about eight cents a bushel higher than at this date last year, says Dun's Review.

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF THE

First State Bank

AT THIEF RIVER FALLS,

At close of business on the 31st day of July, 1900.

Date of Call by Supt. July. 31, 1900.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts		$51,206 46
Overdrafts		842.01
Other bonds, stocks and securities		9,173 53
Banking house, furniture and fixtures		3,745.39
Checks and drafts in transit		2,672.67
Due from banks	9,700.96
Checks and cash items	659.73
Currency	5,275.00
Gold	2,580.00
Silver	1,259.50
Fractional	39.54
Total available assets		19,514.73
		87,547.66

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock		$10,000.00
Surplus fund		2,000.00
Undivided profits net		136.81
Deposits subject to check	30,771.77
Demand certificates	12,515.55
Total immediate liabilities	43,287.32
Time certificates	32,123.53
Total deposits		75,410.85
		87,547.66

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake, } ss.

I, H. G. Dobner, cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

H. G. DOBNER, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of August, 1900.

M. K. WALL,
Notary Public,
Red Lake County.

If you don't read The News, you don't get all the news.

Ads... In the News Always Bring Results.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

MAKING $100 A MINUTE.

The Large Sum Earned by the Prima Donna Mme. Nordica in New York Recently.

The largest sum for the briefest service recently received by the most liberally paid of all professionals, the prima donna, was given Mme. Nordica on the occasion of her appearance in a concert at the Metropolitan opera house, New York, several weeks ago, says the Saturday Evening Post. For two songs which required five minutes each to sing she received $1,000, or at the rate of $100 a minute. The songs were Grieg's Swan and a serenade by Richard Strauss. The occasion was the first American appearance of Herr von Schuch, conductor of the Royal opera, Dresden.

Mme. Nordica, among the soloists originally announced, was taken suddenly ill during a performance of "Tristan und Isolde" at the Metropolitan the Saturday previous to the concert. With her customary pluck she finished her performance, but was obliged to take to bed as soon as it was ended. There she was forced to remain until the next Thursday, when it was time to dress for the concert. She appeared at the Metropolitan on time, sang her two songs and was persistently recalled for an encore.

Her strength not being equal to a response she bowed her appreciation and finally took Mme. Patti's method of positive refusal by returning to the stage with her carriage cloak about her shoulders.

Once home she found no alternative but to return to the bed she had left to sing. But in the short time of her absence, in addition to keeping faith with the public and adding to the brilliance of the concert, she had received $1,000 for ten minutes' actual work. For her first concert engagement, Mme. Nordica, then a girl of 16, received ten dollars. Now in the zenith of her powers the largest sum received by Mme. Nordica for a single concert was $1,700. This latest achievement of $1,000 for ten minutes eclipses even that.

FIGHTS SCULPTOR'S LIONS.

Stone Beasts in Front of Art Institute Chewed Up by a Vicious Poodle.

"I notice that Automobile Montgomery says that horses often make a dive for the corn he paints," remarked one Art league student to another, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

"Well, there might be some truth in it," said the second. "I saw a little incident at the art institute the other day that made me think of Mr. Montgomery's proud boast. You know those big lions on the sides of the steps, the work of Kemeys, are pretty lifelike. I was standing looking at them when a little white poodle came down the steps in the wake of a woman with stylish clothes on. The poodle had a gold collar around his neck and was altogether one of the tiniest, dandified specimens of a dog that you could find. He walked up to one of the lions, settled back on his hind legs, and looked at the big stone beast. Then he sniffed and glanced around inquiringly. All at once he made up his mind. He made a fierce rush for the lion, barking as viciously and as loud as a dog six inches long could bark. He positively swelled up and appeared about to explode with wrath.

"There you are. If Kemeys' lions so excited a poodle dog it may be that horses will eat Montgomery's corn pictures."

PEACOCKS.

The Common Variety Cheap Enough, But White Peacocks Are Pretty Costly.

Peacocks of the familiar ordinary variety are raised by the breeders of fancy fowls of one sort or another, and they are not very costly nor is there much demand for them; a pair of such peacocks might cost from $12 to $20. They might be sold for collections, or for public parks, but not often for private parks or grounds, where the white peacock would be preferred.

White peacocks are rarer and more costly than those of the ordinary kind, ranging in price from $100 to $225 a pair. Some of these birds are raised in this country, but the greater number are imported from Europe. White peacocks are like ordinary peacocks in their general characteristics, but instead of having plumage of the familiar blue and green and black, their plumage is white. Sometimes the "eyes" in the white peacock's tail are of a creamy tint, giving to the tail, when spread, the effect of lace, from which such birds are called white-lace peacocks.

The demand for peacocks of any variety is small and no dealer in birds and animals keeps them in stock, supplying them only on order.

An Impenetrable Inner Circle.

The Japan Daily Mail said recently: "To eat with chopsticks and sit on mats and wear big-sleeved coats do not bring a man any nearer to genuinely intimate intercourse with the Japanese people. The language is also needed. Yet, even when the language is added something still remains to be achieved, and what that something is we have never been able to discover, though we have been considering the subject for 33 years. No foreigner has ever succeeded in being admitted to the inner circle of Japanese intercourse."

The Electric Locomotive.

The electric locomotive, while slow to make its appearance on the railroads of this country, is finding much use on the "industrial" railways of manufacturing establishments.

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON Vice-President.

First State Bank

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Transact a general Banking Business.

DIRECTORS:
A. O. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
G. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier

Burlington Route

ELECTRIC LIGHT IN EVERY BERTH

A special feature of the Burlington's Chicago Limited. When you retire, turn on the light. After you are comfortably ensconsed between the sheets, you can read by it. When you are sleepy, a twist of the wrist—and the light's out. Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul, 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Scenic Day Express leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday, arriving Chicago same evening. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

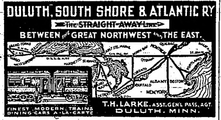
TIME AND SPACE are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 22½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Fina Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.



SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.

ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

CREATES SENSATION.

Girls Dine in Randall Hall with Harvard Freshmen.

Presence of Three Young Women in the Male Students' Dining Hall an Unheard-Of Innovation.

"Angels rush in where fools fear to tread." That is the story of the funniest incident and the one that has caused the most talk of anything that has happened at Harvard university at Cambridge, Mass., in many moons. While everybody was quietly eating his lunch at Randall hall, the second dining association of Harvard, the other noon, one man made famous by the recent contests between the members, D. D. Walton, a freshman, from West Orange, N. J., marched into the hall with three girls and lunched them there. Men came in after them, caught sight of the women inside those walls, and almost staggered. They pinched themselves to make sure that they were awake, and then they marched in on tiptoes. Those in the hall stopped eating, and you could hear a rustle of skirts in every corner, so quiet was the hall. Then there was a gentle ripple of surprised laughter, not meant to be rude, but coming close to it.

And now Walton is known as the most courageous man at Harvard. He did what no man has ever done in either Memorial or Randall halls before, and he did it without a flutter.

The three young women have done something to make them famous, too. There is no rule against it, for the directors would have thought of forbidding the men to eat the dishes or bring cows into the sacred hall as soon as forbidding a man to bring women. The thing never occurred before, so Walton is original as well as brave. At Memorial hall, which was founded years ago, before the board had forbidden women to go unchaperoned into rooms, there is such a rule.

SOLD BODY TO PHYSICIAN.

Wild Man of Borneo, Now Dead, Will Add to Medical Knowledge.

Thomas Kane died at his son's home in Brighton, N. Y., the other day at the age of 70 years. A physician of Rochester claimed the body, saying that he had paid Kane $100 for his remains two years ago. Kane's death was very sudden, and Coroner Sibley declared that an autopsy was necessary. This was performed, and a certificate of death from heart disease was granted.

Kane has been a very interesting study for physicians for a number of years. He suffered from acromegalia, a disease which causes an enlargement of different members. His hands and feet were of extraordinary size. An enterprising amusement manager got hold of Kane and made many dollars out of him. He exhibited him as the "Wild Man of Borneo" at Ontario Beach for two months last summer. He had him under a tent in a bed of straw and had heavy chains fastened to his ankles. At a signal the "wild man" would howl most dismally and clank the chains. He was also exhibited at Conesus lake as "Brutus the brute," and big crowds viewed his immense hands and feet.

SERVANT GIRLS FOR LONDON.

Agent Arrives Seeking Domestics from New York and Other American Cities.

New York and other American centers of population are to furnish servant girls for London and other foreign cities. Norman E. Lees, a representative of the National Domestic association, of London, arrived in New York city last Saturday on the St. Louis. He is commissioned to engage an unlimited number of house servants, who will be guaranteed good positions in the best families abroad, and whose passage will be paid by the association.

"Household help is almost unobtainable in London," said Mr. Lees. "Ladies' maids there receive as high as £70 a year.

"Nothing has occurred in generations to so draw upon the ranks of female servants as the Boer war. Many servants are married to soldiers. These women are cared for out of the Mansion house fund, and as they draw a shilling a day each for themselves and fourpence for each child they are better off than if they were working out."

CANS IN WHITE HOUSE.

Placed in Wet-Weather Around Hall for Reception of Umbrellas.

It is a curious custom they have over at the white house of setting umbrella cans around the halls and corridors. About half a dozen of these receptacles occupy the main corridor on a rainy day. They are huge cans with handles on, and are shaped just like garbage pails, their only distinguishing feature being a coat of green paint. After business hours "Uncle Jerry" comes along, dumps the water out of them, and carries away what pails will not be needed. "Uncle Jerry" is a tall, good looking old colored man. His name is John Freeland Smith, and he is about 72 years of age. He has been an employe of the white house many years.

A Warning.

The Chicago Record in a word of caution says Lake Michigan fish should be careful when they go down the drainage canal and into the Mississippi river not to use any of the water of that stream unless it has been boiled.

FUN AT A MOCK CONVENTION.

New England Debating Societies Held a Political Gathering at Boston.

After four hours of the liveliest kind of work and almost continuous laughing and shouting, the mock convention which the debating societies of New England held at Boston Faneuil hall failed to nominate a candidate for the presidency. Six names were presented to a house of 652 delegates, Bryan receiving 187 votes, McKinley, 183; Roosevelt, 120; Olney, 116; Long, 80, and Thomas B. Reed, 21. Dewey's name was not presented.

A republican platform was adopted, the republican party in the convention having far and away the greater strength, but splitting its vote sadly. An organized attempt to stampede the convention for Long was headed by the Washington state and New Hampshire delegations, but was not carried through.

There were 31 debating societies from colleges, high schools, Y. M. C. A.'s and other organizations represented. Each club's delegates represented a state, but in many of the states the vote was all broken up among the various candidates. The nominating and seconding speeches were all well done, and were marvels of comprehension of national issues. A number of fake telegrams were read from the leading politicians of the country, all expressing sentiments exactly contrary to the man's real belief, and some were so personal as to be almost insulting to the people credited as the writers.

CANNOT LOCATE GRAVE.

Trouble in Placing the Monument for President Lincoln's Mother.

Recent investigation as to the site of the grave of President Lincoln's mother in Spencer county, Ind., has raised a serious doubt as to whether the exact spot can be located when the time comes for the Indiana commission to erect a monument and improve the grounds, and there is much question as to whether the stone that now marks the grave is really over the grave of Mrs. Lincoln.

Some time after the burial of Mrs. Lincoln the bodies of Dr. Cessna and Mrs. Gentry, pioneers of the county, were buried near the grave of Mrs. Lincoln, but for many years no stone marked any of the graves. When the headstone was placed at one of the graves, supposed to be that of the president's mother, there were conflicting opinions regarding which grave contained the body that it was desired to mark, and the stone was placed in position without a certainty as to the fact.

Since then there has been much discussion of the matter, but no satisfactory conclusion has been reached. Descendants of Dr. Cessna and Mrs. Gentry now live in Spencer and Dubois counties, but none of them are able to say where the bodies were buried, except that the three graves were very close together.

APOLOGIZES TO NETHERSOLE.

Washington Pastor Disclaims Any Intention of Libel on Well-Known Actress.

Rev. Dr. Chalmers Easton, pastor of the Eastern Presbyterian church, Washington, made a statement to his congregation at the close of his sermon the other night with reference to the suit for slander instituted against him a few days ago by Miss Olga Nethersole, the actress. He said in part:

"When I quoted the words 'lewd actress,' in speaking of Miss Olga Nethersole in the role of Sapho, I had reference not to her personal character, of which I have no knowledge, but to the character of the role she is playing. I had not the slightest intention of denouncing Miss Nethersole's personal character, but that of the persons she impersonated, involving, as it does, a widespread and pernicious influence upon society. This explanation is given so as to be as public as the original discourse."

WORK ON WARSHIPS.

Satisfactory Progress Made in Construction of New Vessels for the Navy.

Favorable progress in the construction of naval vessels is shown in a statement just prepared by Admiral Hichborn, chief of the bureau of construction and repair. The battleships Kearsarge and Kentucky at Newport News, the protected cruiser Albany at Armstrong's, England, and the torpedo boat Goldsborough, building by Alff & Zewicker, are practically completed, less than one per cent. remaining to be done. Other vessels nearing completion are the battleship Alabama, at Philadelphia, 95 per cent.; battleship Wisconsin, at San Francisco, 91 per cent.; the torpedo boat destroyers Lawrence and MacDonough, at Fore River, Mass., 90 per cent.

HONORED BY THE KHEDIVE.

Ethelbert Watts Consul at Jamaica, Given Imperial Order of the Osmanieh of Third Class.

Ethelbert Watts, United States consul in Jamaica, has just received information from Cairo that the khedive of Egypt has conferred upon him the Imperial Order of the Osmanieh of the third class in recognition of services rendered while he was on the staff of the United States consul general in Egypt. Mr. Watts was recommended for the distinction by the Egyptian minister of foreign affairs, Boutros Pasha. The rules of the United States consular service prevent Mr. Watts from wearing the insignia of the order until his retirement.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

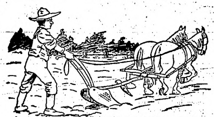
Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

LA BREE AVENUE, THIEF RIVER FALLS.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD
The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS
and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS
PRINTS THE NEWS
12 to 24 hours ahead
of any Northwestern paper.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 32. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 16, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

MINNE HISTOR SOCIE

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 23c to............45c

You can buy a good business suit for...........$7.50

Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to..$1.25

Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to..$4.50

Pants for men from $1.00 to...$5.00

Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts............45c

Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to.........$1.50

Pique front white shirts for men.....48c

Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for.........$2.98

Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to...........50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,
Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE, REAL ESTATE, FARM LOANS and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.

M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

PIONEER RESIDENT

Was David McCauley, a Son-in-Law of J. N. Whitman.

The following, taken from the columns of the Wahpeton Globe, refers to the death of David McCauley, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Whitman, of this place:

On Sunday evening, as the sun was sinking in the western sky, David McCauley entered into rest. The funeral services were held on the lawn near his home in McCauleyville, Tuesday afternoon, Rev. W. Edwards, Congregational minister of Ft. Abercrombie, by special request of the departed, read the ritual, and preached the sermon from Isaiah, 57th chapter, first clause of the 2nd verse: "He shall enter into peace."

Two hundred friends and neighbors, including many A. F. & A. M. and Order of Eastern Star, of Breckenridge, Minn., and representatives of Wahpeton lodge, I. O. O. F., were present. The members of the family in attendance were Mrs. J. N. Whitman, of Thief River Falls, Minn., mother of Mrs. McCauley; Judson Parker, Esq., of St. Paul, a brother-in-law of the departed; Mrs. Frederick H. Whitney and daughter, Edith, of St. Cloud, sister and neice of Mrs. McCauley, also Mrs. Emma Harris, a neice, and Mr. Herbert Cooper, a nephew of the deceased.

The floral tributes were very beautiful. The emblematic flowers of purity, love, truth, charity and immortality was the affectionate gift of the Eastern Star, of Breckenridge, and a wreath of roses and maiden hay fern from the citizens of Abercrombie. I. O. O. F. emblem and Crescent of marguerites, Mrs. F. H. Whitney; bouquet of flowers, Miss Edith Whitney; also flowers in great abundance the tribute of many friends.

The sermon embodied the belief of Mr. McCauley in his last hours, a belief in which he had lived for many years, viz: "Love is of God, for God is love," and the mind of man imbued with the love of God in this life shall surely enter into peace in the life beyond the grave.

The pall bearers were E. H. Merrick, Ed. Boutiette, E. S. Paige, Peter Hanson, Barney Welling and E. Connolly. The funeral was in charge of Hammer & Borman.

The flag at Ft. Abercrombie was at half mast, and, at ten o'clock Tuesday evening, the Congregational church bell tolled, as the funeral cortege moved from the residence to the Great Northern railway, on its way to St. Paul, where, at Oak Lawn cemetery, the remains were laid at rest. Rev. S. G. Smith, D. D., Congregational minister of the People's church of St. Paul, will officiate at the grave.

David McCauley was born July 27, 1826, at Merrimack, Hillsborough county, New Hampshire. His ancestors, for many generations, were natives of the Granite state. He was educated at Nashua, in his native state, where he won honors of a painstaking student. In 1861 he was appointed by Edwin M. Stanton, of the war department, post sutler and postmaster at Ft. Abercrombie. The village of McCauleyville, across the Red river, was named for him. He occupied the office of superintendent of schools in Wilkin county for fifteen years, and elevated, by his ability, the educational institutions of the county. He held other offices of public trust. In every walk of life genial and affectionate, in every public office an honest man, and in his domestic relations a loving husband and father.

October 5, 1879, he was married to Miss Carrie W. Whitman, of Boston, Mass., whose tender devotion has manifested until the lamp of life was extinguished. Mrs. Carrie W. McCauley and her daughter, Miss Ethel Noyes, have the sincere sympathies of hundreds of friends in Wilkin and Richland counties.

Made the Round Trip.

A French lady, living at Argyle, with very little knowledge of English, bought a round trip ticket to the World's fair. Her friends saw her started all right, and she proceeded on her journey, each conductor in turn tearing off his share of the ticket. On arriving at Chicago the lady, not knowing it was her destination, again presented her ticket, which, by that time, read "to Argyle," and she was packed on a train and traveled on, still expecting the pleasure in store for her when she should arrive at the great World's Fair. Thus she traveled for several days, until the poor woman had become bewildered. In due course of time she alighted from the cars at Argyle and entered the waiting room to find herself back at her starting point, but could hardly be made to believe she was at her own home and not still on her way to Chicago.

The Great Wall of China.

A writer in one of the exchanges says that the great wall of China is as enduring as the Egyptian pyramids. Twenty-one centuries have had scarcely any effect on it. Equipped with modern artillery and manned by soldiers drilled in modern manner, it would be as impregnable as on the day when it was finished. It has been calculated that the Chinese wall contains more brick and stones than would be needed to build a wall three feet thick and eight feet high around the earth at the equator. The wonderful fortification was constructed to protect the northern and northwestern frontiers against the barbarians of Mongolia and Manchuria. Several millions of men were employed for ten years in doing the work, which was completed about two hundred years before the Christian era. The wall is about 1,300 miles long.

Legal Terms.

"If I were to give you an orange," said a Kansas judge the other day, "I would simply say: 'I give you the orange,' but should the transaction be intrusted to a lawyer to put in writing, he would adopt this form: 'I hereby give grant and convey to you all my interest, right and title and advantage of and in said orange, together with its rind, skin, juice, pulp and pits, and all right and advantage therein, with full power to bite, suck or otherwise eat the same, or give away with or without the rind, skin, juice, pulp or pits anything herein before or in any other deeds, instruments of any nature or kind whatsoever to the contrary any wise notwithstanding.' "—Exchange.

Good Advice.

Reports from the country are that prairie chickens and grouse are very plentiful this year, and, as the opening season approaches, sportsmen and their dogs are naturally getting anxious to get away. Would it not be a good idea for all sportsmen to use a little good judgment in the matter of killing birds? We all know that an old hen is very poor eating and we don't like to give them away on account of their toughness. Why not spare them for breeding purposes? You can easily tell the old hen from the young ones. And they raise a better brood than the younger ones.—East Grand Forks Courier.

To Report on Timber.

Capt. Mercer, Indian agent at Leech Lake, has asked permission to go to Washington to present his report on the resumption of timber operations on the reservation, and to talk over agency matters with Commissioner Jones and Secretary Hitchcock. The request has been referred to the secretary for action. It will probably be granted.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14	all wool suits, regular price	$ 8.00, now	$ 5.25
"	" " " " "	10.00, "	6.50
5 "	" " " " "	9.00, "	5.50
1 "	" " " " "	12.50, "	8.50
7 "	" " " " "	16.00, "	11.50
6 "	" " " " "	12.00, "	9.00
5 "	" " " " "	14.00, "	10.00
15 "	" " " " "	13.50, "	10.00
8 "	" " " " "	10.50, "	7.50
8 "	" " " " "	10.00, "	7.00
7 "	" Black Clay worsted	15.00, "	10.50
1 "	" " " "	12.50, "	8.00
6 "	" " " "	11.00, "	8.00
5 "	" " " "	13.50, "	10.00
2 "	" Fancy worsted	14.00 "	11.00

3 all wool Blue Sage suits, regular price $13.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

20,000 acres of wild and improved lands for sale in Red Lake and Marshall Cos.

Prairie Land, Speculator's Land, Timber Land.

Himle Land & Loan Co.,

(Purchasers of N. P. Ry. Co.'s Lands in Red Lake and Marshall counties.)

For information, maps, prices, etc., call on or address,

FRED G. WELLS, Local Mgr.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

$150,000 to Loan on Farm Lands.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars. Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m Lv.	Crookston	Ar.	6:20 p m
9:25 a m "	Shirley	"	6:00 p m
10:05 a m* "	Ives	"*	5:30 p m
10:21 a m "	Wylie	"*	4:55 p m
11:30 a m "	St Hilaire	Lv.	4:30 p m
12:10 a m Ar.	Thief River F	"	1:10 p m
1:50 p m Lv.	St Hilaire	"	4:30 p m
2:35 p m Ar.	Red Lake F	"	3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STEVENS FAVORITE
GIVE THE BOYS A
Stevens Favorite Rifle.
J. STEVENS ARMS & TOOL CO.
Chicopee Falls, Mass.

P. O. Box 178.

THE NEWS,

BY JOHN W. EASTMAN.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 16, 1900.

Republican Legislative Convention.

A Republican legislative convention for the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, is hereby called to be held on Tuesday, September 11th, A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for representative from said representative district to the Minnesota state legislature, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Representation at this legislative convention will be in accordance with the following resolution unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Republican legislative committee for the said Sixty-first legislative district, held at the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., on Tuesday, August 7th, A. D. 1900:

Resolved, that each county in the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, shall be entitled to one delegate for each 100 votes, or major fraction thereof cast for William H. Eustis, the Republican candidate for governor in 1896.

In accordance with the above resolution, each of said counties is entitled to representation as follows:

Beltrami	4
Red Lake	4

All county conventions in said representative district for the election of delegates to attend this legislative convention shall be held on Saturday, September 8th, A. D. 1900.

All primary elections in connection therewith must be conducted as prescribed in the primary election law for Minnesota enacted in 1895, as amended in 1897.

By order of the Republican legislative committee for the Sixty-first legislative district of Minnesota.

Dated August 7, 1900.

N. M. WATSON,
Chairman.
IRA C. RICHARDSON,
Secretary.

Republican County Convention and Primaries.

A Republican county convention for the county of Red Lake, in the state of Minnesota, is hereby called to be held on Saturday, September 8th, A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for County Auditor, County Treasurer, County Superintendent of Schools, Register of Deeds, Sheriff, County Attorney, Judge of Probate, County Surveyor, Coroner, Commissioner of 2nd district and Commissioner of 4th district, of and for said county of Red Lake; and also for the purpose of electing four delegates to attend the legislative convention for the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, to be held on Tuesday, September eleventh, A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for representative from said representative district to the Minnesota legislature, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before such county convention.

Representation at this county convention will be in accordance with the following resolution unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Republican county committee for said Red Lake county, held at the village of St. Hilaire, Minn., on Tuesday, August 14th, 1900:

Resolved, that each and every election precinct in the county of Red Lake, Minn., shall be entitled to two delegates to the Republican county convention for said county, above called.

In accordance with the above resolution the representation to said county convention will be as follows:

Black River	2	Bray	2
Emardville	2	Equality	2
Garnes	2	Gervais	2
Lambert	2	Louisville	2
Lake Pleasant	2	Numedal	2
Norden	2	North	2
Polk Centre	2	Poplar River	2
Rocksbury	2	River Falls	2
Red Lake Falls	2	Sanders	2
St. Hilaire	2	Terrebonne	2
City of T. R. F.		City of R. L. F.
1st ward	2	1st ward	2
2nd ward	2	2nd ward	2
3rd ward	2	3rd ward	2
Wyandotte	2

All primary elections in connection therewith must be held on Thursday, September 6th, 1900, at 7 o'clock p. m., at such place as may be designated by local committee of each precinct and conducted as prescribed in the primary election law for Minnesota enacted in 1895, as amended in 1897.

The Republican committee of each precinct in the county is hereby requested to have the proper notice for primary duly posted.

By order of the Republican county committee for Red Lake county, Minn.

C. G. RAPP,
Chairman.
C. A. LINDQUIST,
Secretary.

GOV. LIND could easily find a few days' employment for one of his eighty-seven game wardens in this section of the state.

THE Red Lake Falls Gazette says that it looks as if the Republicans of this legislative district would again quarrel, and that "the Populist nominee, S. A. Swanson, would slide in." Have no fear, Bro. Kaufer, none but Republicans will "slide in" this year.

THE Alexandria Post News very truly says: "We are sorry for Governor Lind. He is a man of unimpeachable personal integrity, a man of ability, and we doubt not of the best intentions, but he has let Rosing and his coterie of hungry and unscrupulous place seekers dominate his administration, and the responsibility is his."

INTERVIEWED by a New York newspaper, Admiral Dewey is quoted as saying: "I regard the news from the Philippines as particularly encouraging. Aguinaldo's lieutenants are surrendering one after another. Whatever show of resistance to our authority there is at the present time in the Philippines will be kept up until after our election in November. The insurrection is kept alive by the leaders, who hold out to the soldiers the hope of Bryan's election."

SENATOR CLARK, of Montana, has given the national Democratic committee $100,000, and says there is more coming. It is further reported of Mr. Clark that he will spend $500,000 in Montana rather than have the electoral vote of that state given to McKinley. In other words, he will spend half a million dollars corrupting voters, for in no other way can such sums be used in a political campaign. All this in the interest of Democratic reform. The great cost of political campaigns now days is the source of a great deal of alarm and is a far more serious evil than that of "Imperialism" that the beneficiary of Mr. Clark's munificence is talking so loudly about. The success of boodle politics will do more towards imperialism than anything one can think of. Still Mr. Bryan unctiously closes his eye and eagerly accepts the proposition of Mr. Clark to buy electoral votes for him.—Elk River Star News.

FOUR YEARS AGO.

It is interesting to recall that, four years ago, about this time, the menace of Bryanism and debased currency had pushed the security markets down to the lowest points of the year; gold was going out of the country at the rate of $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 a week, although time money commanded a 6 per cent rate. Every dollar of the gold exported was drawn from the United States treasury, whose available gold balance almost touched bottom, or nearly scraped the minimum reserve against outstanding legal tenders. Even New York city bonds could not be placed, and the Chicago Stock Exchange had to close its doors to prevent a panic. Bryan and Altgeld, and all the other pupils of "Coin's Financial School," were boisterously proclaiming that all was lost, and red ruin would brood down upon American hearthstones, unless the rallying cry of the silverites—"16 to 1"—was actualized as soon as possible.

Bryan stimulated a large volume of emotional excitement from the psychological moment when he uttered his long-prepared speech in the Chicago convention, and he insisted that the business depression was only due to the need for cheap money and plenty of it, and to the maintenance of the gold standard. Borne to a nomination on a foaming wave of hysterical frenzy, Bryan had determined to push his silver fetish until the nation accepted it as the object of its worship. Four years ago there were faint hearts, who believed the Bryan revolution would win and trample under foot the public credit and the national honor.

Since the heyday of Bryanism in 1896, this nation has, under the gold standard, which Bryan said would of itself "ruin" the nation and pauperize it, in the past year done a foreign trade of $2,250,000,000, taken in revenues to the extent of $570,000,000 and recorded a surplus of $80,000,000. Since 1896 our exports have increased $500,000,000.

No ruin or disaster in such results under the gold standard.

Since 1896 labor has largely shared in the increased prosperity. Opportunities have been very greatly increased and wages have been advanced generally. The result is seen in the great increase in the savings banks last year of more than $2,250,000,000, and in the assets of building loan associations aggregating this year $459,160,014. Money is easy at the money centers of the country, and we are loaning money to Europe instead of borrowing. More than $315,000,000 of the older government bonds have been converted, under the act of last March, into the new 2 per cents, and the public credit is of the very highest character, because the government has kept faith and paid its obligations in gold. Government and municipal bonds bring maximum prices.

At every step in any investigation into the actual conditions, it will be found that the predictions of Bryan in 1896, made with the air of a seer, have, in every particular, failed of verification, beginning with his own prediction that he would be elected. Overwhelmed by the facts refuting his theories and prophecies, the "spellbinder" gathers up his remaining vocal strength to shout "Imperialism!" in the vain attempt to startle an intelligent people, who can clearly see through his impositions. — Minneapolis Journal.

VAN SANT WILL WIN.

Svenska Folkets Tidning, the leading Swedish-American paper, of Minneapolis, has the following size-up of the political situation, which, coming from such a source, has a peculiar significance at this time:

The contest between Governor John Lind and Captain S. R. Van Sant for the office the former now holds will be close, and will not be won by claiming the victory.

Nevertheless, we predict Capt. Van Sant's election.

Why?

In the first place, this is a Republican year. It is the presidential year—the year the stay-at-homes come out of their holes and vote. While it is not especially complimentary to the party, most of these laggard citizens are Republicans. Governor Clough was not a popular candidate, but in 1896—a full-vote year—he beat Mr. Lind by a small margin.

Captain Van Sant is immeasurably superior to Governor Clough as a candidate. He has no such enemies in his own party as Clough had. W. H. Eustis, running this year would win over Lind—for Eustis was really a stronger candidate than Clough. Van Sant is stronger than Eustis. If McKinley gets 40,000 plurality in Minnesota, Capt. Van Sant should have not less than 10,000.

It must be remembered that, while Capt. Van Sant will be far stronger than either Clough or Eustis, John Lind has lost some of his strength. A large part of John Lind's numerous personal following comes from the Swedish-Americans. We have many reasons for believing that the Swedish-Americans will not give Governor Lind the support they gave him two and four years ago.

"Then, two years ago many citizens held that a change would be a good thing."

They wanted to have a house-cleaning. They naturally suspected that after forty years of continuous rule by one party there would be something decayed buried around the state house. Well, we have had the house-cleaning, or an attempt at it, and it has been found that for forty the Republicans, though exposed to the temptations of a continued hold on the state government, had not stolen a cent, had not violated a law, and had not used the state government for selfish and private interests.

Alfred Somondson, of Felton, Minn., arrived in the city yesterday, and will remain here a few days viewing the sights.

FOUND BY ACCIDENT.

Strange Story of the Kate Chase Marble Statuette.

Heirs of the Woman Recover a Valuable and Exquisite Work of Art After It Had Been Thought Lost Forever.

By the merest accident the heirs of the late Kate Chase Sprague have just recovered a statuette of this brilliant woman who was formerly a social queen at the capital. Hiram Powers, whose famous statue of the "Greek Slave" is one of the features of the Corcoran art gallery in Washington, made the statuette in question at the time the subject was Kate Chase, and before she met Gov. Sprague, whom she afterward married. Secretary Chase paid the sculptor $10,000 for the piece of marble which was formed into a representation of the secretary's daughter, and it was for many years a conspicuous article in the drawing-rooms of the Chase residence, Washington.

The statuette was designed for exhibition at the Columbus (O.) state fair. At the suggestion of Mrs. Sprague it was taken to the store of a local merchant to be boxed and shipped to its destination, but no address was furnished, and for years the statuette remained in the upper story of the store on Pennsylvania avenue, accumulating storage charges.

Ill-luck followed the merchant, and he failed recently. An assignment was made, and in making an inventory of his effects the statuette of Kate Chase was included in the list of articles to be sent to the local auction-room for sale.

When the statuette was placed before the bidders it was represented to be "Dolly Madison," but a woman in the throng recognized and secured it on a bid of $2.50.

Learning the whereabouts of the Sprague children a few days ago, the purchaser sought them out and restored to them something which they had dearly prized, but mourned as lost to them forever.

SWALLOWS HIS WINDPIPE.

St. Louis Boy's Experience with a Silver Tube Inserted in His Throat.

Physicians at the city hospital, St. Louis, are taking deep interest in the case of nine-years-old Charles Adams, who swallowed his windpipe. The windpipe he swallowed was not the one with which he was originally provided by nature, but a substitute fashioned by the hand of man. It was made of silver and was inserted four months ago at the city hospital to save the boy's life, after a long siege of diphtheria. Charles left the hospital apparently cured. Occasionally he would take the swallowing apparatus out and clean it. In doing this it was necessary to remove a cap from the end of the tube.

Thursday the boy gave the tube the usual scouring, but in replacing the cap he fastened it insecurely, because the next time he reached for the windpipe only the cap came to the surface. Charles gave a gulp and the tube slid down into his internal economy. Members of the boy's household, at No. 1400 Pine street, became alarmed and sent him post haste to the hospital, where he is now a patient in the surgical ward. Dr. Amyx, with the assistance of Dr. Townsend, explored the boy and removed the missing tube. It was 4½ inches long. The boy's voice is now husky, but he is going to have another silver windpipe, and he says that the next time he removes it he will be more careful.

SUNSTROKE AND HEATSTROKE

A Distinct Difference Between the Two—Former Can Only Occur in the Tropics.

According to a French medical journal it has been ascertained by Dr. Moussoir that there is a distinct difference between prostrations from heat and pure sunstroke. True sunstroke can occur only in the tropics, since there alone are the rays of the sun powerful enough to produce the action on the cranium that constitutes sunstroke. Heatstroke, on the other hand, is produced by the action on the whole surface of the body, during a sufficiently prolonged period of a temperature exceeding 104 degrees Fahrenheit. It may result from continued overheating in a room, as in the case of stokers on board ship, who work in high temperature and with a meager air supply. The heat, if damp, prevents the body from perspiring freely, and if too dry parches the skin and thus stops the perspiration which is necessary to health. Negroes are far less susceptible to heat than whites because the black color of their skin operates as a shade or screen. Dr. Moussoir calls attention to the fact that the temperature inside a person's clothing is often much higher than the temperature in the open sun, the clothing seeming to confine the heat and to hinder the evaporation. One of the predisposing causes of heat apoplexy is lying down, the heat rays, both direct and reflected from the ground, having thus a much larger surface to act on.

SOWENS PORRIDGE.

What the Mixture Is on Which Mafeking Subsisted for Many Days.

With regard to the statement by the London Daily News' Mafeking correspondent in a recent issue, that sowens (or sowens porridge, as he calls it) had become the staple dish of the besieged town, it may be of interest, says a correspondent, to know how this old Scotch dish is made. After the oatmeal is extracted from the oat all the remaining part, husks, bran and fine oat flour, is soaked in water for several days, during which time it sours and lightly ferments. The whole is then sifted and strained, all the water poured off, and a fine white sediment left. This constitutes the sowens, and it is boiled with water or milk, and eaten with milk or sirup. In Mafeking, where there are no meal mills, I suppose the whole oat would be soaked.

It is a highly nutritious dish, of a slightly sourish taste, and is often recommended by doctors as a light article of diet in cases of indigestion, etc. In Scotland the night par excellence for sowens is Hogmanay, the last night of the old year, where it is the staple supper dish in most farm kitchens in the north. There used also to exist a sentiment in favor of splashing other people's windows with the liquid on that particular evening, which, however, is dying out.

AMERICA'S HAPPY HOMES.

Why the Late Chief Justice Chase Frequented Out-of-the-Way Streets in Washington.

"Why do you walk in these old out-of-the-way streets?" asked a friend of the late Chief Justice Chase, who was frequently the companion of the latter in his daily walks to the capitol.

"Because I like to see the way people live," was the answer. "It always gives me the greatest pleasure to see how much simple comfort and happiness are to be found in every direction. Look at this house, for instance," he continued, pointing to a tiny frame building within a small inclosure. "Yesterday the woman who lives there, a healthy, fresh looking creature, was planting flower seeds, and a little child was helping her—both were as busy and happy as possible. To know that there are thousands of such pretty, comfortable and happy homes all over the country is a pleasant thought."

"It is often the simplest speeches that remain the longest in our memories," continued the narrator, "and many a time have I recalled this little incident when I happened to notice the homely comfort of some humble house, and I feel proud to think there is more of that sort of prosperity in America than in any other country in the world."

Extravagance.

It is rumored that Uncle Russell Sage's new suit of clothes cost $7.98. It is nobody's business if it did. The Chicago Tribune declares positively that Mr. Sage could have afforded to pay eight dollars for a suit if he had felt like it.

Colorado Gold.

Since 1891 Colorado has produced over $75,000,000 in gold.

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

United States Map. 15c. A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We can't well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

Henry W. Lee,
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. Campbell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

Ira C. Richardson,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Frank H. Kratka
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY
Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.
JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.
Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividends Cash and Paid-up values for each year
J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn
F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

READ THIS!
Minneapolis and Chicago prices—for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.
C. KRETZSCHMAR.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?
—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.
JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

Necessary

For the Picnic Lunch • Twenty-Four Bottles of Satisfaction in Every Case
HAMM'S BEER
Supplied by Agents Everywhere, or THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn.

The Chicago Tribune
is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.
It is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.
It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.
Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.
For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.
THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.
Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.
It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.
While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.
Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.
It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

Cary, Traverse & Company.
Watches,
Clocks,
Jewelry
and
Guns.

Repairing done a specialty.
Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.
Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33, Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

A. L. Himle was up from Iowa last week looking after land sales.

James Mitchell came down from the Red lake the first of the week.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

E. A. Peterson and wife, of Crookston, were in the city last week.

J. J. Rue, the Red Lake Falls contractor, was in the city last week.

A cook and several servant girls wanted at the Hotel Markham, St. Hilaire.

Geo. Schlottfeldt, of Germantown, was in the city the first of the week.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Taken up—One sorrel mare and colt. C. F. Cary, section 34, town 155, rand 42.

John Moylan is going to build a residence in the grove near the bridge this fall.

Mrs. Nat Campbell, wife of Crookston's mayor, is in the city visiting friends.

For rent—Barn room and good house room, opposite the turn table. E. C. Purdy.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

Joe Halda and Miss Ethel Lang, both of this city, were married at Red Lake Falls last Saturday.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

John Clair, one of the well known settlers of the Red lake country, came down on the boat last week.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Lucius O'Brien arrived in the city last week from Crookston, and is putting new blackboards in the Knox school building.

Wm. Field, the new superintendent of the Knox school, arrived in the city last week. He is living in the McCrum house, on the East side.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

James Meehan, Jr., commenced the erection of the building to be used by the new drug store the first of the week. It will be 24x40 feet, two stories high.

Mayor Kretzschmar, C. A. Robbecke, Louis Hanson and Phil Zeh returned to this city Sunday from an extended trip over the country north of here. They have located a town site northeast of Germantown.

H. Lewin and daughter, Evelyn, returned to this city last Friday from Chicago, where Mr. Lewin had been to purchase his fall and winter supply of clothing. Louis Cohen, a brother of Mrs. Lewin, also came up from Chicago and will remain here.

August Peterson was in the city last week, and announces that, in company with his partner, J. P. Curtis, he will open up a drug store here in about thirty days. It will be located in a building to be erected by James Meehan, Jr., on the vacant lot between the News office and Bert Walker's barber shop, on La Bree avenue.

Dr. Francis was down to St. Hilaire last Saturday.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

F. G. Wells and H. Fant were down to Red Lake Falls Monday.

Wm. Nicholson, of Breckenridge, is in the city visiting friends.

Ed. Baker left last Friday for Tower, where he will work in the saw mill at that place.

Attorney Morrison, of St. Paul, was in the city last week. He is looking for a location.

John Moylan's family has removed to this city from the reservation, and are living in the H. E. Mussey house.

C. C. Jackson and O. P. Johnson have each purchased lots in Meehan's addition and will build upon the same this fall.

R. J. Burrow arrived in the city last week from Wisconsin, and has accepted a position as mill wright with the lumber company.

The apple crop is said to have broken all records this year. Apples ought to be selling cheap within the next few months.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

G. W. Warner arrived in the city last week from Portland, Oregon, and will have charge of the St. Anthony elevator this fall and winter.

H. E. Mussey, accompanied by his wife and children, left Monday for Michigan, where they will spend a month or more visiting friends and relatives.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

The Thief River Falls flyer took along a car load of emigrants' effects this morning for a party from Fargo who is moving onto the reservation.—Crookston Journal.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—Its value in sickness has been tried and proved. In the home it is not safe to be without it. Absolutely pure. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Money to loan at straight legal rates. No commission. Privilege given to pay any part of principal on any interest-paying date. Lands bought. Himle Real Estate Agency, F. G. Wells, Mgr., Thief River Falls, Minn.

Hotel Wilmes is no longer, the name having been changed to the Palace by the new proprietor, Gottlieb Gerlach, who assumed control Friday. The bar will be under the control of Latendresse Bros.—Red Lake Falls Courier.

A. J. Kienast, of Adrian, purchased a farm in Poplar River this spring for $640. He has just refused $1,200 for the same, and is now cutting a crop estimated to be worth $600. How is this for Red Lake county real estate?—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

D. B. Haitraft, a McCormick expert, was in the city last week. He states that has traveled quite extensively over the southern part of the state during the summer, and has had many inquiries regarding the soil, etc., in this locality. In his opinion, there will be many new settlers coming into this country this fall and next spring.

A farmer, says an exchange, has made a discovery that will be of vast importance to the farmers during a dry season. He has found that by planting onions and potatoes in the same field in alternate rows the onions become so strong that they bring tears to the eyes of the potatoes in such volume that the roots of the vine are kept moist, and a big crop is raised, in spite of the drouth. The same farmer has a scheme for raising custard pies by crossing the egg plant with the milk weed.

E. E. Zeh is building a residence in Porter's addition.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

Ira C. Richardson is building an addition to his residence.

C. F. Johnson, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city Tuesday.

J. W. Wheeler, the Crookston banker, was in the city yesterday.

Attorney Richardson was down to Crookston the first of the week.

James Meehan was up to Germantown on business the first of the week.

S. A. Swanson, Populist candidate for the legislature, was in the city the first of the week.

The Catholic Ladies' Aid society will meet with Mrs. Matt Barzen Thursday afternoon, Aug. 16.

W. P. Whitman left the first of the week for Angus, where he will run a threshing engine during the fall.

C. D. Merrit, of Port Huron, Mich., purchased seven lots of Wiley Tindolph the first of the week.

Miss Linda Robbecke left Tuesday for Minneapolis, where she will spend a month or more visiting friends.

Johnnie Kennedy had the misfortune to be thrown from a horse up at the Knox farm last week and suffered a broken arm.

Wiley Tindolph the first of the week sold to James Novak three lots on the East side. Mr. Novak is building a residence upon the same.

Organizer Gates states that he will institute a local lodge of Red Men in this city next Monday evening. The required number of members have been secured.

There will be a bubble party at Mrs. John Morin's Saturday, Aug. 18. The one having the largest bubble will be awarded a prize. All are invited to attend.

Cattle buyers and jobbers of Thief River Falls and vicinity have filed complaint with the state railroad commission against the Great Northern road, claiming negligence in the handling of cattle en route east.

The Crookston College will open its fall term September 10. Board and room furnished and taken care of in private family or hotel for $2.50 to $3 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

Ira C. Richardson has received a letter from Samuel Bardelson, now in the Philippine Islands, stating that he was hit in the knee by a Mauser bullet, fired by a Filipino, on the night of July 4th. Mr. Bardelson hopes to recover without being crippled.

Conway Macmillan, of the Minnesota State University, accompanied by C. J. Hibbard and S. A. Skinner, was in the city yesterday and went into the country northeast of here, where they will spend several days studying the plant life and vegetation of this section of Minnesota. Mr. Macmillan is the author of an extremely interesting little book entitled Minnesota Plant Life.

Quite a good deal of dissatisfaction is being expressed by the Indians and white residents at Red Lake agency on account of the order recently promulgated, demanding that all whites not having business connections at that place leave the reservation. White men stopping at the agency used to spend considerable money with the agency people for washing, meals, tobacco, etc.—Solway Press.

The board of education of Red Lake Falls, at its last meeting got into some kind of a family row over the engagement of a new superintendent for their school for this season, and, before the scrap was ended, two of the members of the board resigned and left the meeting. The remainder of the board then proceeded with its business and elected F. A. Whitney superintendent. The new principal is a graduate from the State University, and was heretofore employed at Excelsior.

Attorney A. A. Miller, of the law firm of Miller & Foote, Crookston, was in the city yesterday giving legal advice to the members of the Thief River Falls Lumber company.

The Crookston College catalogue for the coming year is just out. It is a very interesting pamphlet showing what progress a private school can have when it meets the demands of the people. This is the sixth annual catalogue. The school opened up in 1895 with but 3 students, and last year it had an enrollment of over 200. It has over 75 graduates, many of them receiving $60 to $75 per month. The catalogue can be had free by sending a postal card to J. C Sathre. It speaks for itself. It is illustrated with pictures of the faculty, buildings, etc.

"MARCH ON."

Mayor Kretzschmar Gives Orders to the Indians.

Mayor Kretzschmar the first of the week gave orders to the Indians living on this section of the reservation to keep out of town for the present. There are several cases of smallpox among the Turtle Mountain Indians, and it is reported that some of them have been visiting on this reservation. The mayor believes that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure and hence issued the order.

Will Be Disappointed.

All census returns from the Seventh Minnesota district have been sent in, and Supervisor Adams says:

"It is quite probable that by September 1 the census population of Minnesota may be given out. The Seventh district is going to show a good increase as a whole. The large cities like Crookston, Fergus Falls, Moorhead, Willmar and Alexandria are going to disappoint the people. Estimates on director counts and school population have been altogether too high. The smaller villages show the largest growth. They have grown tremendously in the last ten years. The heavier and more thickly settled townships show very little increase. Farmers have moved into the villages, leaving the farm to the children, while the other children have gone into new country to get land. The number of farms has greatly increased, not only the tilling of new land, but through the dividing up of large farms.

"This district has all been settled since 1860, forty years; all north of the Northern Pacific since 1870. It has had its period of most rapid growth, and it cannot continue the percentage of gain which it has hitherto made."

Eddy Campaigning.

Congressman Eddy has been spending three weeks in the northern part of the district. He drove for some time, but his horses caught the pink eye, which is very prevalent, and he had to leave his team. While up in Roseau county the heavy rains came on and the roads became impassable, and, in order to make his appointment at Warroad, he had to walk thirty miles. It was a trifle tough walking, but, as he was accustomed to it when he was a timber cruiser, he got through alive. Congressman Eddy is confident that McKinley will carry the Seventh district, thinks that Van Sant will give John Lind a run for his money, and hopes that he himself won't got entirely lost in the shuffle.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

WILL ORGANIZE

A Commercial Club in Thief River Falls.

The following is the heading of a paper circulated about town the first of the week:

In order to secure the opening to public settlement of that part of the Red Lake Indian reservation situated within the boundaries of Red Lake and Marshall counties, we, the undersigned, agree to become members of a commercial club, the object of which will be to further the success of this project.

We further agree to attend the first meeting of this association, which will be held in the city hall on Tuesday August 21, 1900, at 8 o'clock p. m., and to pay to Mr. H. G. Dobner, who will be the temporary treasurer, on or before the above named date, the sum of $2.00, membership fees.

Over fifty citizens have already signed, and it is hoped the number will be increased to 100 before next Tuesday evening, when the organization will be perfected. Everyone interested in the upbuilding of Thief River Falls should join the association.

THE WHEAT CROP.

The Estimates of the Minneapolis Journal.

The wheat crop of Minnesota this year, according to the Minneapolis Journal's report, which is usually conservative in its estimates, aggregates a total of about 80,000,000 bushels, or a decrease of 15,000,000 bushels over last year's yield. North Dakota, on the other hand, fares a great deal worse, and comes up with but 24,000,000 bushels this year, as compared with 70,000,000 last season. South Dakota's figures show within 6,000,000 bushels of the 1899 crop. The average yield per acre in Minnesota is 13½ bushels, South Dakota, 8¼, and North Dakota, the land of No. 1 hard, is humbled before the world with an average of but 5 bushels.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW. — Boston Journal.

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but
All Sides of All Questions
in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of
American Women
receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.
NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N. Y.

L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON, Vice-President.

FIRST STATE BANK

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:

A. O. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier.

Burlington Route

ELECTRIC LIGHT IN EVERY BERTH

A special feature of the Burlington's Chicago Limited. When you retire, turn on the light. After you are comfortably ensconsed between the sheets, you can read by it. When you are sleepy, a twist of the wrist—and the light's out. Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Scenic Day Express leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday, arriving Chicago same evening. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

TIME AND SPACE

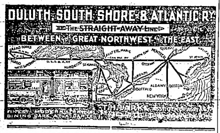
are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 22½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Fina Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.



SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.

ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

SHOW BIG INCREASE.

Exports to Asia and Oceanica for Year Exceed $100,000,000.

Trade of the United States to No Other Part of the World Shows So Rapid a Growth, Except That to Africa.

Exports to Asia and Oceanica in the fiscal year which ends with the month of June will for the first time in our history exceed $100,000,000. In no part of the world has our export trade grown with such amazing rapidity, with the single exception of Africa. In 1893 our total exports to all Asia and Oceanica amounted to only $27,421,831, so that in the fiscal year now about to end they will be about four times as great as those of eight years earlier.

Imports from that part of the world are also growing rapidly because of the large increase in the share of our sugar supply which now comes from the islands of the Pacific. More than one-half the sugar imported into the United States now comes from the East Indies and Hawaiian islands. Of the 2,601,806,658 pounds imported into the United States in the nine months ending with March, 1900, 1,553,415,297 pounds came from the East Indies and the Philippine and Hawaiian islands; the amount from the East Indies alone being 1,143,025,446 pounds; from the Hawaiian islands, 360,899,409 pounds; and from the Philippines, 49,490,542 pounds.

Growth in exports to Asia and Oceanica is chiefly in cotton, breadstuffs, provisions and manufactures. Exports of agricultural machinery to British Australasia in the nine months ending with March, 1900, were $609,223, against $340,550 in the corresponding months of 1898. Exports of flour to China in the nine months ending with March, 1900, were 43,061 barrels, against 14,610 barrels in the same months of 1898; to Japan 417,430 barrels, against 107,401 barrels in the months of 1898; and to Hong-Kong 1,000,248 barrels, against 647,658 barrels in the same months of 1898.

Carriages and cars to Australia amounted to $412,254, against $251,603 in the corresponding months of 1899; cotton cloth to China in the nine months ending with March, 1900, was 156,830,255 yards, against 77,090,676 yards in the corresponding months of 1899.

Raw cotton exported to Japan amounted in the nine months ending with March, 1900, to $11,517,068, as against $5,843,711 in the same months of 1898.

Builders' hardware exported to Asia and Oceanica in the nine months ending with March, 1900, amounted to $1,254,000, an increase of 50 per cent. over the same months of 1899, while boots and shoes in Asia and Oceanica in the nine months ending with March, 1900, reached nearly $1,000,000, as against $250,000 in the same months of 1898.

LOSES QUEEN EMMA'S BEQUEST

Honolulu Hospital Deprived of a Vast Property by Court's Decree.

By a decision of the supreme court at Honolulu the Queen's hospital, founded by Queen Emma, loses practically all its property, amounting to several hundred thousand dollars. When Dr. Rooke, Queen Emma's father, died he left the greater part of his large fortune to her on condition that if she died without issue the estate would revert to his nephew and godson, Capt. C. K. C. Rooke, of England.

Queen Emma had one son, the little prince of Hawaii, but he died in childhood, years before his mother died. His birth was assumed to fulfill the conditions of the will, and Queen Emma left most of her property to the Queen's hospital, which has done great good. Now suit has been brought by Dr. Rooke's nephew, and the court holds that it was clearly Dr. Rooke's intention that unless Queen Emma had living issue at her death, the property should go to his nephew.

His nephew lives in England, and has never visited Hawaii. The estate includes much valuable property in Honolulu.

WATER OF LAKE DISAPPEARS.

Earthquake Shock Makes a Fissure —Much Damage in Mexico.

Many buildings in the town of Autlan, situated in the southern part of the state of Jalisco, Mex., were demolished by the recent earthquake. When the first tremblings were felt the inhabitants fled to the mountains. Had they remained in the houses there would have been heavy loss of life. Much damage was also done in Tuscacuesco and Tonita.

The water of a large lake near the town of Zapotalan disappeared in a great fissure in the earth which seemed to be produced by a second shock that lasted about one minute. The bed of the former lake is now dry, and the fissure can be plainly seen. It is over three miles long and from one to three feet wide. The tidal wave which swept in from the ocean after the shock did little damage.

Wages Board.

A bill has been introduced into the house of commons by Sir Charles Dilke, Mr. John Burns, and others for the establishment of a wages board, to fix the rate of wages to be paid workers in particular trades.

Locomotion in St. Louis.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch says that to do the pedestrian feat one must have pedestrian feet.

REVIEW OF JAPAN'S NAVY.

The Large Fleet Fights a Sham Battle in Attack and Defense.

One of the great events of the present year in Japan has passed into history. The impressive review of the Japanese fleet by the emperor, while not so imposing as the great English display on the queen's jubilee, was in some regards of greater significance, besides being in itself a conspicuous success as a picturesque spectacle. The review was preceded by extensive maneuvers of the fleet in the island sea, that scene being substituted for the Corean straits in order to avoid and semblance of a design to wound Russian sensibilities.

As newspaper correspondents were strictly excluded, scarcely any particulars were obtained concerning the various movements of the fleet except that the general design was to represent an attack upon and defense of that vast body of water which, in the event of war, would furnish to the empire's fleet not only an impregnable haven of refuge, but also a point of attack, from which, on three different sides, it could issue to assail an enemy.

The maneuvers over, 50 of the warships, including the finest of the battleships and cruisers, assembled in Kobe bay, where, with the hills and shores black with spectators, the emperor reviewed the fleet, which the Japanese now regard with idolatrous pride.

The financial situation is growing more and more precarious and the empire is at present standing on very thin ice. The loaning Japanese banks are offering rates of interest for deposits, while, significantly enough, the foreign banks are at the same time cutting their rates down 33 per cent.

BUSINESS DEAD IN DAWSON.

Great Part of the Population of the Alaskan City Prepares to Go to Nome.

Private advices from Dawson City dated April 15 report a great lack of business activity. The Sunday closing act, together with unfavorable weather, have nearly killed business. The temperature was then 60 degrees above zero and the weather had been nearly as warm for three weeks, making it next to impossible to use trails to the mines. A heavy rain on April 10 left the country bare of snow and in consequence everything now has to be hauled on wagons, which are few in number. One last week sold for $1,000, but the ruling price is $600.

Within the last ten weeks 500 horses have reached Dawson, all drawing heavily-loaded sleighs of everything imaginable. Teams that sold for $800 a short while back can now be purchased there cheaper than in the states. Fresh eggs, which were three dollars a dozen, will not bring half of that price. Bicycles, which formerly sold at from $150 to $300 apiece, can hardly be given away, there being no trails to ride on.

There is an abundance of idle labor in Dawson, as the men have just stopped digging and have not begun to sluice. Two-thirds of the population will probably go down the river to Nome as soon as navigation opens. Steamers with a capacity of 2,000 passengers are tied up there and the transportation is already sold out. The clean-up in Dawson will be large this year.

ORDERS INDIAN PORTRAITS.

Iowa Library and Historical Board to Hang Oil Paintings of Black Hawk and Wapello.

The board which has charge of the Iowa state library and historical department has ordered Curator Aldrich to procure portraits in oil of Black Hawk and Wapello, and an order has been placed with Charles A. Cumming, a Des Moines artist, for the work, for which he will receive $500. This is the first time in history that the state of Iowa has directed that money be expended for portraits of Indians. The paintings will be life size and will be placed in the gallery of the historical department. The portraits will be made from old colored lithographs in McKenney and Hall's "History of the Indian Tribes," prepared in 1838.

Upward Tendency in Clubs.

Half a dozen clubs of New York are now quartered on the top floor of skyscraper buildings, and the advantages of such a location have proved many. These dining-rooms far above the roofs of adjoining buildings are among the most attractive in the city, particularly during the summer months.

The Pursuit of Riches.

John D. Rockefeller says the pursuit of riches is not a wrong thing. If it were, asks the Chicago Times-Herald, how many righteous men would there be left after counting across the fingers of one hand?

No Salvation Army in Mexico.

The Salvation Army for the second time has failed to get a foothold in Mexico. Mexican laws forbid all religious processions in the streets of cities.

A Zinc Nugget.

"Nuggets such as are taken from the Joplin mines are not calculated for use as watch charms or shirt studs," says the Kansas City Journal. "One taken from the Connecticut Zinc company's property a day or two ago, and which ranks as one of the handsomest specimens ever mined there, weighs an even ton. The overgrown 'sparkler' is principally of zinc ore, prettily trimmed in calcite, pink spar and cubes of galena."

HOTEL OGAHMAH,

C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.

* * *

NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.

* * *

BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,

John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done. Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First-Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST"

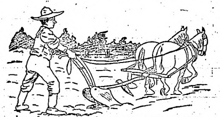
With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD

The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS

and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS

PRINTS THE NEWS

12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills, besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII - NO. 33. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 23, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

MINNESO HISTORI SOCIE

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 23c to	45c	Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts	45c
You can buy a good business suit for	$7.50	Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to	$1.50
Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to	$1.25	Pique front white shirts for men	48c
Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to	$4.50	Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for	$2.98
Pants for men from $1.00 to	$5.00	Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to	50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,
Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.

M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

PLANT HUNTERS

Driven off the Reservation by Some Indians.

The Minneapolis Tribune contained an account of a tragedy which occurred on the reservation east of here last Friday, and, as many of our readers are unacquainted with the facts, we here publish the Tribune's article:

There came near being another Indian outbreak upon the Red Lake reservation yesterday. The opportunity for a string fiend to get in his work was far better than that afforded the Solway labor pusher by the 'Cross lakers a few weeks ago, when the whole northwest was stirred to its depths by the scaration head lines placed over the stuff sent to the twin city papers.

The trouble occurred near Thief River Falls, and the parties in interest were the members of the bonatical survey corps, Professor Conway McMillan, Photographer Hibbard and A. S. Skinner. They had secured a team at Thief River Falls, and drove across Moose Dung's section onto the reserve. After proceeding a few miles gathering specimens, the party saw a copper-colored aborigine approaching waving his arms excitedly and shouting.

Recollections of old Bug-a-ma-gesbig and the Sugar Point battle surged through their minds, but they stood manfully behind Mr. Hibbard's camera and looked as pleasant as possible, although re-inforcements were seen coming up in the rear.

When the redskin reached their kopje, he proved to be an Indian policeman, with but a rudimentary development of English at his command. He remarked "cow-in, son-of-a-gun," and repeated the statement several times, motioning the party to the back track by way of emphasis. A young Indian boy came up at this juncture, and to him they appealed for a definition of the "cow-in" business. He spoke fair English, and informed Professor McMillan that the policeman said they must get off the earth in a minute. Whites would not let the smoke tanned teepee dwellers stay in Thief River Falls, and whites must keep off the verdure on the reserve. The professor pulled a copy of his book, "Plant Life in Minnesota," on the deer slayer, and attempted to work it in as authority for his presence, but it was a failure, and he utterly refused to become interested in the pretty pictures or the choice assortment of botanical names. Seeing re-inforcements approaching, the naturalists skipped, being escorted to the boundary line by a varied assortment of braves, squaws, pappooses and dogs.

Several well developed thrills worked their way up and down the spinal columns of his hearers as Professor McMillan related the story to a few acquaintances at the Crookston last evening. The animus of the affair lies in the fact that several Indians had recently been chased out of Thief River Falls by the authorities, owing to the fact that some of the Turtle Mountain Indians are visiting the Chippewas, and a report is in circulation that the North Dakota band has small pox.

MOOSE AND DEER

Killed by the Indians in Wholesale Quantities.

Settlers living up near the Red lake report that the Indians have killed hundreds of moose and deer up there during the summer. Most of the small streams and ponds have dried up and the deer and moose have been forced to go to the lakes and large streams for water, where they were killed by the Indians. In such great quantities have they been slaughtered, the Indians were unable to eat the meat, and many half-eaten carcasses can be found all over the reservation. John Lind's game wardens could find profitable employment up there.

BETTER WHEAT.

Tests for the Benefit of the Red River Valley.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Experiments are now being conducted by the department of agriculture with a view of increasing the wheat producing capacity of the United States from 50 to 100 per cent, and furnishing a better grade of wheat. The problem presented is difficult. It is desired to procure winter wheat that will be available for use in the Red river valley, wheat that will stand exposure and that will produce as good flour as the spring wheat now raised in this territory.

The best wheat in America is the spring wheat of the Red river valley, and the great millers of the lake cities prefer it to any other, but wheat sown in the spring yields only about half the amount per acre that wheat sown in winter yields, if the conditions are equally favorable.

Therefore it should be estimated that, should the department be successful in finding winter wheat for the Red river valley that will produce as good flour as spring wheat and will stand the exposure of severe winter weather, the problem will be solved.

Hungarian wheat is said to be the best in the world. As an evidence of this, it is pointed out that in the markets of the world Hungarian wheat sells for higher prices than American wheat. Experiments have been made in the United States with Hungarian wheat, and they seem to indicate that it will maintain its high breadmaking qualities here.

Another wheat which the department is trying to introduce in the United States is a wheat from which flour, suitable for making macaroni, can be produced. Some of the large wheat growers are also very much interested in this matter, as they see in the production of successful macaroni wheat much better prices than for ordinary wheat they can now produce. This is especially true of certain Texas growers.

Plow This Fall.

Prof. Lugger, of the state experiment station, has prepared posters to be hung up in public places all over the state, warning the farmers of the danger of grasshoppers, which, it is predicted, will over-run the state next year, unless their increase is guarded against by plowing the ground where the eggs are laid this summer. The poster is illustrated and contains instructions for destroying the eggs of the pests.

Bully for Wilfrid.

Wilfrid Lemieux, of this city, heretofore a prominent Populist, has announced his conversion to Republicanism. Mr. Lemieux attended a meeting of the Populist county central committee at St. Hilaire this spring, on a proxy, was a delegate to the county convention at Thief River Falls, to the state convention at Minneapolis, and an alternate to the national convention.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14 all wool suits,	regular price	$ 8.00, now	$ 5.25
[illegible] " " "	"	10.00, "	6.60
5 " " "	"	9.00, "	5.50
1 " " "	"	10.50, "	8.50
7 " " "	"	16.00, "	11.50
6 " " "	"	12.00, "	9.00
5 " " "	"	14.00, "	10.00
15 " " "	"	13.50, "	10.00
8 " " "	"	10.50, "	7.50
3 " " "	"	10.00, "	7.00
7 " " Black Clay worsted		15.00, "	10.50
1 " " " "		12.50, "	8.50
6 " " " "		11.00, "	8.00
5 " " " "		13.50, "	10.00
2 " Fancy worsted		14.00 "	11.00

3 all wool Blue Sage suits, regular price $13.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,

Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

20,000 acres of wild and improved lands for sale in Red Lake and Marshall Cos.

Prairie Land, Speculator's Land, Timber Land.

Himle Land & Loan Co.,

(Purchasers of N. P. Ry. Co.'s Lands in Red Lake and Marshall counties.)

For information, maps, prices, etc., call on or address,

FRED G. WELLS, Local Mgr.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

$150,000 to Loan on Farm Lands.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars. Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv. Crookston	Ar.	6:20 p m
9:35 a m	" Shirley	"	6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	" Ives	"	*5:30 p m
10:21 a m	" Wylie	"	*4:55 p m
11:30 a m	" St Hilaire	Lv.	4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar. Thief River F	"	1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv. St Hilaire	"	4:30 p m
2:25 p m	Ar. Red Lake F	"	3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address,

W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STEVENS FAVORITE
GIVE THE BOYS A
Stevens Favorite Rifle.

P. O. Box 1728.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 23, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

Sept. 11 is the date on which the Republicans will nominate their county ticket.

What a time they will have in this county when everyone of the different candidates tells all the meanness he knows about the others.

The annual report of the commissioner of pensions shows 16,349 pensioners in Minnesota, who last year were paid a total of $2,340,643 32.

With from three to four candidates for every elective county office this fall, it looks as if the national issuse would be ignored in Red Lake county.

It is understood that the French candidates for office will not do any campaigning in St. Hilaire, which is inhabited mainly by Scandinavians and Harry Ives.

The people of the United States are not going to vote for the sort of a Cabinet the Minneapolis Journal pictures that Bryan would surround himself with if elected.

Instead of contributing to the Populist campaign fund, Judge Knight stated to friends, while in the city last week, that he was saving his money to buy a gun.

Nothing has been heard from J. W. Swanstrom, late secretary of the Populist county committee, for so long that it looks as if he was about to leave the country to its fate.

John Soll blushes with indignation every time the Black River correspondent of the Crookston Times accuses a St. Hilaire sport with shooting chickens out of season.

W. A. Case, of Rocksbury, announces that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for county auditor. Mr. Case is a bright, active young man, and will undoubtedly make a successful campaign.

J. T. Knight, who failed to get the Populist nomination for judge of probate, will be an independent candidate, it is understood, providing he sees the people desire him to run. The way the Judge sees the people, however, is by looking in a mirror.

Four years ago, in his address at the court house in this city, John Lind told his hearers that unless 16 to 1 carried, the valuation of farm property would go down, DOWN, DOWN. Sixteen-to-oneism was defeated that year by a decisive vote, and it is up to our farmer friends to say whether or not Lind's prediction of the great fall in the values of farm lands came true.—St. Peter Journal.

The numerous friends of Gen. James Compton, of Fergus Falls, will be pleased to learn that he has been elected commandant of the Soldiers' Home at Minnehaha. The election occurred at the annual meeting of the trustees of the home on Tuesday afternoon, the vote being five for Gen. Compton and two for Col. McMillan, the present commandant. The new commandant will take charge of the home Sept. 1. Mr. Compton has been deputy state bank examiner for the past several years, and is well known, being an uncle of W. C. Smiley, of this city.

If the chairman succeeds in harmonizing the different elements of the Populist party in Red Lake county, he should have no trouble in getting a job to mix oil and water in case he is out of employment after the campaign. In a communication published in the News two years ago, S. A. Swanson, Populist candidate for representative, said of Adam Zeh, Populist candidate for re-election as county auditor, among other things:

"Permit me to say that I am a Populist and believe firmly in the principles of that party, and think that the greatest service I can do the party is to defeat a man [meaning Adam Zeh] whose election would bring the party to disrepute."

Has Mr. Swanson changed his opinion of two years ago?

Perhaps you remember how, in the last campaign, the whole cry of the oposition was that the Republican party was trying to turn the United States over to the control of England, and that the adoption of the gold standard meant that Great Britain would become our banker. The Republicans were successful, the gold standard was adopted and the government of the United States is still vested in the American people. More than this, instead of England becoming our banker, we have become hers, and our gold has purchased the major portion of the recently issued English bonds. And not only are we furnishing our British cousins with funds, but we are supplying something like 200,000,000 bushels of wheat for their bread. Just ask some howling Populist to explain all this and hear him stutter. —Princeton Union.

Editor Sunderlin, of the Delmar (Iowa) Journal, is a great admirer of W. J. Bryan and a strong free silver man, but he is not so blind he will not see. The last issue of his Journal has the following fair resume of the situation: "The Journal believes that, under the present prosperous condition of things at home and the critical condition of things abroad, it would be unwise to change the administration of this government at this time, and will so act. While a great admirer of the personality of Mr. Bryan, we do not see or believe that his election, or the triumphs of the principles of the parties on which he stands, is a necessity for the salvation of the country or for its immediate benefit. The present position taken by this nation regarding China should be maintained; a strict neutrality in the Boer-British war is desirable; the power of the Philippine insurgents must be crushed and order maintained there by the United States until the islands and the people can be justly dealt with and honorably disposed of, and there is nothing to fear from militarism. A change from the single gold standard to bimetallism cannot be made should Bryan triumph; both parties are luke warm on moral questions; neither party will do better than the other in regulating the power of trusts. The party in power now has the confidence of the business world, prices are good and plenty of money is in circulation. The country at home is fairly prosperous, our foreign trade rapidly increasing, and, to be honest about it, the Journal is not now sighing for a change."

Republican Legislative Convention.

A Republican legislative convention for the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, is hereby called to be held on Tuesday, September 11th., A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for representative from said representative district to the Minnesota state legislature, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Representation at this legislative convention will be in accordance with the following resolution unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Republican legislative committee for the said Sixty-first legislative district, held at the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., on Tuesday, August 7th, A. D. 1900:

Resolved, that each county in the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, shall be entitled to one delegate for each 100 votes, or major fraction thereof cast for William H. Eustis, the Republican candidate for governor in 1898.

In accordance with the above resolution, each of said counties is entitled to representation as follows:

Beltrami............4
Red Lake............1

All county conventions in said representative district for the election of delegates to attend this legislative convention shall be held on Saturday, September 8th, A. D. 1900.

All primary elections in connection therewith must be conducted as prescribed in the primary election law for Minnesota enacted in 1895, as amended in 1897.

By order of the Republican legislative committee for the Sixty-first legislative district of Minnesota.

Dated August 7, 1900.

N. M. WATSON,
Chairman.
IRA C. RICHARDSON,
Secretary.

Republican County Convention and Primaries.

A Republican county convention for the county of Red Lake, in the state of Minnesota, is hereby called to be held on Saturday, September 8th, A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for County Auditor, County Treasurer, County Superintendent of Schools, Register of Deeds, Sheriff, County Attorney, Judge of Probate, County Surveyor, Coroner, Commissioner of 2nd district and Commissioner of 4th district, of and for said county of Red Lake; and also for the purpose of electing four delegates to attend the legislative convention for the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, to be held on Tuesday, September eleventh, A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for representative from said representative district to the Minnesota legislature, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before such county convention.

Representation at this county convention will be in accordance with the following resolution unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Republican county committee for said Red Lake county, held at the village of St. Hilaire, Minn., on Tuesday, August 14th, 1900:

Resolved, that each and every election precinct in the county of Red Lake, Minn., shall be entitled to two delegates to the Republican county convention for said county, above called.

In accordance with the above resolution the representation to said county convention will be as follows:

Black River	2	Bray	2
Emardville	2	Equality	2
Garnes	2	Gervais	2
Lambert	2	Louisville	2
Lake Pleasant	2	Numedal	2
Norden	2	North	2
Polk Center	2	Poplar River	2
Rocksbury	2	River Falls	2
Red Lake Falls	2	Sanders	2
St. Hilaire	2	Terrebonne	2
City of T. R. F.		City of R. L. F.
1st ward	2	1st ward	2
2nd ward	2	2nd ward	2
3rd ward	2	3rd ward	2
Wyandotte	2

All primary elections in connection therewith must be held on Thursday, September 6th, 1900, at 7 o'clock p. m., at such place as may be designated by local committee of each precinct and conducted as prescribed in the primary election law for Minnesota enacted in 1895, as amended in 1897.

The Republican committee of each precinct in the county is hereby requested to have the proper notice for primary duly posted.

By order of the Republican county committee for Red Lake county, Minn.

C. G. Rapp,
Chairman.
C. A. Lindquist,
Secretary.

John Novotny, of the town of Tabor, was in the city last week.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mrs. O. La Freniere Wednesday noon, when her daughter, Miss Eugenia, was united for life to Henry Conklin, of Fertile. Rev. Fr. Fayolle performed the ceremonies in the presence of a few friends. The happy couple took the N. P. train for Fertile, where the groom holds a responsible position in one of the mills. They will be at home after Aug. 19th. The bride has been a resident of the city for the past nine years, and has made many friends, whose good wishes follow her to her new home.—Red Lake Falls Courier.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

Take Home

Twenty-Four Bottles of Satisfaction
Otherwise Known as a Case of
HAMM'S BEER
Supplied by Agents Everywhere, or THEO. HAMM BREWING CO.,
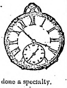
St. Paul, Minn.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches,
Clocks,
Jewelry
and
Guns.



Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

READ THIS!
Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.
C. KRETZSCHMAR.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as The North American Review. — Boston Journal.

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "The North American Review constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the North American Review."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N. Y.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

United States Map.
15c.
A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3101, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice,
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye, ear, nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m.

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY
Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.
Just talk to R. B. Vining at Thief River Falls.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.
Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year
J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn
F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33, Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

Wm. Bruse, of St. Hilaire, was in the city Sunday.

Chas. Huges, of St. Hilaire, was in the city Monday.

M. E. Todd was down to Red Lake Falls Monday.

W. P. Stone, of Crookston, was in the city last week.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

The Cleveland hotel has been re-painted and repaired.

Bert Forder came down from Rollis the first of the week.

M. K. Wall left Monday for Cass Lake on a business trip.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

O. L. Melgaard, the Argyle banker, was in the city Monday.

New wheat is being marketed in the city. It is of a good quality.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

A. G. Hanson and family have removed to their farm near Tweet.

Attorney H. W. Lee went to St. Paul last Saturday on legal business.

A cook and several servant girls wanted at the Hotel Markham, St. Hilaire.

A base ball dance will be given in the Odd Fellows' hall tomorrow evening.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Taken up—One sorrel mare and colt. C. F. Cary, section 34, town 155, rand 42.

Miss Cora Olson, of Grafton, N. D., arrived in the city last week to visit her parents.

Alex Sweans is building a real estate office on the lot opposite Langseth's store.

Miss Ella Wallin entertained the ladies of the Methodist church yesterday afternoon.

For rent—Barn room and good house room, opposite the turn table. E. C. Purdy.

Anyone wishing to purchase heavy horses should call and see F. H. Kratka at once.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Boughton, of Red Lake Falls, were in the city Sunday visiting friends.

Deputy Revenue Collector Hans Johnson, of Crookston, was in the city the first of the week.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

Dave Benzie was over to Warren Monday and caught a game of ball for the ball club over there.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

County Supt. of Schools Frank Jeffers was in the city last Friday greeting his many friends here.

R. J. Rasmussen, the agent for the Hamm Brewing company, was in the city the first of the week.

J. W. Judah, who has been up at Rollis during the summer, arrived in town the first of the week.

Gilbert Olson has been arrested for assault by Fred Olson. A Red Lake Falls justice issued the warrant.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

Peter Hall, of St. Hilaire, who was taken to a Crookston hospital last week, died Monday of typhoid fever.

O. J. Rollis, the hustling merchant of Rollis, was in the city the first of the week after a load of supplies.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Ole Halverson arrived in the city last week from Geneva, Wis., and has taken charge of the Scandinavian house.

James Meehan, Jr., went to Crookston yesterday to meet the Democratic national committeeman, Hon. T. D. O'Brien.

An infant child of John Johnson, of the East side, died yesterday morning. The funeral services will be held this afternoon.

A large number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tilton very pleasantly surprised them at their home last Saturday evening.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

Miss Georgie Ellingwood, a young lady well known in this city, is reported to be dangerously ill with typhoid fever at Cass Lake.

F. B. Newton, H. V. Smith and W. F. Smith, all connected with the Red Lake Falls Lumber company, were in the city last Saturday.

Mrs. O. F. Woods, accompanied by her son, arrived in the city last week from Seattle, and is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Olson.

H. B. Fuller left last Thursday for Morris, after spending a week in Thief River Falls, where he will take a mail run from that city to Brainerd.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dobner, who had been visiting friends in the southern part of the state during the past month, returned to this city yesterday.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

Mrs. N. W. Tarrant was down to Crookston the first of the week to visit her husband. Nick is fast improving and will be able to return to this city in a few days.

J. P. Curtis, who, in company with August Peterson will open up a drug store in this city, arrived here last week and is making arrangements to open up the store.

Nels K. Anderson, of the town of Sanders, was in the city last week. Mr. Anderson is a candidate for the Republican nomination for county commissioner for this district.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—Its value in sickness has been tried and proved. In the home it is not safe to be without it. Absolutely pure. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

W. A. McIntyre, a graduate of the State University, who has been in the Red river valley for some time seeking a location for the practice of law, has decided to enter the lists at Red Lake Falls.

E. P. Jaques, the well known hunter of this section, contributed an article to the New York Field and Stream of last month, telling of a hunting trip he experienced up in the Thief and Mud lake country.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Money to loan at straight legal rates. No commission. Privilege given to pay any part of principal on any interest-paying date. Lands bought. Hinle Real Estate Agency, F. G. Wells, Mgr., Thief River Falls, Minn.

Mayor Dudley, of Bemidji, has ordered the saloons in that formerly "wide open" town closed sharply at 11 o'clock each night and kept closed on Sundays, and he is seeing that his order is obeyed to the letter, even going so far as to discharge the entire old police force and appoint a new set of officers.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

Rev. Collaway, a Methodist minister of Missouri, who owns a farm south of here in the town of Rocksbury, arrived here last week to superintend the harvesting. He has sold the crop and rented the farm to Bert Young.

The Crookston College will open its fall term September 10. Board and room furnished and taken care of in private family or hotel for $2.50 to $3 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

State Auditor Dunn has withdrawn the state's one-third of the wolf bounty, being $5 for males and $15 for females. He says there are people in the state who operate wolf farms on account of the bonus, and find it a paying industry.

Sheriff Charles Sampson and Joe Blair, of Red Lake Falls, were in the city the first of the week and attached several thousand feet of logs belonging to the St. Hilaire Lumber company in the river near here. Unless redeemed by the company, they will be sold to satisfy a labor claim, over which there is some dispute.

A curious feature is to be noticed in many of the wheat fields this year. This is a second growth of wheat springing from the crown of the old plant after the original crop has been cut. On many fields this new growth is 6 to 8 inches high. In many cases there is a new growth from seed which failed to germinate in the spring, but which has been started by the later rains.

Lumber firms in the northern part of the state are receiving notices from the commission to see that fishways are provided in their mill dams. Fifteen days is given by the notices in which to comply with the rule, and those who are negligent have been warned that the commission has authority to dynamite any dam found unprovided with ways, when notice has been given.

Mrs. John Olson, of Thief River Falls, drove down from that place Sunday evening. Shortly after her arrival here, the mare which she had drived became violently ill, showing symptoms of poisoning, which was probably occasioned by watering the animal in a slough on the way down. The mare died during the night, and Mrs. Olson borrowed a horse to make the return trip.—Red Lake Falls Courier.

If you know an item, kindly tell us about it. Every week we tell what we know. Every week we know that you know things that we don't know. And we know that you know that we don't know it, and still you don't tell us. Now if you tell us what you know, then we will tell you what we know and also what you know, and our readers will know what they know and what you know and also what we know and what we know that you know that we know you know.—Ex.

The new building which is being erected by James Meehan, Jr., is going up very rapidly, and will be completed about Sept. 5th. Peterson & Curtis will open up about Sept. 15th with a new stock of drugs, notions, paints and a fine assortment of wall paper of the latest and neatest paterns. Remember the location, opposite the Hotel Ogahmah, by the News office. All languages spoken. Prices right. Satisfaction guaranteed or money cheerfully refunded. Come and see us.

The proposed extension of the Brainerd & Northern into the pine country east of the Red lake, is exciting the settlers in that section as well as the people of Bemidji. No actual construction has yet been commenced, and every man who owns a claim about Gull and Black Duck lakes is dead certain that he is on the line of location. The road will open up an immense amount of country filled with pine and hardwood timber and will develope a vast farming region.

ENDED ALL.

Mrs. Andrew Clements Committed Suicide Monday.

Despondency, caused by illness of several years' duration, resulted in Mrs. Andrew Clements, wife of the well known market gardener, to commit suicide the first of the week. The woman had been confined to her bed most of the time since last spring, and her mind undoubtedly became deranged. At about 3 o'clock Monday morning, she arose from her bed and, taking a bottle of carbolic acid from a shelf, drank the contents. The discovery was made by her husband about a half an hour later, when she was found in an unconscious condition, in which manner she remained until death released her Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Coroner Blair, who was in the city at the time of the death, held an inquest over the body on the same afternoon.

The deceased was an estimable lady and a sincere Christian. She was 53 years of age, and a pioneer resident of this section of the state, coming here with her husband fourteen years ago and settling upon a claim west of the city. She leaves, besides her husband, two children, one boy aged 11 and a girl of 14.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the Methodist church.

BOUND OVER.

The Circus Men Who Were Arrested at Cass Lake.

Out at Cass Lake last Friday, the decision in the cases of the eight circus rioters, who are alleged to have terrorized numerous Minnesota towns, was announced by Justice Berlau. J. W. Beatty and M. S. McGraw are held under $800 bail, and H. E. Billings, James Hayes, F. Heinman and Chas. Higgins under $500 bail. In default of bail, the prisoners are remanded to the St. Louis county jail, Cass county not having a suitable institution. Wm. Christian and N. Hall were released on account of the lack of evidence in their particular case. Christian was promptly re-arrested by Constable Smith of Fosston, on a charge of robbery. Attorney P. C. Hatch, of Kansas City, will not give up the fight on behalf of the prisoners.

Richards Is Arrested.

Word has been received from Cass Lake that Deputy Sheriff Alexander, of Hubbard county, has Manager Richards, of the Syndicate circus, under arrest at Blair, Neb. Immediate steps will be taken to obtain requisition papers for his return. The officer is also on the track of Doc Baker, and his arrest is liable to occur at any time.

Articles of incorporation of the Manitoba & Lake Superior Railway company were filed last week with the register of deeds for St. Louis county, and the fact suddenly brings into prominence the proposition of a direct line of railroad between Duluth and Winnipeg. There is an impression in railroad circles that the newly incorporated road is the Duluth line of the Winnipeg & Southern, one of the McKenzie & Mann propositions, and which has just been completed between Winnipeg and the international boundary in the direction of Duluth, terminating immediately west of the Lake of the Woods, near Warroad.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

A PIONEER

Was W. G. Porter, Who Died Yesterday Morning.

William G. Porter, pioneer resident of Thief River Falls, died at his home yesterday morning at 7 o'clock of a complication of diseases, of which he had been a sufferer for years. He was about town all day Tuesday, and the sudden announcement of his death was a great shock to his many friends.

The deceased was 39 years of age, and was born in the state of Ohio. When a boy, he removed with his parents to Douglas county, Minn., and resided there until he grew to maturity. In 1883 he took a claim, which was later platted into Porter's addition to Thief River Falls, and comprises a greater portion of the Second ward. In the fall of 1893 he was married to Miss Lottie Nelson, a daughter of Hans Nelson, and two children—both girls—blessed the union.

Mr. Porter posed a very retentive memory, and was acquainted with most every resident of Thief River Falls and the surrounding country. He had a will of iron, and when once his opinion was formed, it was never changed. The entire city mourns his death.

The deceased leaves four brothers and one sister—Frank, Edward and Miss Gena Porter, of Alexandria, Minn.; Ed. Porter, of Great Falls, Mont., and Chris Porter, of this city. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon.

THE PALE FACES

Organized a Local Lodge of Red Men.

A lodge of the Improved Order of Red Men was organized in the city Monday evening by Organizer A. B. Gates, of Crookston, and Grand Sachem E. Myers, of Austin. The lodge starts out with a membership of thirty-seven, and a number of others have signified a willingness to become members later on. Frank Jeffers, S. A. Swanson, Ed. Bray and Wilfrid Lemieux, of Red Lake Falls, were here to help institute the lodge. The officers elected were:

Prophet—John Morgan.
Sachem—W. C. Smiley.
Senior Sagemore—R. E. Sothoran.
Junior Sagemore—J. F. Farr.
Chief of Records—W. J. Kelly.
Keeper of Wampum—Henry Grundy.
Collector of Wampum—J. B. Cyr.
Trustees—C. C. Schuster, C. E. Traverse and James Meehan, Jr.

The appointive officers are as follows:

First Sannep—John Sargent.
Second Sannep—G. E. Smith.
Guard of Wigwam—Richard Kivel.
Guard of Forest—Geo. Jarman.
Warriors—Chris Porter, Anton Pederson, Paul Holzknecht and Andrew Smith.
Braves—John Pacha, Phil Zeh, Albert Piche and Chris Paulson.

Those from St. Hilaire who were present and became members of the lodge were: Peter Paradis, Emil Brink, Martin Bjorke, John Phillips, Jonas Hogquist and O. T. Bloomberg.

Made Him Money.

A Clay county farmer has a bin containing about 800 bushels of wheat. About a month ago he proposed to market the grain, but, on going to the bin, he discovered that a hen had established her nest on the wheat, was setting there, and that to remove the grain would break her up. He decided not to disturb her, but wait until she came off with the chicks. In the meantime, the price of wheat advanced until the farmer discovered that he had gained over $100 by allowing the hen to set it out. It sometimes pays to humor even the whims of a hen.—Spooner News.

WORLD'S SUPPLY OF IRON.

Prediction That Ferruginous Ores Are Likely to Become Increasingly Scarce.

A good deal of anxiety has been felt during the last two years as to the available supplies of iron ores and fuel. The total world's consumption of iron ores in 1899 was probably more than 90,000,000 tons. Of this quantity I take it that the United States contributed more than 22,000,000. But in all countries alike very exceptional efforts were made to increase the output so as to overtake the greatly stimulated demand. These efforts are still being continued. Spain has been ransacked from one end to the other in order to increase the available supplies. France is opening up new sources of supply in Greece, North Africa and elsewhere. The Germans have sought to acquire almost a monopoly of the supply of Swedish Lapland—within the arctic circle—for a number of years to come, and have concluded arrangements which point to their belief that iron ores are likely to become increasingly scarce, writes J. S. Jeans, in Engineering Magazine.

This is a very general apprehension, and if, as I believe, it is justified by the facts, it seems to be probable that this condition may mainly determine future supremacy. Mme. De Stael once observed that "Providence fights on the side of the biggest battalions." In the war of commerce and industry it is conceivable that Providence may in the future seem to interpose on behalf of the nation that has the largest available supply of cheap iron ores.

HAVE AN ANTIPATHY TO SOAP

Geysers in the Yellowstone Park Violently Rebel When Required to Make Suds.

Some few years ago an unfortunate discovery for a time menaced the tranquillity and almost the existence of some of the geysers in Yellowstone park. The story goes that an adventurous Chinaman once essayed to use the bowl of one of the geysers for the purpose of washing clothes, the temperature of the water appealing to his oriental mind. Everything went well until he began to use soap, when suddenly a violent eruption seized the apparently innocently geyser, hurling clothes and all into the air. The experiment was tried on other geysers with similar results, and for a time it was considered a great blessing, as, when large tourist parties arrived, it was a great convenience to bring on a special display by "soaping the geyser," as it was called; while before the advent of the Chinaman and his soap, some of the most beautiful geysers often remained stubbornly inactive for days and often weeks and months.

After a time, however, it was discovered that this soaping was slowly but surely harming the geyser action, "tiring them out," in fact, and thereupon the government put a stop to the use of soap in the park in connection with the geysers.

WOMEN IN GERMANY.

They Have Many Various Opportunities of Advancement in the Various Professions.

The regulations of the German government as to woman's place in the learned professions are exceedingly liberal. For some time past they have not been technically barred from the right of being doctors, dentists, etc., but the chances of training were so limited that only very few women could avail themselves of the privileges thus afforded.

The establishment of "gymnasia" for girls in many of the larger German cities, notably Berlin, Leipsic, Hanover, Konigsberg, Stuttgart and others, has given to girls the preparation which they required in order to enter upon the university training which is needed to qualify for any learned profession. The universities admit women, if not as full students, at least to the lectures. The position of dentist requires two years' university training only, as against five years for medicine, which easily explains the preponderance of fully qualified dentists over doctors.

In the whole of Germany there are, it is said, only nine female doctors, six of whom practice in Berlin, one in Frankfort, one in Leipsic and one in Munich.

WAS TOO LAZY TO BREATHE.

Man Who Ought to Be on Some Government Commission to Investigate Something.

The laziest man in North America discovered himself the other evening in the swell bachelor apartments, not far from Lafayette square, where he lives, says the Washington Post. He was lying on a couch in the lounging-room, smoking a cigar, when the cigar went out. That is to say, the fire at the end of the cigar departed. The man raised himself on one arm with great effort and snapped the messenger call that was installed over the couch. Then he reclined and waited. After about ten minutes there was a knock at the door and a messenger boy entered.

"D'jou ring, sir?" asked the boy.

"Yes, son," said the laziest man in the western hemisphere. "Just gimme a match off that table there, will you?"

The boy handed the man on the couch a match, and waited. The man relighted his cigar and smoked on.

"D'jou want me to go somewhere, sir?" asked the boy, fidgeting.

"No, that's all," said the man. "Take that half-dollar off the table."

Then the boy went out grinning.

That man ought to be on some government "commission" to investigate something somewhere.

C. L. Dobner, President. H. G. Dobner, Cashier. L. Ellington, Vice-President.

FIRST STATE BANK

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:

A. G. Gallach, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. Ellington, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. Hendrickson, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. Dobner, President.
H. G. Dobner, Cashier

Burlington Route

ELECTRIC LIGHT IN EVERY BERTH

A special feature of the Burlington's Chicago Limited. When you retire, turn on the light. After you are comfortably ensconsed between the sheets, you can read by it. When you are sleepy, a twist of the wrist—and the light's out. Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul, 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Scenic Day Express leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday, arriving Chicago same evening. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS,
Gen'l Pass. Agent,
Chicago, Ill.

GEO. P. LYMAN,
Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent,
St. Paul Minn.

TIME AND SPACE

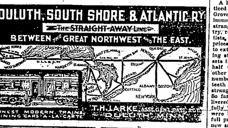
are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 22½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Fina Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.



SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.

ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

BEAUTY WINS SUIT.

Use of Young Woman's Picture for an Advertisement Forbidden.

Judge in His Ruling Declares Beauty Is a Property Right Over Which Its Possessor Has Absolute Control.

Justice Davy, of the supreme court at Rochester, N. Y., has overruled the demurrer to the complaint of Miss Abigail Robertson, the 18-year-old girl who brought suit against the Franklin Mills company, of Lockport, and the Rochester Folding Box company for $15,000 damages.

Miss Robertson, who is a very beautiful girl, found that, unknown to herself, her portrait was being used by the defendant companies as an advertisement for flour. Her chief ground in bringing suit was that her right of privacy had been invaded, a point never before passed upon in the courts of this country. In the course of his decision Judge Davy said:

"It does not appear from the complaint in this action that the plaintiff is within the category of what might be denominated a public character. She is undoubtedly a young woman of rare beauty, and this she enjoys as a private citizen. It is very natural, if the plaintiff is of a modest and retiring nature, that any such publicity would be extremely disagreeable and offensive to her. It is not impossible, therefore, that she has suffered and continues to suffer great mental injury and distress.

"In other words, there is a plausible ground for the existence of the distress and injury alleged in her complaint. If her lithographic likeness, owing to its beauty, is of great value as a trade-mark or an advertising medium, it is a property right which belongs to her and cannot be taken from her without her consent. She has a right to say that without her consent these lithographic copies of her likeness shall not be circulated or used by the defendants."

TUNNELS IN NEW YORK.

Private Enterprise Anxious to Secure Franchise for Construction of Route Under East River.

Something of a surprise was sprung at the meeting of the state railroad commission in New York city when the full scope and plans for two projected tunnels under the East river were fully explained. The tunnels are to cost $30,000,000 and are to be completed in five years, and the money is to be put up by English capitalists. The companies making application are the New York and Brooklyn Union Transportation company, and the New York, Brooklyn & Jersey City Rapid Transit company.

A. B. Boardman, counsel for the rapid transit commission, argued that no private enterprise should be allowed to forestall the rapid transit commission, which is acting for the municipality. William Van Steenberg, for the petitioners, said it would be unfair to place obstacles in the path of private enterprise, more especially as the rapid transit commissioners were not prepared to state whether their projected road would be laid out in one, five or ten years.

HOME INVADED BY RATS.

House Left Vacant Two Years Is Found Very Much Inhabited by the New Occupants.

The family of George Vetelin the other day moved from Sodus into their new home, a mile from Geneva, N. Y. The house into which they moved had been unoccupied for two years. About midnight the family were awakened by terrified screams from their little daughter's room. The child, Margaret, is seven years old, and when her father and mother arrived at her bedstead she was holding the bed clothes over her head.

The parents were conscious in the dark of strange black objects hurling themselves against the walls, and when a light was made they found that the room was full of bats of enormous size. They killed 27 of them, and later found a nest containing 19 young ones, not yet able to fly, hidden away in a closet opening into the room. The child is in a state of nervous collapse as a result of her terrible fright.

HAD THEIR TEETH PULLED.

New Swindling Game Which Has Left Victims in Indiana Without Teeth.

A heartless swindle has been practiced on confiding residents of Linn Grove, Adams county, Ind., and its immediate vicinity. A few weeks ago strangers traveled through the country, representing themselves as dentists, and naming marvelously low prices for false teeth. They proposed to extract the molars of persons needing store teeth and furnish the new sets immediately, the patrons paying half the price in advance and the other half on delivery of the teeth. A number of orders were taken, the teeth of a dozen were drawn, and the strangers disappeared with the cash. So far there have been no teeth delivered, and the victims, who are painfully "gumming it," now think they were buncoed, and will have to pay full price to other dentists for their new sets or go without.

Is a Heavy-Weight, However.

A tribe in central Africa uses money which is so big and heavy that a man can't carry around more than about 45 cents' worth of it at a time. The fellow with the most cash on hand, says the Chicago Times-Herald, probably cuts a small figure over there.

TO BE READY CHRISTMAS.

The Washington Equestrian Statue of Gen. John A. Logan Being Made in Rome.

Before the snow flies an equestrian statue of Gen. John A. Logan will be erected in Washington city. It will be placed in Iowa Circle, located about a half mile in a direct line south of the residence of Mrs. Logan, and the statue, when in position, can be seen from the portico of her home. The pedestal, which is a handsome bronze affair of rare artistic merit and beauty, is already in position, Mr. Franklin Simmons, the sculptor, coming from Rome for the purpose of superintending its setting.

On the pedestal are bronze figures representing four periods of Gen. Logan's life, one of which shows him taking the oath of office as United States senator, and another portrays him on the battlefield consulting his staff about the plans of a battle about to be fought. Secretary Root has appointed Vice Consul Wood at Rome an agent of the government to inspect the statue. If Mr. Wood, who is a man of artistic taste, pronounces the work satisfactory it will be accepted by the government.

He performed a similar service in connection with the pedestal, the beaty of which has attracted considerable attention. Mrs. Logan visited Rome for the purpose of examining the statue, and she is said to be satisfied with it. Unless there is an unexpected delay the statue will reach here about December 1, and it will be placed on its pedestal and unveiled about Christmas. The ceremonies will be on an elaborate scale, and the president and other dignitaries will be present.

EQUIPPED BY AMERICANS.

Electric Underground Railway Put in Operation in London Under Contracts Let to Foreigners.

An electric underground railway has been put in operation in London, nearly all the equipment of which was furnished by this country. Consul Halstead, at Birmingham, sends the following from the London Times:

"A large part of the plant is of American manufacture. English makers, indeed, are not entirely unrepresented—they have supplied, for instance, an overhead crane, some feed pumps, and some small engines for driving fans—but they cut a sorry figure beside those from the other side of the Atlantic, who have made carriages, the locomotives, cables, the main generators, the exciters, and the main engines. It cannot be said that contracts for these things were not worth the notice of home manufacturers, since the total cost of the line has been something like $2,919,000 a mile, and a substantial proportion must have been expended on equipment.

"Some other reason must, therefore, be sought to explain why they have secured so little of the work. It might be said that their experience of electric traction work was too limited to enable them to carry out the contracts satisfacorily, if they had obtained them. A more comforting explanation, however, is to be found in the fact that when the contracts were being arranged the British mechanic was indulging in a strike, and, therefore, his masters were unable to offer the necessary guaranty that they would deliver the machinery at the required dates."

A BATHER'S PREDICAMENT.

Remains in Water Too Long and Has to Walk Home in His Bathing Suit.

Frank McKee, the theatrical manager, was not in a cheerful frame of mind the other evening, as, clad in a bathing suit, he walked half a mile from the beach at Sea Gate to his home. He was inveighing against bathing masters and especially against one of the calling, Henry Weinzer. He also mentioned in his sotto voce, John Burns, assistant to Weinzer.

Certain persons who met him asked him if he had lost a bet. Instead of replying he made remarks about the management of bathing houses at Sea Gate which were construed to be severely critical.

Mr. McKee as soon as he dressed went back to the bathing house in search of his valuables, which he said he had deposited with the bathing master. He could get no trace of either Weinzer or Burns. Mr. McKee remained in the water longer than he intended, and when he returned the bathing houses were closed.

He tried to break into the office in order to get the key to his individual bathhouse. He was unable to do so, and was compelled to go to his home without any other adornment than his bathing suit. He was worried about his watch and jewelry, worth $900, and $422 which he had given Weinzer for safekeeping.

Lord Randolph Churchill.

When Winston Churchill gets home from Africa he intends to make it his first business to go over his father's papers and write his life. He will be able to show, among other things, that some cruel stories about Lord Randolph Churchill's last, sad days were entirely without foundation. Lord Randolph broke down under general paralysis, and the explanation of his malady is perfectly simple. It originated from the mental shock he suffered when his resignation was accepted.

Missouri's Big School Fund.

Missouri has the largest permanent school fund of any of the states.

Paris City Debt.

The debt of the city of Paris is nearly $400,000,000.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,

C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.

* * *

NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.

* * *

BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,

John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done. Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

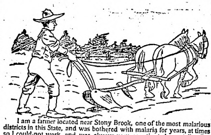
Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

La Bree Avenue. Thief River Falls.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD
The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS
and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS
PRINTS THE NEWS
12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 34. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 30, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 23c to............45c

Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts............45c

You can buy a good business suit for............$7.50

Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to............$1.50

Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to..$1.25

Pique front white shirts for men.....48c

Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to..$4.50

Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for............$2.98

Pants for men from $1.00 to...$5.00

Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to............50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,
Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

ATTENTION, HOMESEEKERS.

M. K. Wall has for sale at low prices, and on easy terms, improved and unimproved farms in Red Lake, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Also choice lots in all parts of the city. Agent for old line insurance companies. Collections promptly attended to. Notary public and conveyancer.

M. K. WALL,
Opposite Hotel Ogahmah,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

ORGANIZED.

The Thief River Falls Commercial Club.

A number of business men met in the city hall last Friday evening and organized the Thief River Falls Commercial Club. The sole object of the club will be to bring to the attention of our congressmen and senators the advisability of securing the opening of that part of the Red Lake Indian reservation situated within the counties of Red Lake and Marshall. An admission fee of $2 was charged, and a large number became members. The number will be greatly increased at the next regular meeting, which will be held on Friday evening, Sept. 7.

A constitution embodying the principles of the club was adopted, and the following officers elected:

President—C. L. Dobner.
Vice-President—John W. Eastman.
Secretary—W. C. Smiley.
Treasurer—Hans Langseth.
Executive Committee—L. Hanson, John Morgan and O. Helgeson.

The president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer will also be members of the executive committee, and the regular meetings will be held on the first Friday of each month, special meetings being held at the request of the president. Politics will not be discussed at any of the meetings, and the one object of the club is to secure the opening of the reservation. All loyal citizens of Thief River Falls should become members.

HITS ORDERS HARD

Revenue Tax to Apply to Fraternal Insurance.

There are 138 fraternal insurance companies doing business in the United States, with a membership of several million people. In a recent ruling of Commissioner G. W. Wilson, of the United States internal revenue department, many of the officers see destruction ahead, feeling that, if the law, as it is construed by the commissioner, is enforced to the letter, they will be forced out of existence.

The ruling provides that each organization shall pay a revenue tax of 8 cents for each $100 on every policy written since July 1, 1898, the date when the revenue law became operative.

With some of the larger companies, like the Modern Woodmen, the Woodmen of the World, the Royal Arcanum and the United Workmen, if there is an enforcement, it will mean paying out hundreds of thousands of dollars, and, as they have no reserve fund to draw upon, the questions of where the money to make payment is coming from is a question that is likely to prove troublesome.

With the smaller companies the matter is yet more serious. If they are compelled to pay the tax on each policy since the date named, it is likely to force them to suspend business, unless the members come to the front and contribute assessments.

After Homesteaders.

A dispatch to the Minneapolis Journal from Bemidji says:

"Inspectors De Frees and M. D. McEmery, of the United States land department, are after illegal timber cutters in Beltrami county. A large number of men took homestead lands, cut down and sold the logs to lumber companies, and then skipped out. The government is after the companies that bought the logs, and they will have to settle twice. Scanlon & Gipson are probably the heaviest losers."

A SURE GO.

The B. & N. Ry. Will Be Extended North.

Several hundred homesteaders in the country north and east of Bemidji will be interested in knowing that, after two years of preliminary surveying, during which the claim country has been gridironed with routes, the contracts have been let for the construction of the extension of the Brainerd & Northern road from Bemidji, northeasterly to the Big Big Fork, and that the work of construction will commence at once.

The distance planned to be covered is 90 miles. Foley Bros., of St. Paul, have secured most of the grading contract. Twenty-six miles will be built this fall. O'Malley & Hennessy have a subcontract for grading the first ten miles and B. F. Sullivan four miles. The road will leave Bemidji west of town, but the exact route to be traversed has not yet been announced. It is believed that it will go via Buena Vista to a connection with the Halvorson & Richards logging road at Nebish, branching from Buena Vista and running east to Black Duck lake, and thence northerly.

And the Conductor Was Mad.

A crowd of passengers on a Mason City electric car were treated to a funny incident last week, which, by the way, was a joke on the conductor. Among the passengers was a wench of quality, also quantity, nearly 250 pounds of the latter, with a fat and healthy infantile specimen of the nineteenth century Afro-American in her arms. The car was crowded, but the colored woman was oblivious to her surroundings. The pickaninny became restless, and the mother, with great unconcern, opened her dress and offered the fount of life to the squirming youngster, but he declined the banquet, and rolled his big white eyes about the car. The mother became exasperated finally, and called out: "Heah, chile, take your dinner, or I'll give it to the conductah." The conductor, who was standing near, watching the woman with great interest, his face fairly aglow with smiles as the performance progressed, nearly fainted, and the crowd fairly roared as he forced his way to the end of the car and slammed the door.—Ex.

New Church at St. Hilaire.

The Catholics of St. Hilaire, assisted by their Protestant friends, have just erected a splendid church edifice, with a fine stone foundation, and held services therein for the first time last Sunday. Rev. Fr. Ansgar officiated, while the choir of St. Mary's church, of this city rendered the music. The trustees of the congregation are M. McAndress, Isaac LaJesse and E. Carle, all hustlers. Mr. and Mrs. McAndress entertained the members of the choir at the Markham, and it is needless to say that the treatment accorded was right royal, as these good people have long since established an enviable reputation for hospitability of the generous kind.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14	all wool suits, regular price	$ 8.00, now	$ 5.25
"	"	10.00, "	6.50
6 "	"	9.00, "	6.50
1 "	"	12.50, "	8.50
7 "	"	16.00, "	11.50
6 "	"	12.00, "	9.00
5 "	"	14.00, "	10.00
15 "	"	13.50, "	10.00
8 "	"	10.50, "	7.50
8 "	"	10.00, "	7.00
7 "	" Black Clay worsted	15.00, "	10.50
1 "	"	12.50, "	8.00
6 "	"	11.00, "	8.00
5 "	"	13.50, "	10.00
2 "	" Fancy worsted	14.00 "	11.00

3 all wool Blue Sage suits, regular price $13.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,

Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

20,000 acres of wild and improved lands for sale in Red Lake and Marshall Cos.

Prairie Land, Speculator's Land, Timber Land.

Himle Land & Loan Co.,

(Purchasers of N. P. Ry. Co.'s Lands in Red Lake and Marshall counties.)

For information, maps, prices, etc., call on or address,

FRED G. WELLS, Local Mgr.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

$150,000 to Loan on Farm Lands.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in The Patent Record, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars, Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv.	Crookston	Ar.	6:30 p m
9:25 a m	"	Shirley	"	6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	"	Ives	"*	5:30 p m
10:21 a m	"	Wylie	"*	4:55 p m
11:30 a m	"	St Hilaire	Lv.	4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar.	Thief River F	"	1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv.	St Hilaire	"	4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar.	Red Lake F	"	3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

W. F. Behrns, Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STEVENS FAVORITE

GIVE THE BOYS A Stevens Favorite Rifle.

It will teach them to enjoy outdoor life, to learn how to shoot. The first will bring health and a good disposition. The latter will induce coolness and deliberation, command of eye and hand—all valuable helps for success in future life. There is nothing cheap about a Stevens Rifle but the price; the quality is in every arm.

Favorite (with Open Sights) $6.

Where dealers do not carry these in stock we will send, express prepaid, on receipt of price. Our new catalogue contains description of the entire line of arms made by us; also a valuable reference book for shooters. No charge except stamp for postage.

J. STEVENS ARMS & TOOL CO., Chicopee Falls, Mass.

P. O. Box 173.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 30, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

In a three-cornered fight no one is sure of being elected—not even a candidate on the Pop ticket.

Congressman Eddy is down in Oklahoma this week making speeches for the good of the Republican party.

Congressman Eddy usually makes correct predictions, and he says that McKinley will carry the Seventh district by 4,000 majority.

If M. J. Daly wishes to make as thorough a canvass of the Seventh district as his opponent, Frank M. Eddy, he will have to buy a phonograph.

"Gus" Beaulieu says that he and all of the Indians on the White Earth reservation will vote for Daly. But there are lots of people living in this district that are not Indians.

The Press sometime ago asked what was Congressman Eddy thinking of when he made "Young Mr. Adams" his chairman, and the Minneapolis Journal says "of re-election of course." The Press has another question coming.

It is rather mean of the Democrats in this county, who heretofore have furnished the votes for the Pop ticket, to desert them this year and leave the poor fellows who are fighting for principle—not so much for office—at the mercy of the Republicans.

And now the Red Lake county Pops, who a few weeks ago scoffed at the idea of fusing with the Democrats, saying that they had a sufficient number of capable men to fill all the county offices and the required number of votes to elect them, are becoming alarmed. They have appealed to Gov. Lind, L. A. Rosing and other state officials, asking them to endeavor to head off the local Democrats who are preparing to put a county ticket in the field. The Pops claim that if the Democrats fight their county ticket, it will injure the state and national candidates, while on the other hand the Democrats claim that no self respecting citizen can support some of the yellow dogs nominated by the Pops, and refuse to be called off.

An exchange propounds the query: "Who is the foremost Scandinavian-American?" Minnesotans will promptly nominate the junior senator from this state, Knute Nelson, and the Times emphatically indorses that opinion. Scan his civil war record, his career as governor, in the national house of representatives and in the senate, and you will find him ever at the front in the discussion and disposition of the great questions that have come up during the long term of public life. Perhaps his most distinguished public service of recent years is the bankruptcy bill, with which his name is identified. Minnesota has reason to be proud of her senators, and Minnesotans of Scandinavian birth or ancestry need not hesitate to name Senator Nelson as first in fame among Scandinavian-Americans. — Minneapolis Times.

Forty thousand traveling men who "plugged" for McKinley in 1896 are now banded together to work together for Bryan and anti-trust.—Fairmont Sentinel.

This reminds us of a story, Bro. Day. A short time ago we became acquainted with a traveling man (we have forgotten his name, but John Burnham can tell you, as he sells goods to Burnham) and he said: "At the time my candidate, Mr. Cleveland, was elected, I was getting $3,000 a year. After one year of Democracy the house cut it down to $2,500, then they lopped off $500 more. Later they called me in and said: 'We are sorry, but business is at a standstill, no one will buy, and we dare not sell on time, for things look dark, and we will have to let you out or you will have to work for $1,500.' I said: "Gentlemen, I have been working for thirty years to bring about the present state of affairs; I always was a Democrat, never had seen a Democratic president and wanted to, but I am the biggest damn fool in Chicago today, and am ready to work for just whatever you feel you can give, but hereafter I am going to work for the Republican party and a paying job. I know all about Democratic administrations.'" And honestly, Frank, a man who would work or vote for Bryan must be a—well, a traveling man.—Battle Lake Review.

A FEW FACTS.

The opening of that portion of the Red Lake Indian reservation situated within the boundries of Red Lake and Marshall counties should be accomplished at once, and for this reason a Commercial Club has been organized in Thief River Falls, in order to bring the matter to the attention of the public.

The land, in its entirety, is fit only for agricultural purposes. In topography, soil, etc., it resembles the Red river valley, and would soon be converted into one of the richest agricultural regions in the northwest. It comprises about 276,480 acres, and is inhabited a portion of the year by about 50 Indians. They do not use it for agricultural purposes, nor is it fit for a hunting ground, owing to its closeness to civilization. These Indians, a portion of the time each year, camp across the river from this city, and spend most of their time loafing about the streets of this place. They have been taught all the vices of the whites, and none of their virtues. With their wives and daughters conducting places of ill-fame to secure money with which to buy whiskey, these Indians are in a state of degeneration—both morally and physically—that is pitiful to behold. If they were removed to the lake, where there are schools, and kept away from the temptations of civilization, their conditions would be improved, and their children would reflect credit upon the Indian race. But if they are allowed to remain here much longer, the reverse will be true.

Open up the reservation and remove the Indians to the Red lake. That is the only solution of the problem.

ANTI-IMPERIALISM IN 1864.

The Indianapolis Sentinel was much worried in 1864 over imperialism. It said:

"Should Mr. Lincoln be reelected the revolution will be accomplished. This will no longer be a republic of the United States, but a consolidated empire. Every safeguard must sooner or later give away. The limitation of the executive power will not be in the constitution, but in the pleasure of the president. * * * * We implore patriotic and intelligent men to pause and reflect and give verdict on Tuesday next. If the people will not save their priceless constitution, it is lost."

Mr. Lincoln was re-elected, however, and we have managed to worry along very comfortably for thirty-five years more. Now, it seems, we are again confronted with the same awful danger.

Republican Legislative Convention.

A Republican legislative convention for the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, is hereby called to be held on Tuesday, September 11th, A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for representative from said representative district to the Minnesota state legislature, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Representation at this legislative convention will be in accordance with the following resolution unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Republican legislative committee for the said Sixty-first legislative district, held at the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., on Tuesday, August 7th, A. D. 1900:

Resolved, that each county in the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, shall be entitled to one delegate for each 100 votes, or major fraction thereof cast for William H. Eustis, the Republican candidate for governor in 1898.

In accordance with the above resolution, each of said counties is entitled to representation as follows:

Beltrami....4
Red Lake....4

All county conventions in said representative district for the election of delegates to attend this legislative convention shall be held on Saturday, September 8th, A. D. 1900.

All primary elections in connection therewith must be conducted as prescribed by the primary election law for Minnesota, enacted in 1895, as amended in 1897.

By order of the Republican legislative committee for the Sixty-first legislative district of Minnesota.

Dated August 7, 1900.

N. M. WATSON, Chairman.
IRA C. RICHARDSON, Secretary.

Republican County Convention and Primaries.

A Republican county convention for the county of Red Lake, in the state of Minnesota, is hereby called to be held on Saturday, September 8th, A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for County Auditor, County Treasurer, County Superintendent of Schools, Register of Deeds, Sheriff, County Attorney, Judge of Probate, County Surveyor, Coronor, Commissioner of 2nd district and Commissioner of 4th district, of and for said county of Red Lake; and also for the purpose of electing four delegates to attend the legislative convention for the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, to be held on Tuesday, September eleventh, A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for representative from said representative district to the Minnesota legislature, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before such county convention.

Representation at this county convention will be in accordance with the following resolution unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Republican county committee for said Red Lake county, held at the village of St. Hilaire, Minn., on Tuesday, August 14th, 1900:

Resolved, that each and every election precinct in the county of Red Lake, Minn., shall be entitled to two delegates to the Republican county convention for said county, above called.

In accordance with the above resolution the representation to said county convention will be as follows:

Black River	2	Bray	2
Emardville	2	Equality	2
Garnes	2	Gervais	2
Lambert	2	Louisville	2
Lake Pleasant	2	Numedal	2
Norden	2	North	2
Polk Center	2	Poplar River	2
Rocksbury	2	River Falls	2
Red Lake Falls	2	Sanders	2
St. Hilaire	2	Terrebonne	2
City of T. R. F.		City of R. L. F.
1st ward	2	1st ward	2
2nd ward	2	2nd ward	2
3rd ward	2	3rd ward	2
Wyandotte	2

All primary elections in connection therewith must be held on Thursday, September 6th, 1900, at 7 o'clock p. m., at such place as may be designated by local committee of each precinct and conducted as prescribed in the primary election law for Minnesota enacted in 1895, as amended in 1897.

The Republican committee of each precinct in the county is hereby requested to have the proper notice for primary duly posted.

By order of the Republican county committee for Red Lake county, Minn.
C. G. Rapp, Chairman.
C. A. Lindquist, Secretary.

Good Place to Hunt.

Merchant Bakke, of Newfolden, was transacting business in town last Saturday. He says that prairie chickens in that section are so fat that they cannot fly, and consequently no shooting is indulged in—all you have to do is to pick them up.—Argyle Banner.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

It is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

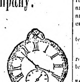
It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

Take Home

Twenty-Four Bottles of Satisfaction, Otherwise Known as a Case of
HAMM'S BEER
Supplied by Agents Everywhere, or THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches,
Clocks,
Jewelry
and
Guns.



Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices—for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as The North American Review. — Boston Journal.

IN THE
North American Review

YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "The North American Review constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the North American Review."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.

The North American Review, N. Y.

MONEY to PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.
Phil A. Kaufer, Red Lake Falls Gazette.
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News.
Thief River Falls Press.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Johannes A. Sveum, H. E. 16,742, for the W ½ NW ¼, Sec. 29, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Mannum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on October 8th, 1900, viz: Nels August Olson, H. E. 15,967, for the NE ¼ SW ¼, NW ¼ SE ¼ and W ½ NE ¼, Sec. 29, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
John Berg, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Mannum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Tom Olson Mannum, H. E. 16,447, for the SE ¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

aug 30 6t

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS - NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m.

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividends Cash and Paid-up values for each year

J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn

F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33, Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

C. J. Winton left last week for Wisconsin.

Mrs. Phil Zeh has gone to St. Paul to visit friends.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

R. J. Rassmusson, of Crookston, was in the city Tuesday.

H. O. Nelson, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city last week.

H. L. Knappen, of Crookston, was in the city last Friday.

Chris Rogers, the Shotley brook homesteader, is in the city.

Geo. Turville and wife were down to Crookston last week.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grundy Tuesday.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

Mrs. Joseph Lang leaves Saturday for St. Paul to visit friends.

W. T. Mullarky left Monday for North Dakota on a business trip.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

A cook and several servant girls wanted at the Hotel Markham, St. Hilaire.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Wanted—800 oak and cedar piles from 12 to 26 feet long. Carl Kretzschmar.

Mrs. Robert McGinn entertains the ladies of the Catholic church this afternoon.

Mrs. Caldwell entertained the ladies of the Methodist church yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Caldwell leaves next week for the Twin cities to purchase her fall stock of millinery.

Attorney Ira C. Richardson was down to St. Paul the first of the week on legal business.

Attorney H. W. Lee leaves next week for St. Paul and Wisconsin points on legal business.

Cass Gillette, sawyer in the mill at Crookston, was in the city last week visiting his brother.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

Misses Emma Brown and Emma Lonson were up to the Red lake last week on a pleasure trip.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

Practice shooting at Ole Peterson's shooting gallery, next to Odd Fellows' hall. Open day and night.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

H. Lewin went up to the Red lake the first of the week to sell the agency merchants clothing for their stores.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

A man by the name of Sam Long was kicked to death by a gang of toughs in a Bemidji saloon last Saturday.

A large number of people from this city will take advantage of the cheap rates to visit the Twin cities next week.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

W. R. Ballard, of San Francisco, Cal., arrived in the city last week to visit his brother, J. G. Ballard. He is enroute to Scotland.

S. A. Swanson and F. A. Grady, both Populist candidates, were in the city Sunday, endeavoring to secure support of the Democrats.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

F. H. Kratka is going to put a stone gutter and gravel on the street in front of his property on La Bree avenue. Let the good work go on.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

The base ball dance given in the Odd Fellows' hall last Friday evening was well attended. Prof. Juliot, the Crookston harpist, furnished the music.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

H. V. Smith, formerly superintendent for the Red Lake Falls Lumber company, was in the city the first of the week. He leaves in a few days for the south.

Taken Up—One black buck sheep. If owner does not call for same before August 14th, 1900, it will be sold to pay expenses allowed by law. A. Myrom, Norden, Minn.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—Its value in sickness has been tried and proved. In the home it is not safe to be without it. Absolutely pure. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

G. O. Satnas and Ole P. Nygaard, of the town of New Solum and Morden, respectively, were in the city yesterday and sent their applications to the land office to make final proof on their claims.

John Finke, the well known farmer living west of here, will be an independent candidate for county auditor, it is said. There will probably be four candidates for county auditor in this county this year.

C. A. Robbecke, the enterprising proprietor of the Hotel Ogahmah, has had gravel placed upon the street in front of his hotel. It is a commendable piece of work, and should be imitated by other business men.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Money to loan at straight legal rates. No commission. Privilege given to pay any part of principal on any interest-paying date. Lands bought. Himle Real Estate Agency, F. G. Wells, Mgr., Thief River Falls, Minn.

Henry and Fay Draper, who have been towing logs all summer for the Thief River Falls Lumber company, returned to this city the first of the week. The boat on which they had been working, the Alice, has been laid up.

The Crookston College will open its fall term September 10. Board and room furnished and taken care of in private family or hotel for $2.50 to $3 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

The country has been asking for a plain representative of the country people in the capacity of governor, and Capt. Van Sant fills the bill. He is not a lawyer or a professional man, but a plain citizen who knows what it is to labor with his hands.

Gilbert Olson must be considered a bad man in Red Lake Falls. A justice down there placed him under bonds to the amount of $200 to keep the peace. The case should have been tried in the northern part of the county, where all of the parties are well known.

A gang of swindlers are traveling around the country, claiming authority to examine wells. They examine the water through a microscope, and find all kinds of bacteria, cholera and typhoid germs, and permit the farmer and his wife to look through the microscope, where, of course, they see the menagerie that will always be in a drop of water. The frightened farmer is advised to apply certain remedies, which the fakirs sell at a high price, and which proves to be a little plain soda.—Ex.

Julius Pleth, of Ada, Minn., arrived in the city the first of the week. Mr. Pleth is connected with the John Grove Land and Loan company, and a branch office will be opened in Thief River Falls. This is one of the largest real estate companies doing business in the state.

R. J. McDonald the first of the week purchased two lots and a house of James Meehan, Jr., on the latter's addition. Mr. McDonald is going to repair the house making a modern dwelling out of the same. Whether or not the house will be for rent, the genial captain does not say.

Gov. Lind's last appointment of an assistant bank examiner is P. M. Kerst, who was cashier of the Germania bank, of St. Paul, which failed with such disastrous results to the depositors. It is to be hoped that Mr. Kerst will have better luck, or better judgment, in examining other banks than he did with his own.

Syvert Lian, of Winchester, will sell out his stock, etc., at auction next week, and he will soon leave for his new home ten miles from Thief River Falls, in Marshall county. Anton Sand, a neighbor of Lian's, will also move into Marshall county soon, having also bought a farm up there.—Norman County Index.

Geo. Shaw and Henry M. Green, of Crookston, were in the city the first of the week. Mr. Shaw is a game warden, and it is stated that he took the names of a number of Thief River Falls sports who have violated the game laws, while here, and will swear out warrants for their arrest before a Crookston justice of the peace.

N. W. Tarrant returned to this city Monday from Crookston, where he went to have an operation performed upon his knee about a month ago. Nick will not have full use of his leg before fall, but his friends and backers confidently hope he will be able to enter the ring at the opening of the wrestling season.

Dr. J. E. Argue, the Red Lake Falls dentist, will not be here from the 5th to the 10th of September, owing to the fact that he will attend the meeting of the Minnesota State Dental association. He will, however, be here from the 17th to the 21st of September, and all parties wishing work done in his line are invited to call and see him.

A man named Rouse married a girl named Nixcom in Missouri, says a Missouri exchange, and now the wife is bringing suit for divorce. She alleges that it was hard enough to have the papers announce the wedding as the Nixcom-Rouse nuptials, but it is more than she can endure to have her husband insist on naming her son Nixcom A. Rouse.—Ex.

Gov. Lind apologizes for the short-comings of his chief game warden by saying that "it is almost impossible to suppress poaching in the northern part of the state, because nearly every person up there is in sympathy with the poachers." This is the first time a public official has ever accused that people of two whole congressional districts of being in sympathy with law breakers.

Next Saturday is the 1st of September, the opening of the chicken season. There has not been as much illegal shooting in this section as in former years, and now that it is lawful to hunt, a great number of our citizens will probably be engaged in this pursuit during the fall. Game is very plentiful around here, and no doubt a large number of sports from abroad will be here to hunt.

Someone who forgot to sign his name writes a communication, desiring to have it published in the News, telling of an alleged crime commit in this city. If the facts are as represented, the injured party can obtain justice by filing affidavit in the justice court. This paper is not publishing unsigned communications making charges that would reflect upon the good name of a respected citizen of this place.

The President's Workshop.

"The whole east end of the white house on the second floor is given up to public purposes—the offices of the president, his secretaries and the executive clerks, the cabinet room and the telegraph room," writes Rene Bache, in the September Ladies' Home Journal. "For convenience the room last named adjoins President McKinley's own office, and the electric apparatus which it contains places him in communication by telegraph with all parts of the world, and by telephone with all points reached by the long-distance system. A special kind of telephone, which has no 'central,' enables him to converse privately with the heads of the departments. The cabinet room is about one-third as big as it should be, and the library next to it contains an inferior collection of books, consisting mainly of out-of-date editions of historical and classical works. A glass door across the main corridor, which runs lengthwise through the white house, shuts off the offices described from the sleeping quarters of the family."

The Democrats.

The Democrats are holding their county convention at Red Lake Falls today and are nominating a complete county ticket. The primaries were held in the different voting precincts throughout the county last Saturday evening. In this city about 100 Democrats voted, and this is nearly the number of votes cast for the Populist ticket two years ago. The delegates elected were as follows: First ward—C. C. Jackson and W. T. Mullarky; Second ward—John Morgan and W. B. Fuller; Third ward—Frank Halda and Frank Cernousek.

The northern part of the county will be well represented as delegates were elected in the towns of North, Norden, Numedal, Rocksbury and Sanders.

C. A. Robbecke is prominently mentioned as a candidate for county commissioner from this district. The Democrats could not find a better man.

Wolf Farming.

The suspicion is growing stronger with the officials of the state auditor's office that wolf farming is becoming a popular in some sections of the state. It is said that one man and his boys in Lyon county sent in more than 1,000 pelts last year. Lyon county leads all the rest in the wolf business. It is also claimed that pelts are being sent from Minnesota to Montana, and that others are sent into Minnesota from Wisconsin and other nearby states. The state auditor will investigate the matter.—Minneapolis Journal.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank all my friends for their love and kindness to me, and my two children, through all my sorrows and troubles, and may our holy and everblessed Father bless them all and take care of them till we meet in that happy land where sin and sorrow are no more.

Yours Truly,
Andrew Clements.

We wish to thank all the kind friends who assisted us during our late berievement.

Mrs. W. G. Porter and Family.

Intimidated and Robbed.

In the hamlet of Gull Lake, nineteen miles north of Bemidji, two masked men entered the saloon of Brinkman & Sisley and, at the points of their revolvers, persuaded the bartender to empty the till and four bystanders to empty their pockets. Just a few minutes before their appearance, the manager of the saloon had carried away a large sum of money, and they obtained only about $20. The officials have no positive clue.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

W. A. Kratka is up from Iowa to superintend threshing.

HEROIC CURE FOR AN ITCH.

Serio-Comic Experience of a Stage Coach Passenger Who Was Held Up by a Road Agent.

Whatever differences of opinion may exist in regard to other subjects, those who have been held up by highwaymen are unanimous in the statement that no matter how few the holders up or how many they held up, each and every man said that the robber's weapon was pointed directly and solely at him. Years ago, says the Troy Press, in California a traveler was on a stage coach that a pair of bandits went through. The 14 passengers were all made to get out and stand in a row, with their hands high over their heads. One burly ruffian stood guard over them with a double-barreled shotgun, while the other engaged in the pleasing task of relieving them of their valuables and spare cash. This particular traveler was nearest the man with the shotgun.

While the ceremonies were in progress his nose began to itch and instinctively he started to lower one hand to scratch it. "Hands up, there!" came the stern order, and his hand went automatically back into place. But that itching redoubled and again he essayed the relieveful scratch. "Say, what's the matter with you, anyhow?" demanded the highwayman. "Are you wishful to become a lead mine?" "My nose itches so I can't stand it any longer," tearfully explained the sufferer. "I simply have got to scratch it." "No, you hain't," ungrammatically corrected the knight of the road, "'cause I'll do it for you." And with that he proceeded to scratch the offending nasal organ with the muzzle of his shotgun. You can wager your shoes that that particular nose stopped itching with great abruptness.

FISH PRESERVED IN ICE.

Antediluvian Denizens of the Deep Discovered in a Huge Glacier.

State Fish and Game Commissioner Johnson is one of the oldest cowboys in the state. He is an exceptionally entertaining talker and a man who in past years has been considered modest, truthful and kind to those easily induced to believe stories concerning the beasts of the field and the fishes of the sea, says the Denver Times.

But he has apparently changed. On a recent morning he claims to have seen a man who saw a fish frozen in the ice in the perpetual glacier on the north side of Long's peak.

"The story is a true one," said Mr. Johnson, "for the man who told it to me is a scientist and one of the most prominent men in the country. His discovery will be announced to the department at Washington and a scientific investigation may follow. He tells me the fish appears to be about 18 feet in length, as nearly as one could estimate looking through a field glass."

"But there are no fresh-water fish of such proportions," was ventured.

"Tisn't a fresh-water fish. It's a saltwater fish."

"But how did it get there?"

"Easily enough to a fish man. That fish has been frozen in the ice glacier there ever since the time of the flood, when all this land was inundated. That is the reason the find is an important one."

For fine job work call at the News office.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

United States Map.
15c.
A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cann[illegible] postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul Minn.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

SWISS AS MILITARY MEN.

Strict Government Conditions Make Their Army a Superb War Machine.

Every year the Swiss soldier must do a certain amount of rifle-practice in order to keep his marksmanship up to a high standard. He is allowed to choose his own time and place for this practice, but under strict government conditions. The Swiss army last year was composed of a total of 284,000 fighting men. A French military authority holds that "this army, in case of war upon its territory, need not fear any army which can be named." An English officer who witnessed its maneuvers two years ago wrote to the London Times that "of the Swiss army as a war machine it is impossible to speak in terms other than those which, to anyone who has not seen its performance, must appear too laudatory." The National Review contrasts the Swiss military organization with the British volunteer system and very much to the disadvantage of the latter. "Our men," says the writer, "are ill-trained in shooting and often armed with defective or discarded weapons. The Swiss have thoroughly modern arms and are probably the best shots in Europe. The Swiss system of mobilization is perhaps the most effective in the world." The Swiss have always been a fighting nation and the power which should attempt to annex them against their will would engage in a tremendous undertaking.

BELIEVE IN SOOTHSAYERS.

Many Women of Various Classes Are Regular Patrons of the Clairvoyants.

The writer recently called upon half a dozen professional palmists and clairvoyants and gathered in the course of the interviews some very startling facts concerning the clients who consult these ladies, says the New York Telegram.

"Every unmarried woman," said one clairvoyant to me, "asks the same question, namely, 'Whom shall I marry?'—a patently absurd question. Others, again, while not going quite so far, would like to know the initials of their future husband, whether he will be dark or fair, and so on.

"Some people's notions of the power of palmistry," declared another lady, "are wildly vague. For instance, a gentleman called here the other day who had lost $100, and he asked me where it could be found."

Fashionable authors are prone to inquire if their new books will go well, and one of our best known actors invariably consults a palmist in order to learn whether he will be successful in a new role.

Men, I learn, are quite as superstitious as women, and some even more so. Stockbrokers come in large numbers to consult one fashionable clairvoyant, and to another flock betting men, in order that the crystal globe may be consulted as to the success of a horse who may be carrying their money.

WOMEN HAVE DECORATION.

Forty-One of Them Have Received the Ribbon of the Legion of Honor.

According to a chart in the Palais des Femmes at the Paris exposition—the women's palace—the number of women who have received the ribbon of the Legion of Honor is not large—some 41 in all. Sarah Bernhardt is the latest name to be recommended for this honor, and this is the first time, it is understood, that an actress has been nominated. Of the 41, 31 had been decorated for special services in connection with hospital or ambulance work, one was an artist, one an archaeologist, and three were rewarded for heroism in war. Rosa Bonheur was the artist, and she received the distinction in 1853 as a result of the award by the jury of the grand prix for her picture, "The Horse Fair," now known far and wide. The emperor did not approve of the Legion of Honor being conferred upon a woman, and it was not till 1865—12 years after—that she actually received it. In 1894 she became an officer of the order. Juliette Dodu, who was condemned to be shot by the Germans during the Franco-Prussian war for refusing to telegraph a message, was another. She was released by the order of Prince Frederick Charles, to receive both the cross of the legion and the military medal.

FOOD FOR THE FAMISHED.

Island in Torres Strait Where Stores Are Left for Distressed Sailors.

"Did you ever hear of the old ocean storehouse in Torres strait?" asked the old seaman, relates the Washington Star. "It's called Deliverance island, though it is sometimes marked on the charts as Berby island. It is like a mound rising out of the ocean, the highest point being about 50 feet. It is well-nigh barren, having only a few bushes and shrubs. On one side is a sandy beach, on the other a fissure forming a sort of cave, in which stores are left by men-of-war and merchant vessels passing through for the relief of distressed and shipwrecked sailors. I went in there last year from the Enterprise, an American bark.

"During a calm, we lowered a boat and pulled. In this cave we found tins of preserved meat, biscuits, tobacco and a wooden box marked 'post office.' Our skipper, Capt. Samuels, wrote a letter to a friend of his in Boston. It reached him, too. Deliverance island that day belonged to the French, but we took down their flag and hoisted the stars and stripes. That is the custom—the last ship through the straits hoists its flag on this ocean storehouse and post office."

C. L. Dobner, President. H. G. Dobner, Cashier. L. Ellington, Vice-President.

FIRST STATE BANK
OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. Gallach, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. Ellington, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
O. Hendricksen, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. Dobner, President.
H. G. Dobner, Cashier.

Burlington Route

ELECTRIC LIGHT IN EVERY BERTH

A special feature of the Burlington's Chicago Limited. When you retire, turn on the light. After you are comfortably ensconsed between the sheets, you can read by it. When you are sleepy, a twist of the wrist—and the light's out. Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul, 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Scenic Day Express leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday, arriving Chicago same evening. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

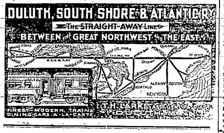
TIME AND SPACE are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 23½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Fina Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.



SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.
ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

OUR FRUITS ABROAD.

Prof. Smith Finds Some Reasons Why They Do Not Sell Readily.

Shippers in Some Cases to Blame—Poor Fruit at Bottom of Packages Will Condemn Whole Consignment—Fear of San Jose Scale.

Prof. John B. Smith, state entomologist of New Jersey, has just returned from abroad where he went to investigate the restrictions against American fruits. Prof. Smith also investigated the methods of handling insects in European countries.

With regard to the fruits Prof. Smith ascertained that it would be practically impossible for American fruits to be shipped into France except by treaty management. French officials have an idea that all American fruits are tabooed. If the fruit is forced through there is so much red tape about it that the fruit spoils before it reaches the hands of the customer.

Efforts to exclude American fruits have been abandoned in Holland, the professor found, but in Belgium very few American fruits are received. Officials in Germany, he said, seemed to be fair-minded and disposed to treat shipments more considerately. He found that at Hamburg, while there, a consignment of 30,000 barrels of apples was received.

Prof. Smith believes that if American fruit shippers will treat their customers fairly there will be no trouble about the sale of American fruits in foreign countries. Everything is sold at auction and never by surface show. One barrel in every ten is emptied out upon the floor and the sale is made upon the condition of the fruit thus displayed. The man who puts a lot of poor fruit at the bottom of the barrels stands a poor show.

Foreign officials are particular about the San Jose scale. If a single scale is found on one apple in a barrel the entire shipment would be excluded.

Prof. Smith was agreeably surprised to find that the American fruit exhibit surpassed those of other countries. He also found that the French commission merchants were greatly interested in these fruits, and it is his opinion that next year there will be a noticeable increase in the demand for Jersey fruits.

AMERICANS MUST NOT FLIRT.

Commissioner Peck Obliged to Check This Propensity in the Guards of United States Section.

Commissioner Peck was obliged to forbid American guards at the Paris exposition flirting with the typewriters and other fair employes. The American guards are handsome and wear splendid uniforms. Hence they have made havoc among the hearts of the fair ones who were attached to the different American sections, and, being college boys as well, have been simply irresistible.

The guards obeyed the orders of the commissioner too well and strayed into the confines of other nations. The result has been a prolonged remonstrance from the men of these quarters at the invasion of their rights by the superior Americans.

It seems that the guards wandered beyond the frontiers and lavished attentions among the French, German, Russian and Swedish girls. The little matter of their inability to speak the various languages made the conquests more attractive. Such stories of sweeping victories made by the American guards reached the ears of the commissioner general that he would have torn his hair had he been a Frenchman.

"This international business must be stopped," he told his young men. "You must remain inside the territory of your own country."

ORIGINAL FLAT DWELLER.

"Aunt Louisa" Eldridge, a New York Woman Who Has Occupied the Same Apartment for 33 Years.

"Aunt Louisa" Eldridge has established a record. Among the flat dwellers of Manhattan she is grand prioress, and some day when the dwellers have a reunion she is in line for further honors. Her record consists of having lived for 33 years and four months in the same apartment. Her flat is in the building at 142 East Thirteenth street, at the corner of Third avenue, and from its windows she has viewed some wonderful transformations in New York city. It is likely—she is not quite sure of the justness of her claim, she says—that she is the original flat dweller of New York. Whether this be true or not, she declines to yield the palm to anyone who cannot establish quite as clear a title as hers. Her title consists of rent receipts running over 33 years, and she views them in the light of a patent of nobility.

Vereschagin.

Among the contestants for the Nobel prize, amounting to more than $50,000, for the person who within the last three years has done the most to help preserve peace in the world is the Russian battle painter, Vereschagin. He has gone to Christiania, where he has opened an exhibition of his pictures. The ground of his application for the prize is that he has so realistically depicted the horrors of war as to make many converts to the doctrine of peace.

Largest of All Balloons.

The largest balloon ever constructed and capable of lifting over six tons will ascend from Berlin shortly to make meteorological observations. It will be supplied with provisions for several weeks and with two beds.

LIKE AMERICAN FOOTWEAR.

English People Prefer the Boots and Shoes Made on This Side of the Water.

"Many American shoe salesmen with whom I have acquaintance," says Consul Halstead at Birmingham, England, report great progress in this market, and find they are now sought where formerly they had to plead for an opening chance. One salesman, who was in Birmingham recently, told me that his books for the year recorded the sale of $300,000 worth of shoes in Great Britain alone, and stated that his books would not show all the sales he had made here because there were so many of his customers who could not be persuaded that they could not buy better by buying from the home house direct. These figures, it should be noted, represent the sales of one concern, and there are, I understand, at least 20 other shoe houses represented in England. One New England shoe manufacturer has established a retail store in London, where he sells his goods, and this establishment has already proved so profitable he is opening another one in a different section of the city, and contemplates an extension throughout the provinces. Large manufacturers have found it to their advantage in the United States to establish their own retail stores throughout the cities of the country, and this is much more important here, as the average English shopkeeper gives such long credits and has so much of his money represented on his books that he cannot keep an extensive stock. Low-priced cash dealings, one price to all, confirmed by plainly-marked figures, are features of business just as acceptable to the buyers here as at home."

MORMONS TO BUILD TEMPLE.

Proposed Independence (Mo.) Structure Is to Be Made the Head Church.

Twenty-four Mormon elders from Utah are at work in Missouri preparing for the building on the famous "temple lot" at Independence of the great temple which is to supplant that at Salt Lake as the earthly throne of Mormonism, and Jacob N. Larsen is president of the elders who are working chiefly in the vicinity of Kansas City and Independence.

"We cannot say yet just how soon we shall build the temple," said Mr. Larsen, "but you and I will live to see its completion and to see Independence the new center of Mormonism, as Salt Lake is to-day. Joseph Smith prophesied that Independence was to be the new Jerusalem of Mormonism and we are working in fulfillment of that prophecy. Utah will not be forsaken by our people when we get ready to build a temple in Independence. Of course, a great many will come here from Utah, but we will have our churches out there, all of which will be under the control of the Independence church."

Already the Utah Mormons are coming. Five years ago there were only four families of Brighamites (Utah Mormons) in Jackson county. Now there are hundreds. Some of these are local converts, but more are immigrants from Utah.

NOW A MISNOMER.

Title of Brakeman on Passenger Trains May Be Changed to That of Assistant Conductor.

Some of the railroads are considering the advisability of abandoning the time-honored title of brakeman on passenger trains and calling him assistant conductor. The brakes on passenger trains are no longer worked by hand, but by air, and, therefore, it is argued that the old title is a misnomer.

"The name brakeman," said a railroad man, "has been a misnomer ever since brakemen ceased to be brakemen—that is, when air brakes came into use. A brakeman nowadays has nothing whatever to do with the brakes. He simply attends to signals, calls names of stations, and otherwise assists in conducting the trains. The change to 'assistant conductor' is logical, because these men are frequently promoted to conductors. Besides, it would tend to raise the standard of the calling."

This question of a change of title will probably be taken up at the next meeting of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, which is made up principally of brakemen, and all the roads will be asked to adopt this change.

KEEPS FIVE BEARS AT BAY.

Ranchman with a Broken Leg Fights Them Off Until Help Arrives.

William Price, of Rio Arriba county, had an exciting encounter with bears on the Upper Navajo, near the Colorado line, in New Mexico. While in search of a small bunch of sheep he came upon six bears killing his flock. The ranchman killed one of the animals, and the others died. Price tried to load the dead bear on his horse, which became alarmed and kicked Price, breaking his leg near the knee. Night came, and with it the remaining five bears. All night Price kept the animals at bay with the butt of his gun, his cartridges having run out. He was aided only by a small collie. In the morning he was rescued by passing vaqueros.

Shooting School.

In an English paper is the following advertisement of a shooting school: "Forty acres in extent. Gun fitting a specialty. Patent try guns and targets. Most realistic coverts. Practice at driven birds, high pheasants, etc. Any number of sportsmen can be accommodated. Experienced gun fitters and instructors always in attendance."

HOTEL OGAHMAH,
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
* * *
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
* * *
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done. Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,
Importers and Jobbers.
"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.
21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

G. H. Turville,
Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.
First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.
Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection
LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.

The Pioneer Press,
"OLDEST AND BEST
With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD
The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS
and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS
PRINTS THE NEWS
12 to 24 hours ahead
of any Northwestern paper.

I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

MINNES HISTORIC SOCIETY

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 35. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

Brief Biographical Sketches of the Nominees for the Various State Offices.

Personal Popularity of Each Combine to Make an Unusually Strong Ticket.

Indications of the Greatest Republican Victory in the History of the State.

The dominant note of the Republican campaign of 1900 is one of confidence as to the result—not in Minnesota only, for Minnesota is certainly Republican, but in the country at large.

Minnesota will give the largest Republican majority in her history. Confidence is in the air. Everybody has it.

This is not due to the fact that Minnesota is safely a Republican state. Today's confidence is due to the logic of events.

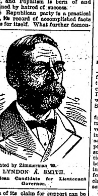
Beginning with the national convention in Philadelphia every Republican gathering this year has been characterized by confidence of the loftiest kind. Minnesota is simply one link in the chain. It all means a Republican victory in November of proportions that will compel Democrats to recognize and choose new leaders and new issues.

The outcome of the campaign of 1900 will either be the destruction of Bryanism or the destruction of prosperity. Prosperity and Bryanistic rule can not exist at the same time.

Bryanism means absolutely free silver, at 16 to 1, and the destruction of all money values. Bryanism is Populism, and Populism is born of and sustained by hatred of success.

The Republican party is a practical party, its record of accomplished facts speaks for itself. What further demonstration of its claim for support can be asked.

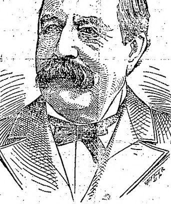
The people of this great state, regardless of party affiliation, will rally to the support of the Republican state ticket, the personnel of which is given here in portraits and brief biographies.



Copyrighted by Zimmerman '99.

LYNDON A. SMITH.
Republican Candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

SAMUEL R. VAN SANT,



Republican Candidate for Governor of Minnesota.

Captain Samuel R. Van Sant is known throughout the length and breadth of the state, and in fact all over the Northwest. In nominating him as the standard bearer of the party in Minnesota, the Republican convention merely carried out the demand of the people; his nomination was unanimous and was carried with an enthusiasm which leaves no doubt as to the result in November. Captain Van Sant is one of those hearty, whole-souled men who make friends everywhere, and his patriotism and love of America and American institutions have a magnetic influence which is all-pervading.

Mr. Van Sant was born at Rock Island, Ills., May 11, 1844. While he was attending the Rock Island high school, in 1861, Fort Sumpter was fired upon and "Sam" was among the very first to answer President Lincoln's call for troops. Owing to his youth—17 years—he was rejected, but in August of the same year he again enlisted and this time with the support of his father's written consent, he was sworn in. He served three years, gallantly, in the cavalry service, being one of Grierson's famous riders.

After the war, he returned home and attended a business college, also the Knox college at Galesburg, Ills. He then engaged in the boat building business with his father at Le Claire, Ia. He afterwards came to Minnesota and located at Winona, where he has conducted a steamboating business.

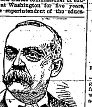
Captain Van Sant has served two two terms in the state legislature—in 1893 and 1895. The latter term he was chosen speaker of the house and presided with ability.

LYNDON A. SMITH.

As lieutenant governor of the state during the past two years, Hon. Lyndon A. Smith has won a high reputation for his ability and integrity. He presided over the last senate with dignity and to the general satisfaction of the members of that body. He was given the deserved compliment of a renomination by acclamation and will be re-elected by a handsome majority.

Governor Smith was born at Boscawen, N. H., in 1854. After attending the public schools in that immediate vicinity, he attended Dartmouth college and later the Georgetown (D. C.) university. He taught school and was city superintendent of schools in Vermont for four years, was assistant to the United States commissioner of education at Washington for five years, and was superintendent of the educational department at the New Orleans exposition.

Mr. Smith studied law and was admitted to the bar. He came to Minnesota in 1885 and has made his home at Montevideo, where he is engaged in the practice of law.



IRA B. MILLS.
Republican Candidate for Railroad Commissioner.

PETER E. HANSON.

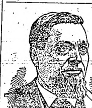
In Peter E. Hanson, the convention nominated a representative Swedish-American, and a gentleman well qualified for the office.

Mr. Hanson was born at Branstad, Sweden, in 1845. In 1857 he came to America with his parents and settled in Meeker county, this state, where he has since made his home. His boyhood days were spent on the farm and attending school. At the age of 21 he married and started in farming for himself. In 1880 he went into business—banking and real estate—in Litchfield, where he still continues, also operating several farms.

Mr. Hanson served as chairman of the Meeker county board of commissioners for several years and in 1894 he was elected to the state senate, where he served to the satisfaction of his constituents. He enjoys a wide acquaintance and is popular throughout the state.

JULIUS H. BLOCK.

Julius H. Block is a stalwart type of the true German-American. His parents came to America from Germany in 1850. Julius was born near Galion, O., in 1860. He came to Minnesota with his parents in 1870, and his early years were spent on his father's farms in Le Sueur and Nicollet counties. He is at present sheriff of Nicollet county and a member of the firm of Block & Sackett, fire insurance agents, which is one of the largest agencies in Southern Minnesota.



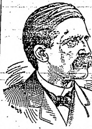
PETER E. HANSON.
Republican Candidate for Secretary of State.

In 1894 Mr. Block was a candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer, but was defeated in the convention by A. T. Koerner, the present incumbent of the office. It should be added that Mr. Block at once sank his personal ambitions in his work for the successful candidate, and the entire ticket, and, as is well known, he has been a tower of strength to the party in the state. His recent nomination for the office of state treasurer by acclamation and a rising vote was a deserved tribute to his worth and loyalty.

Mr. Block's career furnishes a striking example of a young man's political possibilities in this country. But a few years ago he was a poor farmer boy, unknown and without "backing." By his own unaided efforts, coupled with his indomitable pluck, determination and ability, he has risen to a conspicuous position, as the nominee of the party for one of the most important offices in the state.

WALLACE B. DOUGLAS.

For nearly two years, Wallace B. Douglas has filled the office of attorney general of Minnesota to the entire satisfaction of the people of the state which was manifested in his renomination by acclamation.



WALLACE B. DOUGLAS.
Republican Candidate for Attorney General of Minnesota.

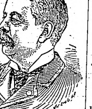
Mr. Douglas was born in Leyden, N. Y., Sept. 21, 1852. He attended the public schools and spent a year in Cazenovia seminary, that state. He later attended the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor and was graduated from the law department in 1875. He practiced law in Chicago until 1883, when he came to Minnesota and located at Moorhead.

Mr. Douglas served as city attorney of Moorhead several years and was also county attorney of Clay county. In 1894 he was elected representative to the legislature, and was one of the most valuable members on the floor of the lower house.

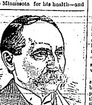
CHARLES M. START.

One of the most highly respected legal lights of Minnesota and an honored member of the supreme bench is Judge Charles M. Start, who was renominated to that high position by the unanimous voice of the convention.

W. C. MASTERMAN,



Chairman Republican State Central Committee.

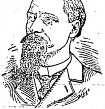


CHARLES M. START.
Republican Candidate for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Start was born in Vermont in 1839, and after attending school and Barre academy, that state, he engaged in the study of law, being admitted to the bar in 1860. In 1863 he enlisted in the Tenth Vermont volunteers and a month later was commissioned a lieutenant. Being disabled in service he resigned from the army and in 1863 came to Minnesota for his health—and has remained here ever since. He settled at Rochester and engaged in the practice of his profession; his ability was soon recognized and he was elected attorney of Olmsted county, which position he held for eight years. In 1879 he was elected attorney general of the state and in 1881 he was appointed judge of the Third judicial district, to which office he was thrice re-elected. In 1894 he was nominated and elected chief justice of the supreme court, the most honorable position in the gift of the people, and he has discharged its duties with great ability and fairness.

LOREN W. COLLINS.

For 13 years Judge Loren W. Collins has filled the important position of an associate justice of the supreme court. In 1887 he was appointed by Governor McGill to fill an unexpired term and has twice been elected by the people, each time by such a majority that evidenced the fact that the voters recognized his ability and integrity.



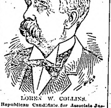
CHARLES F. STAPLES.
Republican Candidate for Railroad Commissioner.

Mr. Collins was born in Lowell, Mass., Aug. 7, 1838. He was educated in the public schools in that state until 1854, when he came to Minnesota with his parents. In 1862 he enlisted in the Seventh Minnesota infantry and was commissioned a lieutenant, and was later brevetted captain. He served through the Sioux Indian campaign and afterwards went South, where he served until the conclusion of the Civil war.

On coming home Captain Collins studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1866. He located at St. Cloud to practice and has since made his home there. He was county attorney of Stearns county from 1866 to 1870, served four terms as mayor of St. Cloud and served two terms in the legislature, in 1881 and 1883.

CHARLES F. STAPLES.

C. F. Staples was born in Dakota county in 1850; was educated in district schools and finished in St. Paul; engaged in teaching several years; is a practical farmer and dairyman, operating at one time the largest dairy in the state. He has held many positions of trust and honor, including school, town and county; was member of the house in 1893, and served on several important committees; was appointed member of the pine land investigating committee, and afterwards chosen as its secretary; was a member of the house in 1893 and 1895.



LOREN W. COLLINS.
Republican Candidate for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Staples was returned to the house in 1898, and in the session of 1899 perfected the record he had made in the three previous sessions.

He has always stood for the right and opposed the wrong, and though a strict partisan Republican, he could today command the Democratic endorsement for railroad commissioner.

Mr. Staples has a record and a standing that any man might envy, and it has been predicted for him that though his name appears well down on the list of candidates, he will lead all in the majority he secures.

JOSEPH G. MILLER.

Joseph G. Miller of Two Harbors was born at Oswego, Ills., Sept. 8, 1868. He is of German descent, and his father was always active in Republican politics. After receiving a common school education, Mr. Miller began railroading as a telegraph operator, in 1886, and has since devoted his time to the business, having had practical experience in all branches. He became a resident of Minnesota nine years ago. In 1896 he was elected clerk of the district court for Lake and Cook counties, defeating his opponent three to one. He is a lifelong Republican and since 1894 has been chairman of the Lake county Republican committee. Mr. Miller has been officially endorsed by all the railway organizations in the state, regardless of party lines, which represent 40,000 votes, and also by the State Federation of Labor.

IRA B. MILLS.

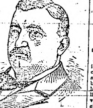
The presence of an attorney of ability and high standing on the railway and warehouse commission was a necessity which was recognized by the Republican state convention and in the nomination of Judge Ira B. Mills this requirement was well fulfilled.

Mr. Mills was born in Orange county, New York, in 1831. He attended the public schools and later the law college at Albany, N. Y. He came to Minnesota 23 years ago, locating at Moorhead, where he engaged in the practice of law. He was elected judge of the district court and was one of the ablest and most popular judges in that part of the state.

As a member of the state railway and warehouse commission Judge Mills brought to it abundant experience in legal questions and particularly on those intricate points relating to commerce and railroads.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The candidates on the Republican state ticket go before the voters of Minnesota on a platform of unquestioned strength and point with pride to a record of 40 years of control of public affairs in this state.



JULIUS H. BLOCK.
Republican Candidate for State Treasurer.

The principles adopted by the Republican national convention at Philadelphia are endorsed and the administration of President McKinley heartily approved. That the promises of the party made in 1896 have been carried out is proven by the high state of prosperity enjoyed by all as compared with the business stagnation existing when the present administration secured the reins of power.

The adoption of the gold standard law is approved and the sound financial policy of the party is credited with having contributed largely to the present prosperity.

The bravery and patriotism of our soldiers and sailors in the war with Spain is commended and a fair and liberal administration of the pension laws in behalf of the widows and orphans of those who fell in that war is favored.

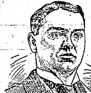
The platform declares an unalterable opposition to all trusts and combinations having for their purpose the stifling of competition arbitrarily controlling production and fixing prices, and condemns the Democrats for the defeat of the constitutional amendment for regulation of the trust evil during the last session of congress.

Liberal legislation for the national defense and for the upbuilding of our navy is favored; also the proposed subsidy bill for the aid of our merchant marine and the enlargement of our foreign markets.

The record of the Republican party as the friend and champion of labor is referred to and a pledge made to use all legitimate means to secure the passage of legislation making eight hours the legal working day on all public works.

Coming down to state affairs the platform expresses confidence in Senator Knute Nelson and recommends his re-election by the incoming legislature.

The speedy passage of legislation now pending in congress to prevent the sale of oleomargarine is favored and the senators and representatives from this state are called upon to aid by their work and votes in securing the passage of such legislation.



JOSEPH G. MILLER.
Republican Candidate for Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner.

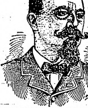
Election of United States senators by direct vote of the people is favored and a constitutional amendment to that end recommended.

The able and honest administration of public affairs in Minnesota for 40 years is pointed to with pride. The boasted claim of the opposition to reveal delinquencies when given an opportunity has resulted in utter confusion to the Fusionists now in power by their inability to do so.

On the question of railroad and corporation taxation the platform says:

"The Republican party stands for the principle of fair and equal taxation and insists that every business, whether owned by corporations or individuals, should bear its just share of the public burden. We heartily approve of the legislation enacted by the last Republican legislature known as the 'Somerville law,' imposing a tax upon all foreign corporations doing business within this state.

CHARLES C. WHITNEY,



Secretary Republican State Central Committee.

"We heartily commend the present gross earnings system of taxation as to railroads. We believe that system to be attended with less friction and expense and to have produced better financial results than the method of direct taxation which prevails in some adjacent states. We are in favor of continuing the maintenance of this system in this state and we insist that the rate of taxation under the gross earnings system shall be maintained at such a figure as will make the tax annually collected on railroad property equal and uniform with the taxes imposed upon other property throughout the state."

STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

At the meeting of the candidates on

CONTINUED ON LAST PAGE.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 6, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President.
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President.
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

Red Lake county has two candidates for the Republican nomination for representative from this district, C. G. Rapp, of St. Hilaire, and Dr. N. M. Watson, of Red Lake Falls.

The Democrats of Red Lake county are to be congratulated upon the county ticket that they placed in nomination at Red Lake Falls last week. They have put up good clean men, and, while the nominees will probably not be successful, they will detract a sufficient number of votes from the Populists to insure the election of the Republican county ticket.

The Populists who had hoped the Democrats would indorse their county ticket were badly mistaken. The following resolution, adopted by the convention, explains itself:

"We abhor centralization of power, whether in national, state or county affairs, and call upon all independent voters to support the Democratic party of Red Lake county in its endeavor to crush ring rule as exemplified in the Middle-of-the-road convention recently held in this city."

Republican Legislative Convention.

A Republican legislative convention for the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, is hereby called to be held on Tuesday, September 11th, A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for representative from said representative district to the Minnesota state legislature, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Representation at this legislative convention will be in accordance with the following resolution unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Republican legislative committee for the said Sixty-first legislative district, held at the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., on Tuesday, August 7th, A. D. 1900:

Resolved, that each county in the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, shall be entitled to one delegate for each 100 votes, or major fraction thereof cast for William H. Eustis, the Republican candidate for governor in 1898.

In accordance with the above resolution, each of said counties is entitled to representation as follows:

Beltrami.........4
Red Lake.........4

All county conventions in said representative district for the election of delegates to attend this legislative convention shall be held on Saturday, September 8th, A. D. 1900.

All primary elections in connection therewith must be conducted as prescribed in the primary election law for Minnesota enacted in 1895, as amended in 1897.

By order of the Republican legislative committee for the Sixty-first legislative district of Minnesota.

Dated August 7, 1900.

N. M. WATSON,
Chairman.
IRA C. RICHARDSON,
Secretary.

Republican County Convention and Primaries.

A Republican county convention for the county of Red Lake, in the state of Minnesota, is hereby called to be held on Saturday, September 8th, A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, in said county, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for County Auditor, County Treasurer, County Superintendent of Schools, Register of Deeds, Sheriff, County Attorney, Judge of Probate, County Surveyor, Coroner, Commissioner of 2nd district and Commissioner of 4th district, of and for said county of Red Lake; and also for the purpose of electing four delegates to attend the legislative convention for the representative district composed of the counties of Beltrami and Red Lake, in the Sixty-first legislative district of the state of Minnesota, to be held on Tuesday, September eleventh, A. D. 1900, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for representative from said representative district to the Minnesota legislature, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before such county convention.

Representation at this county convention will be in accordance with the following resolution unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Republican county committee for said Red Lake county, held at the village of St. Hilaire, Minn., on Tuesday, August 14th, 1900:

Resolved, that each and every election precinct in the county of Red Lake, Minn., shall be entitled to two delegates to the Republican county convention for said county, above called.

In accordance with the above resolution the representation to said county convention will be as follows:

Black River	2	Bray	2
Emardville	2	Equality	2
Garnes	2	Gervais	2
Lambert	2	Louisville	2
Lake Pleasant	2	Numedal	2
Norden	2	North	2
Polk Center	2	Poplar River	2
Rocksbury	2	River Falls	2
Red Lake Falls	2	Sanders	2
St. Hilaire	2	Terrebonne	2
City of T. R. F.		City of R. L. F.
1st ward	2	1st ward	2
2nd ward	2	2nd ward	2
3rd ward	2	3rd ward	2
Wyandotte	2

All primary elections in connection therewith must be held on Thursday, September 6th, 1900, at 7 o'clock p. m., at such place as may be designated by local committee of each precinct and conducted as prescribed in the primary election law for Minnesota enacted in 1895, as amended in 1897.

The Republican committee of each precinct in the county is hereby requested to have the proper notice for primary duly posted.

By order of the Republican county committee for Red Lake county, Minn.
C. G. Rapp,
Chairman.
C. A. Lindquist,
Secretary.

MARKETS.

(Corrected to Date.)

No. 1 Northern	66c
Oats	31c
Flax	$1.29

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

STEVENS FAVORITE
GIVE THE BOYS A
Stevens Favorite Rifle.
Chicopee Falls, Mass.
P. O. Box 1728.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.
Paul A. Kaiser, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier
Ives & Son, St. Hilaire Spectator.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Johannes A. Sveum, H. E. 16,742, for the W½ NW¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Mannum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before Dell Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on October 8th, 1900, viz: Nels August Olson, H. E. 15,467, for the NE¼ SW¼, NW¼ SE¼ and W½ NE¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
John Berg, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Mannum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Tom Olson Mannum, H. E. 16,447, for the SE¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Gunerius O. Satnas, H. E. 15,503, for the E½ SW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 2, Tp. 154 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole P. Nygaard, of Norden, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Axel Larson, of New Solum, Minnesota.
Chris Loftnas, of New Solum, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office, at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Ole P. Nygaard, H. E. 16,780, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 8, N½ NE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 17, Tp. 154, N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Gunerius O. Satnas, of New Solum, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of New Solum, Minnesota.
Ole O. Neala, of Norden, Minnesota.
Hans A. Myrom, of Norden, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 6 6t

Bankrupt's Petition for Discharge.

In the matter of Joseph W. Peterson, Bankrupt. } In Bankruptcy.

To the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the District Court of the United States, for the District of Minnesota.

Joseph W. Peterson of St. Hilaire, in the County of Red Lake, and State of Minnesota, in said district, respectfully represents that on the 24th day of July, A. D. 1900, last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 24th day of August, A. D. 1900.

JOSEPH W. PETERSON,
Bankrupt.

ORDER OF NOTICE THEREON.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, District of Minnesota—ss.

On this 28th day of August, A. D. 1900, on reading the foregoing petition, it is ordered by the court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 25th day of September, A. D. 1900, before said court, at Fergus Falls, in said district, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Thief River Falls News, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court, that the clerk shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

Witness the Honorable William Lochren, Judge of the said court, and the seal thereof, at Fergus Falls, in said district, on the 28th day of August, A. D. 1900.

{ SEAL OF THE COURT. }

Charles L. Spencer,
Clerk.
By L. A. Levorsen,
Deputy Clerk.

NOTICE OF EXPIRATION OF TIME OF REDEMPTION.

To Octave Montriel:

You are hereby notified that on the 8th day of May, A. D. 1897, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the district court in and for the county of Polk, in the Fourteenth Judicial District of the state of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1897, the following described piece and parcel of land which is now situated in Red Lake county (formerly Polk county), in the state of Minnesota, to-wit: W½ SE¼, NE¼ SE¼ and Lot 1, Section 22, Town 151, Range 43, was sold to the state to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interest and costs for the sum of nineteen dollars and nineteen cents; that on the 9th day of April, 1900, the right of the state acquired by said sale was assigned for the sum of forty-three dollars and eighty-one cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is forty-three dollars and eighty-one cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 12 per cent per annum from said 9th day of April, A. D. 1900, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice and proof thereof has been filed in the office of the county auditor of said Polk county.

Witness my hand and official seal this 13th day of July, A. D. 1900.

[SEAL.]

JOHN GLEASON,
County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.
By N. A. Holland,
Deputy.

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 27th day of October, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼, Sec. 19, SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 31, SE¼ NW¼, Sec. 34, T. 156 N., R. 44 W.

Any and all parties claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated August 30, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

Sept 6 6t

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3101, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

Wesley Evins, City Dray Line.

All work in my line promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me an order and be convinced.

Wesley Evins,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as The North American Review. — Boston Journal.

IN THE North American Review YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND The Right Topics, By the Right Men, At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "The North American Review constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the North American Review."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but All Sides of All Questions in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of American Women receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N.Y.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
General Banking.
Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE, REAL ESTATE, FARM LOANS and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

Attention Settlers.

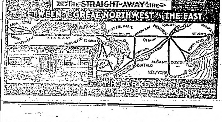
* * *

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.

TIME AND SPACE are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE A large map of the world, on Mercator's Projection, about 22x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.



SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.
ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividends Cash and Paid-up values for each year

J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn

F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33, Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

John Moylan was down to Crookston last week.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

W. B. Fuller went over to Grand Forks last week to visit friends.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

Fred G. Wells went to St. Paul last week to attend the state fair.

Wiley Tindolph last week sold his driving team to R. B. Vining.

C. L. Dobner and F. J. Stebbins were up to Germantown last week.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

A cook and several servant girls wanted at the Hotel Markham, St. Hilaire.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Wanted—800 oak and cedar piles from 12 to 26 feet long. Carl Kretzschmar.

H. Lowin returned to this city from his trip to the Red Lake Agency agency.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Stebbins left Monday for the Twin cities to attend the state fair.

Joseph Smith came up from Crookston last Friday, in order to spend a few days hunting.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

Attorney H. W. Lee left last Saturday for St. Paul and Wisconsin points on legal business.

Monday was Labor Day, a legal holiday in Minnesota. The bank and schools observed the day.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. S. McMann Wednesday, Sept. 15.

Practice shooting at Ole Peterson's shooting gallery, next to Odd Fellows' hall. Open day and night.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

K. M. Hansen went to Red Lake Falls Monday to attend a meeting of the board of county commissioners.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

W. A. Case, of Rocksbury, candidate for the Republican nomination for county auditor, was in the city last week.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

C. J. Knox sent a party of hunters into the Mud lake country the first of the week, where they will remain during the fall.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Knox left the first of the week to attend the state fair. Mrs. Knox will visit friends and relatives in Iowa before returning.

M. E. Todd has commenced a nine-month term of school in a district four miles north of Red Lake Falls. His family will reside in this city.

The Democrats of the 61st legislative district, which comprises the counties of Red Lake and Beltrami, have issued a call for a convention to be held at St. Hilaire on the 24th of September. James Meehan, Jr., of this city, will probably be the nominee.

The Crookston College will open its fall term September 10. Board and room furnished and taken care of in private family or hotel for $2.50 to $3 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

School was commenced Monday, and a large enrollment is reported.

Geo. Osmann, the fur buyer, was in the city the first of the week.

James A. Wilson, the new principal of the Central school, arrived in the city last week.

Peterson & Curtis' new drug store will be open for business about the 15th of September.

Nineteen bushels to the acre is the average raised on C. J. Knox's farm. Not so bad a crop failure after all.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Isedor Lowin was out in the country southeast of here Sunday hunting for the festive prairie chicken. He reports the usual luck—no chickens.

Misses Stanchfield and Richardson, teachers in the Central school, arrived in the city last Saturday, after spending their vacations at their respective homes.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

Taken Up—One black buck sheep. If owner does not call for same before August 14th, 1900, it will be sold to pay expenses allowed by law. A. Myrom, Norden, Minn.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—Perfect as a beverage or medicine. It prevents chills and tones up the system. It exhilarates and does not poison. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Chas. Tedford was over from Cass Lake last week and, in company with John J. Solt and Martin Bjorke, of St. Hilaire, and R. B. Vining, of this city, spent a few days hunting in the country north of here.

C. A. Robbecke and James Meehan, Jr., left the first of the week for St. Paul to attend the Democratic state convention. John Morgan and S. T. Johnson, the other two delegates from this city, did not attend.

Money to loan at straight legal rates. No commission. Privilege given to pay any part of principal on any interest-paying date. Lands bought. Himle Real Estate Agency, F. G. Wells, Mgr., Thief River Falls, Minn.

A. W. Clark, of Bossko, S. D., arrived in the city last week. He is looking for a township of government land open to homestead entry, upon which about thirty of his South Dakota friends wish to settle and start a town.

Dr. J. E. Argue, the Red Lake Falls dentist, will not be here from the 5th to the 10th of September, owing to the fact that he will attend the meeting of the Minnesota State Dental association. He will, however, be here from the 17th to the 21st of September, and all parties wishing work done in his line are invited to call and see him.

The business of the United States land office at Crookston for the month of August showed a total of 107 homestead entries, 39 final proofs and 19 cash entries, the total receipts being $4,945.68. The figures for August, 1899, were 105 entries, 19 final proofs and 10 cash entries, the receipts being $5,017.12.

Hon. Page Morris, congressman from the Sixth district; O. D. Kinney, a prominent banker, and W. T. Bailey, one of the largest owners of pine land and saw mills in the northwest, all residents of Duluth, arrived in the city last Friday, and are hunting in the country northeast of here. Ed. Wilcox is in charge of the party.

If you want to sell your farm, list it with F. G. Wells.

For Sale—A good folding bed, nearly new, cheap. C. C. Jackson.

D. McDonald came down from the Red lake the first of the week.

Mrs. J. G. Ballard and mother left Tuesday for Iowa to visit friends.

D. W. Carter and Frank Carter, of the Red lake, were in the city the first of the week.

M. K. Wall, the real estate dealer, transacted business in Red Lake Falls yesterday.

O. J. Rollis, the enterprising merchant of Rollis, was in the city the first of the week.

Morgan Vaughan and Miss Sarah Vaughan came down from Germantown the first of the week.

Chris Rogers returned to his claim up on Shotley brook Tuesday, after spending several days in the city.

L. T. Bergh, the machine collector of St. Hilaire, was in the the first of the week interviewing the farmer friends.

Considerable wheat is now being brought to the Thief River Falls market. Most of it is of a good grade, and the price is fair.

Game Warden Shaw, of Crookston, calls attention to the fact that to ship game out of the state is a violation of the federal as well as state laws.

Fred Holzknecht left the first of the week for Wisconsin, where he will visit friends and relatives. He was accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Phil Zeh.

J. W. Adee, of Wausau, Wis., arrived in the city last Saturday, and has accepted a position as stenographer in the office of the Thief River Falls Lumber company.

Joseph Hollan, accompanied by his wife and children, arrived in the city the first of the week from Olivia, Minn., and will be associated in the future with his brother in the mercantile business.

There will be a meeting of the Commercial Club in the city hall tomorrow (Friday) evening. All members are requested to be present. If you are not a member, you should join tomorrow evening.

A gentleman of this city has $50 he wishes to bet on the result of the presidential election. He wants to bet upon McKinley, and if any ardent Democrat wants to cover the money, he will be given full particulars at the News office.

The Republican primaries to elect delegates to attend the county convention to be held at Red Lake Falls next Saturday will be held in the various voting precincts throughout the county this evening. All loyal Republicans should attend.

The Victoria Times says that the money for MacKenzie Mann's railway from the Great lakes to the Pacific, with a branch line to Dawson, has been subscribed in London. The Pacific terminus will be on the northern coast of British Columbia.

The Crookston and Red Lake Falls base ball clubs will play a series of three games—one at Red Lake Falls, one at Crookston and the other at Grand Forks—for the gate receipts and a side bet of $50. If the Red Lake Falls sports have any money left after playing the three games, the club in this city could accommodate them.

M. J. Murray, brother of H. T. Murray, and a man who has hosts of friends in this city, has been appointed roadmaster of the Kalispel division of the Great Northern, his commission dating from August 27th. The operating and track men on northern division are all glad to learn of Mike's good fortune.

Word has been received in this city of the death of Elden Maxwell, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Maxwell, formerly residents of this city, but who now reside at Devils Lake, N. D. The remains were interred in the cemetery at Devils Lake. The parents will have the sympathy of all their friends in this city.

CASE DECIDED

Judge Watts Decides in Favor of Red Lake County.

Judge Watts Monday decided the case brought by the commissioners of Polk county against those of Red Lake county to compel payment of Red Lake county's share of the bonded indebtedness that existed at the time of the creation of Red Lake county.

The action came up in the form of an application for a writ of mandamus requiring the commissioners of Red Lake county to immediately make provision for payment of Red Lake county's proportion of the bonded indebtedness and interest by levy and taxation upon property in that county.

The application is denied, and it is ordered in judgment that Polk county must pay the debts that fall due as a result of the creation of the new county. This is in amount of $32,800, being the appraised value of the county buildings, at the time the separation took place.

It is further ordered that the balance of the debt, consisting of its bonded obligations, is to be paid by both Polk and Red Lake counties directly to the holders of such evidences of indebtedness in proportion of the assessed values of the old and new counties to each other at the time of the new counties, that Polk county, not yet having paid to Red Lake county the appraised value of the buildings, until it does so has no claim against Red Lake county for any proportion of its indebtedness, nor can it require the officers of Red Lake county to levy any tax to pay said indebtedness.

County Attorney Holston assisted by Special County Attorney Martin O'Brien applied for the writ and conducted the case for Polk county, Chas. E. Boughton and Van R. Brown being in charge of Red Lake county's interests.

The case will be immediately appealed to the supreme court, and owing to its importance will likely be preferred, and an early decision rendered.

Commenting upon the decision the Crookston Times says:

"Considerable comment is caused by the position taken by the court in the case of Polk vs. Red Lake county. The far reaching effect of the decision can only be appreciated by a consideration of the fact that Red Lake county refused absolutely to pay any portion of the bonded indebtedness. The last issue of Polk county bonds is not due until 1919, another issue is due in 1917, another in 1915, and still another in 1913. Now if Polk county must pay all of these bonds before it has a cause of action, it must wait until 1919. In the meantime, it will have advanced money that should be paid by Red Lake county to the sum, counting interest and all, of about $50,000. It seems, from the view of the court, that in 1919, after the county has advanced during all this time the above amount, the taxpayers, then, can secure this sum from Red Lake county. If we take the other view of the court, that Polk county has the right now to pay only its proportion and that the holders of the bonds must look to Red Lake county for the balance, we are confronted with the fact that the holders of the bonds have the written promise of Polk county to pay—a binding contract with the corporation of Polk county, and the question arises, how can the legislature pass a law impairing the obligation of that contract, and, notwithstanding its terms, compel the holders of the bonds to look to Red Lake county, with which they have no contract, for a part of what is due on Polk county's contract? Or, if the legislature would do this, could Polk county afford to repudiate any part of its contractional obligations? How could it procure a surrender of its negotiable bonds or coupon without paying them in full?"

THE DEMOCRATS

Nominated a Full County Ticket Last Week.

The Democrats of Red Lake county met at Red Lake Falls last Thursday and placed in nomination the following county ticket:

Auditor—B. E. Burke, of St. Hilaire.
Treasurer—Jacob Thill, of Wylie.
Register of Deeds—Ed. Pernese, of Terrebonne.
Sheriff—Dan Lenehan, of Red Lake Falls.
County Attorney—H. W. Lee, of Thief River Falls.
Judge of Probate—J. T. Knight, of Red Lake Falls.
Surveyor—Day F. Stacy, of Red Lake Falls.
Coroner—D. R. Lemieux, of Red Lake Falls.
Commissioner, 4th District—C. A. Robbecke, of Thief River Falls.

The convention unanimously indorsed James Meehan, Jr., of this city, as a candidate for the legislature. Mr. Meehan has not decided to run as yet, but, if he does, it is safe to say that he will get ten votes to one cast for the Populist nominee.

—No nomination for county superintendent of schools was made, as a majority of the Democrats intend to support Frank Jeffers, the Populist nominee.

IT IS VERY KIND.

Red Lake Falls Will Not Oppose Us.

The Thief River Falls Commercial Club will have as its primary object the opening of that portion of the Red Lake reservation lying in Red Lake and Marshall counties. The citizens of the progressive city up the river mean business, and, as they know how to get after a thing, when they are united, they may succeed in this. There are eight townships of the reservation in in Red Lake county and twenty townships in the county already organized. It has been suggested that a line drawn on the south border of Bray, Sanders and Rocksbury, straight east to the Beltrami county line, comprising a total of fourteen townships, with Thief River Falls as the county seat, is the day dream of the Thief River Falls agitators. This would take six townships from Red Lake county as it exists today, but would add three, leaving Red Lake county still with seventeen townships. We do not think, if this is the object of Thief River Falls, that they would find any considerable opposition here, and, in that event, Red Lake Falls would, no doubt, be found working hand in hand with its sister city, as the interests of the two places do not conflict, but, on the other hand, would be identical. When the situation is considered, it will be found that Thief River Falls and this city are not competitive points. Our territories are in separate spheres that do not conflict.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Eddy Coming

Hon. Frank M. Eddy will speak at Thief River Falls, Saturday evening, Sept. 15; St. Hilaire Monday evening, Sept. 17; Red Lake Falls, Tuesday evening, Sept. 18.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

Council Votes to Put in an Electric Plant.

At a meeting of the city council held the first of the week, it was voted to put in an electric light plant. Plans and specifications of the plant, which will cost $3,080, were submitted by Geo. Ralph, of Crookston, and approved by the council. The power house will be located near Carl Kretzschmar's dam, and it is expected to have everything in running order by the 1st of November. It is expected to light the city with eight arc lights on the start, four of which will be located on La Bree avenue, three on Main street and one on the East side at the approach of the bridge.

Power will be furnished by Mr. Kretzschmar's dam, and a contract has been made with that gentleman for a period of twenty-five years, the rate being $50 per month for the first year and $60 per month for the twenty-four remaining years.

The money for the erection of the plant will be secured by bonding it. Next spring the council proposes to put in a system of water works.

Attention, Farmers!

A mass meeting called to be held on Saturday, Sept. 15, 1900, at 2 o'clock p. m., at the court house in the city of Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county, Minn.

The audience will be addressed on the wheat situation. The object is to make 75c the minimum, or lowest, price for good marketable wheat.

Farmers, be sure and turn out and come to this meeting, as it is called especially for your benefit, and is bound to interest you intensely. Listen to the idea of the promoter, as it will deal with facts which are bound to entail your prosperity. Farmers, it will cost you a trifle only, 1c per bushel, or 10c per acre, of your wheat acreage to keep up the organization, which will give you an extra 25c per bushel, probably more, besides a great deal of information worthy of your intelligent consideration.

Farmers: you cannot afford to go unorganized any longer, unless you are willing to obey the dictations of the wheat clique, who is setting the price on your product. It is out of reason.

The farmer, the producer, has the unquestionable right to set the minimum, or lowest, price on his product, which price shall never be less than the cost of producing the same. Farmer, as a class, are in slavery, their product, wheat especially, the price of which is controlled by a comparatively few moneyed men, who are reaping millions of dollars every year from this source.

Farmers: there is a way to get out of this dilemma.

Farmers: there is a Moses.
Farmers: there is a leader.
Farmers: will you follow him?

Then be sure to come to this meeting and listen to the address, "The Wheat Situation of the Day," Your's Respectfully,

P. E. Pirath,
Red Lake Falls.

The band will give a dance in the Odd Fellows' hall tomorrow evening. It is the intention of the band hereafter to give a free concert each Friday evening.

H. Swenson, who has been traveling with a circus during the summer, will return to this city tomorrow.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14 all wool suits, regular price	$8.00,	now	$5.25
" " " " "	10.00,	"	6.50
5 " " " " "	9.00,	"	5.50
1 " " " " "	12.50,	"	8.50
7 " " " " "	16.00,	"	11.50
6 " " " " "	12.00,	"	9.00
5 " " " " "	14.00,	"	10.00
15 " " " " "	13.50,	"	10.00
8 " " " " "	10.50,	"	7.50
8 " " " " "	10.00,	"	7.00
7 " " Black Clay worsted	15.00,	"	10.50
1 " " " " "	12.50,	"	8.00
6 " " " " "	11.00,	"	8.00
5 " " " " "	13.50,	"	10.00
2 " " Fancy worsted	14.00	"	11.00

3 all wool Blue Sage suits, regular price $13.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

C. L. Dobner, President. H. G. Dobner, Cashier. L. Ellington, Vice-President.

FIRST STATE BANK

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. Gallach, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. Ellington, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. Hendrickson, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. Dobner, President.
H. G. Dobner, Cashier

Burlington Route

ELECTRIC LIGHT IN EVERY BERTH

A special feature of the Burlington's Chicago Limited. When you retire, turn on the light. After you are comfortably ensconsed between the sheets, you can read by it. When you are sleepy, a twist of the wrist—and the light's out. Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Scenic Day Express leaves Minneapolis 7:10 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday, arriving Chicago same evening. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

20,000 acres of wild and improved lands for sale in Red Lake and Marshall Cos.

Prairie Land, Speculator's Land, Timber Land.

Himle Land & Loan Co.,

(Purchasers of N. P. Ry. Co.'s Lands in Red Lake and Marshall counties.)

For information, maps, prices, etc., call on or address,

FRED G. WELLS, Local Mgr.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

$150,000 to Loan on Farm Lands.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in The Patent Record, an illustrated and widely-circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,
VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, WASHINGTON, D. C.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.

CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE.

the Republican state ticket, the members of the state central committee were appointed by Chairman Young of the nominating convention. W. C. Masterman of Stillwater, formerly state senator from Washington county, was appointed chairman and C. C. Whitney of Marshall secretary. The following constitute the executive committee: Tams Bixby, chairman; Robert Jamison, C. A. Morey, E. S. Warner, A. F. Ferris, O. H. Myron and C. C. Whitney.

The members of the committee are: Chairman, William C. Masterman of Stillwater, and representing the First judicial district; at large, C. A. Morey, Winona; C. C. Whitney, Marshall; Tams Bixby, Red Wing; Eli S. Warner, St. Paul; Robert Jamison, Minneapolis; A. F. Ferris, Brainerd; O. H. Myron, Ada; Second judicial district, Theodore L. Schurmeier, St. Paul; Third district, H. M. Richardson, Rochester; Fourth district, C. A. Smith, Minneapolis; Fifth district, A. W. Stockton, Faribault; Sixth district, George Knutson, St. James; Seventh district, Charles S. Mitchell, Alexandria; Eighth district, W. E. Harrington, Hutchinson; Ninth district, Philip Leisch, New Ulm; Tenth district, R. E. Thompson, Preston; Eleventh district, J. P. Johnson, Duluth; Twelfth district, Marcus Johnson, Atwater; Thirteenth district, Daniel Shell, Worthington; Fourteenth district, A. Grindeland, Warren; Fifteenth district, D. M. Gunn, Grand Rapids; Sixteenth district, E. J. Jones, Morris; Seventeenth district, J. A. Everett, Fairmont; Eighteenth district, C. A. Pidgeon, Buffalo.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

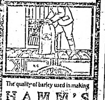
Watches, Clocks, Jewelry and Guns,

Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Farmers Know



The quality of barley used in making

HAMM'S BEER

None but the best could make so good a brew ✤ Supplied by agents everywhere, or ✤ THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn. ✤

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars, Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m Lv.	Crookston	Ar. 6:20 p m
9:25 a m "	Shirley	" 6:00 p m
10:05 a m*"	Ives	"*5:30 p m
10:21 a m "	Wylie	"*4:55 p m
11:30 a m "	St Hilaire	Lv. 4:30 p m
12:10 a m Ar.	Thief River F	" 1:10 p m
1:50 p m Lv.	St Hilaire	" 4:30 p m
2:35 p m Ar.	Red Lake F	" 3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address
W. F. Bohrns, Agent.
Thief River Falls, Minn

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye, ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office n Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.

Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

Just talk to R. B. Vining at Thief River Falls.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

PORTER & PAULSON,
- - Proprietors of - -
CITY DRAY
- - and - -
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

VALUE

If that Is What You Are After, We Are Headquarters for Men's, Ladies' and Children's Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Furnishing Goods.

Boys' Straw Hats, in all shapes and styles, from 23c to.............. 45c	Men's fancy, soft body negligee shirts............ 45c
You can buy a good business suit for............ $7.50	Mens fancy night shirts, from 75c up to.......... $1.50
Boys knee pants, double knee and double seat, from 60c up to.. $1.25	Pique front white shirts for men..... 48c
Little vestee suits for boys, size from 3 to 8, in all shades, bright little garments, $1.25 to.. $4.50	Men's Nobby dress pants, best make, for......... $2.98
Pants for men from $1.00 to... $5.00	Ladies' summer shirts, silk trimmed, from 25c to............ 50c

One Price to All, and Your Money Returned For Goods Which Do Not Prove to be Satisfactory.

No Misrepresentation Permitted. Your Dollar Will Go Further Here than in Any Other Store.

We Carry a Complete Line of Trunks and Valises.

H. LEWIN,
Proprietor of Red Star Clothing House.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.

* * *

NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.

* * *

BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - MINN

G. H. Turville,
Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

La Bree Avenue. Thief River Falls.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 36. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

A GOOD TICKET.

Red Lake County Republicans Name a County Ticket.

HARMONY AND ENTHUSIASM

Characteristics Which Predominated in the Convention.---Capt. Van Sant Present and Greeted With Cheers.---Capable and Honest Men Placed in Nomination.

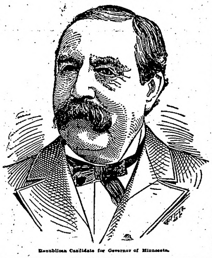
Never in the history of Red Lake county was there such a well attended, harmonious and enthusiastic convention as the one held in Red Lake Falls last Saturday by the Republicans. There were contests for nearly every nomination to be made by the convention, but they were friendly ones, and no sore spots were left.

The convention was called to order at 2:30 o'clock p. m. by Chas. G. Rapp, and Dr. N. M. Watson was elected chairman and John A. Duffy secretary. A committee on resolutions and credentials were appointed and a short recess taken.

After the convention reassembled, Hon. Chas. G. Rapp, who for the past two years has been chairman of the county committee, made a short address. He stated that he was glad to see such a large and representative gathering of delegates, and that if all put their shoulder to the wheel, success would surely crown our efforts. He saw men in the convention who two years ago were affiliated with the Populists, and congratulated them upon their change of heart. Concluding, he said: "We hear talk of sectionalism, nationality, etc., and I think it is about time to say to hades with Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls and hurrah for the Republican party. Let us stand shoulder to shoulder working in unison for McKinley, Roosevelt, Van Sant, Eddy and the rest of the ticket, and when we have succeeded in making Red Lake county Republican to the core, then we can fight among ourselves, but until that time I earnestly hope that everyone will work for Republican success." Mr. Rapp's remarks were greeted with a tremendous outburst of applause, and all of the delegates pledged that they would live in harmony—and love one another.

Capt. Samuel R. Van Sant, Republican candidate for governor, was present and met all of the delegates. Mr. Van Sant is a plain, honest and unostentatious man, and made a very favorable impression among the delegates. He addressed the convention in the afternoon and was heartily applauded. Mr. Van Sant said that he was not an orator—"I am just a plain, common fellow like the rest of you," he continued, and then he proceeded to deliver an address filled with facts and sound advice. At the conclusion of Mr. Van Sant's address, Chairman Watson proposed three cheers for the gallant old soldier, and he was given such a hearty ovation that the old court house nearly fell down.

SAMUEL R. VAN SANT,



Republican Candidate for Governor of Minnesota.

The committee on resolutions reported a short, but red-hot set of resolutions, which were adopted unanimously.

The ticket nominated was as follows:

Auditor—W. A. Case.
Treasurer—L. Jensen.
Register of Deeds—Nels Holberg.
Judge of Probate—A. Bachaud.
Sheriff—Chas. Sampson.
County Attorney—L. C. Simons.
Supt. of Schools—Prof. O'Brien.
Coroner—Dr. Henry Grundy.
Surveyor—Day F. Stacy.
Commissioner—2nd district—W. C. L. Demann; 4th district—Louis Hanson.

The chair appointed a comittee of three to select a county committee of seven, and the following nominations were made:

At Large—Dr. N. M. Watson, of Red Lake Falls, and John W. Eastman, of Thief River Falls.
First Commissioner District—P. E. Smidesang, of Wylie.
Second Commissioner District—W. C. L. Demann, of town of Red Lake Falls.
Third Commissioner District—C. G. Rapp, of St. Hilaire.
Fourth Commissioner District—C. L. Dobner, of Thief River Falls.
Fifth Commissioner District—Ovide Moreau, of Terrebonne.

NEXT SATURDAY.

Congressman Eddy to Be Here on That Day.

It is expected that there will be a large number of people from the surrounding country in the city next Saturday evening to hear the speech to be delivered by Congressman Eddy on that evening. Mr. Eddy has always been a favorite in Thief River Falls, and, owing to the good work he accomplished last winter in securing the passage of the free homestead bill, his friends here are more numerous than ever before. Be sure to come and bring your friends.

Stole a Game.

The Crookston ball club is very indignant at the treatment it received at Red Lake Falls last week, and claim that the citizens of that town aided the home team in stealing the game. Up to the last half of the ninth inning, the score stood 5 to 1 in favor of Crookston, the Red Lake Falls team having been whitewashed, except in the second inning, when they scored on errors by Crookston players. Then it was that the unclean work began. Clubs and sods were thrown at Crookston's pitcher and basemen, and a howling mob entered the diamond, and gathered about the basemen, interfering with their play. At one time four men ran together from third to the home plate, and the catcher was prevented from couching the base runner.

Lumber Jacks Are Wise.

Thos. Butler, one of the pioneer lumbermen on the Clearwater, dropped in for a social chat with us on Monday. When asked how Bryan stood with the lumber boys this year, he replied: "For the past 28 years I have voted the Democratic ticket straight, shouted and worked for the success of the party, but I am through, and so are the lumber jacks who have had to make their living working in the woods and on the drive. We will vote and work for a continuation of the wages we are receiving today. McKinley and prosperity are good enough for us."—Thirteen Towns.

Daly's Dates.

M. J. Daly, Democratic candidate for congress from this district, will address the voters of this county as follows:

Thief River Falls, Sept. 20.
St. Hilaire, Sept. 21.
Red Lake Falls, Sept. 22.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated, electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated "Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

Just talk to R. B. Vining at Thief River Falls.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches, Clocks, Jewelry and Guns,

Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars--Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m Lv.	Crookston	Ar. 6:20 p m
9:25 a m "	Shirley	" 6:00 p m
10:05 a m*"	Ives	"*5:30 p m
10:21 a m "	Wylie	"*4:55 p m
11:30 a m "	St Hilaire	Lv. 4:30 p m
12:10 a m Ar.	Thief River F	" 1:10 p m
1:50 p m Lv.	St Hilaire	" 4:30 p m
2:35 p m Ar.	Red Lake F	" 3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address
G. N. Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Wesley Evins, City Dray Line.

All work in my line promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me an order and be convinced.

Wesley Evins,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF CLOTHING!

In order to reduce our stock preparatory to dissolution of partnership we have concluded to offer our entire stock of

MEN'S READY-MADE CLOTHING AT COST.

Beginning on Thursday, June 28, and continuing until every suit is sold, we offer the following:

14 all wool suits, regular price	$8.00,	now	$5.25
" " " " "	10.00,	"	6.50
5 " " " " "	9.00,	"	5.50
1 " " " " "	12.50,	"	8.50
7 " " " " "	16.00,	"	11.50
6 " " " " "	12.00,	"	9.00
5 " " " " "	14.00,	"	10.00
15 " " " " "	13.50,	"	10.00
8 " " " " "	10.50,	"	7.50
8 " " " " "	10.00,	"	7.00
7 " " Black Clay worsted	15.00,	"	10.50
1 " " " " "	12.50,	"	8.00
6 " " " " "	11.00,	"	8.00
5 " " " " "	13.50,	"	10.00
2 " " Fancy worsted	14.00	"	11.00

3 all wool Blue Sage suits, regular price $13.50, now $10.00.

6 Fancy Stripe worsted suits, regular price $15.00, now $11.00.

The above suits were manufactured by John G. Miller & Co. of Chicago, are made of good all wool material and well tailored and are first-class in every respect. In style, workmanship and material they cannot be excelled. This is the greatest opportunity the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity have ever had to buy strictly up-to-date goods at manufacturer's price.

In addition to the above we have a small line of men's suits in cotton and part cotton, ranging in price from $3.00 to $4.95 which will be sold at from $2.00 to $3.50.

Also a small line of boys' and children's suits ranging in price from 50c to $2.75 which will be closed out at from 25c to $1.75.

TERMS CASH. Postively no goods charged. Call early and have a complete line to select from.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

C. L. Dobner, President. H. G. Dobner, Cashier. L. Ellington, Vice-President.

FIRST STATE BANK

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. Gallach, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. Ellington, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. Hendrickson, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. Dobner, President.
H. G. Dobner, Cashier

Burlington Route

A GREAT AMERICAN TRAVELER SAYS:

"I would rather dine on a Burlington route dining car than on any other dining car in the world. The only other railroad service that compares with it is the Orient Express, on which I traveled between Paris and Constantinople.

S. S. McCLURE,
Publisher McClure's Magazine.

Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in The Patent Record, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,
VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, WASHINGTON, D. C.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 13, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President.
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

The Republican party points with pride to the record of Sheriff Charles Sampson and County Commissioner W. C. L. Demann, and has again placed them in nomination for re-election.

Thief River Falls did not ask for any place on the Republican county ticket, but was perfectly satisfied in helping to place in nomination such a capable lot of candidates. It will give majorities to all on the Republican ticket.

A Kansas City paper says that Bryan has received a note of congratulation from Aguinaldo which reads:

"I am running well and hope you are enjoying the same blessing. Who in the deuce is Stevenson?"

Louis Hanson, the Republican nominee for county commissioner from the Fourth district, is so generally considered to be the right man for this place that he will have little opposition. C. A. Robbecke, the Democratic nominee, will withdraw from the race and support Mr. Hanson.

President McKinley hit the nail on the head when he said that "if our opponents would only practice as well as preach the doctrine of Abraham Lincoln there would be no fear for the safety of our institutions at home or their frightful influence in any country over which our flag floats."

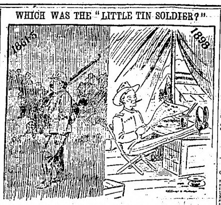
The suggestion has been made that the Republican candidates for office in this county make a tour of the county in a body, and hold meetings in every town. We believe this would be a good idea. The better the people become acquainted with the Republican nominees the larger their majorities will be this fall.

The personnel of the county ticket nominated by the Republicans of Red Lake county is of an extremely high order and should receive the support of all tax-payers and voters of Red Lake county. There is not a nominee who is not perfectly capable of filling the office to which he aspires.

The selection of Dr. N. M. Watson, of Red Lake Falls, as chairman of the Republican county committee, is a testimonal to the judgment of Red Lake county Republicans. Mr. Watson possesses the required amount of energy and ability to lead the Republican forces in Red Lake county to victory, and has the confidence of all the candidates.

A dispatch to the Minneapolis Journal states that S. A. Swanson, of Red Lake Falls, was nominated by the fusion forces of Red Lake and Beltrami counties at Bemidji Monday. If Mr. Swanson received the nomination of more than one party—the Middle of the Road Pops—it will be news to the citizens of this county. The Democrats and fusion Populists surely do not endorse his candidacy—and will endeavor to defeat him.

WHICH WAS THE "LITTLE TIN SOLDIER?"



"Capt. Van Sant, the Little Tin Soldier of the Republican Party."—New Ulm Review, Gov. Lind's home organ and personal mouthpiece.

Word comes from Red Lake Falls to the effect that Sam Gibeau, the Populist nominee for register of deeds, has paid Perusse, the Democratic nominee, $200 to remain out of the fight, and the contest will now be between the Republican and Populist nominees. Two years ago Mr. Gibeau was elected by about 50 majority, and we believe it will cost him a good many more $200 bills to beat poor, but honest, Nels Holberg. Votes and not money will decide the election.

The Populists in this section of the state, who are supporting W. J. Bryan for president, simply because he believes in free silver, must find it rather hard to vote for Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee for vice president. Mr. Stevenson has been a candidate for vice president before. Here is what he said in his letter of acceptance of the nomination eight years ago, when he ran with Grover Cleveland:

"To the plain and unequivocal declaration of the convention in favor of sound, honest money, I subscribe without reservation or qualification. A safe circulating medium is absolutely essential to the protection of the business interests of our country, while to the wage-earner or the farmer it is all-important that every dollar, whatever its form, that finds its way into his pocket shall be of equal, unquestioned and universally exchangeable value and of equal purchasing power."

PROSPERITY AND M'KINLEY.

The Republicans of New York say in their platform:

"The continued prosperity of the country and of the individual citizen is the paramount issue before the people. Why vote for a change which, tested by experience, is bound to be for the worse? The country was never so prosperous as it has been since the inauguration of William McKinley, capital has never been so actively occupied, the volume of money in circulation was never so great, labor never so fully employed, wages never so high, prices never so generally good."

This is well said, but, owing to the fact that men are more irritated by hard times than they gratified by good times, panics have always exercised more influence over elections than prosperity has. The panic of 1837 was chiefly responsible for the defeat of Van Buren in 1840. That of 1857 swelled the vote of Lincoln in 1860. That of 1873 helped Tilden in 1876. That of 1893-'94 contributed to the election of McKinley. But of the men who ascribe a panic to the party which was in power when it happened many are not inclined to ascribe prosperity to the party which is in power when it comes. So while there was a period of great prosperity between 1889 and 1893, the people refused to give the Republican party credit for it, and defeated President Harrison.

This year, however, there are some voters who say, first, that they are doing well; second, that they owe their prosperity to Republican policies; and, third, that they are going to vote for Republican candidates to keep the good things they have. A man prominent in the Glass Workers' union, an organization which has many voters in the close state of Indiana, says most of its members, Democrats as well as Republicans, intend to vote for McKinley, "because we are convinced that in this direction lies our bread and butter." There are not, he says, enough blowers to fill the places, and where there used to be one apprentice to every fifteen men there is one now to every ten. He says further:

"To put the matter in a nutshell. Under the Democratic administration and the Wilson bill we were docked 15 per cent in our wages and had employment for only about three months in the year. Under McKinley's administration and the Dingley bill our wages have been raised 15 per cent, and we have employment ten months in the year. That is the reason why the glass men are going to vote for McKinley."

There are hundreds of thousands of other wage earners who will act most sensibly if they reason as do the glass workers. Whether they will so reason, election day will show. If prosperity influenced men to vote for the continuance in power of that party whose administration coincided with prosperity, American farmers—and especially those of Kansas—as well as wage earners, should be moved to vote for President McKinley. It has been said of Kansas that "as grow the crops, so goes Kansas politically"—Republican when they are good, Democratic when they are bad. There has been a partial failure of the corn crop in the state, but there has been a wheat crop of 100,000,000 bushels. But wheat and corn are not the only Kansas crops. There is a live stock crop also.

The value of live stock in the state increased from $75,565,000 in 1896 to $133,057,000 in 1899. The Kansas stock raisers got last year over $60,000,000 for the animals shipped to market by them. Cereal crops are good or bad, as nature pleases, but live stock crops are always best when the country is most prosperous, for then is there the greatest demand for animal food. When wage-workers get better wages, they buy more meat. For that reason there has been a call for an increased supply of meat since 1896, and the Kansas stock raisers have made money by assisting in satisfying the increased demand. They should be able to see, like the glass workers, that votes cast for McKinley are votes cast for the continuance of prosperity.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil A. Kauper, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Johannes A. Sveum, H. E. 16,742, for the W½ NW¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Maanum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on October 8th, 1900, viz: Nels August Olson, H. E. 18,967, for the NE¼ SW¼, NW¼ SE¼ and W½ NE¼, Sec. 29, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
John Berg, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Maanum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Tom Olson Maanum, H. E. 16,447, for the SE¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office, at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Generius O. Satnes, H. E. 15,486, for the E½ SW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 2, Tp. 151 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole P. Nygaard, of Norden, Minnesota.
B. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Axel Larson, of New Solum, Minnesota.
Chris Loftans, of New Solum, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office, at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Ole P. Nygaard, H. E. 16,788, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 8, N½ NE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 17, Tp. 151, N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Generius O. Satnas, of New Solum, Minnesota.
B. Martensen, of New Solum, Minnesota.
Ole O. Neals, of Norden, Minnesota.
Hans A. Myrom, of Norden, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 24, 1900, viz: Charles Hodik, H. E. 19,049, for the SE¼ SW¼ and Lots 6 and 7, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Breza, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Homolka, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 24, 1900, viz: Anton Homolka, H. E. 18,102, for the S½ NE¼ and Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Charles Hodik, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Breza, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 13 6t

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 27th day of October, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼, Sec. 19, SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 31, SE¼ NW¼, Sec. 32, T. 156 N., R. 44 W.

Any and all parties claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated August 30, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
Sept 6 6t

NOTICE OF EXPIRATION OF TIME OF REDEMPTION.

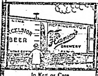
To Octave Montrieh:

You are hereby notified that on the 8th day of May, A. D. 1897, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the district court in and for the county of Polk, in the Fourteenth Judicial District of the state of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1897, the following described piece and parcel of land which is now situated in Red Lake county (formerly Polk county), in the state of Minnesota, to-wit: W½ SE¼, NE¼ SE¼ and Lot 1, Section 22, Town 151, Range 45, was sold to the state to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interest and costs for the sum of nineteen dollars and nineteen cents; that on the 9th day of April, 1900, the right of the state acquired by said sale was assigned for the sum of forty-three dollars and eighty-one cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is forty-three dollars and eighty-one cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 12 per cent per annum from said 9th day of April, A. D. 1900, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice and proof thereof has been filed in the office of the county auditor of said Polk county.

Witness my hand and official seal this 13th day of July, A. D. 1900.

JOHN GLEASON, County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.
[SEAL.]
By N. A. Heffard, Deputy.
9 6-3

Shipped With Care



In Keg or Case

HAMM'S BEER

Is Always Fresh, No Matter Where You Buy It. Supplied by Agents Everywhere, or by THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn.

PORTER & PAULSON,
Proprietors of
CITY DRAY
and
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

For fine job work call at the News office.

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as The North American Review. — Boston Journal.

IN THE

North American Review

YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "The North American Review constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the North American Review."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.

The North American Review, N. Y.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year

J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn

F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33, Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

County Supt. of Schools Frank Jeffers was in the city last week.

Wiley Tindolph transacted business in Red Lake Falls last week.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

For Sale—A good folding bed, nearly new, cheap. C. C. Jackson.

O. H. Nelson, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city the first of the week.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Wanted—800 oak and cedar piles from 12 to 26 feet long. Carl Kretzschmar.

County Attorney Street, of Beltrami county, was in the city the first of the week.

Elias Steenerson, of Crookston, transacted business in the city the first of the week.

J. L. Durbin, who has a homestead up near the Red lake, arrived in the city last week.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

The old side walk on the north side of Bridge street has been replaced by a new one six feet wide.

Practice shooting at Ole Peterson's shooting gallery, next to Odd Fellows' hall. Open day and night.

Dr. Francis was down to St. Hilaire the first of the week.

D. W. Carter, the Red lake settler, was in the city the first of the week.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

A merry-go-'round arrived in the city the first of the week, and the young boys and girls are happy.

The wife of Julius Pleth, who will be manager of the John Grove Land company, arrived in the city Monday.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Mrs. Inga Loffte last week purchased five lots on the East side, upon which she expects to make her future home.

The city council should appoint some man to keep the spring near the bridge in a neat and tidy condition. In its present condition it can hardly be called a credit to the city.

Taken Up—One black buck sheep. If owner does not call for same before August 14th, 1900, it will be sold to pay expenses allowed by law. A. Myrom, Nordon, Minn.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—Perfect as a beverage or medicine. It prevents chills and tones up the system. It exhilarates and does not poison. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Louis Hanson and John Moylan were down to Red Lake Falls Tuesday.

Ole Tweet, of Norden, will be an independent candidate for county commissioner.

W. C. Lycan, the Crookston hotel man, arrived in the city yesterday to enjoy a hunt.

Ira C. Richardson was down to Red Lake Falls Tuesday to attend the Republican legislative convention.

Robert Morrison, deputy United States marshal of Detroit, Minn., was in the city the first of the week.

Miss Daisy Kratka left the first of the week for Crookston, where she will remain a few days visiting friends.

William Forsberg, of Hellom, candidate for sheriff of Marshall county, was in the city the first of the week.

A number of Masons will hold a meeting in the Odd Fellows' hall Saturday and make arrangements for the organization of a lodge in this city.

Mrs. Weyer, who had been in the city visiting F. H. Kratka and Mrs. Caldwell, left the first of the week for Lansing, Iowa, where she will visit for a short time before returning to her home in Illinois.

A Grand Forks man, who recently returned from Minneapolis, declares that the farmers have to use bicycles to ride from one shock to another, the shocks being so far apart down in the central part of the state.

Be sure to hear Congressman Frank M. Eddy speak next Saturday evening.

There will be services in the M. E. church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock conducted by the pastor.

A. L. Himle came up from Iowa the first of the week to sell some of the land he owns north of here.

County Attorney Van R. Brown, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city the first of the week on legal business.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Staples, of Stillwater, were in the city the first of the week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Dobner.

In the Norway elections, the rightists have gained four seats. It is to be hoped that the wrongists feel properly rebuked.

E. R. Bell, who has been employed in the mill here during the past year, returned to his home at Little Falls the first of the week.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

The John Grove Land company has purchased about 5,000 acres of G. N. railroad land in the town of Viking, and it will be offered for sale by the local agents of this company at once.

The Crookston College will open its fall term September 10. Board and room furnished and taken care of in private family or hotel for $2.50 to $3 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

Dr. J. E. Argue, the Red Lake Falls dentist, will not be here from the 5th to the 10th of September, owing to the fact that he will attend the meeting of the Minnesota State Dental association. He will, however, be here from the 17th to the 21st of September, and all parties wishing work done in his line are invited to call and see him

Geo. A. Ralph was up from Crookston Monday.

F. H. Curtiss, representing the R. G. Dun Mercantile Agency, was in the city last week reporting the standing of our business men.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

C. J. Winton, of Wausau, and John D. and John F. Ross, of Chicago, stockholders in the Thief River Falls Lumber company, are in the city. The Messrs. Ross have recently purchased the Daly & O'Day interests.

Mrs. Ella T. Byron, of Felton, Minn., purchased seven lots on the East side last week, upon which she will erect a residence. Mrs. Byron has three sons and one daughter, who will take claims on the reservation as soon as it is opened up.

M. C. Harlow arrived in the city the first of the week from Armstrong, Iowa, and will open up a real estate and loan office here. Mr. Harlow states that there will be a number of people from Iowa that will come to this country this fall and purchase farm lands.

Oregon has hit upon a new experiment to keep their citizens sober. Every man who drinks is obliged to take a license costing $5 per year, and, unless armed with the document, cannot be served with liquor at any saloon or hotel. Every six months the names of the persons who take out the license are to be published.

It is said that Cass Lake thieves broke into a saloon and stole a 300-pound slot machine, which they took out into the brush and worked it until it coughed up its nickels, about $4 worth. The general impression has been that the Cass Lake saloon keepers never locked their doors long enough to have them broken into.

RAPP IS IT.

Nominated by the Republicans for Representative.

The Republican legislative convention held at Red Lake Falls Tuesday resulted in Charles G. Rapp, of St. Hilaire, being nominated. Beltrami and Red Lake counties each had four delegates in the convention, and it required ten ballots to make a nomination. The Beltrami county delegates voted for Sheriff Nygaard, but were finally convinced that Mr. Rapp would be the strongest candidate, and his nomination was made unanimous. Resolutions instructing for Senator Knute Nelson were adopted.

Mr. Rapp is an old resident of this section, and will need no introduction to the voters. He is undoubtedly the strongest man the Republicans could nominate.

BURNED UP.

Tom Jacobson's Barn Was Struck by Lightning.

Lightning struck the barn of Tom Jacobson, a farmer living a few miles from this city, Sunday night, and the building was burned to the ground, together with thirty tons of hay. Two horses were in the barn at the time and could not be rescued.

Long Star Route.

There has just been established by the postoffice department the longest "Star route" in the postal service. This route runs from Skaguy, Alaska, to Cape Nome, and is nearly two thousand miles long. In summer the mail can be carried to Nome by steamers, but in winter the mail will be carried on sledges drawn by dogs. The drivers will travel by foot most of the way, and it is expected that each dog sled will make about 30 miles a day. That will mean 60 days for a trip. Contractors will build relay stations every thirty miles, where fresh dogs and provisions can be had. A letter from any part of the United States to Cape Nome will be carried for a two-cent stamp, although it is estimated that it will cost the government about $1 for each letter.

THE DESERTED HENS.

Odd Name and Organization of a Woman's Club in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Flatbush, whose beautiful homes constitute a becoming frill to the outskirts of Brooklyn, has a woman's club that does not belong to the federation, has no rules, no by-laws, no parliamentary formalities, no initiation fee, no dues—nothing, in fact, that characterizes other clubs to which women having leisure and lovely homes belong, says Harper's Bazar. The Deserted Hens is the somewhat ignominious title used to designate the organization. The club in its inception was simply an expedient to meet the exigencies of loneliness, when on Saturday nights the male heads of half a dozen families deserted the hearthstones to have an evening together with cards at the club, returning at the wee, small hours.

"We women sat at home alone Saturday evenings half the winter," one of the Deserted Hens explained, "when a happy thought came to one of us. We would meet, have cards and supper ourselves. The first meeting was held at my home. The ladies ordered a carriage to come for them at one o'clock. The men were not to be informed of our plans, but I mentioned to my husband incidentally that I expected a few ladies for cards that special evening. Quite to my surprise he came home just as we were having supper. He grasped the situation at once, and thought he had a rare joke on the men he had left behind him at the club. Every Saturday evening since then those men have come trailing in at 11 o'clock."

So the Deserted Hens, as they saw fit to call themselves before they took matters into their own hands, are no longer so deserted as they were. But the odious name still clings.

BAD HEARTED SOLDIERS.

Free Action of the Organ Imputed to Tight Fitting Clothing.

Answers says: "Very few soldiers who have seen much service escape what is called battle heart. The ordinary state of the heart in healthy people is one of irritability, but in the soldier of five or six years' service the irritability is so great that it constantly affects his temper.

"The British soldier," we are further told, observes the Army and Navy Journal, "wears such tight clothing that his heart has not room to beat freely, and the perpetual struggle to do its work under difficulties injures it. The soldier's trousers are tight at the waist. His coat is buttoned as tightly as possible, and very often he squeezes himself with a belt. Then when on the march his chest is compressed by the weight of his knapsack, canteen, greatcoat and heavy cartridge belt.

"If you watch a company of soldiers when they are doing a long march you will observe that most of them have flushed faces, red ears, red noses, swollen necks—showing that the heart is greatly overtaxed. Some, on the other hand, are pale, which proves that their hearts are not equal to the work thrown on them. When, after a very long march, the men have to deploy into fighting order, and perhaps rush a hill, a very large number break down altogether. Their overstrained heart never becomes really strong and healthy again."

BENEFITS OF GOLF.

An Invigorating Outdoor Sport That Tends to Stimulate the Nervous System.

One of the prominent women golf players of the city says that the game has proved very beneficial in producing steadiness of nerve among women. The nature of the game and the exhilarating outdoor atmosphere invigorate and stimulate the nerves and fit women for greater effort and better self-control, says the New York World.

One of the most exasperating features, however, in connection with the game, from a feminine point of view, is the injunction of silence. Yet it is this very point that trains in self-control, for the player soon learns that silence is golden when her attention is engaged with the ball, and that if she is to score well she must think and act rather than chatter.

The golf school is probably the best school in which the boycotting of coquetry is taught. Furthermore, while the fever of golf is relentless when it takes hold of a woman, and under its fascinating influence she forgets her worst domestic tragedies, her best friends and has no time for Browning readings or musicales, the consequences in this direction are offset by beneficial effect upon temperament, for it serves to solidify her ambition, straighten her judgment, calm her impulses and control her temper.

Growth of Big Cities.

As originally laid out by William Penn Philadelphia was two miles long and one mile wide. Township after township was annexed, till at last the city boundaries coincided with those of a county 22 miles long. Boston overran the old county lines and took in five outlying towns. Greater New York and Chicago now exceed in area and population some European principalities. In each case consolidation has been accomplished by the joint action of city and suburbs, with legislative authorization. But the problems of city government grow in complexity as the cities grow in size.

The Chinese Pigtail.

Until 1627 the Chinese wore their hair long and coiled on the top of their head, where it was fastened with an ornamental pin. The Manchu edict making the pigtail a sign of loyalty, changed this style.

CLOTHING!
CLOTHING!!
CLOTHING!!!

I have just received from Chicago a large assortment of ladies' winter jackets, which I will sell at ridiculously low prices.

This lot contains the finest grades of English Kersey, Beaver, Melton, Astrakan and Boucle, and comes in black, blue, brown, green and light and dark tan.

I am now prepared to show the finest line in the city of Clothing, Shoes, Underwear, Hats and Gents' Furnishings.

H. Lowin, RED ✳ STAR CLOTHING HOUSE. Proprietor.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Our entire stock of General Merchandise, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, must be closed out within the next thirty days.

We offer everything at or below cost. Nothing reserved from this sale. Seven thousand dollars worth of choice merchandise must be sacrificed. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs. It will pay you to take advantage of it.

TERMS CASH. Positively no goods charged.

Building for sale or rent.

Fixtures for sale.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE, REAL ESTATE, FARM LOANS and INSURANCE,

Collections Promptly Attended to.

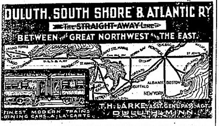
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Fina Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.



DULUTH, SOUTH SHORE & ATLANTIC RY
THE STRAIGHT-AWAY LINE
BETWEEN THE GREAT NORTHWEST AND THE EAST.
FINEST MODERN TRAINS
DINING CARS A LA CARTE
T. H. LARKE, ASST. GEN'L PASS. AGT. DULUTH, MINN.
DULUTH
NEW YORK
BOSTON ALBANY
BUFFALO
MONTREAL
QUEBEC
PORTLAND
ST JOHN
HALIFAX

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.

ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD

The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS

and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS

PRINTS THE NEWS

12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.

TIME AND SPACE

are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE— A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 23¼x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

A DISMAL FAILURE

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION SCANTILY ATTENDED AND INTEREST IN THE EVENT TOTALLY LACKING.

OVERSHADOWED BY STATE FAIR

Convention Made Up Wholly of Officeholders and Professional Politicians, and the Whole Programme Manipulated by Rosing Machine.

The Democratic convention which met in the great Auditorium building in St. Paul on Thursday of last week might easily have been accommodated, so far as room was concerned, in any one of a dozen small halls in the Capital City.

When the roll was called, half an hour after the hour published for calling the convention to order, but little more than half of the accredited delegates and the chairman experienced great difficulty in making up the committees by reason of the slim attendance from the outside counties.

Answered to Their Names,

The convention was managed and directed by the professional politicians and officeholders of the state administration, and motions were put and passed in a listless way by the delegates, who were in a hurry to get away and go out to the state fair grounds. The party managers had expected a vast attendance from visitors to the state fair, and had counted heavily on this source to make a tremendous showing of interest and enthusiasm. The result demonstrated that a great mistake had been made, for, instead of the fair visitors going to the convention the delegates to the convention went to the fair as a superior attraction.

The Auditorium building is supposed to furnish seating capacity for 7,000, and when the Republican convention was held nearly every seat in the building, including all the galleries, was filled. When Gov. Roosevelt was in St. Paul it was estimated that 5,000 people were turned from the doors because there was not room for them. In the Democratic convention last week there were twice as many empty seats as there were full ones, and the little throng of delegates down on the main floor looked all the smaller for the long tiers of vacant seats that stretched back from the parquet to the Balcony and Galleries.

It was probably this slim attendance that dampened the spirits of those who did attend, for the interest was at no time great or the enthusiasm such as to pass beyond control.

The prearranged plans were carried out with clock-like regularity, and complete control of the organization was retained by L. A. Rosing, chairman of the state central committee, who personally directed the business of the day, supplying the chairman the names for the committee, designating the delegates who should nominate the various candidates and in all ways tightening his hold upon the party leading strings.

Col. Rosing was assisted in his Management of the Convention

by such Democrats as Thomas D. O'Brien of St. Paul, John O'Brien of Stillwater, Ed O'Brien of Minneapolis, Maj. Bowler, E. M. Pope, J. A. O'Shaughnessy, Z. H. Austin, A. N. Lanphere, P. M. Ringdal and other state officers. The governor, who has so often declared that he was "just as good a Republican as ever on all matters except the silver question," required his managers to steer as far as possible from that dangerous issue, and, accordingly, the honors of the day were not denied to the sound money Democrats of 1896, men who were candidates for electors on the Palmer and Buckner ticket being drafted as delegates at large.

The convention at no time displayed the enthusiasm which marked the Minneapolis convention two years ago, and when the proposition was made to start a canvass for the proposed new paper at Minneapolis,

Ten Subscribers Were Guaranteed, and a motion to call the roll and report subscriptions by counties was voted down by an overwhelming majority. Chairman Rosing announced that the syndicate with which he had been negotiating had agreed to start the paper if the committee would guarantee 10,000 subscribers, and he said that he had promises of 4,000. With the ten guaranteed on the floor of the convention this left 5,990 to be secured before the terms of the syndicate could be complied with and the paper established. The delegates in personal interviews expressed great hostility to the St. Paul Globe because of its bolt on the national ticket, and all agreed that they would not trust it with Lind's interests, but at the same time they did not seem prepared to go as far as to subsidize a great daily paper. The fact is that the state central committee has already invested more than $23,000 in the newspaper business, and the chairman has informed members of the committee that it will take $40,000 to make the general campaign, and that until that amount shall have been raised there will be no more newspaper appropriations. At a conference of Mr. Rosing, the three O'Briens, Mr. Heinrichs, Mr. Mosier, Maj. Bowler and one or two other leaders of the party it was decided to proceed with the campaign much after namely, to devote all the work of the campaign and all the funds of the committee to the election of Lind, and the other candidates on the ticket, with the exception of Ringdal, are to be sacrificed as they were two years ago, and rewarded as were the candidates that year, in the event of Lind's election.

The Fashion of 1898,

One other fact developed in the course of the meeting, and that is that there is to be a concerted effort to carry the house of representatives on the theory that Lind wants a legislature to co-operate with him in his "reforms." The absurdity of this proposition is perfectly apparent when the fact is recalled that the senate holds over, and that it is more than two-thirds Republican. The only thing a Democratic house could do, if it had enough majority, would be as that is the only question upon which the house and senate act jointly, and no bill can be passed without a majority of the senate.

To Elect a United States Senator,

The chief peculiarity of the ticket nominated is that it is not Democratic. It seems to have become the rule in the anti-Republican party that each branch of it prides itself in not nominating its own members for office. The Populists, for instance, nominated a Democrat for president and a free silver "Republican" for vice president, and then, when the Democrats refused to accept their vice-presidential nominee they gracefully accepted the Democratic nominee, who happens to have been the political partner and associate of the man who is, of all others, most hated by Populists—they accepted Adlai Stevenson, the running mate of Grover Cleveland.

Just so in the state convention, the Democrats nominated for governor the man who coined most of the expressions of contempt which are current in their application to Democrats, and then fitted him out, at his own request, with a set of running mates who are, almost without exception, Populists or renegade Republicans but recently identified with Democracy.

The nomination of H. C. Koerner for treasurer was made in the same vein of Political Pettifogging

that prompted the nomination of "Judge" Kelly for attorney general two years ago. It was expected that "Judge" J. F. Kelly would be confounded with Judge W. F. Kelly, and that many would vote for the Democratic candidate for attorney general under the misapprehension that they were voting for the honored and respected judge of the district court of Ramsey county. In the present case Koerner was nominated in the expectation that he will be mistaken for the present incumbent of the same office, Hon. August T. Koerner, who has voluntarily retired. State Treasurer Koerner is as much chagrinned over the duplication of names as though he were a candidate himself, and will make it his business in the course of the campaign to let his friends know that the Koerner who is running for treasurer on the Democratic ticket is another kind of a Koerner. H. C. Koerner, the Democratic nominee, is at present a deputy in the office of E. M. Pope, the public examiner, and is in no way related to the present state treasurer. W. N. Saunders, the nominee for attorney general, was Selected by Gov. Lind at a Late Hour, it is said, upon the refusal of T. D. O'Brien to take the nomination. Mr. Saunders is said to be a practicing attorney, or at least to have been admitted to the bar, which is more than can be said of some former Democratic nominees for the same position.

The nomination of Ringdal, Knox and Owen for railroad commissioners was determined upon by the governor long prior to the convention, and the fight put up by certain friends of Neary to get him on the ticket for commissioner was as unavailing as was every other struggle to break

The Gubernatorial Slate.

Just why the governor, or his friends, regard Ringdal as a formidable candidate is difficult to understand. In 1898 Ringdal was the Populist nominee for congress in the Seventh district. That district was, at that time, at least, regarded as the great Populist stronghold, and although Gov. Lind carried it by over 4,000.

Ringdal Was Defeated by 3,300.

If he could not carry his own district, which was so strongly for Lind, it does not seem probable that he can carry the rest of the state, which is naturally and normally Republican. The railroad commission ticket is, of course, essentially Populist, Mr. Owen being the high priest of that party, and Mr. Knox that doubtful quantity which is always reducible into a Populist — a Silver Republican. Mr. Meighen, the nominee for lieutenant governor, is also a Populist of the most recent fashion, that is, one who talks for Populist principles but is always ready to them for votes.

Surrender and Sacrifice

Although there were nearly 40,000 people in attendance at the state fair on the evening of the "ovation" to Gov. Lind, less than one-eighth of that number took the trouble to attend the "grand rally" at the Auditorium when the governor made his speech of acceptance, and by far the greater part of those present were people from the two cities, who were not specially interested in the fair. The real farmers were at the fair grounds, while those who farm the farmers were at the convention, parcelling out the patronage they hope to gain by the election of Lind.

The farmers of the state do not yet understand how it is that for years, under Republican administration, the prison twine plant has been able to furnish them binding twine at from 3 to 7 cents a pound less than that supplied by private dealers and the cordage trust, and that the very first year in which a "reform" administration takes hold of the plant and undertakes to operate it the difference runs the other way. It is the custom of the average farmer to look at results rather than to study out theories. Heretofore the twine supplied him by the prison twine plant has been of as good a quality as that which he would purchase from private dealers, and cost him a great deal less. This year the twine supplied by the prison twine plant is of a very inferior quality, runs from fifty to sixty feet short on the pound, and costs 1 or 2 cents a pound more than the better grades of twine sold by private dealers. However, if, as is explained by the administration, the difference is due to the purchase of the material when it was higher, that simply shows that those in charge of the plant did not know their business and makes the matter worse instead of better.

Chairman Jones again announces the establishment of an entente cordiale between David B. Hill and Dick Croker. An entente cordiale, in this case, is an agreement not to use the knife or teeth until the public's back is turned.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,

C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.

* * *

NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.

* * *

BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,

John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN

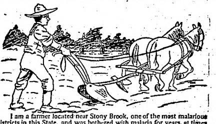
G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

United States Map. 15c.

A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

STEVENS FAVORITE

GIVE THE BOYS A Stevens Favorite Rifle.

It will teach them to enjoy outdoor life, to learn how to shoot. The first will bring health and a good disposition. The latter will [illegible] and deliberation, [illegible] of eye and hand—all valuable [illegible] for success in future life. There is nothing cheap about a Stevens Rifle but the price; the quality is the very best.

Favorite (with Open Sights) $6.

Where dealers do not carry these in stock we will send, express prepaid, on receipt of price. Our new catalogue contains description of the entire line of arms made by us; also a valuable reference book for shooters. No charge except stamp for postage.

J. STEVENS ARMS & TOOL CO., Chicopee Falls, Mass.

P. O. Box 1728.

Henry Francis,

M. D., C. M.

Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 37. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

F. M. EDDY

Addressed the Voters of Thief River Falls

SATURDAY NIGHT.

It Was an Able and Patriotic Speech.

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted the Republican candidate for congressman from the Seventh district, Frank M. Eddy, at the city hall last Saturday evening. Mr. Eddy was accompanied by that famous drummer, Peter Hoffman, who, in company with the local band, succeeded in entertaining the audience for a short time.

Mr. Eddy commenced his address by stating that he was not an orator, and wished to have his address considered as a conversation. He stated that he had grown to maturity upon the frontier of civilization, where the knowledge of holding a plow and swinging an axe was of more importance than rhetoric. When others were attending the universities and colleges, he was working in the woods, on the farm, in the brickyards and doing other manual labor. He believed, however, that this had benefited him, as, coming in contact, as he did, with so many of the defferent classes of common people, it had broadened his views. The Republican party was the party of progression, and he thoroughly believed in the national platform. If it was not a good party, he wanted to get out of it. There was no mud slinging or vilifying the opposition, but the record of both parties was fairly and honestly presented. Mr. Eddy showed conclusively that every prophesy made by Mr. Bryan in 1896 has failed, and that the prophesies he and his followers are indulging in today are but hobgoblins, raised and indulged in for the purpose of stampeding the Republican ranks, but with no prospects of success. The financial question, the matter of trusts, the attitude of the party as to the Philippines and the question of imperialism were all dwelt upon at considerable length in a scholarly and masterly way.

Mr. Eddy remained in the city over Sunday, going to St. Hilaire Monday at noon.

BRYAN AND LIND.

A Club Organized to Support These Candidates.

After considerable bluster, a club composed of thirty-five Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans was organized in the city hall last Friday evening. It will be known as the Bryan and Lind club, and the following officers were elected:

President—M. K. Wall.
Secretary—K. M. Hanson.
Treasurer—S. Kenison.

The "reform forces" are to be congratulated upon the magnificent showing they have made. There will be nearly 500 votes cast in this city this fall, and 35 of them are now salted down for the Democrats. The club will have another meeting tomorrow evening.

HE IS WITH US.

Congressman Eddy Says Open Up the Reservation.

While in the city, Congressman Eddy stated to a number of the members of the Commercial Club that he would be pleased to do what he could to secure the opening the Red Lake reservation tributary to this city. He favored having a meeting in this city after election, at which time he and Senator Nelson would be present and talk the matter over with the business men here, and have a plan of action formulated. Mr. Eddy stated that it would make no difference whether he was re-elected or not, he would endeavor to do all he could for the city, which had stood by him so loyally in the past.

As the next administration will undoubtedly be Republican, a man belonging to that party can accomplish more than a Democrat, and for that reason a number of people who are for Thief River Falls first and all the time, will vote for Mr. Eddy, who can accomplish more than a new man.

BUY SOME PINE.

P. & J. Meehan Purchase 50000 Acres in Old Mexico.

P. Meehan, of the firm of P. & J. Meehan, formerly in business in this city, has just returned to Milwaukee from a business trip to old Mexico. While absent, he purchased 50,000 acres of land situated in the state of Chichuahua, Mexico. It is covered with a heavy growth of pine, and it is understood that it was purchased at a very reasonable price. The Messrs. Meehans do not intend to manufacture it into lumber, but have simply purchased it as an investment, and, as their judgment in the past has always been good, it will undoubtedly prove to be a paying one. The firm is also interested in some mining property down there.

Daly Tonight.

M. J. Daly, Democratic candidate for congressman from this district, will address the voters of this city at the city hall this evening.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

CLOTHING! CLOTHING!! CLOTHING!!!

I have just received from Chicago a large assortment of ladies' winter jackets, which I will sell at ridiculously low prices.

This lot contains the finest grades of English Kersey, Beaver, Melton, Astrakan and Boucle, and comes in black, blue, brown, green and light and dark tan.

I am now prepared to show the finest line in the city of Clothing, Shoes, Underwear, Hats and Gents' Furnishings.

H. Lewin, RED ✳ STAR CLOTHING HOUSE. Proprietor.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches, Clocks, Jewelry and Guns,

Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars—Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv.	Crookston	Ar.	6:20 p m
9:25 a m	"	Shirley	"	6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	"	Ives	"*	5:30 p m
10:21 a m*	"	Wylie	"*	4:55 p m
11:30 a m	"	St Hilaire	Lv.	4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar.	Thief River F	"	1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv.	St Hilaire	"	4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar.	Red Lake F	"	3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

G. N. Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Wesley Evins, City Dray Line.

All work in my line promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me an order and be convinced.

Wesley Evins,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Our entire stock of General Merchandise, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, must be closed out within the next thirty days.

We offer everything at or below cost. Nothing reserved from this sale. Seven thousand dollars worth of choice merchandise must be sacrificed. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs. It will pay you to take advantage of it.

TERMS CASH. Positively no goods charged.
Building for sale or rent.
Fixtures for sale.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON, Vice-President

FIRST STATE BANK

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier

Burlington Route

A GREAT AMERICAN TRAVELER SAYS:
"I would rather dine on a Burlington route dining car than on any other dining car in the world. The only other railroad service that compares with it is the Orient Express, on which I traveled between Paris and Constantinople.
S. S. McCLURE,
Publisher McClure's Magazine.

Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 20, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President.
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

It is safe to say that at least $50,000 has been saved to the settlers living tributary to Thief River Falls by the passage of Congressman Eddy's free homes bill. This money, which otherwise would have been sent to Washington, will now be spent in Thief River Falls. Several appropriations for making the Red Lake river between this city and the Red lake navigable have been secured by Mr. Eddy. And yet there are people here who will be ungrateful enough to vote against him this fall.

At least the Democrats do not propose to make themselves tiresome by advocating the same principles each campaign. Four years ago they howled for free silver, and predicted all sorts of calamities if they didn't win. Now they are apologizing for the silver issue by saying that it is not material this year, and that it is away down to the tail end of their platform anyway. They have now discovered that this great and prosperous republic is about to be turned into an empire. Four years from now they will probably make another discovery, equally as absurd, and relegate "imperialism" to the rear.—Wadena Pioneer Journal.

There is no just, or even plausible, reason why any Republican should this year withhold his support from the Republican ticket. The ticket is a good one throughout; notwithstanding the fact that there are places in it which might have been improved by wiser selections, and will compare more than favorably with that named by the opposition. Mr. Lind will find in the person of Capt. Van Sant an opponent who will make it far more interesting for him than did the Republican candidate two years ago, and, unless all signs fail, the verdict of '98 will be reversed and that of '96 restored, with a good, safe majority to spare.—Princeton Union.

The News is in receipt of a letter from Samuel Gibeau, in which he denies the statement published in this paper to the effect that he had paid Edonor Perrusse $200 to remain out of the fight for the office of register of deeds. The item was published last week simply as a matter of news, and we are glad that Mr. Gibeau says it is not true. The contest for the office of register of deeds will, therefore, be between Nels Holberg, the Republican nominee; Edonor Perrusse, the Democratic nominee, and Samuel Gibeau, the Populist nominee. A chance for a fair and honest fight is all the Republican nominee asks for in this election, and it will not require any misrepresentation upon the part of his friends to elect him.

THE DOLLAR OR THE MAN?

"They (the Democrats) have expressed much alarm as to whether the dollar should be above the man or the man ahead of the dollar, whatever that may mean. During the past four years the Republican party has confined itself to the common sense action of putting the man within reach of the dollar and making the dollar worth 100 cents in gold, when he got within reach of it, and they have left it to him to decide whether it shall be before or behind. That is an important matter.

"Every man should have a choice of earning a dollar, and when earned, the dollar should be a real dollar, and not a mere sham dollar after he has earned it. No legislation, no administration can secure to a man prosperity. Ultimately he has to rely now, as he has had to do since the dawn of our race on this planet, and as he will have to do as long as man lives, upon his own cool head, stout heart and ready hand. Nothing can take the place of his personal qualities." — Theodore Roosevelt.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Those who expected to see the Republicans of Red Lake county nominate a patchwork or partial ticket are disappointed. The Republicans have their war paint on and will put up a hard fight. Their ticket has some strong nominees. — Red Lake Falls Gazette (Pop.).

THE PARTY OF PEACE.

Governor Roosevelt told his hearers at Grand Rapids that to abandon the Philippines to a group of military usurpers would be to surrender the islands to misery and anarchy. That is the case in a nutshell. American control is the only means by which peace can be given to the islands. A policy of withdrawal would not give peace. Temporizing would not do it. Peace can be secured only by putting down the insurgents. This is the Republican policy, and it will lead to peace and prosperity in the Philippines if the Bryanites will cease their firing in the rear and give the administration a chance. Mr. Roosevelt cited letters from Americans in the Philippines telling of cruel deeds of the insurgents, and showing that the insurrection is kept alive only by hope of Democratic victory. Bryan is the apostle of war for the present and chaos for the future in the Philippines.

The American flag carries peace and good order with it. It stands for these things in the Philippines today. When we took New Mexico it meant that we gave peace to that territory and saved it from the quarter of a century of bloody fighting which followed for old Mexico. When we expanded west of the Mississippi, it meant that we put an end to the tribal wars that have endured for ages among the Indians. The Republican policy in the Philippines is simply an application of the policy by which General Miles stopped Indian fighting on the western plains. To say that it is imperialism to enforce peace in the Philippines is the same as saying that it is tyranny to send troops to an Indian reservation when an outbreak is threatened.

We cannot go away and abandon the Philippine Islands to anarchy and tribal warfare. We might as well talk of letting the Indians return to their ancient methods of self-government. Mr. Bryan's fanfaronade about establishing a stable government and then withdrawing only begs the question. Even he could not withdraw. A stable government can be established only in the way it is now being done—by first putting down the insurrection. Bryan would either have to do just what President McKinley is doing or else leave the armed Tagal minority to begin a war of conquest against Manila and the peaceable majority of the natives. In the one case he would have an insurrection to put down as at present, and in the other he would have bloody anarchy. If it came to a test he could not do otherwise than President McKinley is doing without plunging the islands in a worse war than any they have known.

The whole matter is summed up in Mr. Roosevelt's declaration that we cannot leave the Philippines because of the two-fold duty to ourselves and to the people of the islands. The duty to ourselves demands that we fulfill the treaty pledges which Mr. Bryan was partly instrumental in making, and which he now wishes the nation to repudiate. The duty to the Filipinos demands that we protect those who are friendly and that we restore peace to the islands, which Bryan is doing what he can to retard. It is the Republican party and not the Democratic that is the apostle of peace.—Chicago Tribune.

LIFE WAS ALL COURTSHIP.

The Union of Gladstone and His Wife Was a Love Match That Lasted All Their Days.

Probably the marriage between William Ewart Gladstone and Catherine Glynne was what is happily known as a "love match." She was a famous beauty, and he was amply fitted to appreciate her loveliness, which from year to year he learned was as much of character as of appearance. That she was content to play the part of true helpmate all who have ever seen the couple together have borne witness. Intellectually, she was perhaps fitted to make a name for herself had she so chosen; if he had not been so exceedingly great he might have been known only as her husband. But she was satisfied to be his prop—remaining in the background when necessary, or coming to the fore if he had need of her there. In the busy, hard-working days of his life she was his constant attendant, and it has been said that his moral strenuousness was oftentimes due to her influence, says the Boston Transcript.

Then, as illness and old age made it necessary for him to lessen his public duties, she continued to be the true helpmate by watching over his physical comforts in the tenderest way. It was said at the time of his death that her unceasing care had undoubtedly prolonged his life. It must have been gratifying to her to hear this, for she had clearly made this her mission. When his life went out she felt in a sense that her life work was done also, and she looked for the summons to leave this world with no feelings of dread.

HOW THE PRESIDENT WORKS.

Much of the Official Business Is Transacted at the White House Late at Night.

A warm June evening in Washington is not just the time for work—but it is a busy time at the white house. Upstairs nearly all the clerks and stenographers have gone, and the doorkeeper who has charge of the door of the president's office at night sits reading. The stillness and quietude grows deeper and more pronounced each hour; the croaking frogs and chirping crickets in the Mall retard the tempo of the nocturnal chorus. In the cabinet room President McKinley and Secretary Cortelyou concentrate their attention for hours upon the great mass of accumulated papers. A ring for a glass of water is the only call that has summoned the messenger during four hours of night work. Every detail is carefully systematized so that the least possible delay is avoided in the dispatch of public business.

In these quiet, still hours of night the important work of the chief executive is done, and it is very long-past midnight when he passes out through the double doors to the residential portion of the white house to obtain rest preparatory to the influx of visitors that begins as early as 9:30 or even nine o'clock.—National Magazine.

THEY ALL KNEW HIM.

He Didn't Know His Fellow Statesmen Very Well But Thought They Knew Him.

Representative Gibson, of Tennessee, a recent acquisition to the house, throws his head back while he is making a speech, says a writer in Success, and talks directly at the ceiling. He is not very well acquainted with the other members, and this circumstance caused him some embarrassment lately in his home district. He was a candidate for renomination, attending many primaries and meetings. At one of the latter he met a prominent Tennessean who knows everybody in Washington. The following dialogue ensued:

"Do you know your fellow member, Mr. Smith, of Kansas? He is quite prominent, I understand."

"No-o, I can't say that I do."

"Well, you must know Mr. Brown, of Massachusetts, the celebrated republican orator?"

"No, I really don't remember him."

"Strange! But you surely have met the celebrated Mr. Jones, of Wyoming?"

"Well, I've seen him in the house, of course, but—the fact is, they all know me!"

THE GLOBE'S BOLT

Powerful Arraignment of the Latter Day Democrats by the Minnesota Organ of Democracy.

BRYAN A MENACE TO NATION

Good Reading for Sound Money Men and Those Who Believe in a Government That Governs Wisely.

The St. Paul Daily Globe, which since its establishment has been the recognized organ of the Democratic party in this state, has published its refusal to support the nominees of the national Democratic convention and given its reasons for such refusal. On July 7, following the nomination of Bryan and the adoption of the Kansas City platform, the Globe published the following triple-leaded editorial:

A CRIME REPEATED.

The St. Paul Globe is now, has always been, and will remain, a Democratic paper. It has never compromised its convictions on questions for large public or party concern, and never intends to do so.

Four years ago, under conditions substantially identical with those now in existence, the Globe refused to extend its advocacy to what it then regarded as a false and pernicious economic principle. A national convention of its party had adopted that principle and embodied it in its national platform, and with it as the chief claim of the party to the consideration of the voting population sought popular sustainment. The defeat which ensued was so decisive as to convince all but a few radical and irresponsible party adherents that the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 could never receive the indorsement of the American people.

A lapse of four years finds the Democracy of the country confronted by the same peril which proved its undoing in 1896. How does it meet the emergency? By once more embracing the danger and adopting the folly and falsehood under the burden of which it had been brought to the borders of ruin in its last national campaign.

The Globe stands to-day where it stood four years ago. It is now, as it was then, opposed to the free coinage idea. It gave expression to its opposition then; right principle and fair dealing with its party associates and with the country demand that it give expression to it now. There is less, if possible, to justify compromise or condonement now than there was then. The party went blindly to its fate then; it goes now open-eyed, and because of its domination by one man.

A body claiming to be deliberative in character which will submit, without protest, to coercion into the pursuit of a policy which has already proven fatal, and which is openly repudiated by the intelligence and enlightenment of the country, presents to the Globe no valid claim to having its decrees respected, even though it purports to give voice to the convictions of the Democracy.

It lies in the mouth of no Democrat who accepts the dictation which forced the 16 to 1 folly into his national platform to say aught against the accepted control of the Republican national convention by Senator Hanna of Ohio. That control at least led in directions which pointed toward possible success. The control of William J. Bryan, which, under threat of withdrawal, forced the free silver falsehood down the throat of the Kansas City convention, points to a pathway already traveled over in the journey to Democratic defeat and disaster.

This pathway the Globe refuses to follow. It refuses to support the candidates of a convention which seeks through cowardly evasion to win the support of those whom it feared to openly challenge. What does it matter whether the frenzy of free coinage finds expression in the first or in the last paragraph of the Kansas City platform? It is there. The party stands committed to its embodiment in the financial policy of the nation. If it was a false and dangerous doctrine to assert in 1896, when the national finances and the business interests of the country were comparatively unsettled, it is a hundred times more so to-day, when the country has adjusted itself to conditions which have forced silver from all recognized position as a monetary metal.

It is necessarily at great sacrifice of individual preference, as well as of selfish business interest, that the Globe is forced to assume this attitude toward the decrees and the candidates of the national convention of its party. But there does not appear to be any other course left open to a responsible public journal whose chief mission lies in the promulgation and sustainment of the political and economic philosophy which first found expression in our public life through the founder of the American Democracy. Its advice and warning were repudiated in Kansas City, as in Chicago. Let those who claim the credit of having forced the party to the reassertion of the free silver fallacy also assume the responsibility. The Globe declines participation in either.

The Democrats are professing great exultation over the result of the Maine election where the Republicans had a majority of "only" 31,000. Taking the Republican majorities in Maine for the last forty years the average is about 20,000 and anything above that figure is a Republican gain. In 1896 the dread of the election of a Repudiationist for president sent the Republican majority up to 48,000, and it is by comparing the late election results with the vote of that year that the Democrats get their "encouragement." But there is the same Democratic candidate and the same Democratic platform in 1900 that put fear into the hearts of the Maineites in 1896, and there is no reason to doubt that the result will be the same as in that year. The vote on state officers taken last week was simply a showing of the normal party majority, and the same horror of repudiation and dishonor that swelled the honest vote in 1896 will swell it again in 1900 to a point near the 50,000 majority.

N. Y. JOURNAL FLOPS

The Leading Bryan Organ Was Howling for Expansion and an Imperial Navy Two Years Ago.

AN EXPANSION EDITORIAL

The Journal of November, 1898, Loud in Its Demands for a Great Navy and Permanent Possession of the Philippines.

The utter insincerity of the Democratic press on the issue of imperialism is manifested in a thousand ways, but nowhere is it more marked than in the course of the syndicate of papers owned by W. R. Hearst, the millionaire owner of the New York Journal, San Francisco Examiner and Chicago American.

These three papers are the bone and sinew and substance of the Democratic campaign, furnishing the only avenue through which the campaign managers reach the class of readers among which the Police Gazette and kindred publications find circulation. If there is a scandalous campaign lie to be put in currency about Republican candidates, an immoral story to be told about the administration or a piece of false testimony to be given concerning a Republican official, it is to be found in the Journal, the Examiner or the American. They are sensational papers of the "yellowest" type, and, though totally discredited by the intelligent and well informed reading public, have a wide circulation among a certain class. To this class the demogogic appeal is made that the policy of the present administration is toward "imperialism," whatever that may be, and the reader is frantically appealed to and pleaded with to vote against a party that forces government upon an unwilling people in the Philippines and which is accomplishing expansion beyond the seas.

It so happens that the files of the Journal, the parent of all this yellow brood, are still in existence, and those who have read the Journal's latest attacks on the administration's expansion policy are invited to peruse and consider an editorial in the Journal printed Nov. 15, 1898, and signed by W. R. Hearst in person. The article in question was run clear across the editorial page of the paper, and was advertised throughout the land as the "Journal's policy." The article was as follows:

> We have demanded from the first the annexation of Hawaii; we demanded the war; we demanded the acquisition of territory in the West Indies and the retention of ALL the Philippines. We now demand the government of our new territories as intergral parts of this country, according to the American idea, without any programme of militarism or imperialism foreign to the fundamental principles of our republic. We demand the construction of the Nicaragua canal, not only for reasons of military strategy, but in order that the most widely separated sections of our domain may have free and direct communication with each other. We demand the erection of great national universities at West Point and Annapolis, where all students educated at the expense of the government shall receive such military training as will make them efficient officers in time of war, to the end that this nation may be placed upon a proper military footing without the necessity of that undemocratic institution, a large standing army. We demand the building of the finest navy in the world and the total separation of the army and navy from politics.

What the Journal then "demanded" was what it foresaw would be the inevitable result of the war with Spain, and, within certain bounds, what all intelligent people then conceded would be adopted as the administrative policy. It was what the nation wanted, and the Journal cunningly hypothecated the future and played to the galleries by "demanding" what it foresaw would be accomplished in order that when it was done the paper might point to the result and claim the credit for it. The annexation of Hawaii had already been accomplished when the demand was made, and the "acquisition of territory in the West Indies" was then well under way; "the government of our new territory as integral parts of this country" was then admitted to be among the plans of the administration, and the construction of an Isthmian canal had already been indorsed; the building of an imperial navy, which was the Journal's loudest and most persistent "demand", was met only in part, and its "demands" as to the army were in large measure forestalled by a successful volunteer army that carried all before it in Cuba and the Philippines.

It would be supposed that a paper which had made such "demands" at a time, and which had declared for expansion on a scale that would have fairly dazed the most ultra Republican of that time, would be somewhat consistent and stand by what it had advertised, but the Journal, like its masters, has flopped to anti-expansion, and has joined Bryan in opposition to national growth and the widening of our commercial field.

Whoever reads the Journal of to-day and considers its attitude on the great questions should consider also its attitude of less than two years ago, when these questions were really alive and when—they had to be acted upon—especially when they have been decided in the very way which the Journal then demanded they should be, it is a confession of rank inconsistency and hypocritical partisanship for the Journal to condemn the work it had formerly commended and reverse itself between two presidential campaigns. There has been no change in the Republican policy and no change in the ownership of the Journal. The "change" is supplied by the national Democratic committee, which furnishes the inducement to Mr. Hearst to eat his words and confess himself, the partisan which he pilloried in 1898.

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty.
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, —MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as The North American Review. — Boston Journal.

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "The North American Review constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the North American Review."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N. Y.

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

For fine job work call at the NEWS office.

PRESIDENT M'KINLEY'S LETTER ACCEPTING THE

President M'Kinley's letter of acceptance is probably the most important unofficial document issued in this country in a quarter of a century. The President takes the country into his confidence and throws a new light upon the history of the past two years. Irrespective of its caustic arraignment of the critics of the administration and its forceful clinching of the fact that Bryanism means the "immediate" destruction of the gold standard and substitution therefor of free silver coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1, the letter is important in the historic sense because it gives the American people their first knowledge of the statesmanship and conditions connected with recent epoch-making events.

The President, although by nature a mild and conciliatory man, can be aroused to a point of dangerous combativeness, and when the mood is on him he becomes one of the most effective debaters we have had in this country for many years. In his letter he wastes no time in what might be called preliminary sparring, but, having definitely located the enemy's vital spot, which is the free silver heresy, he strikes at it with force and precision. The financial question, he says, may not be the paramount issue, but it is the immediate issue. "It will admit of no delay and will suffer no postponement." For has not the Democratic party declared for the "immediate" coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1? And is there any doubt that Mr. Bryan, who insisted upon the insertion of the silver plank in the platform, against the advice of the best men in the party, will use every means, if he is elected, to carry his principles into practice?

After paying the tribute of his regret that the Democratic party by its nominee and its reiteration of the free silver plank of 1896 has made it necessary for the voters to reaffirm their decision of four years ago in favor of the existing gold standard, President McKinley boldly picks up the gage of battle on the issue of imperialism. What that issue is he states most happily in a single paragraph near the end of his letter. After he has marshaled the facts which place the whole controversy in the clearest possible historical light before the reader, he says:

> The American question is between duty and desertion—the American verdict will be for duty and against desertion, for the Republic against both anarchy and imperialism.

As a campaign document the letter is regarded as phenomenally strong. But it is more than a campaign document. It is a contribution to history. The President deals candidly with the American people. He is not afraid to tell them what he has done or why he did it. He deals in facts rather than in arguments.

TEXT OF THE LETTER.

President's Views on Free Silver and the Philippine Question.

Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—To the Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, Chairman Notification Committee—My Dear Sir: The nomination of the Republican national convention of June 19, 1900, for the office of President of the United States, which, as the official representative of the convention, you have conveyed to me, is accepted. I have carefully examined the platform adopted and give it my hearty approval.

Upon the great issue of the last national election it is clear. It upholds the gold standard and indorses the legislation of the present Congress by which that standard has been effectively strengthened. The stability of our national currency is, therefore, secure so long as those who adhere to this platform are kept in control of the government.

Same Issues Involved.

In the first battle, that of 1896, the friends of the gold standard and of sound currency were triumphant and the country is enjoying the fruits of that victory. Our antagonists, however, are not satisfied. They compel us to a second battle upon the same lines on which the first was fought and won.

While regretting the reopening of this question, which can only disturb the present satisfactory financial condition of the government and visit uncertainty upon our great business enterprises, we accept the issue and again invite the sound money forces to join in winning another and we hope a permanent triumph for an honest financial system which will continue inviolable the public faith.

All Loyal to Silver.

As in 1896, the three silver parties are united under the same leader, who, immediately after the election of that year, in an address to the bimetallists, said:

"The friends of bimetallism have not been vanquished; they have simply been overcome. They believe that the gold standard is a conspiracy of the money changers against the welfare of the human race—and they will continue the warfare against it."

The policy thus proclaimed has been accepted and confirmed by these parties. The silver Democratic platform of 1900 continues the warfare against the so-called gold conspiracy when it expressly says:

"We reiterate the demand of that (the Chicago) platform of 1896 for an American financial system made by the American people for themselves, which shall restore and maintain a bimetallic price level; and as part of such system the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation."

The Paramount Issue.

So the issue is presented. It will be noted that the demand is for the immediate restoration of the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1. If another issue is paramount, this is immediate. It will admit of no delay and will suffer no postponement.

Turning to the other associated parties, we find in the Populist national platform adopted at Sioux Falls, S. D., May 10, 1900, the following declaration:

"We pledge anew the People's party never to cease the agitation until this financial conspiracy is blotted from the statute book, the Lincoln greenback restored, the bonds all paid, and all corporation money forever retired. We reaffirm the demand for the reopening of the mints of the United States for the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, the immediate increase in the volume of silver coins and certificates thus created to be substituted, dollar for dollar, for the bank notes issued by private corporations under special privilege, granted by law of March 14, 1900, and prior national banking laws."

Declare Their Hostility.

The platform of the silver party adopted at Kansas City, July 6, 1900, makes the following announcement:

"We declare it to be our intention to lend our efforts to the repeal of this currency law, which not only repudiates the ancient and time-honored principles of the American people before the Constitution was adopted, but is violative of the principles of the Constitution itself; and we shall not cease our efforts until there has been established in its place a monetary system based upon the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold into money at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1 by the independent action of the United States, under which system all paper money shall be issued by the government, and all such money coined or issued shall be a full legal tender in payment of all debts, public and private, without exception."

Combine Against Gold.

In all three platforms these parties announce that their efforts shall be unceasing until the gold act shall be blotted from the statute books and the free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1 shall take its place.

The relative importance of the issues I do not stop to discuss. All of them are important. Whichever party is successful will be bound in conscience to carry into administration and legislation its several declarations and doctrines. One declaration will be as obligatory as another, but all are not immediate.

It is not possible that these parties would treat the doctrine of 16 to 1, the immediate realization of which is demanded by their several platforms, as void and inoperative in the event that they should be clothed with power. Otherwise their profession of faith is insincere. It is therefore the imperative business of those opposed to this financial heresy to prevent the triumph of the parties whose union is only assured by adherence to the silver issue.

Facing Grave Peril.

Will the American people, through indifference or fancied security, hazard the overthrow of the wise financial legislation of the last year and revive the danger of the silver standard, with all of the inevitable evils of shattered confidence and general disaster which justly alarmed and aroused them in 1896?

The Chicago platform of 1896 is reaffirmed in its entirety by the Kansas City convention. Nothing has been omitted or recalled; so that all the perils then threatened are presented anew with the added force of a deliberate reaffirmation. Four years ago the people refused to place the seal of their approval upon these dangerous and revolutionary policies, and this year they will not fail to record again their earnest dissent.

Faithful to Pledges.

The Republican party remains faithful to its principle of a tariff which supplies sufficient revenues for the government and adequate protection to our enterprises and producers, and of reciprocity, which opens foreign markets to the fruits of American labor and furnishes new channels through which to market the surplus of American farms. The time-honored principles of protection and reciprocity were the first pledges of Republican victory to be written into public law.

The present Congress has given to Alaska a territorial government for which it had waited more than a quarter of a century; has established a representative government in Hawaii; has enacted bills for the most liberal treatment of the pensioners and their widows; has revived the free homestead policy.

In its great financial law it provided for the establishment of banks of issue with a capital of $25,000 for the benefit of villages and rural communities, bringing the opportunity for profitable business in banking within the reach of moderate capital. Many are already availing themselves of this privilege.

Some Convincing Figures.

During the past year more than $19,000,000 of United States bonds have been paid from the surplus revenues of the treasury, and in addition $25,000,000 of 2 per cents matured, called by the government, are in process of payment. Pacific Railroad bonds issued by the government in aid of the roads in the sum of nearly $44,000,000 have been paid since Dec. 31, 1897. The treasury balance is in satisfactory condition, showing on Sept. 1 $135,419,000, in addition to the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the treasury. The government relations with the Pacific railroads have been substantially closed, $124,421,000 being received from these roads, the greater part in cash and the remainder with ample securities for payments deferred.

Instead of diminishing, as was predicted four years ago, the volume of our currency is greater per capita than it has ever been. It was $21.10 in 1896. It had increased to $26.50 on July 1, 1900, and $26.85 on Sept. 1, 1900. Our total money on July 1, 1896, was $1,506,434,966; on July 1, 1900, it was $2,062,425,490, and $2,096,683,042 on Sept. 1, 1900.

Prosperity in General.

Our industrial and agricultural conditions are more promising than they have been for many years—probably more so than they have ever been. Prosperity abounds everywhere throughout the republic. I rejoice that the Southern as well as the Northern States are enjoying a full share of these improved national conditions and that all are contributing so largely to our remarkable industrial development.

The money lender receives lower rewards for his capital than if it were invested in active business. The rates of interest are lower than they have ever been in this country, while those things which are produced on the farm and in the workshop, and the labor producing them, have advanced in value.

Our foreign trade shows a satisfactory and increasing growth. The amount of our exports for the year 1900 over those of the exceptionally prosperous year of 1899 was about half a million dollars for every day of the year, and these sums have gone into the homes and enterprises of the people. There has been an increase of over $50,000,000 in the exports of agricultural products, $92,692,220 in manufactures and in the products of the mines of over $10,000,000.

Big Gains in Trade.

Our trade balances cannot fail to give satisfaction to the people of the country. In 1898 we sold abroad $615,432,676 of products more than we bought abroad, in 1899 $529,874,813 and in 1900 $544,471,701, making during the three years a total balance in our favor of $1,689,779,190—nearly five times the balance of trade in our favor for the whole period of 108 years from 1790 to June 30, 1897 inclusive.

Four hundred and thirty-six million dollars of gold have been added to the gold stock of the United States since July 1, 1896. The law of March 14, 1900, authorised the refunding into 2 per cent bonds of that part of the public debt represented by the 3 per cents due in 1908, the 4 per cents due in 1907 and the 5 per cents due in 1904, aggregating $840,000,000. More than one-third of the sum of these bonds was refunded in the first three months after the passage of the act, and on Sept. 1 the sum had been increased more than $33,000,000, making in all $330,578,050, resulting in a net saving of over $8,379,520.

Government Saving Money.

The ordinary receipts of the government for the fiscal year 1900 were $79,527,060 in excess of its expenditures.

While our receipts both from customs and internal revenue have been greatly increased, our expenditures have been decreasing. Civil and miscellaneous expenses for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, were nearly $14,000,000 less than in 1899, while on the war account there is a decrease of more than $95,000,000. There was required $8,000,000 less to support the navy this year than last, and the expenditures on account of Indians were nearly two and three-quarters million dollars less than in 1899.

PRESIDENT M'KINLEY.

The only two items of increase in the public expenses of 1900 over 1899 are for pensions and interest on the public debt. For 1899 we expended for pensions $139,394,929, and for the fiscal year 1900 our payments on this account amounted to $140,877,316. The net increase of interest on the public debt of 1900 over 1899 required by the war loan was $263,408.25.

Bonds Speedily Taken.

While Congress authorised the government to make a war loan of $400,000,000 at the beginning of the war with Spain, only $200,000,000 of bonds was issued, bearing 3 per cent interest, which were promptly and patriotically taken by our citizens.

Unless something unforeseen occurs to reduce our revenues or increase our expenditures, the Congress at its next session should reduce taxation very materially.

Fifty years ago we were selling government bonds bearing as high as 5 per cent interest. Now we are redeeming them with a bond at par bearing 2 per cent interest. We are selling our surplus products and lending our surplus money to Europe.

Europe Is Our Debtor.

One result of our selling to other nations so much more than we have bought from them during the past three years is a radical improvement of our financial relations. The great amounts of capital which have been borrowed of Europe for our rapid material development have remained a constant drain upon our resources for interest and dividends and made our money markets liable to constant disturbances by calls for payment or heavy sales of our securities whenever money stringency or panic occurred abroad. We have now been paying these debts and bringing home many of our securities and establishing countervailing credits abroad by our loans and placing ourselves upon a sure foundation of financial independence.

In the unfortunate contest between Great Britain and the Boer states of South Africa the United States has maintained an attitude of neutrality in accordance with its well-known traditional policy. It did not hesitate, however, when requested by the governments of the South African republics, to exercise its good offices for a cessation of hostilities.

Did What We Could.

It is to be observed that while the South African republics made like request of other powers, the United States is the only one which complied. The British government declined to accept the intervention of any power.

Ninety-one per cent of our exports and imports are now carried by foreign ships. For ocean transportation we pay annually to foreign ship owners over $165,000,000. We ought to own the ships for our carrying trade with the world, and we ought to build them in American shipyards and man them with American sailors. Our own citizens should receive the transportation charges now paid to foreigners.

I have called the attention of Congress to this subject in my several annual messages. In that of Dec. 6, 1897, I said:

"Most desirable from every standpoint of national interest and patriotism is the effort to extend our foreign commerce. To this end our merchant marine should be improved and enlarged. We should do our full share of the carrying trade of the world. We do not do it now. We should be the laggard no longer."

In my message of Dec. 5, 1899, I said:

"Our national development will be one-sided and unsatisfactory so long as the remarkable growth of our inland industries remains unaccompanied by progress on the seas. There is no lack of constitutional authority for legislation which shall give to the country maritime strength commensurate with its industrial achievements and with its rank among the nations of the earth.

"The past year has recorded exceptional activity in our shipyards, and the promises of continual prosperity in shipbuilding are abundant. Advanced legislation for the protection of our seamen has been enacted. Our coast trade, under regulations wisely framed at the beginning of the government and since, shows its results for the past fiscal year unequaled in our records or those of any other power.

Need of the Canal.

"We shall fail to realize our opportunities, however, if we complacently regard only matters at home and blind ourselves to the necessity of securing our share in the valuable carrying trade of the world."

"I now reiterate these views.

"A subject of immediate importance to our country is the completion of a great waterway of commerce between the Atlantic and Pacific. The construction of a maritime canal is now more than ever indispensable to that intimate and ready communication between our eastern and western seaports, demanded by the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands and the expansion of our influence and trade in the Pacific.

"Our national policy more imperatively than ever calls for its completion and control by this government, and it is believed that the next session of Congress, after receiving the full report of the commission appointed under the act approved March 3, 1899, will make provisions for the sure accomplishment of this great work.

Would Restrict Trusts.

Combinations of capital which control the market in commodities necessary to the general use of the people by suppressing natural and ordinary competition, thus enhancing prices to the general consumer, are obnoxious to the common law and the public welfare. They are dangerous conspiracies against the public good, and should be made the subject of prohibitory or penal legislation.

Publicity will be a helpful influence to check this evil. Uniformity of legislation in the different States should be secured. Discrimination between what is injurious and what is useful and necessary in business operations is essential to the wise and effective treatment of this subject.

Honest co-operation of capital is necessary to meet new business conditions and extend our rapidly increasing foreign trade, but conspiracies and combinations intended to restrict business, create monopolies and control prices should be effectively restrained.

Best Friends of Labor.

The best service which can be rendered to labor is to afford it an opportunity for steady and remunerative employment and give it every encouragement for advancement. The policy that subserves this end is the true American policy. The past three years have been more satisfactory to American workingmen than many preceding years. Any change of the present industrial or financial policy of the government would be disastrous to their highest interests.

With prosperity at home and an increasing foreign market for American products employment should continue to wait upon labor and with the present gold standard the workingman is secured against payment for his labor in a depreciated currency. For labor a short day is better than a short dollar. One will lighten the burdens, the other lessens the rewards of toil. The one will promote contentment and independence, the other penury and want.

Speaks for Good Wages.

The wages of labor should be adequate to keep the home in comfort, educate the children, and, with thrift and economy, lay something by for the days of infirmity and old age.

Practical civil service reform has always had the support and encouragement of the Republican party. The future of the merit system is safe in its hands.

During the present administration as occasions have arisen for modification or amendment in the existing civil service law and rules, they have been made. Important amendments were promulgated by executive order under date of May 29, 1899, having for their principal purpose the exception from competitive examination of certain places involving fiduciary responsibilities or duties of a strictly confidential, scientific or executive character, which it was thought might better be filled by noncompetitive examination or by other tests of fitness in the discretion of the appointing officer.

Value of Merit System.

It is gratifying that the experience of more than a year has vindicated these changes in the marked improvement of the public service.

The merit system, as far as practicable, is made the basis for appointments to office in our new territory.

The American people are profoundly grateful to the soldiers, sailors and marines who have in every time of conflict fought their country's battles and defended its honor. The survivors and the widows and orphans of those who have fallen are justly entitled to receive the generous and considerate care of the nation.

Few are now left of those who fought in the Mexican war, and while many of the veterans of the Civil War are still spared to us their numbers are rapidly diminishing and age and infirmity are increasing their dependence. These, with the soldiers of the Spanish war, will not be neglected by their grateful countrymen. The pension laws have been liberal. They should be justly administered, and will be. Preference should be given to the soldiers, sailors and marines, their widows and orphans, with respect to employment in the public service.

Kept Faith with Cuba.

We have been in possession of Cuba since the first of January, 1899. We have restored order and established domestic tranquility. We have fed the starving, clothed the naked, and ministered to the sick. We have improved the sanitary condition of the island. We have stimulated industry, introduced public education, and taken a full and comprehensive enumeration of the inhabitants.

The qualification of electors has been settled and under it officers have been chosen for all the municipalities of Cuba. These local governments are now in operation, administered by the people. Our military establishment has been reduced from 43,000 to less than 6,000.

An election has been ordered to be held on the 15th of September under a fair election law already tried in the municipal elections, to choose members of a constitutional convention, and the convention, by the same order, is to assemble on the first Monday of November to frame a constitution upon which an independent government for the island will rest. All this is a long step in the fulfillment of our sacred guarantees to the people of Cuba.

Plans for Porto Rico.

We hold Porto Rico by the same title as the Philippines. The treaty of peace which ceded us the one conveyed to us the other. Congress has given to this island a government in which the inhabitants participate, elect their own legislature, enact their own local laws, provide their own system of taxation, and in these respects have the same power and privileges enjoyed by other territories belonging to the United States and a much larger measure of self-government than was given to the inhabitants of Louisiana under Jefferson. A district court of the United States for Porto Rico has been established and local courts have been inaugurated, all of which are in operation.

The generous treatment of the Porto Ricans accords with the most liberal thought of our own country and encourages the best aspirations of the people of the island. While they do not have instant free commercial intercourse with the United States, Congress complied with my recommendation by removing, on the 1st day of May last, 85 per cent of the duties and providing for the removal of the remaining 15 per cent on the 1st of March, 1902, or earlier if the legislature of Porto Rico shall provide local revenues for the expenses of conducting the government.

Island Is Profited.

During this intermediate period Porto Rican products coming into the United States pay a tariff of 15 per cent of the rates under the Dingley act and our goods going to Porto Rico pay a like rate. The duties thus paid and collected both in Porto Rico and the United States are paid to the government of Porto Rico and no part thereof is taken by the national government.

All of the duties from Nov. 1, 1898, to June 30, 1900, aggregating the sum of $2,250,523.21, paid at the custom houses in the United States upon Porto Rican products, under the laws existing prior to the above mentioned act of Congress, have gone into the treasury of Porto Rico to relieve the destitute and for schools and other public purposes. In addition to this, we have expended for relief, education and improvement of roads the sum of $1,513,084.05.

Military Force Cut Down.

The United States military force in the islands has been reduced from 11,000 to 1,500, and native Porto Ricans constitute for the most part the local constabulary.

Under the new law and the inauguration of civil government there has been a gratifying revival of business. The manufactures of Porto Rico are developing; her imports are increasing; her tariff is yielding increased returns; her fields are being cultivated; free schools are being established. Notwithstanding the many embarrassments incident to a change of national conditions, she is rapidly showing the good effects of her new relations to this nation.

For the sake of full and intelligent understanding of the Philippine question and to give to the people authentic information of the acts and aims of the administration, I present at some length the events of importance leading up to the present situation. The purposes of the executive are best revealed and can best be judged by what he has done and is doing.

Every Move for Peace.

It will be seen that the power of the government has been used for the liberty, the peace and the prosperity of the Philippine peoples, and that force has been employed only against force which stood in the way of the realization of these ends.

On the 25th day of April, 1898, Congress declared that a state of war existed between Spain and the United States. On May 1, 1898, Admiral Dewey destroyed the Spanish fleet in Manila Bay. On May 19, 1898, Maj. Gen. Merritt, U. S. A., was placed in command of the military expedition to Manila and directed among other things to immediately "publish a proclamation declaring that we come not to make war upon the people of the Philippines nor upon any part or faction among them, but to protect them in their homes, in their employments, and in their personal and religious rights. All persons who, either by active aid or by honest submission, co-operate with the United States in its efforts to give effect to this beneficent purpose will receive the reward of its support and protection."

Some Fortunes of War.

On July 3, 1898, the Spanish fleet in attempting to escape from Santiago harbor was destroyed by the American fleet, and on July 17, 1898, the Spanish garrison in the city of Santiago surrendered to the commander of the American forces.

Following these brilliant victories, on the 12th day of August, 1898, upon the initiative of Spain, hostilities were suspended, and a protocol was signed with a view to arranging terms of peace between the two governments. In pursuance thereof I appointed as commissioners the following distinguished citizens to conduct the negotiations on the part of the United States: Hon. William R. Day of Ohio, Hon. William P. Frye of Minnesota; Hon. George Gray of Delaware and Hon. Whitelaw Reid of New York.

Forced Into Conflict.

In addressing the peace commission before its departure for Paris, I said:

"It is my wish that throughout the negotiations intrusted to the commission the purpose and spirit with which the United States accepted the unwelcome necessity of war should be kept constantly in view. We took up arms only in obedience to the dictates of humanity and the fulfillment of high public and moral obligations. We had no design of aggrandizement and no ambition of conquest.

"Through the long course of repeated representations which preceded and aimed to avert the struggle and in the final arbitrament of force this country was impelled solely by the purpose of relieving grievous wrongs and removing long existing conditions which disturbed its tranquillity, which shocked the moral sense of mankind and which could no longer be endured.

High Sense of Duty.

"It is my earnest wish that the United States in making peace should follow the same high rule of conduct which guided it in facing war. It should be as scrupulous and magnanimous in the concluding settlement as it was just and humane in its original action. * * * Our aim in the adjustment of peace should be directed to lasting results and to the achievement of the common good under the demands of civilization rather than to ambitious designs. * * *

"Without any original thought of complete or even partial acquisition, the presence and success of our arms at Manila impose upon us obligations which we cannot disregard. The march of events rules and overrules human action. Avowing unreservedly the purpose which has animated all our efforts, and still solicitous to adhere to it, we cannot be unmindful that without any desire or design on our part the war has brought us new duties and responsibilities which we must meet and discharge as becomes a great nation on whose growth and career, from the beginning, the Ruler of Nations has plainly written the high command and pledge of civilization."

Shirked No Responsibility.

On Oct. 28, 1898, while the peace commission was continuing its negotiations in Paris, the following additional instruction was sent:

"It is imperative upon us that as victors we should be governed only by motives which will exalt our nation. Territorial expansion should be our least concern; that we shall not shirk the moral obligations of our victory is of the greatest.

"It is undisputed that Spain's authority is permanently destroyed in every part of the Philippines. To leave any part in her feeble control now would increase our difficulties and be opposed to the interests of humanity. * * * Nor can we permit Spain to transfer any of the islands to another power. Nor can we invite another power or powers to join the United States in sovereignty over them. We must either hold them or turn them back to Spain.

Only One Honorable Course.

"Consequently, grave as are the responsibilities and unforeseen as are the difficulties which are before us, the President can see but one plain path of duty, the acceptance of the archipelago. Greater difficulties and more serious complications—administrative and international—would follow any other course.

"The President has given to the views of the commissioners the fullest consideration, and in reaching the conclusion above announced, in the light of information communicated to the commission and to the President since your departure, he has been influenced by the single consideration of duty and humanity. The President is not unmindful of the distressed financial condition of Spain, and whatever consideration the United States may show must come from its sense of generosity and benevolence rather than from any real or technical obligation."

Could Not Abandon Them.

Again, on Nov. 13, I instructed the commission:

"From the standpoint of indemnity, both the archipelagoes (Porto Rico and the Philippines) are insufficient to pay our war expenses, but aside from this, do we not owe an obligation to the people of the Philippines which will not permit us to return them to the sovereignty of Spain? Could we justify ourselves in such a course, or could we permit their barter to some other power?

"Willingly or not, we have the responsibility of duty which we cannot escape. * * * The President cannot believe any division of the archipelago can bring us anything but embarrassment in the future. The trade and commercial side, as well as the indemnity for the cost of the war, are questions we might yield. They might be waived or compromised, but the questions of duty and humanity appeal to the President so strongly that he can find no appropriate answer but the one he has here marked out."

Terms of the Treaty.

The treaty of peace was concluded on Dec. 10, 1898. By its terms the archipelago, known as the Philippine Islands, was ceded by Spain to the United States. It was also provided that "the civil rights and political

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 20, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President.
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

It is safe to say that at least $50,000 has been saved to the settlers living tributary to Thief River Falls by the passage of Congressman Eddy's free homes bill. This money, which otherwise would have been sent to Washington, will now be spent in Thief River Falls. Several appropriations for making the Red Lake river between this city and the Red lake navigable have been secured by Mr. Eddy. And yet there are people here who will be ungrateful enough to vote against him this fall.

At least the Democrats do not propose to make themselves tiresome by advocating the same principles each campaign. Four years ago they howled for free silver, and predicted all sorts of calamities if they didn't win. Now they are apologizing for the silver issue by saying that it is not material this year, and that it is away down to the tail end of their platform anyway. They have now discovered that this great and prosperous republic is about to be turned into an empire. Four years from now they will probably make another discovery, equally as absurd, and relegate "imperialism" to the rear.—Wadena Pioneer Journal.

There is no just, or even plausible, reason why any Republican should this year withhold his support from the Republican ti
The ticket is a good one out; notwithstanding the there are places in it whic have been improved b selections, and will comp than favorably with that by the opposition. Mr. L find in the person of C
Sant an opponent who wi
it far more interesting than did the Republican c two years ago, and, unless fail, the verdict of '98 will versed and that of '96
with a good, safe majority —Princeton Union.

The News is in receipt ter from Samuel Gibeau, i
he denies the statement p in this paper to the effect had paid Edonor Perrusse remain out of the fight fo fice of register of deeds. T was published last week s a matter of news, and we that Mr. Gibeau says it is The contest for the office of of deeds will, therefore, be Nels Holberg, the Rep nominee; Edonor Perra
Democratic nominee, and Gibeau, the Populist nomi chance for a fair and hon is all the Republican nomi for in this election, and it require any misrepresenta
on the part of his friends him.

THE DOLLAR OR THE

"They (the Democrats) pressed much alarm as to the dollar should be a man or the man ahead o

lar, whatever that may mean. During the past four years the Republican party has confined itself to the common sense action of putting the man within reach of the dollar and making the dollar worth 100 cents in gold, when he got within reach of it, and they have left it to him to decide whether it shall be before or behind. That is an important matter.

"Every man should have a choice of earning a dollar, and when earned, the dollar should be a real dollar, and not a mere sham dollar after he has earned it. No legislation, no administration can secure to a man prosperity. Ultimately he has to rely now, as he has had to do since the dawn of our race on this planet, and as he will have to do as long as man lives, upon his own cool head, stout heart and ready hand. Nothing can take the place of his personal qualities." — Theodore Roosevelt.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Those who expected to see the Republicans of Red Lake county nominate a patchwork or partial ticket are disappointed. The Republicans have their war paint on and will put up a hard fight. Their ticket has some strong nominees. — Red Lake Falls Gazette (Pop.).

THE PARTY OF PEACE.

Governor Roosevelt told his hearers at Grand Rapids that to abandon the Philippines to a group of military usurpers would be to surrender the islands to misery and anarchy. That is the case in a nutshell. American control is the only means by which peace can be given to the islands. A policy of withdrawal would not give peace. Temporizing would not do it. Peace can be secured only by putting down the insurgents. This is the Republican policy, and it will lead to peace and prosperity in the Philippines if the Bryanites will cease their firing in the rear and give the administration a chance. Mr. Roosevelt cited letters from Americans in the Philippines telling of cruel deeds of the insurgents, and showing that the insurrection is kept alive only by hope of Democratic victory. Bryan is the apostle of war for the present and chaos for the future in the Philippines.

as at present, and in the other he would have bloody anarchy. If it came to a test he could not do otherwise than President McKinley is doing without plunging the islands in a worse war than any they have known.

The whole matter is summed up in Mr. Roosevelt's declaration that we cannot leave the Philippines because of the two-fold duty to ourselves and to the people of the islands. The duty to ourselves demands that we fulfill the treaty pledges which Mr. Bryan was partly instrumental in making, and which he now wishes the nation to repudiate. The duty to the Filipinos demands that we protect those who are friendly and that we restore peace to the islands, which Bryan is doing what he can to retard. It is the Republican party and not the Democratic that is the apostle of peace.—Chicago Tribune.

LIFE WAS ALL COURTSHIP.

The Union of Gladstone and His Wife Was a Love Match That Lasted All Their Days.

Probably the marriage between William Ewart Gladstone and Catherine Glynne was what is happily known as a "love match." She was a famous beauty, and he was amply fitted to appreciate her loveliness, which from year to year he learned was as much of character as of appearance. That she was content to play the part of true helpmate all who have ever seen the couple together have borne witness. Intellectually, she was perhaps fitted to make a name for herself had she so chosen; if he had not been so exceedingly great he might have been known only as her husband. But she was satisfied to be his prop—remaining in the background when necessary, or coming to the fore if he had need of her there. In the busy, hard-working days of his life she was his constant attendant, and it has been said that his moral strenuousness was oftentimes due to her influence, says the Boston Transcript.

Then, as illness and old age made it necessary for him to lessen his public duties, she continued to be the true helpmate by watching over his physical comforts in the tenderest way. It was said at the time of his death that her unceasing care had undoubtedly prolonged his life. It must have been gratifying to her to hear this, for she had clearly made this her mission. When his life went out she felt in a sense that her life work was done also, and she looked for the summons to leave this world with no feelings of dread.

HOW THE PRESIDENT WORKS.

Much of the Official Business Is Transacted at the White House Late at Night.

A warm June evening in Washington is not just the time for work—but it is

THE GLOBE'S BOLT

Powerful Arraignment of the Latter Day Democrats by the Minnesota Organ of Democracy.

BRYAN A MENACE TO NATION

Good Reading for Sound Money Men and Those Who Believe in a Government That Governs Wisely.

The St. Paul Daily Globe, which since its establishment has been the recognized organ of the Democratic party in this state, has published its refusal to support the nominees of the national Democratic convention and given its reasons for such refusal. On July 7, following the nomination of Bryan and the adoption of the Kansas City platform, the Globe published the following triple-leaded editorial:

A CRIME REPEATED.

The St. Paul Globe is now, has always been, and will remain, a Democratic paper. It has never compromised its convictions on questions for large public or party concern, and never intends to do so.

Four years ago, under conditions substantially identical with those now in existence, the Globe refused to extend its advocacy to what it then regarded as a false and pernicious economic principle. A national convention of its party had adopted that principle and embodied it in its national platform, and with it as the chief claim of the party to the consideration of the voting population sought popular sustainment. The defeat which ensued was so decisive as to convince all but a few radical and irresponsible party adherents that the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 could never receive the indorsement of the American people.

A lapse of four years finds the Democracy of the country confronted by the same peril which proved its undoing in 1896. How does it meet the emergency? By once more embracing the danger and adopting the folly and falsehood under the burden of which it had been brought to the borders of ruin in its last national campaign.

The Globe stands to-day where it stood four years ago. It is now, as it was then, opposed to the free coinage idea. It gave expression to its opposition then; right principle and fair dealing with its party associates and with the country demand that it give expression to it now. There is less, if possible, to justify compromise or condonement now than there was then. The party went blindly to its fate then; it goes now open-eyed, and because of its domination by one man.

A body claiming to be deliberative in character which will submit, without protest, to coercion into the pursuit of a policy which has already proven fatal, and which is openly repudiated by the intelligence and enlightenment of the country, presents to the Globe no valid claim to having its decrees respected, even though it purports to give voice to the convictions of the Democracy.

It lies in the mouth of no Democrat who accepts the dictation which forced the 16 to 1 folly into his national platform to say aught against the accepted control of the Republican national convention by Senator Hanna of Ohio. That control at least led in directions which pointed toward possible success. The control of William J. Bryan, which, under threat of withdrawal, forced the free silver falsehood down the throat of the Kansas City convention, points to a pathway already traveled over in the journey to Democratic defeat and disaster.

N. Y. JOURNAL FLOPS

The Leading Bryan Organ Was Howling for Expansion and an Imperial Navy Two Years Ago.

AN EXPANSION EDITORIAL

The Journal of November, 1898, Loud in Its Demands for a Great Navy and Permanent Possession of the Philippines.

The utter insincerity of the Democratic press on the issue of imperialism is manifested in a thousand ways, but nowhere is it more marked than in the course of the syndicate of papers owned by W. R. Hearst, the millionaire owner of the New York Journal, San Francisco Examiner and Chicago American.

These three papers are the bone and sinew and substance of the Democratic campaign, furnishing the only avenue through which the campaign managers reach the class of readers among which the Police Gazette and kindred publications find circulation. If there is a scandalous campaign lie to be put in currency about Republican candidates, an immoral story to be told about the administration or a piece of false testimony to be given concerning a Republican official, it is to be found in the Journal, the Examiner or the American. They are sensational papers of the "yellowest" type, and, though totally discredited by the intelligent and well informed reading public, have a wide circulation among a certain class. To this class the demagogic appeal is made that the policy of the present administration is toward "imperialism," whatever that may be, and the reader is frantically appealed to and pleaded with to vote against a party that forces government upon an unwilling people in the Philippines and which is accomplishing expansion beyond the seas.

It so happens that the files of the Journal, the parent of all this yellow brood, are still in existence, and those who have read the Journal's latest attacks on the administration's expansion policy are invited to peruse and consider an editorial in the Journal printed Nov. 15, 1898, and signed by W. R. Hearst in person. The article in question was run clear across the editorial page of the paper, and was advertised throughout the land as the "Journal's policy." The article was as follows:

We have demanded from the first the annexation of Hawaii; we demanded the war; we demanded the acquisition of territory in the West Indies and the retention of ALL the Philippines. We now demand the government of our new territories as intergral parts of this country, according to the American idea, without any programme of militarism or imperialism foreign to the fundamental principles of our republic. We demand the construction of the Nicaragua canal, not only for reasons of military strategy, but in order that the most widely separated sections of our domain may have free and direct communication with each other. We demand the erection of great national universities at West Point and Annapolis, where all students educated at the expense of the government shall receive such military training as will make them efficient officers in time of war, to the end that this nation may be placed upon a proper military footing without the necessity of that undemocratic institution, a large standing army. We

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices--for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases, a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW. — Boston Journal.

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "THE NORTH AMERICAN iew constantly offers to the e a programme of writers and s that excite the reader and fy the intellectual appetite.
is respect there is no other zine that approaches the
th American Review." is neither a partisan nor a rian publication, but l Sides of All Questions hich intelligent readers are in ted are promptly discussed in ges, and facts and arguments resented with all the ability logical force of the most ent writers in the world.
bjects that concern the in s of
American Women
ve constant and special at on.

ents a Number; $5.00 a year.
w IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
North American Review, N.Y.

RTER & PAULSON,
--Proprietors of--
CITY DRAY
--and--
RANSFER LINE.
reat Northern Express
Handled.
ything in Our Line Done
Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

r fine job work at the NEWS
e.

RETAKE
OF PRECEDING
PAGE

DEFECTIVE PAGE

V'102½

PRESIDENT M'KINLEY'S LETTER ACCEPTING THE

President M'Kinley's letter of acceptance is probably the most important unofficial document issued in this country in a quarter of a century. The President takes the country into his confidence and throws a new light upon the history of the past two years. Irrespective of its caustic arraignment of the critics of the administration and its forceful clinching of the fact that Bryanism means the "immediate" destruction of the gold standard and substitution therefor of free silver coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1, the letter is important in the historic sense because it gives the American people their first knowledge of the statesmanship and conditions connected with recent epoch-making events.

The President, although by nature a mild and conciliatory man, can be aroused to a point of dangerous combativeness, and when the mood is on him he becomes one of the most effective debaters we have had in this country for many years. In his letter he wastes no time in what might be called preliminary sparring, but, having definitely located the enemy's vital spot, which is the free silver heresy, he strikes at it with force and precision. The financial question, he says, may not be the paramount issue, but it is the immediate issue. "It will admit of no delay and will suffer no postponement." For has not the Democratic party declared for the "immediate" coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1? And is there any doubt that Mr. Bryan, who insisted upon the insertion of the silver plank in the platform, against the advice of the best men in the party, will use every means, if he is elected, to carry his principles into practice?

After paying the tribute of his regret that the Democratic party by its nominee and its reiteration of the free silver plank of 1896 has made it necessary for the voters to reaffirm their decision of four years ago in favor of the existing gold standard, President McKinley boldly picks up the gage of battle on the issue of imperialism. What that issue is he states most happily in a single paragraph near the end of his letter. After he has marshaled the facts which place the whole controversy in the clearest possible historical light before the reader, he says:

> The American question is between duty and desertion—the American verdict will be for duty and against desertion, for the Republic against both anarchy and imperialism.

As a campaign document the letter is regarded as phenomenally strong. But it is more than a campaign document. It is a contribution to history. The President deals candidly with the American people. He is not afraid to tell them what he has done or why he did it. He deals in facts rather than in arguments.

TEXT OF THE LETTER.

President's Views on Free Silver and the Philippine Question.

Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—To the Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, Chairman Notification Committee—My Dear Sir: The nomination of the Republican national convention of June 19, 1900, for the office of President of the United States, which, as the official representative of the convention, you have conveyed to me, is accepted. I have carefully examined the platform adopted and give it my hearty approval.

Upon the great issue of the last national election it is clear. It upholds the gold standard and indorses the legislation of the present Congress by which that standard has been effectively strengthened. The stability of our national currency is, therefore, secure so long as those who adhere to this platform are kept in control of the government.

Same Issues Involved.

In the first battle, that of 1896, the friends of the gold standard and of sound currency were triumphant and the country is enjoying the fruits of that victory. Our antagonists, however, are not satisfied. They compel us to a second battle upon the same lines on which the first was fought and won.

While regretting the reopening of this question, which can only disturb the present satisfactory financial condition of the government and visit uncertainty upon our great business enterprises, we accept the issue and again invite the sound money forces to join in winning another and we hope a permanent triumph for an honest financial system which will continue inviolable the public faith.

All Loyal to Silver.

As in 1896, the three silver parties are united under the same leader, who, immediately after the election of that year, in an address to the bimetallists, said:

"The friends of bimetallism have not been vanquished; they have simply been overcome. They believe that the gold standard is a conspiracy of the money changers against the welfare of the human race—and they will continue the warfare against it."

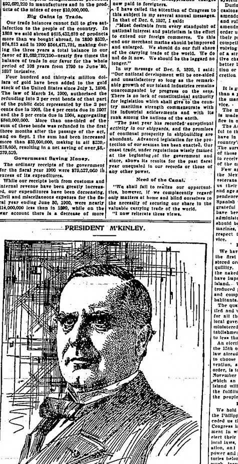
The policy thus proclaimed has been accepted and confirmed by these parties. The silver Democratic platform of 1900 continues the warfare against the so-called gold conspiracy when it expressly says:

"We reiterate the demand of that (the Chicago) platform of 1896 for an American financial system made by the American people for themselves, which shall restore and maintain a bimetallic price level; and as part of such system the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation."

The Paramount Issue.

So the issue is presented. It will be noted that the demand is for the immediate restoration of the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1. If another issue is paramount, this is immediate. It will admit of no delay and will suffer no postponement.

PRESIDENT M'KINLEY.



Turning to the other associated parties, we find in the Populist national platform adopted at Sioux Falls, S. D., May 10, 1900, the following declaration:

"We pledge anew the People's party never to cease the agitation until this financial conspiracy is blotted from the statute book, the Lincoln greenback restored, the bonds all paid and all corporation money forever retired. We reaffirm the demand for the reopening of the mints of the United States for the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, the immediate increase in the volume of silver coins and certificates thus created to be substituted, dollar for dollar, for the bank notes issued by private corporations under special privilege, granted by law of March 14, 1900, and prior national banking laws."

Declare Their Hostility.

The platform of the silver party adopted at Kansas City, July 6, 1900, makes the following announcement:

"We declare it to be our intention to lend our efforts to the repeal of this currency law, which not only repudiates the ancient and time-honored principles of the American people before the Constitution was adopted, but is violative of the principles of the Constitution itself; and we shall not cease our efforts until there has been established in its place a monetary system based upon the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold into money at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1 by the independent action of the United States, under which system all paper money shall be issued by the government, and all such money coined or issued shall be a full legal tender in payment of all debts, public and private, without exception."

Combine Against Gold.

In all three platforms these parties announce that their efforts shall be unceasing until the gold act shall be blotted from the statute books and the free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1, shall take its place.

The relative importance of the issues I do not stop to discuss. All of them are important. Whichever party is successful will be bound in conscience to carry into administration and legislation its several declarations and doctrines. One declaration will be as obligatory as another, but all are not immediate.

It is not possible that these parties would treat the doctrine of 16 to 1, the immediate realization of which is demanded by their several platforms, as void and inoperative in the event that they should be clothed with power. Otherwise their profession of faith is insincere. It is therefore the imperative business of those opposed to this financial heresy to prevent the triumph of the parties whose union is only assured by adherence to the silver issue.

Facing Grave Peril.

Will the American people, through indifference or fancied security, hazard the overthrow of the wise financial legislation of the last year and revive the danger of the silver standard, with all of the inevitable evils of shattered confidence and general disaster which justly alarmed and aroused them in 1896?

The Chicago platform of 1896 is reaffirmed in its entirety by the Kansas City convention. Nothing has been omitted or recalled; so that all the perils then threatened are presented anew with the added force of a deliberate reaffirmation. Four years ago the people refused to place the seal of their approval upon these dangerous and revolutionary policies, and this year they will not fail to record again their earnest dissent.

Faithful to Pledges.

The Republican party remains faithful to its principle of a tariff which supplies sufficient revenues for the government and adequate protection to our enterprises and producers, and of reciprocity, which opens foreign markets to the fruits of American labor and furnishes new channels through which to market the surplus of American farms. The time-honored principles of protection and reciprocity were the first pledges of Republican victory to be written into public law.

The present Congress has given to Alaska a territorial government for which it had waited more than a quarter of a century; has established a representative government in Hawaii; has enacted bills for the most liberal treatment of the pensioners and their widows; has revived the free homestead policy.

In its great financial law it provided for the establishment of banks of issue with a capital of $25,000 for the benefit of villages and rural communities, bringing the opportunity for profitable business in banking within the reach of moderate capital. Many are already availing themselves of this privilege.

Some Convincing Figures.

During the past year more than $19,000,000 of United States bonds have been paid from the surplus revenues of the treasury, and in addition $25,000,000 of 2 per cents matured, called by the government, are in process of payment. Pacific Railroad bonds issued by the government in aid of the roads in the sum of nearly $44,000,000 have been paid since Dec. 31, 1897. The treasury balance is in satisfactory condition, showing on Sept. 1 $135,419,000, in addition to the $150,000,000 gold reserve in the treasury. The government relations with the Pacific railroads have been substantially closed, $124,421,000 being received from these roads, the greater part in cash and the remainder with ample securities for payments deferred.

Instead of diminishing, as was predicted four years ago, the volume of our currency is greater per capita than it has ever been. It was $21.10 in 1896. It had increased to $26.50 on July 1, 1900, and $26.85 on Sept. 1, 1900. Our total money on July 1, 1896, was $1,506,434,966; on July 1, 1900, it was $2,062,425,490, and $2,096,683,042 on Sept. 1, 1900.

Prosperity in General.

Our industrial and agricultural conditions are more promising than they have been for many years; probably more so than they have ever been. Prosperity abounds everywhere throughout the republic. I rejoice that the Southern as well as the Northern States are enjoying a full share of these improved national conditions and that all are contributing so largely to our remarkable industrial development.

The money lender receives lower rewards for his capital than if it were invested in active business. The rates of interest are lower than they have ever been in this country, while those things which are produced on the farm and in the workshop, and the labor producing them, have advanced in value.

Our foreign trade shows a satisfactory and increasing growth. The amount of our exports for the year 1900 over those of the exceptionally prosperous year of 1899 was about half a million dollars for every day of the year, and these sums have gone into the homes and enterprises of the people. There has been an increase of over $50,000,000 in the exports of agricultural products, $92,692,220 in manufactures and in the products of the mines of over $10,000,000.

Big Gains in Trade.

Our trade balances cannot fail to give satisfaction to the people of the country. In 1898 we sold abroad $615,432,676 of products more than we bought abroad, in 1899 $529,874,813 and in 1900 $544,471,701, making during the three years a total balance in our favor of $1,689,779,190—nearly five times the balance of trade in our favor for the whole period of 108 years from 1790 to June 30, 1897 inclusive.

Four hundred and thirty-six million dollars of gold have been added to the gold stock of the United States since July 1, 1896. The law of March 14, 1900, authorized the refunding into 2 per cent bonds of that part of the public debt represented by the 3 per cents due in 1908, the 4 per cents due in 1907 and the 5 per cents due in 1904, aggregating $840,000,000. More than one-third of the sum of these bonds was refunded in the first three months after the passage of the act, and on Sept. 1 the sum had been increased more than $33,000,000, making in all $330,578,050, resulting in a net saving of over $8,379,520.

Government Saving Money.

The ordinary receipts of the government for the fiscal year 1900 were $79,527,060 in excess of its expenditures.

While our receipts both from customs and internal revenue have been greatly increased, our expenditures have been decreasing. Civil and miscellaneous expenses for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, were nearly $14,000,000 less than in 1899, while on the war account there is a decrease of more than $95,000,000. There was required $8,000,000 less to support the navy this year than last, and the expenditures on account of Indians were nearly two and three-quarters million dollars less than in 1899.

The only two items of increase in the public expenses of 1900 over 1899 are for pensions and interest on the public debt. For 1899 we expended for pensions $139,394,929, and for the fiscal year 1900 our payments on this account amounted to $140,877,316. The net increase of interest on the public debt of 1900 over 1899 required by the war loan was $263,408.25.

Bonds Speedily Taken.

While Congress authorized the government to make a war loan of $400,000,000 at the beginning of the war with Spain, only $200,000,000 of bonds was issued, bearing 3 per cent interest, which were promptly and patriotically taken by our citizens.

Unless something unforeseen occurs to reduce our revenues or increase our expenditures, the Congress at its next session should reduce taxation very materially.

Fifty years ago we were selling government bonds bearing as high as 5 per cent interest. Now we are redeeming them with a bond at par bearing 2 per cent interest. We are selling our surplus products and lending our surplus money to Europe.

Europe Is Our Debtor.

One result of our selling to other nations so much more than we have bought from them during the past three years is a radical improvement of our financial relations. The great amounts of capital which have been borrowed of Europe for our rapid, material development have remained a constant drain upon our resources for interest and dividends and made our money markets liable to constant disturbances by calls for payment or heavy sales of our securities whenever money stringency or panic occurred abroad. We have now been paying these debts and bringing home many of our securities and establishing countervailing credits abroad by our loans and placing ourselves upon a sure foundation of financial independence.

In the unfortunate contest between Great Britain and the Boer states of South Africa the United States has maintained an attitude of neutrality in accordance with its well-known traditional policy. It did not hesitate, however, when requested by the governments of the South African republics, to exercise its good offices for a cessation of hostilities.

Did What We Could.

It is to be observed that while the South African republics made like request of other powers, the United States is the only one which complied. The British government declined to accept the intervention of any power.

Ninety-one per cent of our exports and imports are now carried by foreign ships. For ocean transportation we pay annually to foreign ship owners over $165,000,000. We ought to own the ships for our carrying trade with the world, and we ought to build them in American shipyards and man them with American sailors. Our own citizens should receive the transportation charges now paid to foreigners.

I have called the attention of Congress to this subject in my several annual messages. In that of Dec. 6, 1897, I said:

"Most desirable from every standpoint of national interest and patriotism is the effort to extend our foreign commerce. To this end our merchant marine should be improved and enlarged. We should do our full share of the carrying trade of the world. We do not do it now. We should be the laggard no longer."

In my message of Dec. 5, 1899, I said: "Our national development will be one-sided and unsatisfactory so long as the remarkable growth of our inland industries remains unaccompanied by progress on the seas. There is no lack of constitutional authority for legislation which shall give to the country maritime strength commensurate with its industrial achievements and with its rank among the nations of the earth.

"The past year has recorded exceptional activity in our shipyards, and the promises of continual prosperity in shipbuilding are abundant. Advanced legislation for the protection of our seamen has been enacted. Our coast trade, under regulations wisely framed at the beginning of the government and since, shows its results for the past fiscal year unequaled in our records or those of any other power.

Need of the Canal.

"We shall fail to realize our opportunities, however, if we complacently regard only matters at home and blind ourselves to the necessity of securing our share in the valuable carrying trade of the world.

"I now reiterate these views.

"A subject of immediate importance to our country is the completion of a great waterway of commerce between the Atlantic and Pacific. The construction of a maritime canal is now more than ever indispensable to that intimate and ready communication between our eastern and western seaports, demanded by the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands and the expansion of our influence and trade in the Pacific.

"Our national policy more imperatively than ever calls for its completion and control by this government, and it is believed that the next session of Congress, after receiving the full report of the commission appointed under the act approved March 3, 1899, will make provisions for the sure accomplishment of this great work.

Would Restrict Trusts.

Combinations of capital which control the market in commodities necessary to the general use of the people by suppressing natural and ordinary competition, thus enhancing prices to the general consumer, are obnoxious to the common law and the public welfare. They are dangerous conspiracies against the public good, and should be made the subject of prohibitory or penal legislation.

Publicity will be a helpful influence to check this evil. Uniformity of legislation in the different States should be secured. Discrimination between what is injurious and what is useful and necessary in business operations is essential to the wise and effective treatment of this subject.

Honest co-operation of capital is necessary to meet new business conditions and extend our rapidly increasing foreign trade, but conspiracies and combinations intended to restrict business, create monopolies and control prices should be effectively restrained.

Best Friends of Labor.

The best service which can be rendered to labor is to afford it an opportunity for steady and remunerative employment, and give it every encouragement for advancement. The policy that subserves this end is the true American policy. The past three years have been more satisfactory to American workingmen than many preceding years. Any change of the present industrial or financial policy of the government would be disastrous to their highest interests.

With prosperity at home and an increasing foreign market for American products employment should continue to wait upon labor, and with the present gold standard the workingman is secured against payment for his labor in a depreciated currency. For labor a short day is better than a short dollar. One will lighten the burdens, the other lessens the rewards of toil. The one will promote contentment and independence, the other penury and want.

Speaks for Good Wages.

The wages of labor should be adequate to keep the home in comfort, educate the children, and, with thrift and economy, lay something by for the days of infirmity and old age.

Practical civil service reform has always had the support and encouragement of the Republican party. The future of the merit system is safe in its hands.

During the present administration as occasions have arisen for modification or amendment in the existing civil service law and rules, they have been made. Important amendments were promulgated by executive order under date of May 29, 1899, having for their principal purpose the exception from competitive examination of certain places involving fiduciary responsibilities or duties of a strictly confidential, scientific or executive character, which it was thought might better be filled by noncompetitive examination or by other tests of fitness in the discretion of the appointing officer.

Value of Merit System.

It is gratifying that the experience of more than a year has vindicated these changes in the marked improvement of the public service.

The merit system, as far as practicable, is made the basis for appointments to office in our new territory.

The American people are profoundly grateful to the soldiers, sailors and marines who have in every time of conflict fought their country's battles and defended its honor. The survivors and the widows and orphans of those who have fallen are justly entitled to receive the generous and considerate care of the nation.

Few are now left of those who fought in the Mexican war, and while many of the veterans of the Civil War are still spared to us their numbers are rapidly diminishing and age and infirmity are increasing their dependence. These, with the soldiers of the Spanish war, will not be neglected by their grateful countrymen. The pension laws have been liberal. They should be justly administered, and will be. Preference should be given to the soldiers, sailors and marines, their widows and orphans, with respect to employment in the public service.

Kept Faith with Cuba.

We have been in possession of Cuba since the first of January, 1899. We have restored order and established domestic tranquility. We have fed the starving, clothed the naked, and ministered to the sick. We have improved the sanitary condition of the island. We have stimulated industry, introduced public education, and taken a full and comprehensive enumeration of the inhabitants.

The qualification of electors has been settled and under it officers have been chosen for all the municipalities of Cuba. These local governments are now in operation, administered by the people. Our military establishment has been reduced from 43,000 to less than 6,000.

An election has been ordered to be held on the 15th of September under a fair election law already tried in the municipal elections, to choose members of a constitutional convention, and the convention, by the same order, is to assemble on the first Monday of November to frame a constitution upon which an independent government for the island will rest. All this is a long step in the fulfillment of our sacred guarantees to the people of Cuba.

Plans for Porto Rico.

We hold Porto Rico by the same title as the Philippines. The treaty of peace which ceded us the one conveyed to us the other. Congress has given to this island a government in which the inhabitants participate, elect their own legislature, enact their own local laws, provide their own system of taxation, and in these respects have the same power and privileges enjoyed by other territories belonging to the United States and a much larger measure of self-government than was given to the inhabitants of Louisiana under Jefferson. A district court of the United States for Porto Rico has been established and local courts have been inaugurated, all of which are in operation.

The generous treatment of the Porto Ricans accords with the most liberal thought of our own country and encourages the best aspirations of the people of the island. While they do not have instant free commercial intercourse with the United States, Congress complied with my recommendation by removing, on the 1st day of May last, 85 per cent of the duties and providing for the removal of the remaining 15 per cent on the 1st of March, 1902, or earlier if the legislature of Porto Rico shall provide local revenues for the expenses of conducting the government.

Island Is Profited.

During this intermediate period Porto Rican products coming into the United States pay a tariff of 15 per cent of the rates under the Dingley act and our goods going to Porto Rico pay a like rate. The duties thus paid and collected both in Porto Rico and the United States are paid to the government of Porto Rico and no part thereof is taken by the national government.

All of the duties from Nov. 1, 1898, to June 30, 1900, aggregating the sum of $2,250,523.21, paid at the custom houses in the United States upon Porto Rican products, under the laws existing prior to the above mentioned act of Congress, have gone into the treasury of Porto Rico to relieve the destitute and for schools and other public purposes. In addition to this, we have expended for relief, education and improvement of roads the sum of $1,513,084.05.

Military Force Cut Down.

The United States military force in the islands has been reduced from 11,000 to 1,500, and native Porto Ricans constitute for the most part the local constabulary.

Under the new law and the inauguration of civil government there has been a gratifying revival of business. The manufactures of Porto Rico are developing; her imports are increasing; her tariff is yielding increased returns; her fields are being cultivated; free schools are being established. Notwithstanding the many embarrassments incident to a change of national conditions, she is rapidly showing the good effects of her new relations to this nation.

For the sake of full and intelligent understanding of the Philippine question and to give to the people authentic information of the acts and aims of the administration, I present at some length the events of importance leading up to the present situation. The purposes of the executive are best revealed and can best be judged by what he has done and is doing.

Every Move for Peace.

It will be seen that the power of the government has been used for the liberty, the peace and the prosperity of the Philippine peoples, and that force has been employed only against force which stood in the way of the realization of these ends.

On the 25th day of April, 1898, Congress declared that a state of war existed between Spain and the United States. On May 1, 1898, Admiral Dewey destroyed the Spanish fleet in Manila Bay. On May 19, 1898, Maj. Gen. Merritt, U. S. A., was placed in command of the military expedition to Manila and directed among other things to immediately "publish a proclamation declaring that we come not to make war upon the people of the Philippines nor upon any part or faction among them, but to protect them in their homes, in their employments, and in their personal and religious rights. All persons who, either by active aid or by honest submission, co-operate with the United States in its efforts to give effect to this beneficent purpose will receive the reward of its support and protection."

Some Fortunes of War.

On July 3, 1898, the Spanish fleet in attempting to escape from Santiago harbor was destroyed by the American fleet, and on July 17, 1898, the Spanish garrison in the city of Santiago surrendered to the commander of the American forces.

Following these brilliant victories, on the 12th day of August, 1898, upon the initiative of Spain, hostilities were suspended, and a protocol was signed with a view to arranging terms of peace between the two governments. In pursuance thereof I appointed as commissioners the following distinguished citizens to conduct the negotiations on the part of the United States: Hon. William R. Day of Ohio, Hon. William P. Frye of Minnesota, Hon. George Gray of Delaware and Hon. Whitelaw Reid of New York.

Forced Into Conflict.

In addressing the peace commission before its departure for Paris, I said:

"It is my wish that throughout the negotiations intrusted to the commission the purpose and spirit with which the United States accepted the unwelcome necessity of war should be kept constantly in view. We took up arms only in obedience to the dictates of humanity and the fulfillment of high public and moral obligations. We had no design of aggrandizement and no ambition of conquest.

"Through the long course of repeated representations which preceded and aimed to avert the struggle and in the final arbitrament of force this country was impelled solely by the purpose of relieving grievous wrongs and removing long existing conditions which disturbed its tranquillity, which shocked the moral sense of mankind and which could no longer be endured.

High Sense of Duty.

"It is my earnest wish that the United States in making peace should follow the same high rule of conduct which guided it in facing war. It should be as scrupulous and magnanimous in the concluding settlement as it was just and humane in its original action. * * * Our aim in the adjustment of peace should be directed to lasting results and to the achievement of the common good under the demands of civilization rather than to ambitious designs. * * *

"Without any original thought of complete or even partial acquisition, the presence and success of our arms at Manila impose upon us obligations which we cannot disregard. The march of events rules and overrules human action. Avowing unreservedly the purpose which has animated all our efforts, and still solicitous to adhere to it, we cannot be unmindful that without any desire or design on our part the war has brought us new duties and responsibilities which we must meet and discharge as becomes a great nation on whose growth and career, from the beginning, the Ruler of Nations has plainly written the high command and pledge of civilization."

Shirked No Responsibility.

On Oct. 28, 1898, while the peace commission was continuing its negotiations in Paris, the following additional instruction was sent:

"It is imperative upon us that as victors we should be governed only by motives which will exalt our nation. Territorial expansion should be our least concern; that we shall not shirk the moral obligations of our victory is of the greatest.

"It is undisputed that Spain's authority is permanently destroyed in every part of the Philippines. To leave any part in her feeble control now would increase our difficulties and be opposed to the interests of humanity. * * * Nor can we permit Spain to transfer any of the islands to another power. Nor can we invite another power or powers to join the United States in sovereignty over them. We must either hold them or turn them back to Spain.

Only One Honorable Course.

"Consequently, grave as are the responsibilities and unforeseen as are the difficulties which are before us, the President can see but one plain path of duty, the acceptance of the archipelago. Greater difficulties and more serious complications—administrative and international—would follow any other course.

"The President has given to the views of the commissioners the fullest consideration, and in reaching the conclusion above announced, in the light of information communicated to the commission and to the President since your departure, he has been influenced by the single consideration of duty and humanity. The President is not unmindful of the distressed financial condition of Spain, and whatever consideration the United States may show must come from its sense of generosity and benevolence rather than from any real or technical obligation."

Could Not Abandon Them.

Again, on Nov. 13, I instructed the commission:

"From the standpoint of indemnity, both the archipelagoes (Porto Rico and the Philippines) are insufficient to pay our war expenses, but aside from this, do we not owe an obligation to the people of the Philippines which will not permit us to return them to the sovereignty of Spain? Could we justify ourselves in such a course, or could we permit their barter to some other power?

"Willingly or not, we have the responsibility of duty which we cannot escape. * * * The President cannot believe any division of the archipelago can bring us anything but embarrassment in the future. The trade and commercial side, as well as the indemnity for the cost of the war, are questions we might yield. They might be waived or compromised, but the questions of duty and humanity appeal to the President so strongly that he can find no appropriate answer but the one he has here marked out."

Terms of the Treaty.

The treaty of peace was concluded on Dec. 10, 1898. By its terms the archipelago, known as the Philippine Islands, was ceded by Spain to the United States. It was also provided that "the civil rights and political

NOMINATION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY,

SUPPLEMENT TO THE
THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

Thursday, Sept. 20, 1900.

status of the native inhabitants of the territories hereby ceded to the United States shall be determined by the Congress."

Eleven days thereafter, on Dec. 21, the following direction was given to the commander of our forces in the Philippines:

"The military commander of the United States is enjoined to make known to the inhabitants of the Philippine Islands that, in succeeding to the sovereignty of Spain, in severing the former political relations of the inhabitants and in establishing a new political power, the authority of the United States is to be exerted for the securing of the persons and property of the people of the islands and for the confirmation of all their private rights and relations. It will be the duty of the commander of the forces of occupation to announce and proclaim in the most public manner that we come not as invaders or conquerors, but as friends, to protect the natives in their homes, in their employments and in their personal and religious rights."

Sent a Commission.

In order to facilitate the most humane, pacific and effective extension of authority throughout these islands, and to secure, with the least possible delay, the benefits of a wise and generous protection of life and property to the inhabitants, I appointed in January, 1899, a commission consisting of Jacob Gould Schurman of New York, Admiral George Dewey, U. S. N.; Charles Denby of Indiana, Professor Dean C. Worcester of Michigan, and Major General Elwell S. Otis, U. S. A. Their instructions contained the following:

"In the performance of this duty the commissioners are enjoined to meet at the earliest possible day in the city of Manila, and to announce by public proclamation their presence and the mission intrusted to them, carefully setting forth that, while the military government already proclaimed is to be maintained and continued so long as necessity may require, efforts will be made to alleviate the burden of taxation, to establish industrial and commercial prosperity, and to provide for the safety of persons and of property by such means as may be found conducive to these ends.

Given Careful Instructions.

"The commissioners will endeavor, without interference with the military authorities of the United States now in control of the Philippines, to ascertain what amelioration in the condition of the inhabitants and what improvements in public order may be practicable, and for this purpose they will study attentively the existing social and political state of the various populations, particularly as regards the forms of local government, the administration of justice, the collection of customs and other taxes, the means of transportation, and the need of public improvements. They will report * * * the results of their observations and reflections, and will recommend such executive action as may from time to time seem to them wise and useful.

"The commissioners are hereby authorized to confer authoritatively with any persons resident in the islands from whom they may believe themselves able to derive information or suggestions valuable for the purposes of their commission, or whom they may choose to employ as agents, as may be necessary for this purpose. * * *

Avoided Harsh Measures.

"It is my desire that in all their relations with the inhabitants of the islands the commissioners exercise due respect for all the ideals, customs and institutions of the tribes which compose the population, emphasizing upon all occasions the just and beneficent intentions of the government of the United States.

"It is also my wish and expectation that the commissioners may be received in a manner due to the honored and authorized representatives of the American Republic, duly commissioned on account of their knowledge, skill and integrity as bearers of the good will, the protection and the richest blessings of a liberating rather than a conquering nation."

On the 6th of February, 1899, the treaty was ratified by the Senate of the United States, and the Congress immediately appropriated $20,000,000 to carry out its provisions. The ratifications were exchanged by the United States and Spain on the 11th of April, 1899.

As early as April, 1899, the Philippine commission, of which Dr. Schurman was president, endeavored to bring about peace in the islands by repeated conferences with leading Tagalogs representing the so-called insurgent government, to the end that some general plan of government might be offered them which they would accept.

Pleased the Natives.

So great was the satisfaction of the insurgent commissioners with the form of government proposed by the American commissioners that the latter submitted the proposed scheme to me for approval, and my action thereon is shown by the cable message following:

"May 5, 1899. Schurman, Manila: Yours 4th received. You are authorized to propose that, under the military power of the President, pending action of Congress, government of the Philippine Islands shall consist of a governor general appointed by the President, cabinet appointed by the governor general, a general advisory council elected by the people, the qualifications of electors to be carefully considered and determined, and the governor general to have absolute veto. Judiciary strong and independent, principal judges appointed by the President. The cabinet and judges to be chosen from natives or Americans, or both, having regard to fitness.

"The President earnestly desires the cessation of bloodshed and that the people of the Philippine Islands at an early date shall have the largest measure of local self-government consistent with peace and good order.

Signs of Treachery.

In the latter part of May another group of representatives came from the insurgent leader. The whole matter was fully discussed with them and promise of acceptance seemed near at hand. They assured our commissioners they would return after consulting with their leader, but they never did.

As a result of the views expressed by the first Tagalog representative favorable to the plan of the commission, it appears that he was, by military order of the insurgent leader, stripped of his shoulder straps, dismissed from the army and sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment.

The views of the commission are best set forth in their own words:

"Deplorable as war is, the one in which we are now engaged was unavoidable by us. We were attacked by a bold, adventurous and enthusiastic army. No alternative was left to us except ignominious retreat.

Had to Remain.

"It is not to be conceived of that any American would have sanctioned the surrender of Manila to the insurgents. Our obligations to other nations and to the friendly Filipinos and to ourselves and our flag demanded that force should be met with force. Whatever the future of the Philippines may be, there is no course open to us now except the prosecution of the war until the insurgents are reduced to submission.

"The commission is of the opinion that there has been no time since the destruction of the Spanish squadron by Admiral Dewey when it was possible to withdraw our forces from the islands either with honor to ourselves or with safety to the inhabitants."

After the most thorough study of the peoples of the archipelago the commission reported, among other things:

"Their lack of education and political experience, combined with their racial and linguistic diversities, disqualify them, in spite of their mental gifts and domestic virtues, to undertake the task of governing the archipelago at the present time. The most that can be expected of them is to co-operate with the Americans in the administration of general affairs, from Manila as a center, and to undertake, subject to American control or guidance (as may be found necessary) the administration of provincial and municipal affairs. * * *

Would Invite Anarchy.

"Should our power by any fatality be withdrawn, the commission believes that the government of the Philippines would speedily lapse into anarchy, which would excuse, if it did not necessitate, the intervention of other powers, and the eventual division of the islands among them. Only through American occupation, therefore, is the idea of a free, self-governing and united Philippine commonwealth at all conceivable. * * *

"Thus the welfare of the Filipinos coincides with the dictates of national honor in forbidding our abandonment of the archipelago. We cannot from any point of view escape the responsibilities of government which our sovereignty entails, and the commission is strongly persuaded that the performance of our national duty will prove the greatest blessing to the people of the Philippine Islands."

Satisfied that nothing further could be accomplished in pursuance of their mission until the rebellion was suppressed, and desiring to place before the Congress the result of their observations, I requested the commission to return to the United States. Their most intelligent and comprehensive report, was submitted to Congress.

Duties of the Commission.

In March, 1900, believing that the insurrection was practically ended and earnestly desiring to promote the establishment of a stable government in the archipelago, I appointed the following civil commission: William H. Taft of Ohio, Professor Dean C. Worcester of Michigan, Luke I. Wright of Tennessee, Henry C. Ide of Vermont, and Bernard Moses of California. My instructions to them contained the following:

"You (the Secretary of War) will instruct the commission * * * to devote their attention in the first instance to the establishment of municipal governments, in which the natives of the islands, both in the cities and in the rural communities, shall be afforded the opportunity to manage their own local affairs to the fullest extent of which they are capable and subject to the least degree of supervision and control which a careful study of their capacities and observation of the workings of native control show to be consistent with the maintenance of law, order and loyalty. * * *

Awaits the Report.

"Whenever the commission is of the opinion that the condition of affairs in the islands is such that the central administration may safely be transferred from military to civil control they will report that conclusion to you (the Secretary of War), with their personal recommendations as to the form of central government to be established for the purpose of taking over the control. * * *

"Beginning with the 1st day of September, 1900, the authority to exercise, subject to my approval through the Secretary of War, that part of the power of government in the Philippine Islands which is of a legislative nature is to be transferred from the military governor of the islands to this commission, to be thereafter exercised by them in the place and stead of the military governor, under such rules and regulations as you (the Secretary of War) shall prescribe, until the establishment of the civil central government for the islands contemplated in the last foregoing paragraph or until Congress shall otherwise provide.

Legislative Authority.

"Exercise of this legislative authority will include the making of rules and orders having the effect of law for the raising of revenue by taxes, customs duties and imposts; the appropriation and expenditure of the public funds of the islands; the establishment of an educational system throughout the islands; the establishment of a system to secure an efficient civil service; the organization and establishment of courts; the organization and establishment of municipal and departmental governments, and all other matters of a civil nature of which the military governor is now competent to provide by rules or orders of a legislative character. The commission will also have power during the same period to appoint to office such officers under the judicial, educational and civil service systems and in the municipal and departmental governments as shall be provided."

Rules for the Interim.

Until Congress shall take action I directed that:

"Upon every division and branch of the government of the Philippines must be imposed these inviolable rules: That no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation; that in all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, to be confronted with the witnesses against him, to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense; that excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishment inflicted; that no person shall be put twice in jeopardy for the same offense, or be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself; that the right to be secure against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated; that neither slavery nor involuntary servitude shall exist except as a punishment for crime; that no bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed; that no law shall be passed abridging the freedom of speech or of the press, or the rights of the people to peaceably assemble and petition the government for a redress of grievances; that no law shall be made respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, and that the free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship without discrimination or preference shall forever be allowed. * * *

Extending Education.

"It will be the duty of the commission to promote and extend, and, as they find occasion, to improve, the system of education already inaugurated by the military authorities. In doing this they should regard as of first importance the extension of a system of primary education which shall be free to all, and which shall tend to fit the people for the duties of citizenship, and for the ordinary avocations of a civilized community. * * * Especial attention should be at once given to affording full opportunity to all the people of the islands to acquire the use of the English language. * * *

"Upon all officers and employes of the United States, both civil and military, should be impressed a sense of the duty to observe not merely the material but the personal and social rights of the people of the islands, and to treat them with the same courtesy and respect for their personal dignity which the people of the United States are accustomed to require from each other.

All Pledges Kept.

"The articles of capitulation of the City of Manila on the 13th of August, 1898, concluded with these words: 'This city, its inhabitants, its churches, and religious worship, its educational establishments and its private property of all descriptions, are placed under the special safeguard of the faith and honor of the American army.'

"I believe that this pledge has ben faithfully kept. As high and sacred an obligation rests upon the government of the United States to give protection for property and life, civil and religious freedom, and wise, firm and unselfish guidance in the paths of peace and prosperity to all the people of the Philippine Islands. I charge this commission to labor for the full performance of this obligation, which concerns the honor and conscience of their country, in the firm hope that through their labors all the inhabitants of the Philippine Islands may come to look back with gratitude to the day when God gave victory to American arms at Manila and set their land under the sovereignty and the protection of the people of the United States."

Amnesty Proclaimed.

That all might share in the regeneration of the islands and participate in their government, I directed Gen. MacArthur, the military governor of the Philippines, to issue a proclamation of amnesty, which contained among other statements the following:

"Manila, P. I., June 21, 1900.—By direction of the President of the United States the undersigned announces amnesty, with complete immunity for the past and absolute liberty of action for the future, to all persons who are now, or at any time since Feb. 4, 1899, have been in insurrection against the United States in either a military or civil capacity, and who shall, within a period of ninety days from the date thereof, formally renounce all connection with such insurrection and subscribe to a declaration acknowledging and accepting the sovereignty and authority of the United States in and over the Philippine Islands.

"The privilege herewith published is extended to all concerned without any reservation whatever, excepting that persons who have violated the laws of war during the period of active hostilities are not embraced within the scope of this amnesty.

Pay Offered for Rifles.

"In order to mitigate as much as possible consequences resulting from the various disturbances which since 1896 have succeeded each other so rapidly, and to provide in some measure for destitute Filipino soldiers during the transitory period which must inevitably succeed a general peace, the military authorities of the United States will pay 30 pesos to each man who presents a rifle in good condition."

Under their instructions the commission, composed of representative Americans of different sections of the country and from different political parties, whose character and ability guarantee the most faithful intelligence and patriotic service, are now laboring to establish stable government under civil control, in which the inhabitants shall participate, giving them opportunity to demonstrate how far they are prepared for self-government.

Quotes the Commission.

This commission, under date of Aug. 21, 1900, makes an interesting report, from which I quote the following extracts:

"Hostility against Americans was originally aroused by absurd falsehoods of unscrupulous leaders. The distribution of troops in 300 posts has by contact largely dispelled hostility, and steadily improved temper of people. This improvement is furthered by abuses of insurgents. Large numbers of people long for peace and are willing to accept government under the United States.

"Insurgents not surrendering after defeat divided into small guerrilla bands under general officers or became robbers. Nearly all of the prominent generals and politicians of the insurrection, except Aguinaldo, have since been captured or have surrendered and taken the oath of allegiance. * * *

"All northern Luzon, except two provinces, substantially free from insurgents. People busy planting, and asking for municipal organization. Railway and telegraph lines from Manila to Dagupan, 122 miles, not molested for five months. * * *

Plans Native Militia.

"Tagalogs alone active in leading guerrilla warfare. In Negros, Cebu, Romblon, Masbate, Sibuyan, Tablas, Bohol and other Philippine Islands little disturbance exists, and civil government eagerly awaited. * * *

"Four years of war and lawlessness in parts of islands have created unsettled conditions. * * * Native constabulary and militia, which should be organized at once, will end this and the terrorism to which defenseless people are subjected. The natives desire to enlist in these organizations. If judiciously selected and officered, will be efficient forces for maintenance of order, and will permit early material reduction of United States troops.

"Turning islands over to coterie of Tagalog politicians will blight fair prospects of enormous improvement, drive out capital, make life and property secular and religious most insecure; banish by fear of cruel proscription considerable body of conservative Filipinos who have aided Americans in well-founded belief that their people are not now fit for self-government, and reintroduce same oppression and corruption which existed in all provinces under Malolos insurgent government during the eight months of its control. The result will be factional strife between jealous leaders, chaos and anarchy, and will require and justify active intervention of our government or some other." * * *

Trade Follows Peace.

"Business interrupted by war much improved as peace extends. * * * In Negros more sugar in cultivation than ever before. New forestry regulations give impetus to timber trade and reduce high price of lumber. The customs collections for last quarter 50 per cent greater than ever in Spanish history, and August collections show further increase. The total revenue for same period one-third greater than in any quarter under Spain, though cedula tax, chief source of Spanish revenue, practically abolished.

"Economy and efficiency of military government have created surplus fund of $6,000,000, which should be expended in much needed public works, notably improvement of Manila harbor. * * * With proper tariff and facilities Manila will become great port of Orient."

The commission is confident that "by a judicious customs law, reasonable land tax and proper corporation franchise tax, imposition of no greater rate than that in the average American State will give less annoyance and with peace will produce revenues sufficient to pay expenses of efficient government, including militia and constabulary."

No Sign of Alliance.

They "are preparing a stringent civil service law, giving equal opportunity to Filipinos and Americans, with preference for the former where qualifications are equal, to enter at the lowest rank and by promotion reach the head of the department. * * *

"Forty-five miles of railroad extension under negotiation will give access to a large province rich in valuable minerals, a mile high, with strictly temperate climate. * * * Railroad construction will give employment to many and communication will furnish a market to vast stretches of rich agricultural lands."

They report that there are "calls from all parts of the islands for public schools, school supplies and English teachers, greater than the commission can provide until a comprehensive school system is organized. Night schools for teaching English to adults are being established in response to popular demand. Native children show aptitude in learning English. Spanish is spoken by a small fraction of the people, and in a few years the medium of communication in the courts, public offices and between different tribes will be English.

Working for Humanity.

"Creation of central government within eighteen months, under which substantially all rights described in the bill of rights in the federal constitution are to be secured to the people of the Philippines, will bring to them contentment, prosperity, education and political enlightenment."

This shows to my countrymen what has been and is being done to bring the benefits of liberty and good government to these wards of the nation. Every effort has been directed to their peace and prosperity, their advancement and well-being, not for our aggrandizement nor for pride of might, not for trade or commerce, not for exploitation, but for humanity and civilization, and for the protection of the vast majority of the population who welcome our sovereignty against the designing minority whose first demand after the surrender of Manila by the Spanish army was to enter the city that they might loot it and destroy those not in sympathy with their selfish and treacherous designs.

Civil Service to Rule.

Nobody who will avail himself of the facts will longer hold that there was any alliance between our soldiers and the insurgents or that any promise of independence was made to them. Long before their leader had reached Manila they had resolved, if the commander of the American navy would give them arms with which to fight the Spanish army, they would later turn upon us, which they did murderously and without the shadow of cause or justification.

There may be those without the means of full information who believe that we were in alliance with the insurgents and that we assured them that they should have independence. To such let me repeat the facts: On the 26th of May, 1898, Admiral Dewey was instructed by me to make no alliance with any party or faction in the Philippines that would incur liability to maintain their cause in the future, and he replied under date of June 6, 1898:

"Have acted according to spirit of department's instructions from the beginning, and I have entered into no alliance with the insurgents or with any faction. This squadron can reduce the defenses of Manila at any moment, but it is considered useless until the arrival of sufficient United States forces to retain possession."

Denies Any Compact.

In the report of the first Philippine commission, submitted on Nov. 2, 1899, Admiral Dewey, one of its members, said:

"No alliance of any kind was entered into with Aguinaldo nor was any promise of independence made to him at any time."

General Merritt arrived in the Philippines on July 25, 1898, and a dispatch from Admiral Dewey to the government at Washington said:

"Merritt arrived yesterday. Situation is most critical at Manila. The Spanish may surrender at any moment. Merritt's most difficult problem will be how to deal with the insurgents under Aguinaldo, who have become aggressive and even threatening toward our army."

Here is revealed the spirit of the insurgents as early as July, 1898, before the protocol was signed, while we were still engaged in active war with Spain. Even then the insurgents were threatening our army.

Filipinos Took No Part.

On Aug. 13 Manila was captured, and of this and subsequent events the Philippine commission says:

"When the City of Manila was taken, Aug. 13, the Filipinos took no part in the attack, but came following in with a view to looting the city and were only prevented from doing so by our forces preventing them from entering. Aguinaldo claimed that he had the right to occupy the city. He demanded of General Merritt the palace of Malacanan for himself and the cession of all the churches of Manila, also that a part of the money taken from the Spaniards as spoils of war should be given up, and, above all, that he should be given the arms of the Spanish prisoners. All these demands were refused."

No Promises Made.

Generals Merritt, Greene and Anderson, who were in command at the beginning of our occupation and until the surrender of Manila, state that there was no alliance with the insurgents and no promise to them of independence. On Aug. 17, 1898, General Merritt was instructed that there must be no joint occupation of Manila with the insurgents. General Anderson, under date of Feb. 10, 1900, says that he was present at the interview between Admiral Dewey and the insurgent leader, and that in this interview Admiral Dewey made no promises whatever. He adds:

"He (Aguinaldo) asked me if my government was going to recognize his government. I answered that I was there simply in a military capacity; that I could not acknowledge his government, because I had no authority to do so."

Easy to Find Fault.

Would not our adversaries have sent Dewey's fleet to Manila to capture and destroy the Spanish sea power there, or, dispatching it there, would they have withdrawn it after the destruction of the Spanish fleet; and if the latter, whither would they have directed to sail? Where could it have gone? What port in the Orient was opened to it?

Do our adversaries condemn the expedition under the command of General Merritt to strengthen Dewey in the distant ocean and assist in our triumph over Spain, with which nation we were at war? Was it not our highest duty to strike Spain at every vulnerable point, that the war might be successfully concluded at the earliest practicable moment?

Asks for Honest Opinion.

And was it not our duty to protect the lives and property of those who came within our control by the fortunes of war? Could we have come away at any time between May 1, 1898, and the conclusion of peace without a stain upon our good name? Could we have come away without dishonor at any time after the ratification of the peace treaty by the Senate of the United States?

There has been no time since the destruction of the enemy's fleet when we could or should have left the Philippine archipelago. After the treaty of peace was ratified no power but Congress could surrender our sovereignty or alienate a foot of the territory thus acquired. The Congress has not seen fit to do the one or the other, and the President had no authority to do either, if he had been so inclined, which he was not.

So long as the sovereignty remains in us it is the duty of the executive, whoever he may be, to uphold that sovereignty, and if it be attacked to suppress its assailants. Would our political adversaries do less?

Begun by Insurgents.

It has been asserted that there would have been no fighting in the Philippines if Congress had declared its purpose to give independence to the Tagal insurgents. The insurgents did not wait for the action of Congress. They assumed the offensive, they opened fire on our army.

Those who assert our responsibility for the beginning of the conflict have forgotten that before the treaty was ratified in the Senate, and while it was being debated in that body, and while the Bacon resolution was under discussion, on Feb. 4, 1899, the insurgents attacked the American army, after being previously advised that the American forces were under orders not to fire upon them except in defense. The papers found in the recently captured archives of the insurgents demonstrate that this attack had been carefully planned for weeks before it occurred.

Only One Course Open.

Their unprovoked assault upon our soldiers at a time when the Senate was deliberating upon the treaty shows that no action on our part except surrender and abandonment would have prevented the fighting, and leaves no doubt in any fair mind where the responsibility rests for the shedding of American blood.

With all the exaggerated phrasemaking of this electoral contest, we are in danger of being diverted from the real contention. We are in agreement with all of those who supported the war with Spain, and also with those who counseled the ratification of the treaty of peace. Upon these two great essential steps there can be no issue, and out of these came all of our responsibilities. If others would shirk the obligations imposed by the war and the treaty, we must decline to act further with them, and here the issue was made.

It is our purpose to establish in the Philippines a government suitable to the wants and conditions of the inhabitants, and to prepare them for self-government, and to give them self-government when they are ready for it, and as rapidly as they are ready for it. That I am aiming to do under my constitutional authority, and will continue to do until Congress shall determine the political status of the inhabitants of the archipelago.

Plea for Consistency.

Are our opponents against the treaty? If so, they must be reminded that it could not have been ratified in the Senate but for their assistance. The Senate which ratified the treaty and the Congress which added its sanction by a large appropriation comprised Senators and Representatives of the people of all parties.

Would our opponents surrender to the insurgents, abandon our sovereignty or cede it to them? If that be not their purpose, then it should be promptly disclaimed, for only evil can result from the hopes raised by our opponents in the minds of the Filipinos, that with their success at the polls in November there will be a withdrawal of our army and of American sovereignty over the archipelago, the complete independence of the Tagalog people recognized and the powers of government over all the other peoples of the archipelago conferred upon the Tagalog leaders.

Prolongs the Rebellion.

The effect of a belief in the minds of the insurgents that this will be done has already prolonged the rebellion and increases the necessity for the continuance of a large army. It is now delaying full peace in the archipelago and the establishment of civil governments, and has influenced many of the insurgents against accepting the liberal terms of amnesty offered by Gen. MacArthur under my direction. But for these false hopes a considerable reduction could have been had in our military establishment in the Philippines and the realization of a stable government would be already at hand.

The American people are asked by our opponents to yield the sovereignty of the United States in the Philippines to a small fraction of the population, a single tribe out of eighty or more inhabiting the archipelago, a faction which wantonly attacked the American troops in Manila while in rightful possession under the protocol with Spain, awaiting the ratification of the treaty of peace by the Senate, and which has since been in active, open rebellion against the United States. We are asked to transfer our sovereignty to a small minority in the islands without consulting the majority and to abandon the largest portion of the population, which has been loyal to us, to the cruelties of the guerrilla insurgent bands.

Demands Cannot Be Met.

More than this, we are asked to protect this minority in establishing a government, and to this end repress all opposition of the majority. We are required to set up a stable government in the interest of those who have assailed our sovereignty and fired upon our soldiers, and then maintain it at any cost or sacrifice against its enemies within and against those having ambitious designs from without.

This would require an army and navy far larger than is now maintained in the Philippines and still more in excess of what will be necessary with the full recognition of our sovereignty. A military support of authority not our own, as thus proposed, is the very essence of militarism, which our opponents in their platform oppose, but which by their policy would of necessity be established in its most offensive form.

No Premium on Murder.

The American people will not make the murderers of our soldiers the agents of the republic to convey the blessings of liberty and order to the Philippines. They will not make them the builders of the new commonwealth. Such a course would be a betrayal of our sacred obligations to the peaceful Filipinos, and would place at the mercy of dangerous adventurers the lives and property of the natives and foreigners. It would make possible and easy the commission of such atrocities as were secretly planned, to be executed on the 22d of February, 1899, in the City of Manila, when only the vigilance of our army prevented the attempt to assassinate our soldiers and all foreigners and pillage and destroy the city and its surroundings.

In short, the proposition of those opposed to us to continue all the obligations in the Philippines which now rest upon the government, only changing the relation from principal, which now exists, to that of surety. Our responsibility is to remain, but our power is to be diminished. Our obligation is to be no less, but our title is to be surrendered to another power, which is without experience or training, or the ability to maintain a stable government at home and absolutely helpless to perform its international obligations with the rest of the world.

Will Defend Our Title.

To this we are opposed. "We should not yield our title while our obligations last. In the language of our platform, "Our authority should not be less than our responsibility," and our present responsibility is to establish our authority in every part of the islands.

No government can so certainly preserve the peace, restore public order, establish law, justice and stable conditions as ours. Neither Congress nor the Executive can establish a stable government in these islands except under our right of sovereignty, our authority and our flag. And this we are doing.

We could not do it as a protectorate power so completely or so successfully as we are doing it now. As the sovereign power we can initiate action and shape means to ends, and guide the Filipinos to self-development and self-government.

As a protectorate power we could not initiate action, but would be compelled to follow and uphold a people with no capacity yet to go alone. In the one case we can protect both ourselves and the Filipinos from being involved in dangerous complications; in the other we could not protect even the Filipinos until after their trouble had come.

Consent of the Governed.

Besides, if we cannot establish any government of our own without the consent of the governed, as our opponents contend, then we could not establish a stable government for them or make ours a protectorate without the like consent, and neither the majority of the people nor a minority of the people have invited us to assume it. We could not maintain a protectorate even with the consent of the governed without giving provocation for conflict and possibly costly wars.

Our rights in the Philippines are now free from outside interference and will continue so in our present relations. They would not be thus free in any other relation. We will not give up our own to guarantee another sovereignty.

Our title is good. Our peace commissioners believed they were receiving a good title when they concluded the treaty. The executive believed it was a good title when he submitted it to the Senate of the United States for its ratification. The Senate believed it was a good title when they gave it their constitutional assent, and the Congress seems not to have doubted its completeness when they appropriated $20,000,000 provided by the treaty.

Title Is Unquestionable.

If any who favored its ratification believed it gave us a bad title they were not sincere. Our title is practically identical with that under which we hold our territory acquired since the beginning of the government, and under which we have exercised full sovereignty and established government for the inhabitants.

It is worthy of note that no one outside of the United States disputes the fullness and integrity of the cession. What, then, is the real issue on this subject? Whether it is paramount to any other or not, it is whether we shall be responsible for the government of the Philippines, with the sovereignty and authority which enables us to guide them to regulated liberty, law, safety and progress, or whether we shall be responsible for the forcible and arbitrary government of a minority, without sovereignty and authority on our part, and with only the embarrassment of a protectorate, which draws us into their troubles without the power of preventing them.

Obligations of War.

There were those who two years ago were rushing us on to war with Spain who are unwilling now to accept its clear consequences, as there are those among us who advocated the ratification of the treaty of peace, but now protest against its obligations. Nations which go to war must be prepared to accept its resultant obligations, and when they make treaties must keep them.

Those who profess to distrust the liberal and honorable purposes of the administration in its treatment of the Philippines are not justified. Imperialism has no place in its creed or conduct. Freedom is a rock upon which the Republican party was builded and now rests. Liberty is the great Republican doctrine for which the people went to war and for which a million lives were offered and billions of dollars expended to make it a lawful legacy of all without the consent of master or slave.

Strain of Hypocrisy.

There is a strain of ill-concealed hypocrisy in the anxiety to extend the constitutional guarantees to the people of the Philippines, while their nullification is openly advocated at home. Our opponent may distrust themselves, but they have no right to discredit the good faith and patriotism of the majority of the people who are opposed to them. They may fear the worst form of imperialism with the helpless Filipinos in their hands, but if they do it is because they have parted with the spirit and faith of the fathers and have lost the virility of the founders of the party which they profess to represent.

The Republican party doesn't have to assert its devotion to the Declaration of Independence. That immortal instrument of the fathers remained unexecuted until the people, under the lead of the Republican party in the awful clash of battle, turned its promises into fulfillment. It wrote into the Constitution the amendments guaranteeing political equality to American citizenship, and it has never broken them or counselled others in breaking them. It will not be guided in its conduct by one set of principles at home and another set in the new territory belonging to the United States.

Doctrine of Lincoln.

If our opponents would only practice as well as preach the doctrines of Abraham Lincoln there would be no fear for the safety of our institutions at home or their rightful influence in any territory over which our flag floats.

Empire has been expelled from Porto Rico and the Philippines by American freemen. The flag of the republic now floats over these islands as an emblem of rightful sovereignty. Will the republic stay and dispense to their inhabitants the blessings of liberty, education and free institutions, or steal away, leaving them to anarchy or imperialism?

The American question is between duty and desertion. The American verdict will be for duty and against desertion, for the Republic against both anarchy and imperialism.

The country has been fully advised of the purposes of the United States in China, and they will be faithfully adhered to as already defined.

Sufferers in Pekin.

The nation is filled with gratitude that the little band, among them many of our own blood, who for two months had been subjected to privations and peril by the attacks of pitiless hordes at the Chinese capital, exhibiting supreme courage in the face of despair, have been enabled by God's favor to greet their rescuers and find shelter under their own flag.

The people not alone of this land, but of all lands, have watched and prayed through the terrible stress and protracted agony of the helpless sufferers in Pekin, and while at times the dark tidings seemed to make all hope vain, the rescuers never faltered in the heroic fulfillment of their noble task. We are grateful to our own soldiers and sailors and marines, and to all the brave men who, though assembled under many standards, representing peoples and races strangers in country and speech, were yet united in the sacred mission of carrying succor to the besieged, with a success that is now the cause of a world's rejoicing.

Passing of Sectionalism.

Not only have we reason for thanksgiving for our material blessings, but we should rejoice in the complete unification of the people of all sections of our country that has so happily developed in the last few years and made for us a more perfect union. The obliteration of old differences, the common devotion to the flag and the common sacrifices for its honor, so conspicuously shown by the men of the North and South in the Spanish war, have so strengthened the ties of friendship and mutual respect that nothing can ever again divide us.

The nation faces the new century gratefully and hopefully, with increasing love of country, with firm faith in its free institutions, and with high resolve that they "shall not perish from the earth." Very respectfully yours, WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

Striking Phrases from President McKinley's Letter.

It will be noted that the (Democratic) demand is for the immediate restoration of the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1. If another issue is paramount, this is immediate. It will admit of no delay and will suffer no postponement.

* * *

We accept the issue and again invite the sound money forces to join in winning another and we hope a permanent triumph for an honest financial system which will continue inviolable the public faith.

* * *

It is our purpose to establish in the Philippines a government suitable to the wants and conditions of the inhabitants, and to prepare them for self-government, and to give them self-government when they are ready for it, and as rapidly as they are ready for it.

* * *

There has been no time since the destruction of the enemy's fleet when we could or should have left the Philippine archipelago. After the treaty of peace was ratified no power but Congress could surrender our sovereignty or alienate a foot of the territory thus acquired.

* * *

Every effort has been directed to their (Filipinos) peace and prosperity, their advancement and well-being, not for our aggrandizement or for pride of might, not for trade or commerce, not for exploitation, but for humanity and civilization.

* * *

The American question is between duty and desertion. The American verdict will be for duty and against desertion, for the republic against both anarchy and imperialism.

* * *

Honest co-operation of capital is necessary to meet new business conditions, and extend our rapidly increasing foreign trade, but conspiracies and combinations intended to restrict business, create monopolies and control prices should be effectively restrained.

* * *

For labor a short day is better than a short dollar.

* * *

Unless something unforeseen occurs to reduce our revenues or increase our expenditures, the Congress at its next session should reduce taxation very materially.

* * *

We ought to own the ships for our carrying trade with the world, and we ought to build them in American shipyards and man them with American sailors.

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33,
Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

Six horses for sale. Inquire of James Meehan, Jr.

Joe Cyr, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city last week.

James Rafferty, of Warren, was in the city last week.

M. J. Nelson, of Crookston, was in the city last week.

Dr. J. E. Argue, the Red Lake Falls dentist, is in the city.

W. P. Whitman came over from Angus the first of the week.

Go and see the new styles of outing hats at Mrs. Caldwell's.

Francis Hibner was down to Crookston the first of the week.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

For Sale—A good folding bed, nearly new, cheap. C. C. Jackson.

J. B. Senate and wife, of St. Hilaire, were in the city last Friday.

F. B. Newton, the Red Lake Falls mill man, was in the city last week.

Sheriff Sampson was up from Red Lake Falls the first of the week.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Wanted—800 oak and cedar piles from 12 to 26 feet long. Carl Kretzschmar.

Attorney Ira C. Richardson was down to Fargo on legal business the first of the week.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

H. T. Ronning, who is Congressman Eddy's private secretary, was in the city over Sunday.

Practice shooting at Ole Peterson's shooting gallery, next to Odd Fellows' hall. Open day and night.

Chief Moose Dung, the enterprising merchant of the Red Lake Agency, was in the city last week.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

Julius Pleth, agent for the John Grove Land company, was down to the twin cities last week on business.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

C. H. Hickman and W. P. Hogan, surveyors in the employ of the Great Northern, were in the city Monday.

Friends in this city have received presents in the shape of handsome canes from P. Meehan, of Milwaukee.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

A. Myrom, one of the progressive farmers living near Tweet, was in the city last Saturday and subscribed for the News.

The Ladies of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. John W. Eastman next Wednesday afternoon. All are invited.

Julius Pleth, manager of the John Grove Land company, returned to this city from a business trip to Minneapolis Tuesday.

A number of new settlers, with about 50 head of cattle, passed through the city last week enroute to the country northeast of here.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—Perfect as a beverage or medicine. It prevents chills and tones up the system. It exhilarates and does not poison. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Best qualities and latest styles in millinery at Mrs. Caldwell's.

Gus Mucky went down to Red Lake Falls the first of the week to accept a position as shipping clerk with the Red Lake Falls Lumber company.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

The Jac Kiewel Brewing company, of Crookston, is building a cold storage warehouse back of Blaha & Vorachek's saloon. It will be completed by Oct. 1st.

Miss McGinn, a sister of Robt. McGinn, arrived in the city last week from Wisconsin and has accepted a position as teacher in one of the school districts north of here.

Peterson & Curtis have received their complete supply of drugs, etc., and will be open for business the latter part of this week. They will have an entirely up-to-date drug store.

W. J. Bryan, Democratic candidate for president, will be in Crookston on Saturday, Sept. 29. A number of the local Democrats are planning upon going down and see their leader.

Elmer E. Adams, chairman of the Seventh district Republican congressional committee, and Sylvester Peterson, register of the U. S. land office at Crookston, were in the city Monday.

A Fisher girl has promised a young politician that she will marry him if Bryan is elected. But the case is not as hopeless as it seems. He has promised to marry her if McKinley is elected.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. James Meehan, Jr., and son returned to this city last Saturday from an extended visit with friends in Michigan and Wisconsin. Miss Farnsworth, a neice of Mrs. Meehan, accompanied them home.

Wm. Jones, while helping to unload a grave stone at the depot Tuesday noon, had the misfortune to let the stone drop upon one of his feet, and it was severely bruised. An examination proved that two bones were broken.

At Warren a new corporation has been organized under the state laws, with a capital of $50,000, known as the Marshall County Elevator company, limited. It is composed entirely of farmers and small stockholders.

The village of Bemidji is in debt a few less than $40,000, and the council has been petitioned by a mass meeting to order an election to vote bonds in the sum of $17,000 to take up outstanding orders for public improvements.

The Crookston College will open its fall term September 10. Board and room furnished and taken care of in private family or hotel for $2.50 to $3 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

The body of a male infant was found on the beach of the Lake of the Woods last week, on the Beltrami county side of the line, and was covered over with a box and allowed to lie there until the coroner, who lives at Bemidji, could go from his place to the scene of action via Crookston and Winnipeg.

Dr. J. E. Argue, the Red Lake Falls dentist, will not be here from the 5th to the 10th of September, owing to the fact that he will attend the meeting of the Minnesota State Dental association. He will, however, be here from the 17th to the 21st of September, and all parties wishing work done in his line are invited to call and see him.

The continued rains during the past few weeks have delayed threshing and done considerable damage to the grain in the shock. Farmers who did not take the precaution to stack their wheat will lose considerable.

Iverson Sisters, of Crookston, have a large and complete line of millinery at their store on Main street in this city, and invite the public to call and inspect their goods. They have a large assortment of fall trimmed hats, bridal wreaths, etc. Be sure to see them!

The second and third games of the series of three, between Crookston and Red Lake Falls, were played at Crookston Friday and Saturday, both resulting in defeat for Red Lake Falls. The score in the first game stood 23 to 3, and the second game resulted in a score of 15 to 14.

An exchange intimates that the very best curfew ordinance is that adopted in the family where the old man acts as mayor, city council, night watch and calaboose keeper, and where fine and punishment go together, and the hickory gad may be used occasionally and fines are not suspended, but promptly executed, where they don't bother as much about passing a lot of ordinances as they do enforcing those already on records.

Leo Steinert vs. Marcus Johnson and the Red Lake Milling company was the title of a suit that occupied the attention of Justices Taylor and Toupin Tuesday morning. Steinert sues for $83, with interest, since 1898, which he claims is due on a contract for remodeling the company's warehouse at Thief River Falls, the contract figures for which were $200. The defense alleges poor workmanship, and a non-compliance with the terms of the contract. F. A. Grady represented Steinert and Chas. E. Boughton was counsel for the defense.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Ole Linden is serving a 45 days' sentence in the Hallock jail for cruelty to animals. Linden was at work tanking water for a thresh-machine, when his team got stuck. One horse, being a light animal, was unable to hold up his end, and Linden made use of a hay fork quite freely, perforating the animal's stomach shamefully. This method did not work, so he took a neckyoke and almost pounded the poor brute's brains out. He piled straw over him and left him to die in agony. One of the threshing hands ended the suffering animal with a bullet. Ole ought to do about 45 years for his cruelty.

A new fakir is abroad in the rural regions. He drives through the country and sells soap at $5 a box, which sum includes the price of 40 yards of carpet, selected from samples which he has in his wagon. He takes the $5, leaves the box of soap, promises to deliver the carpet of the selected sample within a week, and drives away. The soap is probably worth 50 cents. It stays with the purchaser. The carpet is probably worth $15 and stays with the fakir, and has not yet been delivered to a single victim. Farm families should be on guard against this new fakir, and against all other fakirs.

Mike McCarthy had an exciting experience with an enormous black bear, which he (Mike) will not soon forget, although bruin has undoubtedly forgotten all his troubles by this time. While walking from the Sandy into Solway at about 10 o'clock in the evening, Mike was accosted by a large black bear, which seemed, at first, to be as big as a mountain. Mike, according to his own story, was perfectly willing to avoid meeting his bearship at this particular time; but, on the other hand, the bear seemed quite anxious to form the acquaintance of the illustrious son of Erin, and, in the mix-up that ensued, the Irish, as usual, came out two points ahead. Mike says he will have the skin tanned and use it as a blanket in the woods this fall.—Solway Press.

J. W. Wheeler, the Crookston banker, was in the city yesterday.

O. P. Johnson went below the first of the week to purchase fall goods.

J. G. Ballard went down to Minneapolis on business the first of the week.

D. M. Crozier, the Germantown merchant, was in the city the first of the week.

A great many tons of hay in the stack north of here is being damaged by the frequent rains.

Miss Daisy Kratka returned to this city the first of the week from a visit with friends in Crookston.

There will be services in the M. E. church Sunday morning at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

There will be a meeting of the Republican county central committee and candidates at St. Hilaire, Saturday, Sept. 22, at 1 o'clock p. m.

M. C. Harlow has purchased lot 22, block 58, on La Bree avenue, opposite the Hotel Ogahmah, and will build a real estate office upon the same this fall.

Five prospective land buyers from Iowa, all old friends of Julius Pleth, arrived in the city yesterday and will buy farms of the John Grove Land company.

M. Bothum returned to this city the first of the week from Minneapolis where he had been with his little daughter to have surgical operation performed upon her.

The Democratic Machine.

Those Republicans who voted for John Lind two years ago, because they did not like Eustis, early witnessed the fruit of their folly in the installation of hundreds of incompetent Democrats and Populists in offices hitherto held by Republicans. Had Eustis been elected, the Democratic committee could not this year have raised a $40,000 campaign fund by levying enforced assessments on officeholders in the grain inspection bureau and other departments of the state government. Under no past administration has there been even an attempt to collect blackmail from the employes of the state, which is but another way of making the state pay the expense of the election of its officials.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.
Phil. A. Kaufer, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Sell, St. Hilaire Spectator.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 28, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Johannes A. Sveum, H. E. 16,742, for the W½ NW¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Mansum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on October 8th, 1900, viz: Nels August Olson, H. E. 15,367, for the NE¼ SW¼, NW¼ SE¼ and W½ NE¼, Sec. 20, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
John Berg, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Mansum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 28, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Tom Olson Mansum, H. E. 16,147, for the SE¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Gunerius O. Satnas, H. E. 15,281, for the E½ SW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 2, Tp. 154 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole P. Nygaard, of Norden, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Axel Larson, of New Solum, Minnesota.
Chris Lodnas, of New Solum, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office, at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Ole P. Nygaard, H. E. 16,786, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 8, S½ NE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 17, Tp. 154, N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Gunerius O. Satnas, of New Solum, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Ole O. Nesja, of Norden, Minnesota.
Hans A. Myrom, of Norden, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 29, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 21, 1900, viz: Charles Hodik, H. E. 19,000, for the SE¼ SW¼ and Lots 6 and 7, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Breza, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Homolka, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 29, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 21, 1900, viz: Anton Homolka, H. E. 16,862, for the S½ NE¼ and Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Charles Hodik, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Breza, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

sept 13 6t

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3101, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 27th day of October, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼, Sec. 19, SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 30, SE¼ NW¼, Sec. 32, T. 156 N., R. 41 W.

Any and all parties claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated August 30, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

Sept 6 6t

NOTICE OF EXPIRATION OF TIME OF REDEMPTION.

To Octave Montrieh:

You are hereby notified that on the 8th day of May, A. D. 1897, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the district court in and for the county of Polk, in the Fourteenth Judicial District of the state of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1897, the following described piece and parcel of land which is now situated in Red Lake county (formerly Polk county), in the state of Minnesota, to-wit: W½ SE¼, NE¼ SE¼ and Lot 1, Section 22, Town 151, Range 45, was sold to the state to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interest and costs for the sum of nineteen dollars and nineteen cents; that on the 9th day of April, 1900, the right of the state acquired by said sale was assigned for the sum of forty-three dollars and eighty-one cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is forty-three dollars and eighty-one cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 12 per cent per annum from said 9th day of April, A. D. 1900, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice and proof thereof has been filed in the office of the county auditor of said Polk county.

Witness my hand and official seal this 13th day of July, A. D. 1900.

JOHN GLEASON, County Auditor of Polk County, Minnesota.
[SEAL]
By N. A. Hefford, Deputy.

9 6-3

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Anton Anderson, H. E. 16,188, for the Lots 3, 4 and 5, Sec. 6, Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware, Minn.
Lars Bergman, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 12, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Walter Junkin, H. E. 20,358, for the S½ SE¼, Sec. 33, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and Lots 2 and 3, Sec. 4, Tp. 157, N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Alva J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Eugene Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Anton O. Haugh, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Martin O. Anderson, H. E. 16,185, for the Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 30, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 25, Tp. 158 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Houg, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.
Nils Sundberg, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

9 20 6

A Case of HAMM'S
BEER
Will Prove a Splendid Tonic for the Tired Housewife • Supplied by Agents Everywhere, or • THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn.

Subscribe for the NEWS.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.
Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year
J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn
F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

NOMINATION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY,

SUPPLEMENT TO THE
THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

THIEF RIVER FALLS. MINN.

Thursday, Sept. 20, 1900.

Striking Phrases from President McKinley's Letter.

It will be noted that the (Democratic) demand is for the immediate restoration of the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1. If another issue is paramount, this is immediate. It will admit of no delay and will suffer no postponement.

* * *

We accept the issue and again invite the sound money forces to join in winning another and we hope a permanent triumph for an honest financial system which will continue inviolable the public faith.

* * *

It is our purpose to establish in the Philippines a government suitable to the wants and conditions of the inhabitants, and to prepare them for self-government, and to give them self-government when they are ready for it, and as rapidly as they are ready for it.

* * *

There has been no time since the destruction of the enemy's fleet when we could or should have left the Philippine archipelago. After the treaty of peace was ratified no power but Congress could surrender our sovereignty or alienate a foot of the territory thus acquired.

* * *

Every effort has been directed to their (Filipinos) peace and prosperity, their advancement and well-being, not for our aggrandizement or for pride of might, not for trade or commerce, not for exploitation, but for humanity and civilization.

* * *

The American question is between duty and desertion. The American verdict will be for duty and against desertion, for the republic against both anarchy and imperialism.

* * *

Honest co-operation of capital is necessary to meet new business conditions, and extend our rapidly increasing foreign trade, but conspiracies and combinations intended to restrict business, create monopolies and control prices should be effectively restrained.

* * *

For labor a short day is better than a short dollar.

Unless something unforeseen occurs to reduce our revenues or increase our expenditures, the Congress at its next session should reduce taxation very materially.

RETAKE

OF

PRECEDING

PAGE

DEFECTIVE PAGE

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33,
Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

Six horses for sale. Inquire of James Meehan, Jr.

Joe Cyr, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city last week.

James Rafferty, of Warren, was in the city last week.

M. J. Nelson, of Crookston, was in the city last week.

Dr. J. E. Argue, the Red Lake Falls dentist, is in the city.

W. P. Whitman came over from Angus the first of the week.

Go and see the new styles of outing hats at Mrs. Caldwell's.

Francis Hibner was down to Crookston the first of the week.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

For Sale—A good folding bed, nearly new, cheap. C. C. Jackson.

J. B. Senate and wife, of St. Hilaire, were in the city last Friday.

F. B. Newton, the Red Lake Falls mill man, was in the city last week.

Sheriff Sampson was up from Red Lake Falls the first of the week.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Wanted—800 oak and cedar piles from 12 to 26 feet long. Carl Kretzschmar.

Attorney Ira C. Richardson was down to Fargo on legal business the first of the week.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

H. T. Ronning, who is Congressman Eddy's private secretary, was in the city over Sunday.

Practice shooting at Ole Peterson's shooting gallery, next to Odd Fellows' hall. Open day and night.

Chief Moose Dung, the enterprising merchant of the Red Lake Agency, was in the city last week.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

Julius Pleth, agent for the John Grove Land company, was down to the twin cities last week on business.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

C. H. Hickman and W. P. Hogan, surveyors in the employ of the Great Northern, were in the city Monday.

Friends in this city have received presents in the shape of handsome canes from P. Meehan, of Milwaukee.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

A. Myrom, one of the progressive farmers living near Tweet, was in the city last Saturday and subscribed for the NEWS.

The Ladies of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. John W. Eastman next Wednesday afternoon. All are invited.

Julius Pleth, manager of the John Grove Land company, returned to this city from a business trip to Minneapolis Tuesday.

A number of new settlers, with about 50 head of cattle, passed through the city last week enroute to the country northeast of here.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—Perfect as a beverage or medicine. It prevents chills and tones up the system. It exhilarates and does not poison. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Best qualities and latest styles in millinery at Mrs. Caldwell's.

Gus Mucky went down to Red Lake Falls the first of the week to accept a position as shipping clerk with the Red Lake Falls Lumber company.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

The Jac Kiewel Brewing company, of Crookston, is building a cold storage warehouse back of Blaha & Vorachek's saloon. It will be completed by Oct. 1st.

Miss McGinn, a sister of Robt. McGinn, arrived in the city last week from Wisconsin and has accepted a position as teacher in one of the school districts north of here.

Peterson & Curtis have received their complete supply of drugs, etc., and will be open for business the latter part of this week. They will have an entirely up-to-date drug store.

W. J. Bryan, Democratic candidate for president, will be in Crookston on Saturday, Sept. 29. A number of the local Democrats are planning upon going down and see their leader.

Elmer E. Adams, chairman of the Seventh district Republican congressional committee, and Sylvester Peterson, register of the U. S. land office at Crookston, were in the city Monday.

A Fisher girl has promised a young politician that she will marry him if Bryan is elected. But the case is not as hopeless as it seems. He has promised to marry her if McKinley is elected.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. James Meehan, Jr., and son returned to this city last Saturday from an extended visit with friends in Michigan and Wisconsin. Miss Farnsworth, a neice of Mrs. Meehan, accompanied them home.

Wm. Jones, while helping to unload a grave stone at the depot Tuesday noon, had the misfortune to let the stone drop upon one of his feet, and it was severely bruised. An examination proved that two bones were broken.

At Warren a new corporation has been organized under the state laws, with a capital of $50,000, known as the Marshall County Elevator company, limited. It is composed entirely of farmers and small stockholders.

The village of Bemidji is in debt a few less than $40,000, and the council has been petitioned by a mass meeting to order an election to vote bonds in the sum of $17,000 to take up outstanding orders for public improvements.

The Crookston College will open its fall term September 10. Board and room furnished and taken care of in private family or hotel for $2.50 to $3 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

The body of a male infant was found on the beach of the Lake of the Woods last week, on the Beltrami county side of the line, and was covered over with a box and allowed to lie there until the coroner, who lives at Bemidji, could go from his place to the scene of action via Crookston and Winnipeg.

Dr. J. E. Argue, the Red Lake Falls dentist, will not be here from the 5th to the 10th of September, owing to the fact that he will attend the meeting of the Minnesota State Dental association. He will, however, be here from the 17th to the 21st of September, and all parties wishing work done in his line are invited to call and see him.

The continued rains during the past few weeks have delayed threshing and done considerable damage to the grain in the shock. Farmers who did not take the precaution to stack their wheat will lose considerable.

Iverson Sisters, of Crookston, have a large and complete line of millinery at their store on Main street in this city, and invite the public to call and inspect their goods. They have a large assortment of fall trimmed hats, bridal wreaths, etc. Be sure to see them.

The second and third games of the series of three, between Crookston and Red Lake Falls, were played at Crookston Friday and Saturday, both resulting in defeat for Red Lake Falls. The score in the first game stood 23 to 3, and the second game resulted in a score of 16 to 14.

An exchange intimates that the very best curfew ordinance is that adopted in the family where the old man acts as mayor, city council, night watch and calaboose keeper, and where fine and punishment go together, and the hickory gad may be used occasionally and fines are not suspended, but promptly executed, where they don't bother as much about passing a lot of ordinances as they do enforcing those already on records.

Leo Steinert vs. Marcus Johnson and the Red Lake Milling company was the title of a suit that occupied the attention of Justices Taylor and Toupin Tuesday morning. Steinert sues for $83, with interest, since 1898, which he claims is due on a contract for remodeling the company's warehouse at Thief River Falls, the contract figures for which were $200. The defense alleges poor workmanship and a non-compliance with the terms of the contract. F. A. Grady represented Steinert and Chas. E. Boughton was counsel for the defense.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Ole Linden is serving a 45 days' sentence in the Hallock jail for cruelty to animals. Linden was at work tanking water for a threshing machine, when his team got stuck. One horse, being a light animal, was unable to hold up his end, and Linden made use of a hay fork quite freely, perforating the animal's stomach shamefully. This method did not work, so he took a neckyoke and almost pounded the poor brute's brains out. He piled straw over him and left him to die in agony. One of the threshing hands ended the suffering animal with a bullet. Ole ought to do about 45 years for his cruelty.

A new fakir is abroad in the rural regions. He drives through the country and sells soap at $5 a box, which sum includes the price of 40 yards of carpet, selected from samples which he has in his wagon. He takes the $5, leaves the box of soap, promises to deliver the carpet of the selected sample within a week, and drives away. The soap is probably worth 50 cents. It stays with the purchaser. The carpet is probably worth $15 and stays with the fakir, and has not yet been delivered to a single victim. Farm families should be on guard against this new fakir, and against all other fakirs.

Mike McCarthy had an exciting experience with an enormous black bear, which he (Mike) will not soon forget, although bruin has undoubtedly forgotten all his troubles by this time. While walking from the Sandy into Solway at about 10 o'clock in the evening, Mike was accosted by a large black bear, which seemed, at first, to be as big as a mountain. Mike, according to his own story, was perfectly willing to avoid meeting his bearship at this particular time; but, on the other hand, the bear seemed quite anxious to form the acquaintance of the illustrious son of Erin, and, in the mix-up that ensued, the Irish, as usual, came out two points ahead. Mike says he will have the skin tanned and use it as a blanket in the woods this fall.—Solway Press.

J. W. Wheeler, the Crookston banker, was in the city yesterday.

O. P. Johnson went below the first of the week to purchase fall goods.

J. G. Ballard went down to Minneapolis on business the first of the week.

D. M. Crozier, the Germantown merchant, was in the city the first of the week.

A great many tons of hay in the stack north of here is being damaged by the frequent rains.

Miss Daisy Kratka returned to this city the first of the week from a visit with friends in Crookston.

There will be services in the M. E. church Sunday morning at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

There will be a meeting of the Republican county central committee and candidates at St. Hilaire, Saturday, Sept. 22, at 1 o'clock p. m.

M. C. Harlow has purchased lot 22, block 58, on La Bree avenue, opposite the Hotel Ogahmah, and will build a real estate office upon the same this fall.

Five prospective land buyers from Iowa, all old friends of Julius Pleth, arrived in the city yesterday and will buy farms of the John Grove Land company.

M. Bothum returned to this city the first of the week from Minneapolis where he had been with his little daughter to have surgical operation performed upon her.

The Democratic Machine.

Those Republicans who voted for John Lind two years ago, because they did not like Eustis, early witnessed the fruit of their folly in the installation of hundreds of incompetent Democrats and Populists in offices hitherto held by Republicans. Had Eustis been elected, the Democratic committee could not this year have raised a $10,000 campaign fund by levying enforced assessments on officeholders in the grain inspection bureau and other departments of the state government. Under no past administration has there been even an attempt to collect blackmail from the employes of the state, which is but another way of making the state pay the expense of the election of its officials.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

PHIL A. KAUFER, Red Lake Falls Gazette
JEFFERS & BOUGHTON, R. L. F. Courier.
IVES & SOLL, St. Hilaire Spectator.
JOHN W. EASTMAN Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Johannes A. Sveum, H. E. 16,762, for the W½ NW¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Maanum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on October 8th, 1900, viz: Nels August Olson, H. E. 15,967, for the NE¼ SW¼, NW¼ SE¼ and W½ NE¼, Sec. 29, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
John Berg, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Maanum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Tom Olson Maanum, H. E. 16,447, for the SE¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Gunerius O. Satnas, H. E. 15,580, for the E½ SW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 2, Tp. 154 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole P. Nygaard, of Norden, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Axel Larson, of New Solum, Minnesota.
Chris Loftaas, of New Solum, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office, at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Ole P. Nygaard, H. E. 16,786, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 8, N½ NE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 17, Tp. 154, N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Gunerius O. Satnas, of New Solum, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Ole O. Nesja, of Norden, Minnesota.
Haus A. Myrom, of Norden, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 24, 1900, viz: Charles Hodik, H. E. 19,040, for the SE¼ SW¼ and Lots 6 and 7, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Bresa, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Homolka, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 24, 1900, viz: Anton Homolka, H. E. 16,102, for the S½ NE¼ and Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41, W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Charles Hodik, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Bresa, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 13 6t

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3101, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 27th day of October, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼, Sec. 10, SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 3, SE¼ NW¼, Sec. 32, T. 150 N., R. 44 W.

Any and all parties claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated August 20, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

Sept 6 6t

NOTICE OF EXPIRATION OF TIME OF REDEMPTION.

To Octave Montriel:

You are hereby notified that on the 8th day of May, A. D. 1897, in proceedings to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes pursuant to that certain real estate tax judgment which was entered in the district court in and for the county of Polk, in the Fourteenth Judicial District of the state of Minnesota, on the 21st day of March, A. D. 1897, the following described piece and parcel of land which is now situated in Red Lake county (formerly Polk county), in the state of Minnesota, to-wit: W½ SE¼, NE¼ SE¼ and Lot 1, Section 22, Town 151, Range 45, was sold to the state to satisfy the amount for which it was adjudged liable in said judgment, interest and costs for the sum of nineteen dollars and nineteen cents; that on the 9th day of April, 1900, the right of the state acquired by said sale was assigned for the sum of forty-three dollars and eighty-one cents; that the amount required to redeem said piece and parcel of land from such sale (exclusive of the costs to accrue upon this notice) is forty-three dollars and eighty-one cents, and interest on said amount at the rate of 12 per cent per annum from said 9th day of April, A. D. 1900, until such redemption is made, and that the time for redemption of such piece and parcel of land from such sale will expire sixty days after the service of this notice and proof thereof has been filed in the office of the county auditor of said Polk county.

Witness my hand and official seal this 13th day of July, A. D. 1900.

JOHN GLEASON,
County Auditor
of Polk County,
Minnesota.

[SEAL.]

By N. A. Heffard,
Deputy.

9 6-3

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Anton Anderson, H. E. 16,488, for the Lots 3, 4 and 5, Sec. 6, Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware, Minn.
Lars Bergman, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandsen, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 12, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Walter Junkin, H. E. 20,328, for the S½ SE¼, Sec. 33, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and Lots 2 and 3, Sec. 4, Tp. 157, N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Alva J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Eugene Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Anton O. Haugh, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Martin O. Anderson, H. E. 16,487, for the Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 30, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 25, Tp. 158 N., R. 42 W.

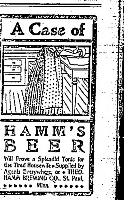
He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.
Nils Sundberg, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

A Case of



HAMM'S BEER

Will Prove a Splendid Tonic for the Tired Housewife. Supplied by Agents Everywhere. THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn.

Subscribe for the NEWS.

The John Hancock

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year

J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn

F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

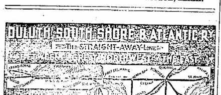
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.



SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.

ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

With the SPECIAL CABLES
OF THE NEW YORK HERALD
The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS
and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS
PRINTS THE NEWS
12 to 24 hours ahead
of any Northwestern paper.

TIME AND SPACE

are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 22½x11 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

A CHINESE FERRY.

In Crossing Much Trouble and Frequent Accidents Are Encountered.

Ferries in China are numerous, and so are the heavy carts to be ferried. The spectacle of a crossing is full of surprises, says Rev. Arthur H. Smith in "Village Life in China." To get one of the clumsy carts down the steep and shelving incline to the river requires considerable engineering skill, and accidents are not infrequent. When the edge of the ferry is reached the whole team must be unhitched, and each animal got on board as best it can be.

Some animals make no trouble, and will give a mighty bound, landing somewhere or everywhere, to the imminent peril of any passengers on board. When an animal refuses to budge—an occurrence at almost every crossing—its head is bandaged and it is led around and around for a long time, so as to induce it to forget all about the ferryboat.

At last it is led to the edge and urged to jump, which it will by no means do. Then the drivers twist its tail, put a stick behind it as a lever, and get six men at each end of the stick, while six more tug at ropes which are attached to the animal's horns.

After a struggle, often lasting half an hour, and frequently after prolonged and cruel beatings, the poor beasts are all on board, where the more excitable prance about among and over the human passengers.

Next comes the moving of the heavy cart, which must be dragged on to the ferryboat by the strength of a small army of men.

On the farther bank another exciting struggle occurs. The exit of the cart and animals is impeded by the struggles of those who are eager to cross to the other shore, and cannot be content to wait until the boat is unloaded. Order is unknown, and it is a wonder that people are not frequently killed in these tumultuous crossings.

MAYFLOWERS ON CAPE COD.

Many People Kept Busy in Gathering the Wax Like Blossoms in the Spring.

At Cape Cod, and not far from where former President Cleveland has his famous summer home at Buzzard's Bay, the inhabitants have an odd occupation, says the Providence Journal. When the first fragrant buds of the trailing arbutus or May flower appear on the hillsides of the big cape the woods are fairly alive with men, women and children, all in search of the delicate flowers. They are not out collecting because they are charmed with the early blossoms, nor do they wander through the woods plucking wild blossoms for their health. Their industry is strictly commercial, for the May flower is a favorite in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other large cities of the east, and every spring the woods are stripped of them and they are packed in moss and shipped to town, where they are sold at high prices.

So regular is the demand for the dainty waxlike blossoms that professional flower hunters make a business of searching out the secret blooming grounds of the arbutus, stake out their claims as they would take up mining claims every spring, and wait for the blossom harvest. Gathering May flowers has become one of the important industries of Cape Cod.

SAGACITY BROUGHT FAT FEE.

The Wise Young Surgeon Did Not Laugh at His Patient's Imaginary Ailment.

It is well known in medical science that imagination plays an important part, both in ailment and cure, says the Philadelphia Record. One of Philadelphia's most successful young surgeons recently demonstrated this in a rather ridiculous manner. The president of a local financial institution has for some time been laboring under the delusion that hair was growing in his throat. He visted doctor after doctor, and they all laughed at him. "The thing is preposterous," they said, after careful examination. But still the man insisted that they were wrong and worked himself into a condition bordering on nervous prostration. Finally he went to the young surgeon in question, who at once decided upon a plan of action. "I'll fix you all right in a jiffy," he said. Then he went into an ante-room, snipped a couple of hairs from his wrist and fastened them to the end of an instrument. Returning to the patient, he inserted the instrument down the man's throat, gave a little jab and pulled it out again. There were the hairs, sure enough. It was a stroke of genius, for the man with an imaginary complaint at once resumed his normal condition and the young surgeon was rewarded with a fat fee.

Influenza in Great Britain.

British statisticians are reckoning up what Great Britain owes to the scourge of influenza. There have been two serious epidemics of influenza there in the past ten years, one in the winter of 1891-92, when the amount of property paying death duties advanced $150,000,000 above the average, and again in the past winter, when the increase was about $140,000,000 over the previous year. The fact that influenza was almost the sole cause of the increase is shown in elaborate statistical tables.

General Cronje's Wardrobe.

Julian Ralph says that when Gen. Cronje was brought into the British camp all his belongings were in a sack. His wife's wardrobe was in a pillowcase, and the chief article in Frau Cronje's pillowcase proved to be a silk dress commandeered from Lady Sarah Wilson.

CHINA'S SECRET SOCIETIES.

The Leading Men Are Those Who Have Been Disappointed in Trying to Obtain Office.

The most important of those societies are known under the names of the "Trinity," the "Poignard," the "Pure Tea," the "Knife's Sect," the "Vemphar" and the most widely spread among the cultured classes is called "Heaven, Earth, Man," says a Paris paper.

The society of the Boxers is a branch from the "Closed Hand," and they must have been called so by some English sporting men residing in China. The mother society is one of those innumerable associations which exist in the Celestial empire, as there existed in Spain the "Black Hand," in Italy the "Carbonari," the "Mafia," the "Camorra," etc. China, with its dense population and democratic regime, is a benighted land for such associations. They disguise themselves under all kinds of inoffensive appearances, philanthropic, philosophic or utilitarian. Thus the "Closed Hand" claims to be merely a gymnastic association, without any religious or philosophic tendencies. It aims at a race war, a war of revenge, against the Manchus, the conquerors of China. But its branch, the Boxers, leaves to the future the settlement of that question, and aims at the destruction of the Europeans, whose infiltration into China is of more recent date and is sure, if unrestricted, to absorb and conquer peacefully the Chinese race as thoroughly as it has been subjugated by the Manchus.

These associations include all the disappointed men who have passed those examinations without which no office can be obtained in China, but which do not guarantee the holding of such officer, for there are more applicants than places. These are at the head of most of the secret societies. They teach to the uneducated members that the invasion of foreigners has caused the misery and want of work recently so prevalent in China.

NEW FACTS ABOUT MALARIA.

What the Researches of a German Scientist in New Guinea Have Revealed.

In a recent issue of the Deutsche Medizinische Wochenschrift there is an interesting account of the discoveries made by Prof. Koch in German New Guinea in regard to malaria. The professor began his investigations at Stephansort, and learned that 25 per cent. of the population of that place were suffering from malaria. Out of 21 Europeans, 12 were sick; out of 240 Chinese, 63; out of 209 Malays, 53, and out of 264 Melanesians, 29. In New Hanover not a single Melanesian was afflicted with the malady, whereas out of 19 Melanesians of Gardner's islands 9 were ill. In King William's Land, as in Java, Prof. Koch found a large number of native children infected with the disease, and as a result he maintains that only by a thorough examination of the children can it be ascertained whether any district is infected or not.

The entire coast of King William's Land is, he thinks, infected, while the neighboring islands seem to be more or less free from the disease. The presence of malaria in some places and not in others may be accounted for in a measure by the formation of the land and by the unusual activity of the pestiferous Anopheles flies. It would be unwise, however, says Prof. Koch, to attach too much weight to these factors, and especially to the latter, since these flies are to be found in regions which are wholly free from malaria.

GRANTS TO FOREIGN POWERS.

The Liberal Territorial Cessions China Has Made from Time to Time.

Each conflict in which China has engaged has resulted in a loss of territory. The principal cessions made by the Mongol government as the price of peace have been the following: The island of Formosa was ceded to Japan in 1895, after the war with China. In 1897 Germany seized the port of Kiou-Chou on the east coast of the Shantung peninsula, her excuse for so doing being a massacre of missionaries which had taken place there. Two months later she received from China a 99-year lease of the port and district. In 1898 Russia obtained from China a 25-year lease of Port Arthur, Talienwan and their adjacent territories and waters. The lease can be extended by mutual agreement. The same year the Chinese government gave permission for Great Britain to occupy Wei-Hai-Wei for as long a period as Russia shall hold Port Arthur. To compensate France for the concessions given to Great Britain and Russia a 99-year lease was given her of the bay of Kwang-Chau-Wan, on the coast opposite the island of Hainan, and last year two islands at the entrance of the bay were definitely ceded to her. Hong-Kong was ceded to Great Britain in 1841.

Foreign Schools in Athens.

Four foreign countries—Germany, France, England and the United States—now have schools at Athens. The United States school has 13 students and 23 colleges contribute to its support. The school has distinguished itself by its explorations at Corinth, according to the Scientific American. The students go to Corinth vacations, rent a house and pursue their investigations.

Counterfeit Coffee.

Unroasted coffee berries are often made from oat and rye flour and corn meal. The natural aroma of these grains is destroyed by some process, and after the proper amount of coffee aroma is added the berries are formed and caused to maintain their shape.

HOTEL OGAHMAH,

C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.

* * *

NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.

* * *

BUS-LINE IN CONNECTION.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,

John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done. Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN

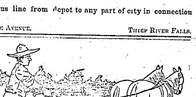
G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

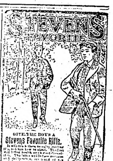
While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

United States Map, 15c.

A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.



GIVE THE BOYS A Stevens Favorite Rifle.

Favorite (with Open Sights) $6.

J. STEVENS ARMS & TOOL CO., Chicopee Falls, Mass.

P. O. Box 1728.

Henry Francis,

M. D., C. M.

Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 38. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

CLOTHING!
CLOTHING!!
CLOTHING!!!

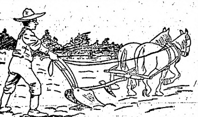
I have just received from Chicago a large assortment of ladies' winter jackets, which I will sell at ridiculously low prices.

This lot contains the finest grades of English Kersey, Beaver, Melton, Astrakan and Boncle, and comes in black, blue, brown, green and light and dark tan.

I am now prepared to show the finest line in the city of Clothing, Shoes, Underwear, Hats and Gents' Furnishings.

RED ✳ STAR CLOTHING HOUSE.

H. Lewin, Proprietor.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

DALY WAS HERE.

Addressed the People Last Thursday Evening.

The Hon. M. J. Daly, Democratic and Populist candidate for congress, addressed the people of Thief River Falls in the city hall last Thursday evening. Mr. Daly is a clever fellow, genial, pleasant, decidedly likeable and proved to be a good "mixer." He is an orator of no mean ability, and he delivered an excellent address. His speech was devoted mostly to the war and trusts and did not mention the money question at all. He made many general statements and the truth of some of them have been questioned. One was that common labor was receiving today an advance of but 10 per cent over the wages paid in 1896. We will venture the assertion that in the Seventh district, at least—and this is where Mr. Eddy is running for congress—common labor is receiving 50 per cent more than in 1896, and jobs are plentiful.

Mr. Daly made the statement that the war in 1899 cost us $300,000,000. We suspect that, to make this sum, he took the total expense of the war department for 1899, which was $232,000,000, and added to it the total naval expenditure, which was $64,000,000. But does Mr. Daly think he can fool the people in this way, and will such methods of deceit and dishonesty win him votes? If there was no war in the Philippines, if our forces had never landed there, we would have no less a navy than we have now, and would have expended no less money on our navy in 1899 than we did. Practically not a dollar of the naval appropriation, which included all charges for building of new vessels, repairs, departmental expenses, naval academy, yards and docks, etc., is directly chargeable to our having the Philippine islands, except the extra expense of keeping a considerable fleet of small gunboats there, which otherwise would be at home.

In the $232,000,000 of army expenses also everything is included. Not only the cost of the army in the Philippines, but in the United States, in Cuba, in Porto Rico, Alaska, Hawaii and Guam, the cost of the war department, of our forts and frontiers, of improving harbors and rivers and incidentals, these last five items alone amounting to over $85,000,000, and having nothing whatever to do with the Philippines. Of the balance it would be fair to charge not to exceed two-thirds to those islands, as but 60,000 of the 100,000 men are there, which would make chargeable to that war about 130,000,000. But for the fiscal year ending June 1, 1901, congress has appropriated $80,000,000 to cover the expense of the war department, a fact as open to Mr. Daly as to all others, had he wished to know or to tell the truth.

STATE TIMBER.

75,000,000 Feet to Be Auctioned Off Nov. 14.

Seventy-five millions of feet of standing pine, spruce, tamarack and cedar, belonging to the state are to be sold to the highest bidders at the state capitol, Nov. 14. The greater portion stands on school lands; though a considerable amount is in isolated places.

The sales will include timber in St. Louis, Lake, Cass, Beltrami, Becker, Itasca, Crow Wing, Aitkin and Hubbard counties, and, accepting the conservative estimates made by the state auditor, should bring between $200,000 and $250,000.

SPECIAL ELECTION

To Be Held in This City October 12.

Notices have been posted calling for a special election to be held in this city on Friday, October 12, for the purpose of voting upon the proposition of issuing bonds to the amount of $4,500, the money to be used to build an electric light plant. It will require a two-thirds vote to carry, and, as there is some opposition, the outcome is doubtful. There are a few who would like to see a system of sewerage and water works established before and electric light plant is built, as they consider the former proposition to be more beneficial to the city, while others do not want to see the city go into debt any more.

HE BETS ON EDDY.

Z. S. Barrett Wagers $1,000 to $500 and Wants More.

Pioneer Press: Z. S. Barrett, a land agent, whose office is in this city, made a bet of $1,000 to $500 with T. W. Donovan, a traveling man, at midnight last night at the Merchants' hotel, that Congressman Eddy would be elected over Daly in the Seventh congressional district. A forfeit was put up to bind the bargain, and it is promised that the remainder of the money would be forthcoming this morning. Mr. Barrett stated last night that he was anxious to place more money on the Republican congressman's chances at the same odds 2 to 1.

Democratic Tactics.

Congressman Eddy held a rousing rally up at Crookston Wednesday evening, Hon. Halvor Steenerson presiding, and, in order to spoil the effect of the meeting, Daly's managers printed pamphlets containing quotations from papers that were adverse to Eddy's renomination, and secured boys to distribute them among the audience. The brilliancy of such a scheme is fully equal to the tactics of the fusion crowd in the last campaign, when they threw pepper on the stoves and stuffed the locks on the doors of the halls where Mr. Eddy's meetings were to be held. Daly's managers realize that his popularity is waning, and are getting down to the tactics which they used as a last resort when they saw Ringdal going down to defeat. Congressman Eddy has buffeted storms before, and all the personal abuse which jealous enemies can heap upon him will not defeat him for re-election this fall.

The Cost of Oil.

Anent the discussion of putting in an electric light plant, the statement is made by Hans Langseth that there is at least 50,000 gallons of oil sold by the stores in Thief River Falls every month during the winter. As the average cost is about 15 cents per gallon, it will be seen that it amounts to $7,500 a month. While these figures may astonish residents of this place, other business men state that they are correct.

He's All Right.

W. A. Case, who is well known here, has been recently nominated for county auditor on the Republican ticket in Red Lake county. For four years Mr. Case served this county in the capacity of clerk of district court, and made an efficient officer. If he is elected to the office of auditor in Red Lake county, he can "hold the job" with credit to himself and the people.—Argyle Banner.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Our entire stock of General Merchandise, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, must be closed out within the next thirty days.

We offer everything at or below cost. Nothing reserved from this sale. Seven thousand dollars worth of choice merchandise must be sacrificed. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs. It will pay you to take advantage of it.

TERMS CASH. Positively no goods charged.

Building for sale or rent.

Fixtures for sale.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON, Vice-President

FIRST STATE BANK

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier

Burlington Route

A GREAT AMERICAN TRAVELER SAYS:

"I would rather dine on a Burlington route dining car than on any other dining car in the world. The only other railroad service that compares with it is the Orient Express, on which I traveled between Paris and Constantinople.

S. S. McCLURE,
Publisher McClure's Magazine.

Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,

Importers and Jobbers.

"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us,

21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
General Banking.
Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE, REAL ESTATE, FARM LOANS and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

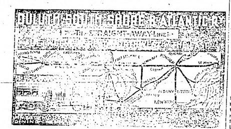
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.



SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.
ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

The Pioneer Press,
"OLDEST AND BEST
With the SPECIAL CABLES
OF THE NEW YORK HERALD
The full service of the ASS and its PRIVATE N PRINTS T
12 to 24 h
of any Northw

TIME SPACE
so many different directions.
foreign in the old meaning of th are "next door" to us. What h to-morrow—if we read THE C
Special Cable Correspondents city in the world outside of th
American newspaper ever atte and it is supplemented by the of The Associated Press. For stirring events which are shakin rumors of wars—of the threaten ments and the establishment of the race in all parts of the worl
most satisfactory information is t
American newspaper, THE CH

FREE A large map of the world on inches in size, beautifully prin of Europe on the reverse side, charge on receipt of request cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustra special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD co dress THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street

A CHINESE FERRY.

In Crossing Much Trouble and Frequent Accidents Are Encountered.

Ferries in China are numerous, and so are the heavy carts to be ferried. The spectacle of a crossing is full of surprises, says Rev. Arthur H. Smith in "Village Life in China." To get one of the clumsy carts down the steep and shelving incline to the river requires considerable engineering skill, and accidents are not infrequent. When the edge of the ferry is reached the whole team must be unhitched, and each animal got on board as best it can be.

Some animals make no trouble, and will give a mighty bound, landing somewhere or everywhere, to the imminent peril of any passengers on board. When an animal refuses to budge—an occurrence at almost every crossing—its head is bandaged and it is led around and around for a long time, so as to induce it to forget all about the ferryboat.

At last it is led to the edge and urged to jump, which it will by no means do. Then the drivers twist its tail, put a stick behind it as a lever, and get six men at each end of the stick, while six more tug at ropes which are attached to the animal's horns.

After a struggle, often lasting half an hour, and frequently after prolonged and cruel beatings, the poor beasts are all on board, where the more excitable prance about among and over the human passengers.

Next comes the moving of the heavy cart, which must be dragged on to the ferryboat by the strength of a small army of men.

On the farther bank another exciting struggle occurs. The exit of the cart and animals is impeded by the struggles of those who are eager to cross to the other shore, and cannot be content to wait until the boat is unloaded. Order is unknown, and it is a wonder that people are not frequently killed in these tumultuous crossings.

MAYFLOWERS ON CAPE COD.

Many People Kept Busy in Gathering the Wax Like Blossoms in the Spring.

At Cape Cod, and not far from where former President Cleveland has his famous summer home at Buzzard's Bay, the inhabitants have an odd occupation, says the Providence Journal. When the first fragrant buds of the trailing arbutus or May flower appear on the hillsides of the big cape the woods are fairly alive with men, women and children, all in search of the delicate flowers. They are not out collecting because they are charmed with the early blossoms, nor do they wander through the woods plucking wild blossoms for their health. Their industry is strictly commercial, for the May flower is a favorite in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other large cities of the east, and every spring the woods are stripped of them and they are packed in moss and shipped to town, where they are sold at high prices.

So regular is the demand for the dainty waxlike blossoms that professional flower hunters make a business of searching out the secret blooming grounds of the arbutus, stake out their claims as they would take up mining claims every spring, and wait for the blossom harvest. Gathering May-flowers has become one of the important industries of Cape Cod.

CHINA'S SECRET SOCIETIES.

The Leading Men Are Those Who Have Been Disappointed in Trying to Obtain Office.

The most important of those societies are known under the names of the "Trinity," the "Polgnard," the "Pure Tea," the "Knife's Sect," the "Vemphur" and the most widely spread among the cultured classes is called "Heaven, Earth, Man," says a Paris paper.

The society of the Boxers is a branch from the "Closed Hand," and they must have been called so by some English sporting men residing in China. The mother society is one of those innumerable associations which exist in the Celestial empire, as there existed in Spain the "Black Hand," in Italy the "Carbonari," the "Mafia," the "Camorra," etc. China, with its dense population and democratic regime, is a benighted land for such associations. They disguise themselves under all kinds of inoffensive appearances, philanthropic, philosophic or utilitarian. Thus the "Closed Hand" claims to be merely a gymnastic association, without any religious or philosophic tendencies. It aims at a race war, a war of revenge, against the Manchus, the conquerors of China. But its branch, the Boxers, leaves to the future the settlement of that question, and aims at the destruction of the Europeans, whose infiltration into China is of more recent date and is sure, if unrestricted, to absorb and conquer peacefully the Chinese race as thoroughly as it has been subjugated by the Manchus.

These associations include all the disappointed men who have passed those examinations without which no office can be obtained in China, but which do not guarantee the holding of such offices, for there are more applicants than places. There are at the head of most of the secret societies. They teach to the uneducated members that the invasion of foreigners has caused the misery and want of work recently so prevalent in China.

NEW FACTS ABOUT MALARIA.

What the Researches of a German Scientist in New Guinea Have Revealed.

In a recent issue of the Deutsche Medizinische Wochenschrift there is an interesting account of the discoveries made by Prof. Koch in German New Guinea in regard to malaria. The professor began his investigations at Stephansort, and learned that 25 per cent. of the population of that place were suffering from malaria. Out of 21 Europeans, 12 were sick; out of 240 Chinese, 63; out of 209 Malays, 53, and out of 264 Melanesians, 29. In New Hanover not a single Melanesian was afflicted with the malady, whereas out of 19 Melanesians of Gardner's islands 9 were ill. In King William's Land, as in Java, Prof. Koch found a large number of native children infected with the disease, and as a result he maintains that only by a thorough examination of the children can it be ascertained whether any district is infected or not.

The entire coast of King William's Land is, he thinks, infected, while the neighboring islands seem to be more or less free from the disease. The presence of malaria in some places and not in others may be accounted for in a measure by the formation of the land and by the unusual activity of the pestiferous Anopheles flies. It

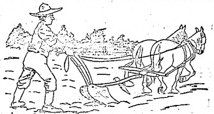
HOTEL OGAHMAH,
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
* * *
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
* * *
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.
General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.
WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN

G. H. Turville,
Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.
First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.
Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection
LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in bowels regular and I ting headache since I better and wake up
w many complaints
I cure any one in the em at any price. I
ine in the world, as convenient to take.
hard all my life, the ll kinds of weather, ve since last fall; in condition and have ealthy ?"

Francis,
. M.
Physicians and Office in the north of H.
Bree-Avenue,
iver Falls, Minn.

RETAKE
OF PRECEDING
PAGE

DEFECTIVE PAGE

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 38. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

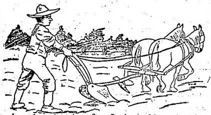
CLOTHING!
CLOTHING!!
CLOTHING!!!

I have just received from Chicago a large assortment of ladies' winter jackets, which I will sell at ridiculously low prices.

This lot contains the finest grades of English Kersey, Beaver, Melton, Astrakan and Boncle, and comes in black, blue, brown, green and light and dark tan.

I am now prepared to show the finest line in the city of Clothing, Shoes, Underwear, Hats and Gents' Furnishings.

RED ✳ STAR
H. Lowin, CLOTHING HOUSE. Proprietor.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

DALY WAS HERE.

Addressed the People Last Thursday Evening.

The Hon. M. J. Daly, Democratic and Populist candidate for congress, addressed the people of Thief River Falls in the city hall last Thursday evening. Mr. Daly is a clever fellow, genial, pleasant, decidedly likeable and proved to be a good "mixer." He is an orator of no mean ability, and he delivered an excellent address. His speech was devoted mostly to the war and trusts and did not mention the money question at all. He made many general statements and the truth of some of them have been questioned. One was that common labor was receiving today an advance of but 10 per cent over the wages paid in 1896. We will venture the assertion that in the Seventh district, at least—and this is where Mr. Eddy is running for congress—common labor is receiving 50 per cent more than in 1896, and jobs are plentiful.

Mr. Daly made the statement that the war in 1899 cost us $360,000,000. We suspect that, to make this sum, he took the total expense of the war department for 1899, which was $232,000,000, and added to it the total naval expenditure, which was $64,000,000. But does Mr. Daly think he can fool the people in this way, and will such methods of deceit and dishonesty win him votes? If there was no war in the Philippines, if our forces had never landed there, we would have no less a navy than we have now, and would have expended no less money on our navy in 1899 than we did. Practically not a dollar of the naval appropriation, which included all charges for building of new vessels, repairs, departmental expenses, naval academy, yards and docks, etc., is directly chargeable to our having the Philippine islands, except the extra expense of keeping a considerable fleet of small gunboats there, which otherwise would be at home.

In the $232,000,000 of army expenses also everything is included. Not only the cost of the army in the Philippines, but in the United States, in Cuba, in Porto Rico, Alaska, Hawaii and Guam, the cost of the war department, of our forts and frontiers, of improving harbors and rivers and incidentals, these last five items alone amounting to over $35,000,000, and having nothing whatever to do with the Philippines. Of the balance it would be fair to charge not to exceed two-thirds to those islands, as but 60,000 of the 100,000 men are there, which would make chargeable to that war about 130,000,000. But for the fiscal year ending June 1, 1901, congress has appropriated $80,000,000 to cover the expense of the war department, a fact as open to Mr. Daly as to all others, had he wished to know or to tell the truth.

STATE TIMBER.

75,000,000 Feet to Be Auctioned Off Nov. 14.

Seventy-five millions of feet of standing pine, spruce, tamarack and cedar, belonging to the state are to be sold to the highest bidders at the state capitol, Nov. 14. The greater portion stands on school lands, though a considerable amount is in isolated places.

The sales will include timber in St. Louis, Lake, Cass, Beltrami, Becker, Itasca, Crow Wing, Aitkin and Hubbard counties, and, accepting the conservative estimates made by the state auditor, should bring between $200,000 and $250,000.

SPECIAL ELECTION

To Be Held in This City October 12.

Notices have been posted calling for a special election to be held in this city on Friday, October 12, for the purpose of voting upon the proposition of issuing bonds to the amount of $4,500, the money to be used to build an electric light plant. It will require a two-thirds vote to carry, and, as there is some opposition, the outcome is doubtful. There are a few who would like to see a system of sewerage and water works established before and electric light plant is built, as they consider the former proposition to be more beneficial to the city, while others do not want to see the city go into debt any more.

HE BETS ON EDDY.

Z. S. Barrett Wagers $1,000 to $500 and Wants More.

Pioneer Press: Z. S Barrett, a land agent, whose office is in this city, made a bet of $1,000 to $500 with T. W. Donovan, a traveling man, at midnight last night at the Merchants' hotel, that Congressman Eddy would be elected over Daly in the Seventh congressional district. A forfeit was put up to bind the bargain, and it is promised that the remainder of the money would be forthcoming this morning. Mr. Barrett stated last night that he was anxious to place more money on the Republican congressman's chances at the same odds 2 to 1.

Democratic Tactics.

Congressman Eddy held a rousing rally up at Crookston Wednesday evening, Hon. Halvor Steenerson presiding, and, in order to spoil the effect of the meeting, Daly's managers printed pamphlets containing quotations from papers that were adverse to Eddy's renomination, and secured boys to distribute them among the audience. The brilliancy of such a scheme is fully equal to the tactics of the fusion crowd in the last campaign, when they threw pepper on the stoves and stuffed the locks on the doors of the halls where Mr. Eddy's meetings were to be held. Daly's managers realize that his popularity is waning, and are getting down to the tactics which they used as a last resort when they saw Ringdal going down to defeat. Congressman Eddy has buffeted storms before, and all the personal abuse which jealous enemies can heap upon him will not defeat him for re-election this fall.

The Cost of Oil.

Anent the discussion of putting in an electric light plant, the statement is made by Hans Langseth that there is at least 50,000 gallons of oil sold by the stores in Thief River Falls every month during the winter. As the average cost is about 15 cents per gallon, it will be seen that it amounts to $7,500 a month. While these figures may astonish residents of this place, other business men state that they are correct.

He's All Right.

W. A. Case, who is well known here, has been recently nominated for county auditor on the Republican ticket in Red Lake county. For four years Mr. Case served this county in the capacity of clerk of district court, and made an efficient officer. If he is elected to the office of auditor in Red Lake county, he can "hold the job" with credit to himself and the people.—Argyle Banner.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Our entire stock of General Merchandise, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, must be closed out within the next thirty days.

We offer everything at or below cost. Nothing reserved from this sale. Seven thousand dollars worth of choice merchandise must be sacrificed. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs. It will pay you to take advantage of it.

TERMS CASH. Positively no goods charged.
Building for sale or rent.
Fixtures for sale.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON, Vice-President

FIRST STATE BANK
OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier.

Burlington Route

A GREAT AMERICAN TRAVELER SAYS:
"I would rather dine on a Burlington route dining car than on any other dining car in the world. The only other railroad service that compares with it is the Orient Express, on which I traveled between Paris and Constantinople.
S. S. McCLURE,
Publisher McClure's Magazine.
Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.
P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,
VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,
Importers and Jobbers.
"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us.
21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 27, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President.
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

Two years ago this district was represented in the legislature by a Populist. Will some one please state what he accomplished?

THE Bemidji Pioneer, in introducing the Republican candidate for the legislature from this district, says that "Charley Rapp is a Scandinavian that looks like a Frenchman." These two qualities are all right in this county.

IT does not admit of a doubt but that the Populists made a mistake when they nominated S. A. Swanson for representative from this district. Personally there can be nothing said against him, but he is entirely too young and inexperienced.

A FEW enthusiastic Daly men of this city have been circulating the story that Congressman Eddy's free home bill does not apply to the ceded portion of the Red Lake reservation, and that settlers living thereon will be obliged to pay $1.25 per acre when they prove up. This is a lie, pure and simple.

M. J. DALY, the fusion candidate for congress, entertained an audience in Thief River Falls last week. His address was a masterly piece of oratory, but he did not make one positive statement on the issues of the campaign. Compare it with the plain, honest statements made by Congressman Eddy.

THE Populists of Red Lake county, it is said, have one of the largest campaign funds ever raised by that party since the formation of the county. The Republicans will have little or no money to spend, but the indications are that they will succeed in electing every member of their county ticket.

ALL of our readers are respectfully asked to read the speech delivered at Milaca last week by Hon. R. C. Dunn and published in this issue. This address may be considered a complete text book of the issues of the state campaign. It is based on absolutely official reports, and every statement it contains will be verified by public records.

AN attempt is being made in certain quarters to use the matter of the opening of the west end of the Red Lake reservation as political capital. If the matter was at all available for that purpose, it would be a hard one on Mr. Eddy and not, as a local paper seems to think, a feather in his cap. Mr. Eddy, while here, did not enthusiastically indorse the project, as has been stated, in fact, he rather deprecated the whole affair. He refused to promise his support and stated that he had made such a promise with regard to the free homestead bill, and it had caused him infinite trouble and made him very few votes. As a matter of fact, "the faithful" were made to understand that if they wanted any beneficial legislation for this section, they must pay for it in votes for the Hon. Frank.—The Press.

Such statements as these, and others made by our "reform" friends, will not increase the vote to be cast for Daly in this section. While here, Mr. Eddy stated positively that he would do all in his power to aid us in securing the opening of the Red Lake reservation, and, in justice to Mr. Daly, we will state that he promised to do practically the same. Mr. Eddy stated that he would work for us, whether or not he received any votes here this fall, and the insinuation made by the Press that "if we wanted any beneficial legislation for this section, we must pay for it in votes," should be resented by every resident of this place. It is true that a number of people here of different political parties believe that a man who has had six years' experience in congress can accomplish more than a new member, and for that reason they will vote for Frank M. Eddy. It is just a plain business proposition.

Necessity for a Republican Congress to Support McKinley.

In his speech accepting the Populist nomination for President, Bryan tried to justify the Democracy's successive changes of "paramount" base from free trade to free silver, and from free silver to free slaughter—called "Anti-Imperialism"—on the ground that systems of taxation can be changed with less difficulty than financial systems, and financial systems can be altered with less danger and less disturbance to the country than the vital doctrines upon which free government rests.

In such a suggestion of the comparative ease with which both free trade and free silver can be accomplished through a Democratic victory, Bryan admits something dangerously suggestive of truth. He practically states that the Democracy need not fight, especially just now, for either free trade or free silver, because, if a victory be won for "anti-imperialism," both free trade and free silver would be easy incidentals to such a victory. As a matter of fact, if Bryan could be able, by his election to the presidency, to accomplish his "anti-imperialism" plank, by alienating our territory, he could accomplish, just as easily, both free trade and free silver. If a Republican senate would be a barrier to free trade and free silver, it would be a barrier to his schemes for unconstitutionally abandoning the territory belonging to the United States.

If Bryan tried to get the senate to ratify a treaty with Aguinaldo surrendering American rights and the rights of our Filipino allies, and also a new treaty with Spain, absolving us from our responsibilities under the old treaty, it would take a two-thirds vote of the senate each time. Bryan worked hard to get the necessary two-thirds vote for the treaty with Spain, by which the United States came into possession of the territory he now wants given away, and he was successful in his work. To undo that work he would have to strive a great deal harder. To get a free trade bill, or a free silver bill through, he has, however, only to get a majority of votes in the House of Representatives and the senate.

If the Democratic party can get the control of both branches of congress that would enable it to full yearry out Bryan's "paramount" anti-American policy in the Philippines. It would also have the power to still more easily carry into effect the unparamount free trade and free silver features of Bryan's programme.

Small Investors Paying Up.

"The small investors have been paying off in a wonderful way the obligations assumed during the World's Fair boom. The market has consisted of safe investments for income, and buying for use," said Mr. B. A. Fessenden, a prominent real estate dealer.

"Looking back over the past four years and trying to imagine what would have been the conditions of the real estate business if Bryan had been elected, one realizes what an escape we had, and it does not seem possible that any sane man would be willing to try a change of this administration of skilled men trained to their work, who have grown up to the problems that must be solved, for that of men untried and led by a man without executive experience. We do not need a voice at this time, but a clear, trained mind.

"The men who are willing to work are all busy, the factories are running and requiring more room, our hotels are crowded with country merchants, and the rails are hot with traffic.

"What our real estate men want to have is this kind of thing continuing as it is. It means houses for the workingmen, and for the employers sites for factories and warehouses."

No Scuttling Policy.

There must be no scuttle policy in the Philippines. We will fulfill in the Philippines the obligations imposed by the triumphs of our arms and by the treaty of peace, by international law, by the nation's sense of honor, and, more than all, by the rights, interests and conditions of the Philippine peoples themselves. No outside interference blocks the way to peace and a stable government. The obstructionists are here, not elsewhere. They may postpone, but they cannot defeat the realization of the high purpose of this nation to restore order in the islands and establish a just and generous government, in which the inhabitants shall have the largest participation for which they are capable. The organized forces which have been misled into rebellion have been dispersed by our faithful soldiers and sailors, and the people of the islands, delivered from anarchy, pillage and oppression, recognize American sovereignty as the symbol and pledge of peace, justice, law, religious freedom, education, the security of life and property, and the welfare and prosperity of their several communities.—William McKinley.

WHEAT GROWERS HAPPY

MARVELOUS EFFECT OF GOOD TIMES TO THE PRODUCERS.

When Wageworkers Are Employed at Good Wages the Ratio of Consumption of Wheat Springs Up at Once.

The people of the United States were on "half-rations" in 1894, but on full rations in 1899 and 1900. The official publications of the treasury bureau of statistics show that the wheat consumed in the United States in 1894 was but 3.41 bushels per capita, while in 1892 it was 5.91 bushels, and in 1899, 5.95 bushels per capita. In 1900 the home consumption will probably exceed 6 bushels per capita and be nearly, if not quite double that of 1894.

This illustrates the advantage to the farmer of a flourishing business condition which assures him a satisfactory home market. In 1892 and 1899 factories were running on full time, the people employed in mines were worked to their fullest capacity, railroads and their employes were busy and making full earnings, and everybody was able to buy all the food that he required, while in 1899 and 1900 conditions are even better. The official publications of the department of labor show that wages are higher to-day than ever before in the history of the country—better even than in the prosperous year of 1892 when they reached the highest average that had ever been known up to that time. The effect of this condition upon the farmer is shown by the figures below quoted, which show that in 1892 and 1899 the people of the United States consumed practically 6 bushels of wheat per capita, and in 1894 but little over 3 bushels per capita. The home market took in 1892 63 per cent of the total crop of that year, and in 1899 67 per cent, while in 1894, under the depression and necessity for economy on the part of a large proportion of the consumers, it took but 58 per cent of the total production. Even the fact that wheat was cheaper in 1894 than in 1892 or 1899 did not enable the people at that time to consume as much as they are now consuming under the present high prices which the farmer is getting for his wheat crop. The average export price of wheat in 1894 was 67 cents per bushel and in 1899 75 cents per bushel, and is still higher in 1900.

Yet with the general depression which existed in 1894 the home market was less valuable to the farmer than for many preceding years, while under the prosperity which protection and sound currency supply, he sold at home a larger share of his products and at higher prices in 1892 and 1899. Mr. Bryan and the Democratic party propose to return to all of the conditions which produced the depression of 1894 and so greatly reduced the value of the home market and the price of everything that the farmer had to sell. The Democrats insist that a part of the business depression which followed the election of a Democratic president and congress in 1892 was due to the Sherman silver law, which they insist caused a fear on the part of the public that the credit and currency of the government would not be maintained. The Republicans insist that it was chiefly due to the low tariff law which was enacted in 1892, and which had been assured ever since the election of Cleveland and a Democratic congress in 1892. Even if either or both these conditions are responsible for the business depression of 1894 it is safe to assume that Democratic success in 1900 would be followed by similar conditions since Mr. Bryan and his party propose, if successful, to put the country on an absolute silver basis, or vastly worse than anything which could be charged against the Sherman law; while they also propose to return to a tariff even lower than that provided by the Wilson low tariff act, which was notoriously unsatisfactory to Democrats by reason of certain protective features which it contained.

The following table shows the home consumption, total and per capita, of wheat in 1892, 1894 and 1899; also the quantities of wheat exported in each of those years, the average export price, and the per cent of the crop retained for home consumption in each year. It will interest every farmer, and, indeed every one interested in seeing prosperity in all branches of our home industries:

Home Consumption—

Year.	Bushels Consumed.	Bushels Per Capita.
1892	376,727,774	5.91
1894	232,815,[illegible]	3.41
1899	452,470,332	5.95

Exportation—

Year.	Bushels Exported.	Export Price.	Per Cent Retained for Home Consumption.
1892	225,665,812	$1.01	63.12
1894	164,283,129	.67	58.63
1899	222,618,420	.75	67.08

Influence of Democracy on Trade.

The influence of free trade in depressing the industries of the country and in lowering the export business are shown in the statistics of exports for the past twenty years. The statement is a most remarkable demonstration of the soundness of the Republican policy that the stimulation of home industry stimulates the export trade.

Exports During Five Administrations—

	Exports During 5 Administrations.	Dem. Decrease.	Rep. Increase.
Garfield and Arthur	$3,217,276,614
Cleveland	2,833,152,203	$383,124,311
Harrison	3,514,859,017		$681,136,714
Cleveland	3,429,930,869	85,928,148
McKinley (3 yrs. only)	3,560,490,188		79,538,310

The bank clearings tell the same story. The record is below:

Garfield and Arthur (Rep.), $169,503,886,929.
Cleveland (Dem.), $124,362,066,431, decrease $45,141,487,918.
Harrison (Rep.), $142,290,735,787, increase, $17,928,746,656.
Cleveland (Dem.), $116,260,860,218, decrease.
McKinley (Rep.), three years, $128,559,505,667, increase $12,292,765,419.

There has been over twelve billion dollars more business done in the United States in the three years of the McKinley administration than during the free trade era of Cleveland.

For Civilization of Mankind.

One thing that can be said of this nation, for which we should give all thanksgiving and praise, is that it never raised its arm against humanity, never struck a blow against liberty, never struck a blow except for civilization of mankind.—William McKinley.

BRYAN'S MANAGER ATTACKS FOREIGNERS

WHAT CHAIRMAN JONES REALLY THINKS OF THE FOREIGN VOTERS.

A Vitriolic Speech Made to the Arkansas Legislature, and Jones Seizes the Occasion to Air His Views

"IGNORANT FOREIGNERS."

"These comprised fully one-half of the number of votes received by McKinley."—Deliberate Assertion of Democratic National Chairman James K. Jones.

"He believed devoutly that Bryan had been elected and was swindled out of the presidency."

"He believed that in 1900 the bimetallic forces would win a great victory."

His declaration that the principles of 1896 are "Absolutely essential to the welfare of the country."

The man who advocated the gold standard denounced as "No better than a vile thief."

(From the address of United States Senator James K. Jones, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, before the Legislature of Arkansas.)

"Hundreds of thousands of ignorant foreigners, who were here taking the bread out of the mouths of honest labor, voted at the last election at the dictation of McKinley's supporters. These foreigners comprised fully one-half of the number of votes received by McKinley."

These are the words of the man who conducted the Democratic campaign in 1896. The same man is the present Chairman of the Democratic National Committee. He owes his position to the wish of Mr. Bryan.

The language quoted above was used in a speech. It is no remembered scrap of idle conversation. It was uttered in no heat of discussion. It was a deliberate expression.

"Hundreds of thousands of ignorant foreigners," said Chairman James K. Jones of the Democratic National Committee, "who came here taking the bread out of the mouths of honest labor, voted at the last election at the dictation of McKinley's supporters. These foreigners comprised fully one-half of the number of votes received by McKinley."

And then, on the basis that the Republican party owed success in 1896 to "ignorant foreigners," Chairman Jones proceeded to hold out the hope of success in 1900.

"Can there be any doubt," he asked, "as to which shall prevail, the six and one-half millions of intelligent Bryan voters, or the three and one-half millions of ignorant foreigners who voted for McKinley?"

It would seem to sensible people almost incredible that the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee could make such statements in a public speech. But the Honorable James K. Jones did it.

More than two months after the election of 1896 he uttered the assertions quoted.

The occasion was no less serious than an address before the Legislature of Arkansas. Senator Jones had just been elected to his third term in the United States senate. On the 20th of January, 1897, the senator appeared before an informal joint session of his State Legislature at the Capitol in Little Rock. He returned his thanks to the people of Arkansas through their representatives, the Legislature, and then he proceeded to discuss the defeat of Bryan, speaking as the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and the Head of the Management of the Democratic campaign. He said that he "Believed Devoutly that Bryan Had Been Elected, and Was Swindled Out of the Presidency."

He declared his belief "that in 1900 the bimetallic forces would win a great victory." This still makes 16 to 1 the paramount issue.

He reasserted his conviction "that the principles he spoke for were absolutely essential to the welfare of the country." That is 16 to 1.

The Senator spoke for over an hour. Running through his speech were two principal thoughts. One was this idea that Republican success had been achieved through the "Ignorant Foreigners," a result which the Senator resented in the name of the native Southern population which was "more American."

The other central idea with the Senator was the injustice of the unequal distribution of wealth. Upon this he dwelt with almost the emphasis which he gave to the "Ignorant Foreigners."

"What has been the cause of this great struggle?" the Senator asked.

"The people are as honest and industrious as they ever were. What, then, was the matter? The last census report shows that the wealth of the country was $65,000,000,000, or about $5,000 to each family of five members. The Senator quoted figures to show the inequality of the distribution of wealth. Why was Massachusetts so much better off than Arkansas? Were they more industrious and more deserving? He considered that the Southern people rank fully up to, if not ahead of the people in the balance of the country. The Southern people are more completely Anglo-Saxon than those of the other states, and, therefore, more American."

At this point the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee made one of the most remarkable of this series of startling statements for Arkansas consumption. He illustrated his assertion that the Southern people are "more American" than the rest of the country in this way:

"It took the people of the combined North and the East four years to conquer the Southern people, and the latter had built for them a pension list that was appalling."

The Senator's speech bristled with assertions Intended to Incite the Spirit of Class Prejudice. He said:

"Millionaires and Paupers grow on the same bush. When you make a millionaire you make a dozen paupers."

The Man Who Advocated the Gold Standard the Senator described as no Better Than a Vile Thief."

MARKETS.

(Corrected to Date.)

No. 1 Northern	71c
Oats	31c
Flax	$1.38

The ladies of the Methodist church are making preparations to give a minstrel show in this city in the near future.

Policemen to Go Next.

To be thoroughly consistent in his statement that the withdrawal from the ranks of the producers of the men now in the army will make it hard for the remaining producers, Mr. Bryan should ask for the mustering out of all the policemen in the cities of the country. The soldiers are national policemen, just the same as the recognized police of the cities are the representatives of municipal authority.

Consent of the Governed.

Since the Devil quoted Scripture for his peculiar purpose, there has been no similar foray to that made by Bryan on the Declaration of Independence. Jefferson Davis led off in 1860, claiming the "consent of the governed" forbade the enforcement of the authority of the United States in the South, and now, echoing his words, come Bryan, with a like claim as to the Philippines.

No "Consent" at Washington, D. C.

Dr. W. A. Habercorn of Washington, D. C., is advocating Bryan's election on the "consent of the governed" issue. Dr. Habercorn is worrying a great deal about the guerilla Tagals. He has not extended his campaign to the residents of Washington, who have no vote. They seem to get along pretty well. They are governed, but have nothing to say about the matter.

Reason for Electing McKinley.

President McKinley's letter of acceptance has displeased the editors of the Parisian dailies. Remembering the attitude of the French press toward this country during the Spanish war, this gives more reason why the president should be re-elected.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

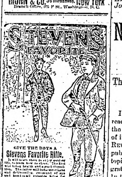
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.



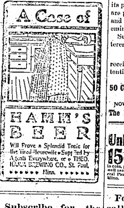
STEVENS FAVORITE

GIVE THE BOYS A
Stevens Favorite Rifle.

Favorite (with Open Sights) $6.

J. STEVENS ARMS & TOOL CO., Chicopee Falls, Mass.

P. O. Box 1728.



A Case of

HAMM'S
BEER

Will Prove a Splendid Tonic for the Tired Housewife • Supplied by Agents Everywhere, or • THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn.

Subscribe for the NEWS.

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices—for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice,
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.,
DENTIST.
In Thief River Falls from 5th to 10th of every month. Office over harness shop.

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW. — Boston Journal.

IN THE
North American Review

YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N. Y.

United States Map.
15c. A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

For fine job work call at the NEWS office.

IMPERFECT PAGE

BOB DUNN FIRES DEADLY VOLLEY

Auditor of State Riddles the Democratic Administration in a Speech at Milaca, Showing Extravagance and Mismanagement of Departments Under So-Called "Reform" Administration.

DEMOCRATIC RECORD ROTTEN TO THE CORE, AS USUAL

Grain Inspection Bureau and Prison Twine Plant Crossly Mismanaged and Every Attempt Made by Democrats At Reform Merely an Expensive Experiment—Official Records Show Abject Failure on the Part of Lind and His Subordinates.

Milaca, Minn., Sept. 22.—State Auditor Dunn fired the opening gun of the campaign at a largely attended Republican rally here last night, other speakers being Hon. S. R. Van Sant, Republican candidate for governor, and his son, Grant.

Mr. Dunn said:

Since the day of its birth the destinies of the State of Minnesota have been controlled by the Republican party, with the exception of one or two brief but memorable periods, when certain departments of the state government fell into the hands of the Philistines. But for these temporary aberrations, the history of Minnesota has been one of steady progress and increasing prosperity and growth until she stands today, the foremost of the grand galaxy of young Western states which in years to come will form the heart of the Republic.

So interwoven during the past forty years has been the history of our state and that of the Republican party in Minnesota, that the history of one is the history of the other. Their stories cannot be separated or read apart.

We are all proud of our state, proud of its growth, proud of its strength and greatness, proud of its reputation. No Minnesotian can be ashamed of his state, for its escutcheon is unstained and it has nobly done its part in and for the Union.

Our citizens have ever been first to offer their services and arms for the defense of the flag and the nation, and have acquitted themselves with honor on many a bloody battlefield. In the paths of peace they have played a manly part, and the people of Minnesota to-day, whether they regard our institutions or our laws, can do with pride and satisfaction.

And yet we are told by political opponents that the Republican party is a party of corruption and dishonor. We have been told that if the Democrats and Populists could only secure control of the state government they would work wonderful reforms and rescue the commonwealth from the straits into which they allege it has fallen.

Well, during the past forty years our political opponents have had three opportunities to show what they could do in the way of reforming things. In 1857 and 1858 there was a Democratic governor and legislature. The particular reform engendered at that time—the formative period of our state, when it was first emerging from its territorial swaddling clothes into the freedom and responsibilities of statehood—was the loading upon the new state of a bonded debt of $2,275,000.

This first period of Democratic reform saddled the State of Minnesota with a public debt of which there is $1,200,000 outstanding to-day on which the taxpayers pay interest, and will probably continue to do so for the next ten or twelve years.

In 1881 bonds for $4,287,000, representing half of the original indebtedness together with the accrued interest on the same, bearing 4 1-2 per cent interest, were issued by the state in full satisfaction of the claims arising out of the Minnesota State Railroad Bonds.

In 1891, the then governor, Hon. Wm. R. Merriam, formulated a plan for the funding of this state debt which, thanks to his financial ability and sagacity, resulted in a saving to the state of many thousands of dollars. Under the provisions of Chapter 1 of the General Laws of 1891, the governor, treasurer and auditor were appointed a commission to refund the debt; which was successfully accomplished, and in place of the 4 1-2 per cent adjustment bonds, the commission issued new funding bonds bearing 3 1-2 per cent interest.

The 1891 law provides that $150,000 of these Funding Bonds can be cancelled every year, and this has been done, with the result that the amount of the Funding Bonds now outstanding is $1,200,000, and this is the present condition of our only state debt, created in 1858 by our first Democratic state government.

THE FUSION LEGISLATURE OF 1891

About the time that the Republican state officials were having their final struggle with the legacy of debt bequeathed the state by the pioneer Democratic reformers of 1858, the Democratic and Farmer's Alliance parties—the latter being the maiden name of the Populist party before it finally decided to cohabit with the Democracy—these two parties, after some flirtation, became engaged, and decided that, by uniting forces, they could once more reform the state government. The result of this union was that the Fusionists captured the state legislature and organized it, and they also elected their own state auditor.

Now were the Fusionist forces in a position to inaugurate the reform which they had stridently proclaimed in their campaign as necessary to the peace, happiness and prosperity of the state. They could pass any law they wished, and they had the whole accounting system of the state, the books and the records, in the hands and under the inspection of an auditor of their own political creed. They were in a position to expose any crookedness of which past Republican administrations might have been guilty.

What was the result? The Democratic state auditor absolutely failed to discover or disclose any act or deed discreditable to any of his Republican predecessors in office. Not a trace of anything scandalous or dishonorable was found in any branch of the state's business. The accounts of the departments and institutions were absolutely straight.

To the Fusion legislature of 1891 we must look, therefore, for the promised reforms and reform measures.

The act of this legislature which brought the value of "Reform" home most clearly to the people of Minnesota was the raising of the tax levy rate from 1 7-10 mills, as levied by the legislature of 1889, to 2 2-10 mills, an increase of 5-10 of a mill.

The amount levied by the 1889 legislature for state revenue purposes was $2,260,000 for the two years of 1889 and 1890.

The amount levied by the 1891 legislature for the two years of 1891 and 1892 was $2,645,000.

The greatest achievement of this Reform legislature was in the matter of legislative expenses. The Republican legislature of 1889 cost the taxpayers $149,777.53. The Fusion legislature of 1891 cost 162,953.52, or $13,175.99 more.

Thus it was proved in 1891, as in 1858, that an era of alleged reform is expensive. The people evidently took this view of it in 1892, for the legislature of 1893 was given over to the control of the Republican party. The result was that the rate of the tax levy was reduced to 1 7-10 of a mill and the legislative expenses were reduced to $142,101.71, or $20,851.81 below the expenses of the previous legislature.

Since then, successive Republican legislatures, commencing with the session of 1895, have reduced the rate of the tax levy to 1 5-10 of a mill, and last year the state auditor, by virtue of the power vested in him by law, was able to still further reduce the tax to 1 4-10 of a mill, and this year I shall reduce the tax levy to 1 3-10 of a mill.

The legislative expenses, even with the increase in the apportionment, were, in 1895, $21,105.17 below those of the 1891 session; $18,632.63 below in 1897, and $15,074.02 below in 1899.

So much for the reform period of 1891.

Less than two years ago we entered upon our third era of reform. On Jan. 2, 1899, the Hon. John Lind became the chief executive officer of the state. Right here I wish to say, for Gov. Lind, personally and officially, I have the highest regard, and as he said in his speech of acceptance, on many occasions I have consulted and advised and advised with him as to the best course to pursue to protect and further the interests of the state; but he is the head and front of the opposition to the Republican party in the state today, and is indirectly responsible for any sins of omission or commission on the part of boards or heads of departments appointed by him.

He was elected governor by the combined votes of the Democratic and Populist parties, and was pledged to reform certain abuses from which, it was charged by the Fusion politicians, the people of the state were suffering. These alleged abuses, according to the aforesaid politicians, were chargeable to the Republican party and to Republican officeholders. Gov. Lind's administration is now drawing to a close, and it is not unfair to inquire what reforms have been accomplished during his term of office. The great outcry of the Fusion politicians during the campaign of 1898 was against the state grain inspection department and against the management of the state prison, particularly in reference to the manufacture of binding twine.

State Grain Inspection.

In his speech of acceptance, Gov. Lind discussed the state grain inspection department and certain changes which were designated reforms which have been effected therein during his administration. In concluding his remarks on this subject, the governor said:

"I will only add that these reforms in the grain service have been accomplished without any increase of expenditure; on the contrary, the expense of the service during the crop year just closed, under Mr. Reishus' administration, was $2,201.78 less than the cost of the service during the preceding year of Mr. Clausen's administration."

The former chief grain inspector terminated his services with the department about Aug. 1, 1899, so that during the first seven months of Gov. Lind's term of office he was in ostensible charge of the department, although a number of changes and appointments were made for him for which he was not responsible. I draw attention to this in order to show that no fair comparison can be made between the last year and the preceding year, as the term of the Republican chief inspector overlapped the first year of Gov Lind's administration.

The only fair comparison is one between the last full year, when Inspector Clausen held office under a Republican governor, and the full year during which Inspector Reishus has held office under a Democratic governor, that is, between the years of 1898 and 1900.

I wish to be absolutely fair with our opponents, and for that reason I will quote a few figures from the Fifteenth Annual Report of the Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners for the year ending Nov. 30, 1899, which was made by Chief Grain Inspector E. S. Reishus. The figures for 1900 were taken from the reports of Mr. Reishus to the state auditor's office. These figures show that the expenses of the grain inspection department for the crop years ending Aug. 31, were as follows:

1895	$147,522.22
1896	174,808.24
1897	176,220.97
1898	191,681.12
1899	213,764.54
1900	207,955.54
Board of appeals, 1900	14,233.00

Comparing the expenses for the year 1900 with those for 1898, that is, the first full year of Democratic administration with the last full years of Republican administration of the department, it is seen that the expenses of grain inspection during 1900 exceed the 1898 expenses by $16,274.47. If the cost of the board of grain appeals is added to the 1900 expenses, this excess is increased to $30,507.47 over 1898. There were more cars of wheat inspected in 1898 than were inspected in 1900, yet the cost of inspection was greater by $16,274.47, excluding the board of appeals, and this increased cost is sufficient to pay 27 additional employes $600 per year each. Whether or not the employes' staff was increased to that extent, I am not prepared to say, but it could be done for that amount of money.

These figures do not bear out the statement of Gov. Lind that the so-called Democratic reforms have been carried out without increased expenditures. They show that the contrary is the case.

The State Prison Binding Twine Plant.

The farmers of the state are vitally concerned in the management of the binding twine plant of the state prison. It is to their immediate interest that it should be conducted on an economical business basis. In 1898 the opposition made great promises as to how they would improve the management of the plant and increase its usefulness to the farmers, if they were given the power.

As a result of the election two years ago the opposition secured control of the management of the state prison twine plant, and it is instructive to now review the work of the new administration.

From the monthly statements of the expenses of the state prison at Stillwater, I find that, under the present administration, the expenditures of the twine plant for the year ending July 31st 1900, were $858,190.61, as compared with $316,529.16 for the year ending July 31st 1899. A balance of $208,696.44, left on July 31st, 1899, to the credit of the prison binding twine fund, has been spent, and the cash receipts for the year 1900 amounted, on July 31st, to $449,494.60.

During the year that our friends of the opposition have had control of the prison twine plant, I find that they purchased exceedingly large amounts of sisal, the monthly statements I have before referred to showing upwards of 7,000,000 pounds of fiber purchased. I am informed by Warden Reeve that the average price paid for this large amount of raw material was a fraction over 8 1-3 cents per pound, and that there remained on hand, Aug. 1st, 1900, 1,175,539 pounds of sisal and 187,675 pounds of manufactured twine.

I find by the market report published in the Cordage Trade Journal of Sept. 6, 1900, that the market price of sisal is from 5 3-8 to 5 1-2 cents per pound, and the tendency is toward lower prices. The prison twine plant is thus shown to be in possession of 1,175,539 pounds of sisal at the end of the season, for which it has paid almost 3 cents more than the current market price. I also find in the same trade journal, that the market price quoted Sept. 6th for Standard Sisal twine is 7 to 7 1-2 cents per pound. I find from the statement made to me by the prison authorities, that from Sept. 8, 1899, to Feb. 8, 1900, the farmers who had ordered twine from the state prison were charged 10 cents per pound for "mixed" twine, and from Feb. 8 to Aug. 1, 1900, 10 cents for sisal and 12 1-2 cents for mixed, and as the prison twine is sold at a figure but very little above cost, and is manufactured at a low cost, owing to the cheapness of prison labor, it is not likely that the surplus stock of fiber at the prison could be manufactured and sold at lower prices except at a loss.

The farmers who ordered their twine from the state prison in the spring and early summer at the prices above quoted, have had the mortification of seeing twine of the same quality offered by jobbers at 7 to 8 cents, or 2 to 3 cents lower than the prison twine.

I am informed by the prison authorities that on July 31, 1900, the outstanding accounts of the prison twine plant amounted to $375,865.34. It has been customary for all bills for twine to be paid up by the farmers by Dec. 1st each year, but the indications are that there will be a large sum uncollected on Dec. 1st of this year. The only term which can describe the management of the prison twine plant by the present administration is the word "unbusinesslike," and the results of their efforts at the end of the season are not such as to breed confidence in their future binding twine manufacturing operations. In their efforts to manufacture a large stock of political capital the board of prison managers lost sight of business principles in the manufacture of twine.

ROBERT C. DUNN, State Auditor.

The Parties Compared.

The record of the achievements of the Democratic and Populist parties in their self-appointed role of reformers, is not one of which they have any reason to be proud. Their brief irruptions have not been to the advantage of the state or to the interests of the taxpayers. They have been given three trials and found lamentably wanting on each occasion, and there is no indication that if they are given a fourth opportunity they will do any better. Like the foolish virgins, they are anxious to participate in the marriage feast but they invariably forget to provide oil for their lamps. Their record has been one of failure, and,—worse than failure—of disaster.

On the other hand, the Republican party has been the promoter and originator of all that has been useful and beneficial to the state. Our laws and institutions have come from Republican hands, and stand to-day monuments to the fidelity and intelligence of Republican lawmakers and officials. That the Republican party has earned the confidence of the people is evidenced by the fact that, with the brief interruptions I have before referred to, it has been entrusted with the complete administration of the state's affairs for forty consecutive years. How the trust has been fulfilled, I will briefly indicate:

Education.

The greatest achievement, in my opinion, of the Republican administration, has been the creation, building up and conservation of the state's permanent school fund and the development of our educational facilities made possible thereby.

To-day Minnesota has a permanent school fund amounting to $13,294,016.45, and a permanent university fund of $1,403,070.14, all of which is invested either in United States bonds, the bonds of other states, loaned to school districts, towns, counties, cities and villages in our own state, and in land contracts. The school fund of Minnesota is the largest of any state in the Union, and will ultimately reach $30,000,000. We have 325,766 school children in Minnesota, and, owing to the existence of our magnificent school fund, supplemented by the 1-mill general school tax, there was distributed by the state in aid of the public schools for the year 1900, the sum of $1,295,596.92, or $3.98 per capita. That is to say, the state was in a position to give and did give the sum of $3.98 for each one of the 325,766 pupils.

During the past forty years the state aid to the public schools derived from investments of the permanent school fund has amounted in the aggregate to $11,203,946.33. In educational matters Minnesota is the third state in the Union, and is excelled only by the two old and rich commonwealths of Massachusetts and New York.

Direct aid is given to each school in addition to the aid given on the basis of the school population. We have 115 high schools in Minnesota, which each received for the year 1900, the sum of $700.00, or $80,500 in the aggregate. Over 110 graded schools received $200 each last year, equal to $22,000; the six normal departments of high schools received $500 each, or $3,000 in all; our 190 semi-graded schools were given 57.59 each, or $10,935.10, and our 630 rural schools were paid $60.60 each, or $39,996.00 in the aggregate. The total amount of direct aid to the different public schools for the year 1900 amounted to $156,431.10.

In addition to this, the school districts can secure loans from the permanent school fund at the low rate of interest of 4 per cent. to aid them in building their school houses and for permanent school improvements. There has thus been loaned to school districts $1,114,034.93. At present an amount not to exceed 7 per cent of the real property of a school district can be borrowed from the permanent school fund, but the legislature of 1899 wisely provided for an amendment to Section 6 of Article 8 of the State Constitution, which, if adopted by the voters next November, will permit of the loaning of an amount not to exceed 15 per cent of the assessed valuation of the real property to a school district, and at the rate of 3 per cent per annum. I sincerely hope that that amendment will be adopted. There is no reason why the state should not loan its permanent school fund to its own school districts, towns, villages, cities and counties on as easy terms as it loans to other states.

Summer training schools for teachers have been established, and have proved very useful in providing valuable instruction to teachers from all parts of the state. I have not yet mentioned our splendid state university among the list of our educational institutions. It contains colleges of science, literature and arts; a college of engineering and mechanic arts; an agricultural college; a school of mines; a law college; a college of medicine and surgery; a dental college and a college of pharmacy.

The number of students enrolled at the university in 1898 was 2,890, and the present number is over 3,500.

In Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud and Moorhead are located four stately normal schools that are the pride of their several localities. These normal schools are turning out hundreds of well equipped teachers annually. The services of normal school graduates are always in demand as teachers at remunerative wages. The total amount expended by the state on normal school buildings to July 31st 1900, was $608,249.92, and the total cost of maintenance of the four normal schools to July 31st, 1900, was $1,746,755.39. At the present time the state appropriates about $120,000 annually for the support of its four public schools.

It is impossible to overestimate the value of our splendid educational system, and the marvel of it is, that all is free. Education, for the primary grade to the university, is as free to the child of the laborer as it is to the child of the millionaire. The children of the foreign-born enjoy the same educational privileges as the descendants of the Pilgrim Fathers. There is no discrimination. It is free to all.

Of the school lands granted by congress to the state, amounting to some 2,840,284 acres, there yet remains unsold, in round numbers, 1,200,000 acres, which are steadily increasing in value, and at the moderate estimated value of $6.00 per acre would net the school fund $7,200,000 and increase it ultimately to $20,494,000. With the addition of the timber and mineral upon them and the value of swamp lands, which have become a part of the school fund, it will eventually reach $30,000,000.

Our political opponents have declared that if they had been in power the school fund would have been infinitely larger; that they would have acted with such wisdom and discretion as to have doubled it at least. Such is the claim they advanced in the campaign two years ago. But they have never manifested any capacity for improving upon Republican methods of managing the state's business. This claim of theirs—this pretentious claim—may be safely left to the people of Minnesota to pass upon.

The One-Mill General School Tax.

A beneficial measure in furthering the cause of education is the 1-mill general school tax enacted by the legislature of 1897. It provided that a 1-mill tax should be extended against all the taxable property of the state, to be distributed at the same time as the regular school apportionment is made in March and October. Since the adoption of that law, and under its provisions, the sum of $6,519,381.10 has been collected and paid to the school districts of the state, based on the per capita attendance.

This law was enacted in the interest of the sparsely-settled rural counties. Under the operation of the law the richer counties of the state are made to bear a portion of the expenses of maintaining the schools in the less wealthy counties.

By adding the $11,203,946.83 to the income derived from the permanent school fund investments, to the $6,519,381.10 produced by the state 1-mill tax, we find that since 1863 the enormous sum of $17,723,327.43 has been apportioned to the common schools of the state.

No Saving Under the Present Administration.

Of the public institutions of the state, which have been provided for educational, charitable and correctional purposes during the forty years of Republican rule, the people of Minnesota have just reason to be proud. Without presenting a mass of figures and details which would be of little interest to you, I may say that in the past forty years the state has expended over $5,000,000 on buildings for state institutions, and over $20,000,000 in maintaining them.

The per capita cost of maintenance steadily decreased up to the close of 1898; during the years 1899 and 1900 there is a slight increase, so far as the charitable and correctional institutions are concerned. There has been no decrease of cost during the present administration, so that in this direction, also, there has been no benefit to the taxpayers from a reform administration.

The cost of educational institutions will increase in proportion to the increase of pupils, and the state is fully able to provide for them generously in the future, as it has done in the past.

Minnesota's Charitable Institutions.

Minnesota has many noble charitable institutions. All things considered no state in the Union has made more ample provision for its unfortunate and afflicted than our own North Star State. The three main hospitals for the insane, located at St. Peter, Rochester and Fergus Falls, are ably managed and well conducted, and every care is bestowed upon the unfortunates confined therein. In the beautiful little city of Faribault is located the Minnesota institute for defectives, consisting of a school for the deaf, a school for the blind and a school for the feebleminded. The inmates are well cared for by humane and experienced officers and instructors. Another noble charitable state institution is the home for dependent and neglected children, located at Owatonna. The building and grounds cost the state $200,000, but it was money well expended. The object of the institution is to provide a temporary home and school for the dependent and neglected children of the state. The Minnesota state training school for boys and girls, located at Red Wing, while somewhat on the plan of a reformatory is a necessary and beneficent institution and is generously provided for by the state. All these institutions are under the care and supervision of non-partisan boards of managers. It was Republican legislatures that provided for the establishment of these institutions, and it was Republican legislatures that wisely guarded against partisan boards of managers.

State Soldiers' Home and State Relief for Soldiers of the Civil War.

The Republican party of the state has always recognized the justice of providing for the necessities of the veterans of the Civil war and their widows and orphans. We find that as early as 1865 the legislature established a soldiers' orphan home at Winona. This was satisfactorily conducted for several years. It was not, however, until 1887 that the legislature decided to provide a permanent home for all honorably discharged ex-soldiers, sailors and marines who served in the army or navy of the United States during the War of the Rebellion or the Mexican war, and who had no adequate means of support. Beautiful buildings have been erected near Minnehaha Falls on the outskirts of Minneapolis for that purpose, and to the present time over $250,000 has been expended on the home. About 300 old soldiers, who are unable to provide themselves with the necessaries of life, are being cared for at the soldiers' home at an average expense of $50,000 a year, a portion of which expenditure is borne by the national government. Nor is it necessary that old soldiers should go to the soldiers' home to obtain the benefit of state assistance. The same law which established the soldiers' home (chapter 148, G. L. 1887) also provided that those who were unable or unwilling to go to this institution could receive relief at their own homes, and this was made permanent by a tax levy of one-tenth of one mill upon all taxable property in the state. Since that law was passed in 1887 the generous sum of $510,013.22 has been distributed by the trustees to old soldiers, their widows and orphans, at their homes. This has been done as a positive recognition of the debt the state owed the veterans of the Civil war and their dependents.

Assisting Fire Companies.

Nearly every village in our state has an organized fire department. One-half of the amount collected from the insurance companies as a tax levy upon the premiums received in the villages and cities of our state is paid back to the local fire departments. The law authorizing this payment is found in chapter 187, G. L. 1895. In cities where the fire company has organized a fireman's relief association for the benefit of the sick and injured firemen the state tax is paid to them and not to the fire companies direct. This very meritorious law has been the means of building up vigorous and useful fire companies in nearly every incorporated village in the state, and since the passage of the law the sum of $444,865.69 has been distributed by the state treasurer for the support of fire companies and firemen's relief associations.

Fostering Agricultural Interests.

Minnesota is a state of many diversified interests and it has been the policy of the Republican party to foster their fullest development. The agriculturists are the largest wealth producing class and their interests have received careful consideration by Republican legislators. An agricultural college has been established for the benefit of farmers' sons and daughters who may desire to receive the most advanced instruction in all matters pertaining to the business of farming and dairying. Provision has also been made for the establishment of farmers' institutes, and an efficient corps of instructors in all branches pertaining to the work of farming, visit and give instruction to the people in the various counties of the state. The work has increased until now $13,500 is annually expended for farmers' institutes, and since the law was enacted the total sum of $182,900.06 has been appropriated.

Agricultural experiment stations have been established at Crookston and Grand Rapids. The state agricultural society receives liberal annual appropriations from the state, and $14,000 is distributed annually for the encouragement of county fairs, where the products of the farm are exhibited and premiums given for the best specimens.

The Dairy Interests.

It is a well known fact that Minnesota is to-day one of the leading dairy states in the union. The report of the dairy and food commissioner to the legislature of 1899 gave the total number of creameries in the state on Oct. 1, 1898, as 664. That number has, no doubt, been greatly increased since that time. These creameries are found in nearly every county, and Minnesota creamery butter has taken first prizes in open competition with the world. The same report estimates that there were 100 cheese factories in the state, and that over 57,000 farmers are delivering or selling milk to these creameries and cheese factories. It is estimated that about 300,000 pounds of butter are made every working day of the year, which makes a total of nearly 100,000,000 pounds of butter annually. Figuring the value at 20 cents per pound, which is certainly low for the creamery butter of our state, it gives the value of the butter manufactured in our creameries in one year at the enormous sum of $20,000,000. This is entirely separate and distinct from the value of the products of the cheese factories.

By chapter 149, G. L. 1885, a state dairy and food commission was established, with an appropriation of $6,000 a year. The scope of the department has been increased by subsequent legislatures, and it now has $18,000 a year at its disposal. It is fair to assume that the phenomenal growth of the dairy interests of our state and the enormous wealth that is annually produced is in a large measure due to the admirable laws passed for the protection of the products of the farm and the creameries from the spurious imitations that have been thrown upon the markets in the form of oleomargarine, butterine, etc. Our stringent laws against the sale of adulterated butter has made it almost an impossibility to find a market for it in our state. The value of the butter and cheese produced in Minnesota is second only to the value of the wheat crop.

Tree Bounties.

An illustration of the practical way in which Republican legislatures have helped the people of Minnesota is found in the aid that has been extended since 1871 in the form of a bounty for tree planting. In the prairie counties, where timber is only found growing naturally on the river bottoms, the value of a grove of trees is highly appreciated, both as fuel and as a wind break, while it adds much beauty to the country. The legislature of 1871 passed an act giving a bounty of $2 per acre and $2 for each half mile of trees planted along a highway; in 1873 the movement for tree planting was given a wider range by making a fixed annual appropriation of $20,000, which has been expended each year since that time, and under an amended law in 1891 the bounty was fixed at $3 per acre and $2 for each half mile of highway, and the number of years for which the bounty could be claimed was reduced from ten years to six years. During the twenty-nine years that this tree planting bounty has been paid the whole face of the country in some of the southwestern and northern prairie counties has been changed and beautified, and it is safe to estimate that from 40,000 to 50,000 acres of growing, thrifty trees owe their existence to this beneficial law.

The Republican Party Friendly to Labor.

The Republican party of Minnesota is now and always has been friendly disposed to the labor interests.

Here is a plank from the Minnesota Republican platform which squarely outlines the position of the party on the labor question: "In view of this record and the conditions now existing, brought about by Republican legislation, our party appeals with confidence to the laboring man and pledges itself anew to protect and encourage labor interests in all their legitimate efforts, and that it will use every effort to secure the passage of legislation providing that on all public works authorized by the state eight hours shall be deemed and taken to be a legal working day."

At the behest of organized labor a bureau of labor was established in 1887 and the cause of labor has been greatly benefited thereby. The first appropriation for the bureau was only $3,000, and now $12,000 is appropriated annually for the maintenance of the department, and every workshop or factory of any magnitude in the state is inspected regularly by a representative of the bureau. Since its organization in 1887 $113,829.82 has been expended by this department.

As far back as 1866 we find laws for the protection of employes in factories and workshops. Many measures highly beneficial to the workingman grace our statute books. Chapter 9, Laws of 1889, protects labor unions in the use of labels, devices and trade marks. Thanks to the legislature of 1893, the motormen and conductors on the street car lines are protected from the inclemency of the weather. (See chapter 63, Laws of 1893.) Chapter 130, Laws of 1895 provides for a board of arbitration and conciliation to adjust differences that might arise between employer and employes. An act to prohibit the practice of blacklisting and the coercing and influencing of employes by their employers (chapter 174, Laws of 1895) is certainly a just and meritorious measure. Chapter 173, Laws of 1895, defines the duties of masters and employers and provides that they shall exercise due care and diligence in providing for the safety of their employes. The first Monday of September in each year, designated as "Labor day," is made a legal holiday by statute. I might mention numerous other laws beneficial to the cause of labor, which have been placed upon our statute books by Republican legislatures. In this state, as in the nation at large, the Republican party has ever been the true and steadfast friend of labor.

The Valued Policy Clause.

Until 1895 it could not be truthfully said that insurance against loss by fire or lightning insured. Unscrupulous agents, for the sake of pecuniary gain in the shape of increased premiums, would place heavy insurance on property without regard to the true value of the same. The result was that when a loss was sustained the insurance company refused to pay the amount of the policy. In many cases, especially if the party who sustained the loss was poor and unable to indulge in the luxury of an expensive lawyer and court fees, a compromise would be effected and the company would pay from one-third to one-half of the amount of the policy.

The Republican legislature of 1895 enacted a law which requires and compels insurance companies doing business in this state to pay the full amount of the face of the policy if loss is total. (See section 25, chapter 175, Gen. Laws of 1895.)

Taxation of Mines and Mineral Lands.

Until 1895 the mining properties in the northeastern part of the state did not bear their just proportion of the burdens of taxation. When the mining of iron ore was in its infancy the legislature, in order to encourage the opening and development of the mines, provided for a tax of 1 cent per ton on the output in lieu of all other taxation. In 1897 the 1-cent per ton law was repealed and mines and mining property was assessed and taxed the same as all other classes of property, but prior to action by the legislature Attorney General Childs, in response to an inquiry by the state auditor, had held the 1-cent per ton tax to be unconstitutional. Prior to 1895 the highest tax paid in any one year under the 1-cent per ton law amounted to less than $20,000; this year the mining corporations will pay taxes amounting to over $230,000. Chapter 235, Laws of 1899, provides severe penalties for the removal of timber on mineral land before the current taxes are paid, and that law is being rigidly enforced. It seems to me as if our legislatures had taken every precaution to compel the mining and lumber corporations to pay their taxes.

Taxing Unused Railroad Lands.

The law for the taxation of unused railroad lands has placed upward of 1,000,000 acres of land upon the tax rolls. Presuming that these lands are assessed at $3 per acre, the average rate of 3 per cent would produce $30,000 in taxes annually. The validity of the law has been passed upon and sustained by our state supreme court, and in all human probability the supreme court of the United States will uphold the decision of our state courts. The enactment of the law taxing unused railroad lands is a sufficient answer to those of our political opponents who unblushingly assert that the Republican party of Minnesota is dominated by railroad influences.

Red River Valley Drainage.

The drainage of the low, wet lands of that great wheat producing district, the Red river valley, is one of the important works for which the farmers of that district have to thank the intelligent and self-denying labors of a Republican board of commissioners. This board, of which the Hon. Ezra G. Valentine of Breckenridge was president, consisted of three members who served without salaries and whose aggregate expenses during the whole of the nine years when the ditches were being constructed, only amounted to $1,555.41, or about $53 per year each. For this work the state appropriated $157,500 and the Great Northern railway donated 25,000, a total of $182,500. Eighteen ditches and four extensions of the same, 117.47 miles in length, were constructed in the counties of Kittson, Marshall, Polk, Norman, Clay, Wilkin and Traverse, draining in all about 2,000,000 acres of land. It is highly creditable to the board that 98 5-10 per cent of the $182,509 at their disposal was spent in actual work, 90 7-10 per cent being paid to the different contractors, and 7 8-10 per cent to the engineers. For securing the right of way 5-10 of 1 per cent of the appropriation was expended; for advertising for bids and for printing the percentage of cost was 2-10 of 1 per cent and the expenses of the commissioners were 8-10 of 1 per cent. This is a splendid record and cannot fail to be highly gratifying to the taxpayers of the state. By this work it is estimated that 2,000,000 acres of the low lands of the Red river valley have been benefited, its value has been increased and the danger to the farmers' crops from spring freshets and wet seasons has been largely decreased. The state ditches are now under the control of a state drainage commission and the construction of cross ditches is under their supervision in order that the best results can be secured by systematic drainage work.

State Board of Health.

Republican legislatures have not overlooked the care and preservation of the public health. Our state to-day has one of the most perfect health departments to be found in the United States. Owing to the high state of efficiency that exists in the department infectious diseases are carefully guarded against and promptly and vigorously handled. In 1885 the legislature added to the usefulness of the board of health by creating a department to prevent the spread of contagious diseases among cattle, horses, swine and other domestic animals, and the intelligent efforts of the board in this direction has saved the farmers of the state many thousands of dollars.

The New Capitol.

The people of Minnesota can take pardonable pride in their new capitol building, the construction of which was authorized by the legislature of 1893. Its cost will not exceed the amount appropriated, namely, $2,000,000, and it is being honestly and substantially built. This work affords a pleasing contrast to the experience of some other states which have suffered from the extravagance and mismanagement of political boards of commissioners, the rapacity of unscrupulous contractors and the use of shoddy material. The commissioners who have charge of the construction of Minnesota's state capitol are substantial business men who have followed business principles and carefully protected the state's interests. The result of their work will be a handsome, solid structure, ample for all needs of the state government for several generations.

Railroad Land Grants.

Much has been said during the past few years about the railroad land grants. The legislature has at different times granted large amounts of its swamp lands to aid in the construction of railroads, and while, in the light of to-day, it seems as though the same results could have been obtained in other ways or by smaller donations of land, it must be remembered that at the time most of these grants were made the state was without railroads and was to a great extent an inaccessible wilderness. The people of Minnesota needed railroads to aid in the development of the state and to furnish necessary transportation, and they were clamoring and eager for them. Every town, village or county was willing to offer a large bonus to secure a railroad, and many of them did issue bonds to the full amount permitted by law in order to secure the much-needed line.

Many who are here to-night will remember how the people of Mille Lacs county authorized such a bond issue in 1886 to secure a north and south railroad, and there are very few people in the county to-day who are dissatisfied with the bargain.

It is not surprising then that in the early days of the state large bonuses or grants of swamp lands were made to railroads to aid their construction. Since 1881 no new grants have been made, and by an amendment to the constitution, submitted to the people that year, further grants are prohibited.

During the past few years the land grant railroads have been held to a strict accounting, and every effort has been made to close the grants and to conserve for the benefit of the educational and charitable institutions of the state all the swamp lands remaining after the grants have been satisfied. Where it has been found that a railroad company had failed to comply with the terms of its grant, or had not earned the lands granted, the law has been invoked in defense of the state's interests.

That Large Surplus.

Gov. Lind says: "The only difficulty with our finances at the present time is the large surplus in the treasury," and he expresses regret that the legislature will not cut down the tax levy. In answer to this I will say that the legislature did cut down the tax levy to the lowest possible notch, and the surplus in the treasury is more apparent than real. The state treasurer's statement for the fiscal year ending July 31, does show that there was $2,109,337.52 in the state treasury, and his statement also shows that almost $1,000,000 of that amount belongs to the permanent and general school fund, and that $752,000 will be distributed among the school districts of the state next month. It will come right back to the people. But here are the figures that show to what funds the amount in the treasury belongs:

General revenue	$744,111.74
Soldiers' relief	64,840.82
Funding tax	58,602.10
Permanent school	237,245.66
General school	751,656.20
Permanent university	9,851.14
General university	85,603.09
Internal improvement	8,746.34
Internal improvement land	68,133.23
State institutions	99,807.19
Swamp land	19,358.73
Grain inspection	31,575.28

All of these funds, except the general revenue fund, are trust funds in the hands of the state treasurer, each fund held for a separate and distinct purpose; for instance, the permanent school and university funds are derived from the sale of school-and-university lands and must be permanently invested. This is a constitutional proviso.

True, there was $744,111.74 in the revenue fund on July 31, but in all probability that fund will be overdrawn on January first next. All the running expenses of the state government are paid out of the revenue fund. The heavy tax collections are all in by the first of August, and the revenue fund will not be replenished to any great extent until the railroad taxes commence to come in after Jan. 1. At the end of every calendar year there is a deficit in the revenue fund. Let me illustrate: On Aug. 1, 1897, there was $514,398.36 in the revenue fund, and on Dec. 31 of the same year it was overdrawn to the extent of $155,461.21; on Aug. 1, 1898, there was $543,660.29 in the revenue fund and on Dec. 31 of the same year it was overdrawn to the amount of $30,877.34; on Aug. 1, 1899, there was $687,027.52 in the revenue fund and on the following December it was overdrawn in the amount of $96,925.23.

The overdraft is provided for by section 253, Stat. Minn. 1894. Last year I reduced the tax levy one-tenth of a mill below the rate fixed by the legislature, and this year I intend to reduce the rate still another tenth of a mill. But below that it would not be safe to go. The increased revenue derived from railroad, insurance and other corporations made it possible to reduce the tax levy. It would be poor policy to fix the tax levy so low that there would not be enough revenue raised to meet the current expenses of the state. The time is fast approaching, in my judgment, when hardly any direct tax will be necessary for the support of the state government. The taxes derived from railroad, insurance and other corporations will be sufficient to meet all, or nearly all, the expenditures for purely state purposes. I repeat what I said in my report to the legislature of 1895: "The modern tendency in taxation by states is to lessen the tax rate upon realty and derive increased revenue from taxes upon corporations, inheritances, etc. Foreign corporations doing business in this state, and domestic corporations may be required to pay an annual tax or license into the state revenue."

Tax Laws.

Referring to the matter of taxation, I have been firmly convinced for some years past that our tax laws need revision to the end that the burden of taxation be more equitably distributed. Under present conditions persons of small means who can least afford it, pay more than their proportionate share of the taxes, while many wealthy and unscrupulous tax-dodging corporations and individuals escape by paying a tithe of what they ought to pay. I am a firm believer in a permanent board of tax commissioners for this state, and I shall strenuously recommend in my next report to the legislature the creation of such a board. In the State of Michigan the board of tax commissioners have succeeded in placing on the tax rolls this year $300,000,000 worth of property which has heretofore escaped taxation.

State Board of Control.

I also believe in a non-partisan board of control for all the charitable and correctional institutions of the state. Such a board, composed of practical business men, not mere politicians, devoting its entire time to the care and supervision of state institutions, viewed from an economic or humanitarian standpoint, in my opinion, is highly desirable. The present system of irresponsible boards of managers for each institution is costly and unsatisfactory in many respects.

State Land Certificates.

I sincerely hope that the next legislature will pass a law reducing the rate of interest on state land certificates from 5 to 4 per cent. It would be a beneficial act in the interests of the state and nothing more than justice to the people of Northern Minnesota and to every certificate holder, nine-tenths of whom are actual farmers.

Conclusion.

In conclusion, let me say that I have endeavored to avoid wearying you with dry tabulations, but every statement I have made is based upon facts and figures, and can be easily proved by any citizen of ordinary intelligence. I have endeavored to show to you, without descending into personalities, that the Republican party during its long lease of power in this state has conducted affairs wisely and well and has been largely instrumental in building up this splendid commonwealth. The interests of the farmer and the workingman it has carefully guarded, and our magnificent public school system stands as a noble monument to its intelligent labors.

I have never been accused of bitter political partisanship, and I do not regard any man or any party as infallible; but I have no hesitation in asserting that there is not in the Union a better governed state than our beloved Minnesota, and that its history is simply the history of the Republican party of the state.

The New Star-Spangled Banner.

Oh, say, can you see, by the far Eastern light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, after many a fight,
In lands near and far, is so gallantly streaming?
And the thanks in our prayer, rising high in the air,
Give proof to the world that our flag is still there:
Oh, say, let the star-spangled banner be waved
O'er the lands we have freed and the people we've saved!

Oh, thus be it always, whenever we stand
Between the oppressed and a king's desolation!
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven-rescued land
Praise the power that hath made us a powerful nation!
And onward we must, for our cause is just:
And this be our motto, "In God is our trust:"
Let the star-spangled banner in triumph be waved
O'er the lands we have freed and the peoples we've saved!

—Martin Saxe, 258 Broadway, New York City, N. Y.

Democracy Halts at No Deception.

Capt. William H. Elliott, the representative of the department of the interior, has this to say about the repeated reports of "trouble" in Porto Rico:

"Let it be borne in mind that material for the wild and weird stories published by the Democratic press of the United States is furnished by Spaniards for the purpose of bringing the citizens of Porto Rico into disrepute, and with the hope, false and fallacious though it may prove, of weakening the efforts being put forth under the law of congress to organize an equitable civil government that will accord to every man, rich or poor, black or white, liberty and justice, and in lieu thereof, turn the island over as spoils to the rapaciously rich and brutally harsh Spanish taskmakers, as in the past."

Bryan Could Not Answer.

At the dedication of the cannon at Fort Wayne, Ind., to the memory of Gen. Henry W. Lawton William J. Bryan sat on the same platform with Gov. Mount and heard the Republican governor recite Lawton's famous speech before he was killed: "If I am shot by a Filipino bullet it might as well come from one of my own men, because I know from observation, confirmed by captured prisoners, that the continuance of the fighting is chiefly due to reports that are sent out from America."

It was a dramatic moment, and Bryan, who was the focus of 20,000 eyes, sat through it silent, with bowed head. When he rose to speak he disregarded the expansion utterances of Gov. Mount, and paid tribute to Gen. Lawton as a soldier. He could not answer the startling impeachment of the dead soldier.

A Political Platform.

Did you see the Pops all frown
When they heard that Cholly Towne
Had been quietly turned down?
Yes.

Did you see them faces make—
When they said "We'll have to take
One more pill for Bryan's sake?"
Of course.

Did you hear the silver bell
Peal forth joyfully and well—
That Towne didn't get a smell?
Sure.

Did you see Dick Croker smile
Stretch his mouth half a mile,
When the Towne men lost their pile?
You know it.

Did you see him smack his chops
When the Ice Trust knocked the props
From beneath the Western Pops?
You bet.

Do you think this two-faced crew
Can deceive the crowds anew,
As they did in Ninety-two?
Nit.

Shrinking From Duty.

The policy of the Kansas City platform is a policy of economic disaster and financial dishonor at home and of unworthy shrinking from duty abroad; and we appeal to all honest, far-seeing, brave and patriotic men, North or South, East or West, whatever their political affiliations may have been in the past, to stand with us now against the men who would bring such abuse and misery upon our country, and to support us as we uphold the cause of honesty and of individual well-being at home and the honor of the American flag in the face of all the peoples of the earth.—Theodore Roosevelt.

BRYAN DODGES SILVER

HE IS CONTINUALLY ENDEAVORING TO BEFOG THE PEOPLE.

While He Is Equivocating Dick Croker Says That It Does Not Make Any Difference What Ratio Is Adopted.

It is not to be expected that the Populist candidate will stop dodging the silver question—and, perhaps, by the silver question we mean this time the very pointed inquiry which the New York Herald lately addressed to Mr. Bryan, whether, in case he were elected president, he would immediately began to pay the coin obligations of the government in silver alone. It is known to ten million voters that he declined to answer, and it is believed by every one of these that he will never answer.

How can he do so?

To say yes would be to shock and drive away perhaps thousands, perhaps tens of thousands, of Gold Democrats of the East. To say no would even more endanger the candidate's slim chances of being elected; for that would surely discourage and disgust hundreds of thousands of Populists. It is, therefore, to be expected that Mr. Bryan will continue to dodge—though, of course, there is nothing to prevent Mr. Jones and his Democratic and Populist committeemen from telling the Gold Democrats of the East that the candidate would never pay in silver; then telling the Populists of the West that that is exactly what he would do the first moment he got a chance.

Much has been said in the last few weeks to indicate that Mr. Bryan would surely pay in silver. His idea, expressed in a dozen well known speeches, was that God had better help the gold standard, for he never would. In fact, if he ever got after it, that would be the last of it.

There are two or three quotations from some of the four-year-old speeches of Mr. Bryan, however, which have not been lately quoted. In his speech at Madison Square Garden on Aug. 12, 1896, he contended that "the free and unlimited coinage by the United States alone would raise the bullion value of silver to its coinage value, and thus make silver bullion worth $1.29 per ounce in gold throughout the world." Presumably, no matter what the ratio is now or ever might be—and so profound an authority as Mr. Croker declares that it is no matter what the ratio is anyway—the parity of the two metals would be maintained. A baby in finance, or in common sense, knows that this could not be; and what is worse, there would be the devil to pay in finance and in the lives of all who owe anything, or have got anything owing to them, and that practically includes the whole population. Yet can it be doubted that Mr. Bryan would try this reckless experiment?

In this same Madison Square Garden speech the Populist candidate advocated the payment of government bonds in silver. He said:

"The right of the debtor to choose the coin in which payment shall be made extends to obligations from the government as well as to contracts between individuals."

And again in a Buffalo speech, delivered on the 27th of August, 1896, Mr. Bryan said:

"There is no way of taking the government out of the clutches of those who have been bleeding it, except for the government to resume its legal rights and use its silver or its gold wherever it pleases, whenever it has a dollar to pay."

It is not impertinent, indeed, it is wholly pertinent, for every voter in this country, or, in fact, for every person who has anything whatever at stake, to ask whether Mr. Bryan would or would not do what he intends. If he would, he cannot expect to secure the support of any decent and fair-minded American man who has anything—property, credits, debts, anything whatever: and if he would not, is he not simply a demagogue, a dodger and a sneak?

Will Mr. Bryan kindly tell just what he would do?

Values of Farm Animals.

A recent report of the Bureau of statistics of the agricultural department demonstrates beyond question that the farmers of the country have prospered. The value of farm animals under the free trade Cleveland administration and under the McKinley administration is annexed:

	Jan. 1, 1896.	Jan. 1, 1900
Horses	$500,140,186	$603,969,442
Mules	103,204,457	111,117,092
Milch cows	363,955,545	514,812,106
Other cattle	508,928,416	689,486,260
Sheep	65,167,735	122,665,913
Total	$1,541,369,339	$2,042,840,812

This is a clear gain of over five hundred million dollars.

Could We Have Scuttled.

Could we, after freeing the Filipinos from the domination of Spain, have left them without power to protect life or property or to perform the international obligations essential to an independent state? Could we have left them in a state of anarchy and justified ourselves in our own consciences or before the tribunal of mankind? Could we have done that in the sight of God and man?—William McKinley.

Taking Care of Themselves.

The great point to be borne in mind is that gold and silver, as factors in national economy, have been taking care of themselves without the aid of politicians, and that tampering with the monetary regime of a nation in aid of any special class is manifestly unwise and unstatesmanlike.—John W. Postgate in Mining News.

More People Can Ride.

The total mileage of street railway tracks in the United States in 1895 was 13,553 miles. The mileage increased in 1898 to 17,291 miles, but no data are available since that date. The people can afford to ride more than they could during the Democratic free trade administration.

SUPPLEMENT TO

The News,

THIEF RIVER FALLS. MINN.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 28, 1900.

INCAPABLE OF SELF-GOVERNMENT.

Only a Few Designing Filipino Leaders Are Making the Mischief.

Dr. J. Sanger, formerly of San Francisco, but for the past six years a practicing physician in Manila, is now visiting Washington. He says:

"If Bryan is defeated at the polls in November the Filipino rebellion will crumble away like a house of cards. It is only kept alive by the hope that the Democrats will be successful in the November elections.

"The Filipinos are no more capable of self-government than the American Indians are capable of conducting the government of the United States. The Tagals are the only tribe that make any pretense to education, and only a very small portion of them can read and write. In point of numbers they are one of the weakest tribes in the Philippenes, and as they are hated by the other tribes there would be constant war should the Tagals attempt to govern the islands.

"The desire for self-government is confined to a few unscrupulous leaders, who would rob the country and then escape to live in luxury in Paris or some other European capital, while the powers of the old world gobbled up the islands. No one familiar with the Philippine islands has the faintest idea that a Filipino government is even remotely possible."

England Favors Bryan's Election.

One of the bogus issues raised in the present campaign by the Democratic party in order to play upon the prejudices of a class of American voters is the secret alliance bogey. Not a scintilla of evidence has ever been furnished upon which to base the declaration, yet it has been dwelt upon with the same persistence and demagogic iteration as the imperialistic fiction. As the imperialistic bogey is dwelt upon to mask the real issue, so the secret alliance cry is persisted in to deceive that class of voters it is hoped to influence through national prejudices.

The fact is, England desires the election of Bryan. Two great English journals, the London Spectator and the London Truth, have made no scruple to declare that it is for the interest of Great Britain and would be most gratifying to her if Bryan should be successful in the American presidential contest. Senator Depew of New York recently arrived from a visit to Europe, and upon being interviewed, declared that there was no doubt of a prevailing sentiment in England in favor of Bryan's election. Now, it would seem from these facts that if the detested "secret alliance" exists, Great Britain would be quite willing to forego all the benefits derived from it in exchange for the greater advantages that would accrue from the election of Mr. Bryan. But, as Senator Depew says, England's solicitude for Bryan's election is prompted by a selfish motive. It is none other than "commercialism," that thing which Democratic leaders affect so much to detest.

Exports of Agricultural Products.

There is a world of thought for farmers in the record of wheat and wheat flour for the past three years under the Republican administration as compared with what it was when the Democrats were in control. Good seasons brought the bountiful crops, of course, but good times, created by the protective tariff, advanced prices at home, increased the consumption and thus enabled the farmer to sell his surplus abroad for higher prices. The record of exports of wheat and flour in values is as follows:

	Four Years. Cleveland.	Three Years. McKinley.
Total value	$431,705,012	$533,304,419
Av'ge per year	107,926,253	177,768,139

It is apparent that the farmers are receiving $70,000,000 a year more for their wheat and its product which are sold abroad than when times were dull in this country.

Savings Bank Deposits Belie Bryan.

Much solicitude has been expressed by our opponents for the depositors in savings banks. They constantly parade before these depositors the advantages of a gold standard, but these appeals will be in vain, because savings bank depositors know that under a gold standard there is increasing danger that they will lose their deposits because of the inability of the banks to collect their assets; and they still further know that, if the gold standard is to continue indefinitely, they may be compelled to withdraw their deposits in order to pay living expenses.—Bryan's First Battle.

Since that was uttered savings bank deposits have grown enormously. In the year 1894, under Democratic free trade, 3,413,477 depositors in savings banks had $1,265,450,416 to their credit; in 1899 the number of depositors had grown to 4,254,516, and the money deposited to $1,782,974,481.

No "Consent" at Washington, D. C.

Dr. W. A. Habercorn of Washington, D. C., is advocating Bryan's election on the "consent of the governed" issue. Dr. Habercorn is worrying a great deal about the guerilla Tagals. He has not extended his campaign to the residents of Washington, who have no vote. They seem to get along pretty well. They are governed, but have nothing to say about the matter.

Consent of the Governed.

Since the Devil quoted Scripture for his peculiar purpose, there has been no similar foray to that made by Bryan on the Declaration of Independence. Jefferson Davis led off in 1860, claiming the "consent of the governed" forbade the enforcement of the authority of the United States in the South, and now, echoing his words, come Bryan, with a like claim as to the Philippines.

Nebraska Land Values.

Money is being loaned on land near Nebraska City, Neb., at 5 per cent on a valuation of more than $30 per acre. Four years ago under Democratic policy the same land was begging a purchaser at $2.50 per acre. Good crops and prosperity brought by protection and a sound financial policy did it.

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33,
Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

Peterson & Curtis wish to announce that the new drugstore is open. Location is already known to the public.

W. S. Elliott, of St. Cloud, is in the city.

S. A. Swanson was in the city last week.

C. G. Rapp was up from St. Hilaire last week.

Six horses for sale. Inquire of James Meehan, Jr.

Dan Shaw came down from the Red lake last week.

Wm. Lennon came up from Crookston Monday.

W. C. Smiley was down to Red Lake Falls last week.

F. A. Grady was up from Red Lake Falls yesterday.

Jas. E. Morrisey, of Crookston, was in the city last week.

M. K. Wall went down to Wisconsin last week on business.

Go and see the new styles of outing hats at Mrs. Caldwell's.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

C. L. Dobner went to St. Paul the first of the week on business.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

For Sale—A good folding bed, nearly new, cheap. C. C. Jackson.

Coal stove for sale. In good condition. Inquire of Dr. Francis.

Geo. A. Ralph, of Crookston, was in the city the first of the week.

D. Linnehan, Democratic candidate for sheriff, was in the city last week.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Wanted—800 oak and cedar piles from 12 to 26 feet long. Carl Kretzschmar.

The saw mill was closed down Tuesday, owing to a break in one of the boilers.

John Patterson went down to St. Paul Monday with ten car loads of cattle.

H. W. Lee was down to Red Lake Falls last week looking after his political fences.

J. L. Johnson, the Populist candidate for judge of probate, was in the city last week.

Julius Pleth went down to Ada last Friday and returned Monday, accompanied by his wife.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

Mrs. J. G. Ballard, who had been visiting friends in Iowa, returned to this city last week.

L. G. Browning left Monday for Minneapolis and Anoka, where he will visit friends for a few days.

Practice shooting at Ole Peterson's shooting gallery, next to Odd Fellows' hall. Open day and night.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

Mrs. Henry Flanders and son, of Minneapolis, arrived in the city Tuesday and are visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Kratka. Mr. Flanders will arrive tomorrow.

Best qualities and latest styles in millinery at Mrs. Caldwell's.

Leo Kulklinska, who has been at Mt. Clements, Mich., in search of health, returned to this city Tuesday.

C. E. Garrison purchased two lots on the East Side last week and will build a residence upon the same.

The local Masons have sent to St. Paul for their charter and will institute a lodge here next Saturday evening.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

Matt Barzen made a trip to the Red lake the first of the week and transacted business with the Agency people.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Monday was the Jewish New Year, and the day was observed in Thief River Falls by the local Jews. It is the year 5661.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

Judge Knight was up from Red Lake Falls last week telling the boys that he would like to be judge of probate for two years more.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Miss B. M. Remmem, of Minneapolis, has opened her millinery store on La Bree avenue, and carries a full line of ladies' trimmed hats and children's wear.

Martin Moylan, accompanied by his mother and sister, arrived in the city Tuesday from Stevens Point, Wis., and are visiting friends and relatives here.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

J. S. Scribner, secretary of the Democratic campaign committee, was in this county last week passing around the hat endeavoring to secure enough money to elect M. J. Daly.

Mrs. A. Weiver and children, who had been in the city during the past four months visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Turville, returned to their home in Nielsville, Wis., Tuesday.

Peterson & Curtis have opened their new drug store. It is one of the neatest and most attractive stores in Thief River Falls, and will be sure to secure a fair share of business.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—Perfect as a beverage or medicine. It prevents chills and tones up the system. It exhilarates and does not poison. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

The Jennie Cunningham land case is again open for adjudication. Attorney Carpenter has succeeded in getting it reopened as to Mrs. Cunningham's right to lot 5, of her original homestead entry No. 2, made on May 15, 1896, and which tract was awarded to Grant R. Lee by the secretary of the interior. A hearing is ordered, and the case will be tried Nov. 13.

St. Mary's Catholic church at Red Lake Falls proposes to test in advance the popularity of the legislative candidates in the district to which Red Lake county belongs and has inaugurated a voting contest at one cent per vote, the church to get the benefit. Charles Rapp starts off in the lead with 500, James Meehan, Jr., has 450 Democratic votes and S. A. Swanson, the Populist, opens up with 270.

Herman Gruel came down from the Red lake on the Ethel yesterday.

A Chinaman from Grand Forks is in the city, and has rented the Swen Johnson building on Main street and will open up a laundry.

The Crookston College will open its fall term September 10. Board and room furnished and taken care of in private family or hotel for $2.50 to $3 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

L. Jensen, Republican candidate for county treasurer, was in the city from Red Lake Falls last week. Mr. Jensen is making an active campaign for the office, is an old resident of the county and perfectly competent to perform the duties of the office he aspires to fill.

People who get their mail at Red Lake Agency will petition to have the route changed from Bemidji to Solway. They claim the route is shorter, and when it goes the other way it misses connection, turns up in anybody's old hands and sometimes doesn't turn up at all.

Judge Watts has been called upon to pass upon a case that grew out of the building of the Northern Pacific railroad through Red Lake Falls a dozen years ago. The promoter of that scheme persuaded some of the townships in that portion of the county to vote bonds in aid of the project, and among them was the township of Gervais, that has not, up to date, paid its bond. The supervisors of that town now bring suit asking that County Auditor Zeh be restrained from levying a tax or paying any more interest upon the bonds. Judge Watts has granted the attorney for the bond holders until Oct. 6, to file a complaint in intervention.

The outlook for the farmers in this section, owing to the numerous rains this fall, is not bright. Wheat that has not been stacked in many instances is entirely ruined, and even that which is in the stack is damaged to a considerable extent. With two-thirds of a crop, the farmers are paying $20,000 per year more for the inspection of their grain than they paid when there was a full crop. Of course the "reformers" say that the buyer pays the inspection fee, but the farmer knows that, in the long run, it comes out of him, and he is not disposed to pay large salaries to lazy loafers, even though they be appointed by a "reform" governor or chief inspector.

The Indian department is considering a new scheme for the education of the Indians. It is to give each Indian boy a plot of ground, allow him to cultivate it and give him the proceeds arising from the sale of the articles grown. It is said this scheme was tried in Colorado last year, and the results were so good that the effort will be made to introduce it wherever it is practical. On some reservations it is impossible to give each student a specific amount of ground, because the school farms are too small. However, it is said there is plenty of land belonging to the Indians in Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas, and it is not unlikely that the experiment will be tried in the northwest. Advantage of such training, it is claimed, will develop a spirit of thrift in the Indian, and go a long way toward making him a self-supporting member of society.

Population by States.

Director of the Census Merriam says that the announcement of the population of cities is practically completed and no bulletin will be issued for a town under 25,000. The bureau, he said, would probably begin next week announcing the population of states. The first would be Arkansas and thereafter they will be issued in alphabetical order, beginning with Alabama. It is thought all the states will be given out before congress assembles. The returns from the several states will also show the population of cities under 25,000.

REPRESENTATIVE.

James Meehan, Jr., Nominated by the Democrats.

The Democratic legislative convention for the 61st legislative district, composed of the counties of Red Lake and Beltrami, was held at St. Hilaire Tuesday and nominated James Meehan, Jr., of this city, for representative. While the Democrats in this district are few in number, they are all actively supporting Mr. Meehan, as well as a number of personal friends in the Populist party.

Mailing a Magazine.

Eighteen men, aided by the fastest mailing appliances, are kept on a rush every month getting the Ladies' Home Journal off to its subscribers. The first shipments are started about the middle of each month, and from that time until the twenty-fifth the magazines pour out of the Journal's publishing office by the two-horse dray load. On the twenty-fifth of each month every Journal has reached its destination, and work in the mailing department slackens for a few days. Some idea of the tremendous size of the Journal's subscription list may be gained when it is known that forty tons of mailing type are required to set up the names of subscribers. There are three-quarters of a ton of each numeral, and it requires twenty thousand galleys to accommodate the subscribers' names in type. This stock would equip six or eight large daily newspapers. As many as sixty-five compositors are employed setting the names of the Journal's subscribers in type—printers enough to set the type for the biggest metropolitan daily newspaper. The expenses for postage paid by the Journal approximate $75,000 a year.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

It is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil A. Kaufer, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Lyke & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Johannes A. Sveum, H. E. 16,742, for the W½ NW¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Magnum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on October 8th, 1900, viz: Nels August Olson, H. E. 15,967, for the NE¼ SW¼, NW¼ SE¼ and W½ NE¼, Sec. 29, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
John Berg, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Magnum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Tom Olson Magnum, H. E. 16,447, for the SE¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Gunerius O. Sainas, H. E. 15,[illegible], for the E½ SW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 2, Tp. 151 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole P. Nygaard, of Norden, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Axel Larson, of New Solum, Minnesota.
Chris Loftass, of New Solum, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office, at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Ole P. Nygaard, H. E. 16,786, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 8, S½ NE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 17, Tp. 154, N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Gunerius O. Sainas, of New Solum, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Ole O. Nesin, of Norden, Minnesota.
Hans A. Myrum, of Norden, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 24, 1900, viz: Charles Hodik, H. E. 19,049, for the SE¼ SW¼ and Lots 6 and 7, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Breza, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Homolka, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 24, 1900, viz: Anton Homolka, H. E. 16,102, for the S½ NE¼ and Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Charles Hodik, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Breza, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Anton Anderson, H. E. 16,[illegible], for the Lots 3, 4 and 5, Sec. 6, Tp. 15[illegible], N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware, Minn.
Lars Bergman, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 12, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Walter Junkin, H. E. [illegible], for the S½ SE¼ Sec. 33, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and Lots 2 and 3, Sec. 4, Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Alva J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Eugene Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Anton O. Haugh, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 13, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Martin O. Anderson, H. E. 16,487, for the Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 30, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 25, Tp. 158 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.
Nils Sundberg, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 11, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Carolina Olson, H. E. 19,729, for the SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 34, Tp. 154, N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Peder O. Peterson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Torger T. Sullum, of Newfolden, Minn.
Isak W. Garfve, of Newfolden, Minn.
Aslak H. Langli, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 14th, 1900, viz: Even P. Enerstad, H. E. 19,177, for the NE¼ NE¼, Sec. 11, Tp. 153 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole A. Ronning, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Bernt Wold, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
L. M. Klos, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Henry Norland, of Thief River Falls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 6th, 1900, viz: Edward Bolton, H. E. 18,043, for the NE¼ NW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and NW¼ NE¼, Sec. 12, Tp. 157 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Julius Hanson, of Ingalls, Minn.
Alfred Mickelson, of Ingalls, Minn.
John Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.
George Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 21, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 13th, 1900, viz: Tina O. Howe, H. E. 17,043, for the Lot 7, Sec. 6, NE¼ NW¼ and Lot 1, Sec. 7 Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Hans Hagen, of Ware, Minn.
Hans Johnson, of Ware, Minn.
John Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Severin Haug, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 27th day of October, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼, Sec. 19, SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 21, SE¼ NW¼, Sec. [illegible], T. 156 N., R. 44 W.

Any and all parties claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated August 30, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.

Sept 6 6t

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3101, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.
Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year
J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn.
F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn.

RETAKE
OF PRECEDING
PAGE

law was enacted the total sum of $182,900.06 has been appropriated.

Agricultural experiment stations have been established at Crookston and Grand Rapids. The state agricultural society receives liberal annual appropriations from the state, and $14,000 is distributed annually for the encouragement of county fairs, where the products of the farm are exhibited and premiums given for the best specimens.

The Dairy Interests.

It is a well known fact that Minnesota is to-day one of the leading dairy states in the union. The report of the dairy and food commissioner to the legislature of 1899 gave the total number of creameries in the state on Oct. 1, 1898, as 664. That number has, no doubt, been greatly increased since that time. These creameries are found in nearly every county, and Minnesota creamery butter has taken first prizes in open competition with the world. The same report estimates that there were 100 cheese factories in the state, and that over 57,000 farmers are delivering or selling milk to these creameries and cheese factories. It is estimated that about 300,000 pounds of butter are made every working day of the year, which makes a total of nearly 100,000,000 pounds of butter annually. Figuring the value at 20 cents per pound, which is certainly low for the creamery butter of our state, it gives the value of the butter manufactured in our creameries in one year at the enormous sum of $20,000,000. This is entirely separate and distinct from the value of the products of the cheese factories.

By chapter 149, G. L. 1895, a state dairy and food commission was established, with an appropriation of $6,000 a year. The scope of the department has been increased by subsequent legislatures, and it now has $18,000 a year at its disposal. It is fair to assume that the phenominal growth of the dairy interests of our state and the enormous wealth that is annually produced is in a large measure due to the admirable laws passed for the protection of the products of the farm and the creameries from the spurious imitations that have been thrown upon the markets in the form of oleomargarine, butterine, etc. Our stringent laws against the sale of adulterated butter has made it almost an impossibility to find a market for it in our state. The value of the butter and cheese produced in Minnesota is second only to the value of the wheat crop.

Tree Bounties.

An illustration of the practical way in which Republican legislatures have helped the people of Minnesota is found in the aid that has been extended since 1871 in the form of a bounty for tree planting. In the prairie counties, where timber is only found growing naturally on the river bottoms, the value of a grove of trees is highly appreciated, both as fuel and as a wind break, while it adds much beauty to the country. The legislature of 1871 passed an act giving a bounty of $2 per acre and $2 for each half mile of trees planted along a highway; in 1873 the movement for tree planting was given a wider range by making a fixed annual appropriation of $20,000, which has been expended each year since that time, and under an amended law in 1881 the bounty was fixed at $3 per acre and $2 for each half mile of highway, and the number of years for which the bounty could be claimed was reduced from ten years to six years. During the twenty-nine years that this tree planting bounty has been paid the whole face of the country in some of the southwestern and northern prairie counties has been changed and beautified, and it is safe to estimate that from 40,000 to 50,000 acres of growing, thrifty trees owe their existence to this beneficial law.

The Republican Party Friendly to Labor.

The Republican party of Minnesota is now and always has been friendly disposed to the labor interests.

Here is a plank from the Minnesota Republican platform which squarely outlines the position of the party on the labor question: "In view of this record and the conditions now existing, brought about by Republican legislation, our party appeals with confidence to the laboring man and pledges itself anew to protect and encourage labor interests in all their legitimate ef and that it will use every effo secure the passage of legislation viding that on all public work thorized by the state eight hours be deemed and taken to be a working day."

At the behest of organized la bureau of labor was established in and the cause of labor has been gr benefited thereby. The first appro tion for the bureau was only $3,000, now $12,000 is appropriated annuall the maintenance of the departm and every workshop or factory of magnitude in the state is inspected ularly by a representative of bureau. Since its organization in $113,829.82 has been expended by department.

As far back as 1866 we find law the protection of employes in facto and workshops. Many measures hi beneficial to the workingman grace statute books. Chapter 9, Laws of protects labor unions in the us labels, devices and trade ma Thanks to the legislature of 1893, motormen and conductors on the st car lines are protected from the clemency of the weather. (See cha 63, Laws of 1893.) Chapter 130, Law 1895 provides for a board of arbitra and conciliation to adjust differe that might arise between employer employes. An act to prohibit the p tice of blacklisting and the coer and influencing of employes by employers (chapter 174, Laws of is certainly a just and merito measure. Chapter 173, Laws of defines the duties of masters and ployers and provides that they exercise due care and diligence in viding for the safety of their emplo The first Monday of September in year, designated as "Labor day made a legal holiday by statute might mention numerous other beneficial to the cause of labor, w have been placed upon our sta books by Republican legislatures. this state, as in the nation at la the Republican party has ever been true and steadfast friend of labor.

The Valued Policy Clause.

Until 1895 it could not be truth said that insurance against loss by or lightning insured. Unscrupu agents, for the sake of pecuniary in the shape of increased premi would place heavy insurance on erty without regard to the true of the same. The result was that when a loss was sustained the insurance company refused to pay the amount of the policy. In many cases, especially if the party who sustained the loss was poor and unable to indulge in the luxury of an expensive lawyer and court fees, a compromise would be effected and the company would pay from one-third to one-half of the amount of the policy.

The Republican legislature of 1895 enacted a law which requires and compels insurance companies doing business in this state to pay the full amount of the face of the policy if loss is total. (See section 25, chapter 175, Gen. Laws of 1895.)

Taxation of Mines and Mineral Lands.

Until 1895 the mining properties in the northeastern part of the state did not bear their just proportion of the burdens of taxation. When the mining of iron ore was in its infancy the legislature, in order to encourage the opening and development of the mines, provided for a tax of 1 cent per ton on the output in lieu of all other taxation. In 1897 the 1-cent per ton law was repealed and mines and mining property was assessed and taxed the same as all other classes of property, but prior to action by the legislature Attorney General Childs, in response to an inquiry by the state auditor, had held the 1-cent per ton tax to be unconstitutional. Prior to 1895 the highest tax paid in any one year under the 1-cent per ton law amounted to less than $20,000; this year the mining corporations will pay taxes amounting to over $230,000. Chapter 235, Laws of 1899, provides severe penalties for the removal of timber on mineral land before the current taxes are paid, and that law is being rigidly enforced. It seems to me as if our legislatures had taken every precaution to compel the mining and lumber corporations to pay their taxes.

Taxing Unused Railroad Lands.

The law for the taxation of unused railroad lands has placed upward of 1,000,000 acres of land upon the tax rolls. Presuming that these lands are assessed at $3 per acre, the average rate of 3 per cent would produce $30,000 in taxes annually. The validity of the law has been passed upon and sustained by our state supreme court, and in all human probability the supreme court of the United States will uphold the decision of our state courts. The enactment of the law taxing unused railroad lands is a sufficient answer to those of our political opponents who unblushingly assert that the Republican party of Minnesota is dominated by railroad influences.

Red River Valley Drainage.

The drainage of the low, wet lands of that great wheat producing district, the Red river valley, is one of the important works for which the farmers of that district have to thank the intelligent and self-denying labors of a Republican board of commissioners. This board, of which the Hon. Ezra G. Valentine of Breckenridge was president, consisted of three members who served without salaries and whose aggregate expenses during the whole of the nine years when the ditches were being constructed, only amounted to $1,555.41, or about $59 per year each. For this work the state appropriated $157,500 and the Great Northern railway donated 25,000, a total of $182,500. Eighteen ditches and four extensions of the same, 117.47 miles in length, were constructed in the counties of Kittson, Marshall, Polk, Norman, Clay, Wilkin and Traverse, draining in all about 2,000,000 acres of land. It is highly creditable to the board that 98 5-10 per cent of the $182,500 at their disposal was spent in actual work, 90 7-10 per cent being paid to the different contractors, and 7 8-10 per cent to the engineers. For securing the right of way 5-10 of 1 per cent of the appropriation was expended; for advertising for bids and for printing the percentage of cost was 2-10 of 1 per cent, and the expenses of the commissioners were 8-10 of 1 per cent. This is a splendid record and cannot fail to be highly gratifying to the taxpayers of the state. By this work it is estimated that 2,000,000 acres of the low lands of the Red river valley have been benefited, its value has been increased and the danger to the farm-and was to a great extent an inaccessible wilderness. The people of Minnesota needed railroads to aid in the development of the state and to furnish necessary transportation, and they were clamoring and eager for them. Every town, village or county was willing to offer a large bonus to secure a railroad, and many of them did issue bonds to the full amount permitted by law in order to secure the much-needed line.

Many who are here to-night will remember how the people of Mille Lacs county authorized such a bond issue in 1888 to secure a north and south railroad, and there are very few people in the county to-day who are dissatisfied with the bargain.

It is not surprising then that in the early days of the state large bonuses or grants of swamp lands were made to railroads to aid their construction. Since 1881 no new grants have been made, and by an amendment to the constitution, submitted to the people that year, further grants are prohibited.

During the past few years the land grant railroads have been held to a strict accounting, and every effort has been made to close the grants and to conserve for the benefit of the educational and charitable institutions of the state all the swamp lands remaining after the grants have been satisfied. Where it has been found that a railroad company had failed to comply with the terms of its grant, or had not earned the lands granted, the law has been invoked in defense of the state's interests.

That Large Surplus.

Gov. Lind says: "The only difficulty with our finances at the present time is the large surplus in the treasury," and he expresses regret that the legislature will not cut down the tax levy. In answer to this I will say that the legislature did cut down the tax levy to the lowest possible notch, and the surplus in the treasury is more apparent than real. The state treasurer's statement for the fiscal year ending July 31, does show that there was $2,109,337.52 in the state treasury, and his statement also shows that almost $1,000,000 of that amount belongs to the permanent and general school fund, and that $755,000 will be distributed among the school districts of the state next month will come right back to the people. But here are the figures that show to what funds the amount in the treasury belongs:

General revenue	$744,111.74
Soldiers' relief	64,840.82
Funding tax	58,602.10
Permanent school	237,245.66
General school	761,856.20
Permanent university	9,851.14
General university	85,609.09
Internal improvement	8,746.34
Internal improvement land	68,133.23
State institutions	99,607.19
Swamp land	19,858.79
Grain inspection	21,575.28

All of these funds, except the general revenue fund, are trust funds in the hands of the state treasurer, each fund held for a separate and distinct purpose; for instance, the permanent school and university funds are derived from the sale of school and university lands and must be permanently invested. This is a constitutional proviso.

True, there was $744,111.74 in the revenue fund on July 31, but in all probability that fund will be overdrawn on January first next. All the running expenses of the state government are paid out of the revenue fund. The heavy tax collections are all in by the first of August, and the revenue fund will not be replenished to any great extent until the railroad taxes commence to come in after Jan. 1. At the end of every calendar year there is a deficit in the revenue fund. Let me illustrate: On Aug. 1, 1897, there was $514,398.35 in the revenue fund, and on Dec. 31 of the same year it was overdrawn to the extent of $185,461.21; on Aug. 1, 1898, there was $543,660.29 in the revenue fund and on Dec. 31 of the same year it was overdrawn to the amount of $30,877.34; on Aug. 1, 1899, there was $687,027.52 in the revenue fund and on the following December it was overdrawn in the amount of $96,925.23.

The overdraft is provided for by sirable. The present system of irresponsible boards of managers for each institution is costly and unsatisfactory in many respects.

State Land Certificates.

I sincerely hope that the next legislature will pass a law reducing the rate of interest on state land certificates from 5 to 4 per cent. It would be a beneficial act in the interests of the state and nothing more than justice to the people of Northern Minnesota and to every certificate holder, nine-tenths of whom are actual farmers.

Conclusion.

In conclusion, let me say that I have endeavored to avoid wearying you with dry tabulations, but every statement I have made is based upon facts and figures, and can be easily proved by any citizen of ordinary intelligence. I have endeavored to show to you, without descending into personalities, that the Republican party during its long lease of power in this state has conducted affairs wisely and well and has been largely instrumental in building up this splendid commonwealth. The interests of the farmer and the workingman it has carefully guarded, and our magnificent public school system stands as a noble monument to its intelligent labors.

I have never been accused of bitter political partisanship, and I do not regard any man or any party as infallible; but I have no hesitation in asserting that there is not in the Union a better governed state than our beloved Minnesota, and that its history is simply the history of the Republican party of the state.

The New Star-Spangled Banner.

Oh, say, can you see, by the far Eastern light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, after many a fight,
In lands near and far, is so gallantly streaming?
And the thanks in our prayer, rising high in the air,
Give proof to the world that our flag is still there:
Oh, say, let the star-spangled banner be waved
O'er the lands we have freed and the people we've saved!

Oh, thus be it always, whenever we stand
Between the oppressed and a king's desolation!
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven-rescued land
Praise the power that hath made us a powerful nation!
And onward we must, for our cause is just:
And this be our motto, "In God is our trust;"
Let the star-spangled banner in triumph be waved
O'er the lands we have freed and the peoples we've saved!

—Martin Saxe, 258 Broadway, New York City, N. Y.

Democracy Halts at No Deception.

Capt. William H. Elliott, the representative of the department of the interior, has this to say about the repeated reports of "trouble" in Porto Rico:

"Let it be borne in mind that material for the wild and weird stories published by the Democratic press of the United States is furnished by Spaniards for the purpose of bringing the citizens of Porto Rico into disrepute, and with the hope, false and fallacious though it may prove, of weakening the efforts being put forth under the law of congress to organize an equitable civil government that will accord to every man, rich or poor, black or white, liberty and justice, and in lieu thereof, turn the island over as spoils to the rapaciously rich and brutally harsh Spanish taskmakers, as in the past."

Bryan Could Not Answer.

At the dedication of the cannon at Fort Wayne, Ind., to the memory of Gen. Henry W. Lawton William J. Bryan sat on the same platform with Gov. Mount and heard the Republican governor recite Lawton's famous speech before he was killed: "If I am shot by a Filipino bullet it might

BRYAN DODGES SILVER

HE IS CONTINUALLY ENDEAVORING TO BEFOG THE PEOPLE.

While He Is Equivocating Dick Croker Says That It Does Not Make Any Difference What Ratio Is Adopted.

It is not to be expected that the Populist candidate will stop dodging the silver question—and, perhaps, by the silver question we mean this time the very pointed inquiry which the New York Herald lately addressed to Mr. Bryan, whether, in case he were elected president, he would immediately began to pay the coin obligations of the government in silver alone. It is known to ten million voters that he declined to answer, and it is believed by every one of these that he will never answer.

How can he do so?

To say yes would be to shock and drive away perhaps thousands, perhaps tens of thousands, of Gold Democrats of the East. To say no would even more endanger the candidate's slim chances of being elected; for that would surely discourage and disgust hundreds of thousands of Populists. It is, therefore, to be expected that Mr. Bryan will continue to dodge—though, of course, there is nothing to prevent Mr. Jones and his Democratic and Populist committeemen from telling the Gold Democrats of the East that the candidate would never pay in silver; then telling the Populists of the West that that is exactly what he would do the first moment he got a chance.

Much has been said in the last few weeks to indicate that Mr. Bryan would surely pay in silver. His idea, expressed in a dozen well known speeches, was that God had better help the gold standard, for he never would. In fact, if he ever got after it, that would be the last of it.

There are two or three quotations from some of the four-year-old speeches of Mr. Bryan, however, which have not been lately quoted. In his speech at Madison Square Garden on Aug. 12, 1896, he contended that "the free and unlimited coinage by the United States alone would raise the bullion value of silver to its coinage value, and thus make silver bullion worth $1.29 per ounce in gold throughout the world." Presumably, no matter what the ratio is now or ever might be—and so profound an authority as Mr. Croker declares that it is no matter what the ratio is anyway—the parity of the two metals would be maintained. A baby in finance, or in common sense, knows that this could not be; and what is worse, there would be the devil to pay in finance and in the lives of all who owe anything, or have got anything owing to them, and that practically includes the whole population. Yet can it be doubted that Mr. Bryan would try this reckless experiment?

In this same Madison Square Garden speech the Populist candidate advocated the payment of government bonds in silver. He said:

"The right of the debtor to choose the coin in which payment shall be made extends to obligations from the government as well as to contracts between individuals."

And again in a Buffalo speech, delivered on the 27th of August, 1896, Mr. Bryan said:

"There is no way of taking the government out of the clutches of those who have been bleeding it, except for the government to resume its legal rights and use its silver or its gold wherever it pleases, whenever it has a dollar to pay."

It is not impertinent, indeed, it is wholly pertinent, for every voter in this country, or, in fact, for every person who has anything whatever at stake, to ask whether Mr. Bryan would or would not do what he intends. If he would, he cannot expect to secure the support of any decent and fair-

SUPPLEMENT TO
The News,
THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.
FRIDAY, SEPT. 28, 1900.

INCAPABLE OF SELF-GOVERNMENT.

Only a Few Designing Filipino Leaders Are Making the Mischief.

Dr. J. Sanger, formerly of San Francisco, but for the past six years a practicing physician in Manila, is now visiting Washington. He says:

"If Bryan is defeated at the polls in November the Filipino rebellion will crumble away like a house of cards. It is only kept alive by the hope that the Democrats will be successful in the November elections.

"The Filipinos are no more capable of self-government than the American Indians are capable of conducting the government of the United States. The Tagals are the only tribe that make any pretense to education, and only a very small portion of them can read and write. In point of numbers they are one of the weakest tribes in the Philippenes, and as they are hated by the other tribes there would be constant war should the Tagals attempt to govern the islands.

"The desire for self-government is confined to a few unscrupulous leaders, who would rob the country and then escape to live in luxury in Paris or some other European capital, while the powers of the old world gobbled up the islands. No one familiar with the Philippine islands has the faintest idea that a Filipino government is even remotely possible."

England Favors Bryan's Election.

One of the bogus issues raised in the present campaign by the Democratic party in order to play upon the prejudices of a class of American voters is the secret alliance bogey. Not a scintilla of evidence has ever been furnished upon which to base the declaration, yet it has been dwelt upon with the same persistence and demagogic iteration as the imperialistic fiction. As the imperialistic bogey is dwelt upon to mask the real issue, so the secret alliance cry is persisted in to deceive that class of voters it is hoped to influence through national prejudices.

The fact is, England desires the election of Bryan. Two great English journals, the London Spectator and the London Truth, have made no scruple to declare that it is for the interest of Great Britain and would be most gratifying to her if Bryan should be successful in the American presidential contest. Senator Depew of New York recently arrived from a visit to Europe, and upon being interviewed, declared that there was no doubt of a prevailing sentiment in England in favor of Bryan's election. Now, it would seem from these facts that if the detested "secret alliance" exists, Great Britain would be quite willing to forego all the benefits derived from it in exchange for the greater advantages that would accrue from the election of Mr. Bryan. But, as Senator Depew says, England's solicitude for Bryan's election is prompted by a selfish motive. It is none other than "commercialism," that thing which Democratic leaders affect so much to detest.

Exports of Agricultural Products.

There is a world of thought for farmers in the record of wheat and wheat flour for the past three years under the Republican administration as compared with what it was when the Democrats were in control. Good seasons brought the bountiful crops, of course, but good times, created by the protective tariff, advanced prices at home, increased the consumption and thus enabled the farmer to sell his surplus abroad for higher prices. The record of exports of wheat and flour in values is as follows:

	Four Years. Cleveland.	Three Years. McKinley.
Total value	$431,705,012	$533,304,418
Av'ge per year	107,926,253	177,760,139

It is apparent that the farmers are receiving $70,000,000 a year more for t and its product which are than when times were dull untry.

ank Deposits Belie Bryan.

licitude has been expressed ponents for the depositors in nks. They constantly pa e these depositors the ad f a gold standard, but these ll be in vain, because sav depositors know that under ndard there is increasing hat they will lose their cause of the inability of the ollect their assets; and they r know that, if the gold s to continue indefinitely, be compelled to withdraw ts in order to pay living ex yan's First Battle.

t was uttered savings bank ave grown enormously. In 394, under Democratic free ,477 depositors in savings $1,265,450,416 to their credit; number of depositors had ,254,516, and the money de $1,782,974,431.

nt" at Washington, D. C.

. Habercorn of Washington vocating Bryan's election on nt of the governed" issue. orn is worrying a great deal rrilla Tagals. He has not a campaign to the residents gton, who have no vote, to get along pretty well overned, but have nothing t the matter.

nt of the Governed.

Devil quoted Scripture for purpose, there has been no y to that made by Bryan's claration of Independence. avis led off in 1860, claiming t of the governed" forbade nent of the authority of the es in the South, and now, wofis, come Bryan, with a to the Philippines.

aska Land Values.

being loaned on land near ity, Neb., at 5 per cent on of more than $30 per acre. ago under Democratic pol me land was begging at $2.50 per acre. Good prosperity brought by the a sound financial policy

---

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33,
Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

Peterson & Curtis wish to announce that the new drug-store is open. Location is already known to the public.

W. S. Elliott, of St. Cloud, is in the city.

S. A. Swanson was in the city last week.

C. G. Rapp was up from St. Hilaire last week.

Six horses for sale. Inquire of James Meehan, Jr.

Dan Shaw came down from the Red lake last week.

Wm. Lennon came up from Crookston Monday.

W. C. Smiley was down to Red Lake Falls last week.

F. A. Grady was up from Red Lake Falls yesterday.

Jas. E. Morrisey, of Crookston, was in the city last week.

M. K. Wall went down to Wisconsin last week on business.

Go and see the new styles of outing hats at Mrs. Caldwell's.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

O. L. Dobner went to St. Paul the first of the week on business.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

For Sale—A good folding bed, nearly new, cheap. C. C. Jackson.

Coal stove for sale. In good condition. Inquire of Dr. Francis.

Geo. A. Ralph, of Crookston, was in the city the first of the week.

D. Linnehan, Democratic candidate for sheriff, was in the city last week.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Wanted—800 oak and cedar piles from 12 to 26 feet long. Carl Kretzschmar.

The saw mill was closed down Tuesday, owing to a break in one of the boilers.

John Patterson went down to St. Paul Monday with ten car loads of cattle.

H. W. Lee was down to Red Lake Falls last week looking after his political fences.

J. L. Johnson, the Populist candidate for judge of probate, was in the city last week.

Julius Pleth went down to Ada last Friday and returned Monday, accompanied by his wife.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

Mrs. J. G. Ballard, who had been visiting friends in Iowa, returned to this city last week.

L. G. Browning left Monday for Minneapolis and Anoka, where he will visit friends for a few days.

Practice shooting at Ole Peterson's shooting gallery, next to Odd Fellows' hall. Open day and night.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

Mrs. Henry Flanders and son, of Minneapolis, arrived in the city Tuesday and are visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Kratka. Mr. Flanders will arrive tomorrow.

Best qualities and latest styles in millinery at Mrs. Caldwell's.

Leo Kulklinska, who has been at Mt. Clements, Mich., in search of health, returned to this city Tuesday.

C. E. Garrison purchased two lots on the East Side last week and will build a residence upon the same.

The local Masons have sent to St. Paul for their charter and will institute a lodge here next Saturday evening.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

Matt Barzen made a trip to the Red lake the first of the week and transacted business with the Agency people.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Monday was the Jewish New Year, and the day was observed in Thief River Falls by the local Jews. It is the year 5661.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

Judge Knight was up from Red Lake Falls last week telling the boys that he would like to be judge of probate for two years more.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Miss B. M. Remmom, of Minneapolis, has opened her millinery store on La Bree avenue, and carries a full line of ladies' trimmed hats and children's wear.

Martin Moylan, accompanied by his mother and sister, arrived in the city Tuesday from Stevens Point, Wis., and are visiting friends and relatives here.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

J. S. Scribner, secretary of the Democratic campaign committee, was in this county last week passing around the hat endeavoring to secure enough money to elect M. J. Daly.

Mrs. A. Weiver and children, who had been in the city during the past four months visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Turville, returned to their home in Nielsville, Wis., Tuesday.

Peterson & Curtis have opened their new drug store. It is one of the neatest and most attractive stores in Thief River Falls, and will be sure to secure a fair share of business.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—Perfect as a beverage or medicine. It prevents chills and tones up the system. It exhilarates and does not poison. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

The Jennie Cunningham land case is again open for adjudication. Attorney Carpenter has succeeded in getting it reopened as to Mrs. Cunningham's right to lot 5, of her original homestead entry No. 2, made on May 15, 1896, and which tract was awarded to Grant R. Lee by the secretary of the interior. A hearing is ordered, and the case will be tried Nov. 13.

St. Mary's Catholic church at Red Lake Falls proposes to test in advance the popularity of the legislative candidates in the district to which Red Lake county belongs and has inaugurated a voting contest at one cent per vote, the church to get the benefit. Charles Rapp starts off in the lead with 500, James Meehan, Jr., has 450 Democratic votes and S. A. Swanson, the Populist, opens up with 270.

Herman Gruel came down from the Red lake on the Ethel yesterday.

A Chinaman from Grand Forks is in the city, and has rented the Swen Johnson building on Main street and will open up a laundry.

The Crookston College will open its fall term September 10. Board and room furnished and taken care of in private family or hotel for $2.50 to $3 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

L. Jensen, Republican candidate for county treasurer, was in the city from Red Lake Falls last week. Mr. Jensen is making an active campaign for the office, is an old resident of the county and perfectly competent to perform the duties of the office he aspires to fill.

People who get their mail at Red Lake Agency will petition to have the route changed from Bemidji to Solway. They claim the route is shorter, and when it goes the other way it misses connection, turns up in anybody's old bonds and sometimes doesn't turn up at all.

Judge Watts has been called upon to pass upon a case that grew out of the building of the Northern Pacific railroad through Red Lake Falls a dozen years ago. The promoter of that scheme persuaded some of the townships in that portion of the county to vote bonds in aid of the project, and among them was the township of Gervais, that has not, up to date, paid its bond. The supervisors of that town now bring suit asking that County Auditor Zeh be restrained from levying a tax or paying any more interest upon the bonds. Judge Watts has granted the attorney for the bond holders until Oct. 6, to file a complaint in intervention.

The outlook for the farmers in this section, owing to the numerous rains this fall, is not bright. Wheat that has not been stacked in many instances is entirely rained, and even that which is in the stack is damaged to a considerable extent. With two-thirds of a crop, the farmers are paying $20,000 per year more for the inspection of their grain than they paid when there was a full crop. Of course the "reformers" say that the buyer pays the inspection fee, but the farmer knows that, in the long run, it comes out of him, and he is not disposed to pay large salaries to lazy loafers, even though they be appointed by a "reform" governor or chief inspector.

The Indian department is considering a new scheme for the education of the Indians. It is to give each Indian boy a plot of ground, allow him to cultivate it and give him the proceeds arising from the sale of the articles grown. It is said this scheme was tried in Colorado last year, and the results were so good that the effort will be made to introduce it wherever it is practical. On some reservations it is impossible to give each student a specific amount of ground, because the school farms are too small. However, it is said there is plenty of land belonging to the Indians in Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas, and it is not unlikely that the experiment will be tried in the northwest. Advantage of such training, it is claimed, will develop a spirit of thrift in the Indian, and go a long way toward making him a self-supporting member of society.

Population by States.

Director of the Census Merriam says that the announcement of the population of cities is practically completed and no bulletin will be issued for a town under 25,000. The bureau, he said, would probably begin next week announcing the population of states. The first would be Arkansas and thereafter they will be issued in alphabetical order, beginning with Alabama. It is thought all the states will be given out before congress assembles. The returns from the several states will also show the population of cities under 25,000.

REPRESENTATIVE.

James Meehan, Jr., Nominated by the Democrats.

The Democratic legislative convention for the 61st legislative district, composed of the counties of Red Lake and Beltrami, was held at St. Hilaire Tuesday and nominated James Meehan, Jr., of this city, for representative. While the Democrats in this district are few in number, they are all actively supporting Mr. Meehan, as well as a number of personal friends in the Populist party.

Mailing a Magazine.

Eighteen men, aided by the fastest mailing appliances, are kept on a rush every month getting the Ladies' Home Journal off to its subscribers. The first shipments are started about the middle of each month, and from that time until the twenty-fifth the magazines pour out of the Journal's publishing office by the two-horse dray load. On the twenty-fifth of each month every Journal has reached its destination, and work in the mailing department slackens for a few days. Some idea of the tremendous size of the Journal's subscription list may be gained when it is known that forty tons of mailing type are required to set up the names of subscribers. There are three-quarters of a ton of each numeral, and it requires twenty thousand galleys to accommodate the subscribers' names in type. This stock would equip six or eight large daily newspapers. As many as sixty-five compositors are employed setting the names of the Journal's subscribers in type—printers enough to set the type for the biggest metropolitan daily newspaper. The expenses for postage paid by the Journal approximate $75,000 a year.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil A. Kaufer, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Lyke & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
John W Eastman, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Johannes A. Sveum, H. E. 16,742, for the W½ NW¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Mannum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, August 20, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on October 8th, 1900, viz: Nels August Olson, H. E. 15,967, for the NE¼ SW¼, NW¼ SE¼ and W½ NE¼, Sec. 29, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
John Berg, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Mannum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Tom Olson Mannum, H. E. 16,447, for the SE¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Gunerius O. Sainas, H. E. [illegible], for the E½ SW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 2, Tp. 151 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole P. Nygaard, of Norden, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Axel Larson, of New Solum, Minnesota.
Chris Loftuss, of New Solum, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office, at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Ole P. Nygaard, H. E. 16,780, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 8, S½ NE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 17, Tp. 151, N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Gunerius O. Sainas, of New Solum, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Ole O. Nesis, of Norden, Minnesota.
Hans A. Myrum, of Norden, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 21, 1900, viz: Charles Hodik, H. E. 10,068, for the SE¼ SW¼ and Lots 6 and 7, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Breza, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Homolka, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 21, 1900, viz: Anton Homolka, H. E. [illegible], for the S½ NE¼ and Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Charles Hodik, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Breza, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Anton Anderson, H. E. [illegible], for the Lots 3, 4 and 5, Sec. 6, Tp. [illegible] N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware, Minn.
Lars Bergman, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 12, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Walter Junkin, H. E. [illegible], for the S½ SE¼, Sec. 33, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and Lots 2 and 3, Sec. 4, Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Alva J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Eugene Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Anton O. Haugh, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Martin O. Anderson, H. E. 10,487, for the Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 30, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 25, Tp. 158 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.
Nils Sundberg, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 17, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Carolina Olson, H. E. 10,529, for the SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 34, Tp. 154 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Peder O. Peterson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Turger T. Sollum, of Newfolden, Minn.
Isak W. Garfve, of Newfolden, Minn.
Aslak H. Langli, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 14th, 1900, viz: Even P. Enestad, H. E. 19,177, for the NE¼ NE¼, Sec. 11, Tp. 153 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole A. Ronning, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Bernt Wold, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
L. M. Kos, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Henry Norland, of Thief River Falls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 6th, 1900, viz: Edward Bolton, H. E. 16,043, for the S½ NW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and NW¼ NE¼, Sec. 12, Tp. 157 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Julius Haugen, of Ingalls, Minn.
Alfred Mickelson, of Ingalls, Minn.
John Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.
George Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 21, 1900. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 13th, 1900, viz: Tina O. Howe, H. E. 17,043, for the Lot 7, Sec. 6, NE¼ NW¼ and Lot 1, Sec. 7, Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Hans Hagen, of Ware, Minn.
Hans Johnson, of Ware, Minn.
John Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Severin Haug, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minn.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of February 26, 1895, (28 Stat. 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 27th day of October, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼, Sec. 19, SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 31, SE¼ NW¼, Sec. 32, T. 156 N., R. 44 W.

Any and all parties claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated August 30, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
Sept 6 6t

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3101, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year

J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn

F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

La Bree Avenue. Thief River Falls.

TIME AND SPACE

are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 23½x16 inches in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of Europe on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of THE CHICAGO RECORD covers the entire civilized world. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,

—PROPRIETOR OF—

The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

Just talk to R. B. Vining at Thief River Falls.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches, Clocks, Jewelry and Guns.

Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars—Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.

Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv. Crookston	Ar.	6:30 p m
9:25 a m	" Shirley	"	6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	" Ives	"	*5:30 p m
10:21 a m	" Wylie	"	*4:55 p m
11:30 a m	" St Hilaire	Lv.	4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar. Thief River F	"	1:10 p m
1:30 p m	Lv. St Hilaire	"	4:30 p m
3:35 p m	Ar. Red Lake F	"	3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

F. M. Miller,
G. N. Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

PORTER & PAULSON,

-- Proprietors of --

CITY DRAY

-- and --

TRANSFER LINE.

Great Northern Express Handled.

Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

Henry Francis,

M. D., C. M.

Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Wesley Evins, City Dray Line.

All work in my line promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me an order and be convinced.

Wesley Evins,
Thief River Falls, Minn

LONDON WAKING UP.

First Rapid Transit Underground Electric Road Is Opened.

Is a Revelation to the Public, Who Have Heretofore Been Content with the Lumbersome, Slow Omnibus Lines.

Londoners are reveling in their first experience with modern rapid transit as furnished by the new Central London electric underground system, "the two-penny tube," as some of the papers call it. Eighty thousand persons have daily learned for the first time that it is no longer necessary to waste two hours on an omnibus in order to reside five or six miles from their place of business. "England never seems to have recovered from the primitive idea," said an American electrical engineer, "that a railroad train is not a stage-coach. Their methods in regard to rolling-stock construction have never, till within the past few months, departed one iota from those in vogue when stages were the only means of transportation. Pullman cars are in use, or at least an English edition of the Pullman, on many roads; but until recently an electric-lighted and electric-propelled corridor train, running through porcelain-lined stations, was as great an innovation to the London public as Aladdin's lamp was to the Arabians."

Mr. Albert L. Johnson, of New York, who has built electric railroads all over the United States, said before leaving London for America a few days ago: "I see no reason why electric railways should not be as popular in London as in New York and Chicago. It is evident that many of them must be underground; but when I see blockades in the streets an hour after the theaters have closed it seems a shame that these crowds should not be relieved. The modern electric car can go anywhere in London that a 'bus can. I will guarantee that American constructors could deliver these great crowds to their distant homes by electric railway hours before they are able to reach them now. Patrons of the London Central have discovered that omnibuses which formerly were packed to their capacity are running now, empty. Moreover, house rents at the termini of the lines are increasing and the public are riding in cars well-lighted and well-ventilated for the first time in history."

VANDERBILT'S COSTLY MISHAP

Accidentally Allows a Valuable Pearl to Slip Down His Throat—Pays Jeweler's Price and Departs.

Unlike the beauty of antiquity who dissolved pearls and quaffed them from her bejeweled cup, William K. Vanderbilt takes his pearls raw and pays for them on the spot.

Mr. Vanderbilt was examining some unmounted precious stones put before him by a Dutch jeweler's agent at Paris, who expected a large order, and placed a pearl between his teeth to test its hardness. Mr. Vanderbilt opened his mouth too suddenly after the test, and the pearl flew down his throat.

Mr. Vanderbilt was the first to recover, and he revived the other by his words: "How much?" The price was mentioned, and Mr. Vanderbilt, with one hand over the center of his waistcoat and the other engaged in counting bills, closed the incident as far as the jeweler was concerned.

Mr. Vanderbilt was seen later at the Hotel Ritz, seemingly no worse off for his suddenly acquired riches. He was asked for further details, but declined to give them.

BAN ON MEN'S SHIRT WAISTS.

Secretary Long Orders Exclusion of Coatless Men from Department Elevators.

Secretary Long has officially frowned on the male shirt-waist idea which has taken something of a hold in Washington. In the navy department, at least, he has nipped in the bud the growing sentiment in favor of giving men the same rights as the women in the matter of hot-weather clothing.

The other morning a natty department clerk of the male sex properly and neatly attired in all respects but for the absence of his coat stepped into one of the navy department elevators and said: "Third floor, please." But the car did not move, and the conductor politely but firmly told the young man that it was the secretary's orders that no one should be allowed to ride in the elevators with his coat off.

Electric Inspection Thorough.

"The city of Chicago has the best electrical inspection department in the country," said City Electrician Ellicott the other day. Mr. Ellicott bases his belief on the semiannual report of electrical inspection made to him by Chief Inspector H. H. Hornsby. The number of inspections made during the last six months breaks all records of the department, 9,054 having been made in that time. In addition to this large number there are 475 examinations now in progress by the department. There were 2,791 defective pieces of electrical work found by the men which probably saved thousands of dollars in the prevention of fires from those causes. A written report to Chief Inspector Hornsby was made in each case. The receipts of the six months amounted to $13,352.31, while the expenditures were $9,009.12.

Quick Transit of Letters.

Letters dropped into a box in Paris are delivered in Berlin within 1½ hours, and sometimes within 35 minutes. They are whisked through tubes by pneumatic power.

CONSUMPTION CURED

Successful Application of Tesla's "Electrical Oscillation."

Cases in Which Patients Given Up to Die Have Been Given a New Lease of Life—The Germs Killed.

The most serious cases of consumption can be positively cured by "electrical oscillation," a new principle evolved by Nikola Tesla, is the positive declaration of Dr. Craft C. Carroll, of New York city. To bear out his statement Dr. Carroll has some remarkable results to show. He has just had an interesting clinic in his office and had several patients present who had been treated by the new method. One is a physician, Dr. E. P. Iliff, himself a specialist in lung diseases, of Newark, N. J.

Three weeks ago, it is claimed, he was dying of tuberculosis. To-day he is attending to his practice. Another is Rev. S. W. Switzer, pastor of the Baptist tabernacle, in Harrison, N. J. He, too, it is said, has been cured of acute tuberculosis. Dr. Iliff contracted the disease from a patient a year ago.

"I was removed to Dr. Carroll's office in New York ten days ago," Dr. Iliff said. "My brother physicians protested against my being removed. They said there was not the slightest chance of recovery. They even predicted the hour I was to die. I took my third oscillation treatment the other day. I am now attending to my practice again in Newark and am on the road to speedy recovery."

Rev. S. W. Switzer contracted acute tuberculosis four years ago. When he removed to Dr. Carroll's house the physician of Newark and Harrison told him he had six weeks to live. He was back, he says, attending to his pastoral duties in less than three weeks, and declared that he had completely recovered.

The electricity is applied through electrodes from an apparatus which Tesla spent two years in perfecting. By means of the "oscillator" a current of 2,000 and 3,000 volts is sent through the affected parts. The "oscillator" renders powerful currents harmless to life, but they kill the germs. The tubercular matter is then eliminated through the liver, kidneys and the general glandular system and recovery follows.

"All life," Dr. Carroll says, "is a force manifestation in which electricity plays a part. Life force, spirit force and electrical force I believe to be one and the same force. Disease or unhealth is only a difference of potentials that are required to be brought into a state of equilibrium in order to have a state of health.

"The reason why this high oscillation does not take life is because the wave motions of the machine are in synchronous harmony with the life force in the body."

OBJECTS TO BAREHEAD WOMEN

Minister Says They Dishonor Themselves Attending Church Uncovered.

Rev. W. W. Holley, of Christ Episcopal church, Hackensack, N. J., surprised his congregation the other morning by taking a decided stand against women appearing at church services without appropriate head covering. The doctor remarked upon the prevailing fad of young men and women appearing in public bareheaded, and said this was a matter for their own judgment, but when they came to church he believed the women should cover their heads. This, he said, was in accord with St. Paul, who, in Corinthians, I., xi., 5-6, says:

"Every woman that prayeth or prophesieth with her head uncovered dishonoreth her head, for that is even all one as if she was shaven. For, if the woman be not covered, let her also be shorn or shaven; but if it be a shame for a woman to be shorn or shaven, let her be covered."

Dr. Holley said he did not wish to see the women dishonor themselves, as implied by the great apostle.

NEW MARRIAGE LAW IN CUBA.

By a Late Order the Civil or Ecclesiastical Ceremony Will Be Recognized.

The new ecclesiastical marriage law, revoking the decree issued in May of last year by Gen. Brooke, has gone into effect. The Brooke edict prohibited ecclesiastical marriages, recognizing only the civil ceremony. After much consideration and taking into account the best opinion of ecclesiastical and political functionaries at Havana, Gov. Gen. Wood directs that the ecclesiastical ceremony be recognized as on a basis of legality like that upon which it rests in the United States.

From now on, therefore, persons wishing to marry may go through the ecclesiastical or civil ceremony or both, at their option. The decision restores to the church the privileges it enjoyed prior to the American occupation.

Richest American Universities.

The four having the greatest amount of productive funds are Girard, $15,533,343; Harvard, $11,766,371; Columbia, $9,500,000, and Cornell, $6,467,482. The four whose incomes are largest are Girard, $1,411,289; Harvard, $1,224,740; University of Chicago, $1,082,145, and Yale, $800,000. Almost all colleges are poor in the sense that they have great need of money. Illustration of this is the fact that President Eliot has been styled the "king of beggars" from his success in securing benefactions for Harvard.

HOTEL OGAHMAH.

C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,

John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done. Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

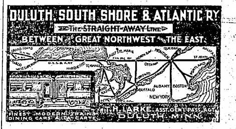
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfoldon, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.



The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST"

With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD

The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS

and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS

PRINTS THE NEWS

12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE NEWS.

ALL THE NEWS ALL THE TIME.

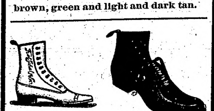
THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 39. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

CLOTHING! CLOTHING!! CLOTHING!!!

I have just received from Chicago a large assortment of ladies' winter jackets, which I will sell at ridiculously low prices.

This lot contains the finest grades of English Kersey, Beaver, Melton, Astrakan and Boncle, and comes in black, blue, brown, green and light and dark tan.



I am now prepared to show the fioest line in the city of Clothing, Shoes, Underwear, Hats and Gents' Furnishings.

H. Lewin, RED STAR CLOTHING HOUSE. Proprietor.

C. L. Dobner, President. H. G. Dobner, Cashier. L. Ellington, Vice-President

FIRST STATE BANK

OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:

A. G. Gallach, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. Ellington, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. Hendricksen, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. Dobner, President.
H. G. Dobner, Cashier

The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST"

With the SPECIAL CABLES OF THE NEW YORK HERALD

The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS

and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS

PRINTS THE NEWS

12 to 24 hours ahead of any Northwestern paper.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Our entire stock of General Merchandise, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, must be closed out within the next thirty days.

We offer everything at or below cost. Nothing reserved from this sale. Seven thousand dollars worth of choice merchandise must be sacrificed. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs. It will pay you to take advantage of it.

TERMS CASH. Positively no goods charged.

Building for sale or rent.

Fixtures for sale.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

DR. JOHNSON QUITS.

THE FAMOUS KANDIYOHI POPULIST GETS ENOUGH OF FUSION.

REDEEMS HIS PLEDGE OF 1896.

Says McKinley and Prosperity Suits Him and Democratic Hypocrisy Disgusts Him.

Dr. Christian Johnson of Willmar, who was one of the brainiest and most enthusiastic supporters of Bryan in the Seventh district four years ago, has seen the error of his ways and returned to his first love, the Republican party. He had about six years' experience as a Populist, and while he considers these years wasted, in a political sense, he values the experience as an eye-opener. He learned to his satisfaction that Bryanism is a hollow delusion; that Lind is a designing politician, who obtained his election by false pretences; that Rosing turns the machine which grinds Democrats and Populists into Democratic sausage, and that Ringdahl and Bowler are 99 per cent Democrats but wear the garb of Populism in order to round up the Populist herd and drive them into Rosing's fold.

Dr. Johnson has practiced medicine in Kandiyohi and adjoining counties some sixteen years, and thus has an extensive acquaintance with people and conditions in that vicinity. In 1894 the silver idea, as advocated by Bryan, was wafted through the air in the form of disease germs, and many of them found lodgement in Kandiyohi county. Dr. Johnson and a few others thought they saw relief from the panicky conditions of that time in the measures championed by Bryan, and they founded the People's party of Kandiyohi. The doctor is an aggressive, courageous, fiery fellow, and his first step was to start a Populist paper, the Tribune. All who read that paper during his supervision will never forget the sultry effusions of its intrepid author. The doctor-editor was nominated for the legislature and he advocated the election of Bryan, Lind and himself in a way that was both original and effective, he being defeated by only twenty-nine votes by Henry Feig. He accepted defeat philosophically, and with characteristic candor and honesty promised himself that if McKinley's administration brought the prosperity that his followers had predicted he would acknowledge that Bryanism was a nightmare and would join the ranks of McKinley's supporters. That promise to himself was redeemed so far as the president was concerned. He remained an active Populist, however, and in 1898 not only supported Lind with all the enthusiasm of his nature, but came within a few votes of being nominated for congress by the Populists, and then made another unsuccessful race for the legislature.

His present position and his reasons for assuming it are given in his own words. His logic is commended to every Populist:

"Yes, sir, I guess I am a Republican this year, and am apt to be for some time to come. I was originally a Republican and worked and voted for Harrison in 1892. But unfortunately Cleveland was elected president, and with him came the panic that struck us all amidships soon after his inauguration.

"At first the ordinary people were dazed and dumbfounded by the panic, but by and by we found out that we were beggared, that lands, houses and goods, beyond what was needed for immediate personal use, were utterly worthless, or worse, a burden of taxes and expense. The well-to-do were bankrupt and the poor trampled and starved. The promised relief from the repeal of the Sherman law did not materialize, and a good many of us concluded that both political parties had either lost their reason or had conspired to destroy civilization on this continent.

"With this condition of public sentiment Populism hove into view and opened the only plausible avenue of relief. Thousands and thousands of the common people joined its ranks, and I with them. Not that I and others subscribed to the ultra radical tenets of the party, but we believed that the movement furnished the nucleus of a new political party that would in time be able to satisfactorily solve the mighty social questions that then confronted the nation. And let me say right here that if the People's party had had leaders made of the right stuff—statesmen instead of officeseekers at the helm—it would to-day have been the second party in the nation and still have had a mission to perform.

"Now I am no milk-and-water sort of a man. If the new party would succeed work must be done, and I was in it for all I was worth.

"In Kandiyohi county we fought the campaign of 1894 at a swinging gait. We had no newspaper, but I led, and political friends stood by me, and the Willmar Tribune was established. It was a virile, spirited Populist paper, and was a success from the start.

"The campaign of 1896, with Bryan at the head of the ticket, came on and I fought it with all the power at my command. The issue in 1896 was the restoration of prosperity. At that time our financial condition, individually and as a nation, was all out of order. Our financial structure, so to speak, was dilapidated, the windows out, the shingles off, and we were at the mercy of every squall or gust of wind let loose from the gambling money centers of the world. Two remedies were proposed:

"First—Tear out the old dilapidated money system, root and branch, and establish an entirely new structure on a new plan—the free coinage of both money metals at a ratio of 16 to 1.

"Second—Restore the Republican party to power and let it try to fix up the old shack, as its leaders claimed they could.

"The majority of voters decided in favor of the latter, and I said in an editorial in the Willmar Tribune just after the election—in 1896—that if the Republican party should succeed in doing what it had promised and would restore prosperity then, and in that case, I would vote the Republican ticket in 1900.

"Now candor compels me to admit that prosperity has been restored to a degree that is fair, reasonable and, to me, satisfactory. I see men getting better wages than they had before for thirty years. I see the land values of 1891 restored, and more than restored, so that if the farmer cannot make his farm pay interest on the investment he can dispose of it for a good price and turn to something else. I see plenty of money at a lower rate of interest than it has ever been before in Kandiyohi county. I see industry, contentment and progress on every hand. And for one I am not critical as to how this renewed prosperity was brought about. I am quite satisfied that it has returned, apparently to stay.

"So I feel it my duty as a citizen to vote to continue present conditions; and, so far as I can see, I can only do so by voting the Republican ticket.

"All this talk about militarism and imperialism cuts no ice with me. This bogy of imperialism is too far-fetched to be seriously considered. And if we have to-day some more taxes, war taxes, if you like, what do we common people care so long as we can do business and out of the earnings pay the taxes and still have a fair prosperity margin left?

"We have got the Philippines, and we will keep them; and I believe the American people will do justice to them in any event. But I believe it is poor policy to change administrations at this critical point when we are just in the process of settlement of the question. But even if I did not approve of everything that the administration has done, I should still feel it my duty to stand by it through such a crisis as this Philippine muddle. It is very easy to sit on an empty barrel at the corner grocery and howl about 'Emperor McKinley' and all that sort of thing. It is very easy for the Demopop spell-binders to get up on the platform and solve the whole Philippine question by a wave of the hand and a hurrah for Bryan. But it is quite another thing to solve it in actual reality. For my part I am willing to trust that to McKinley and Mark Hanna, rather than to Bryan, Boss Croker and Arkansaw Jones.

"Why, if W. J. Bryan were elected president he would be tied hand and foot on one side to Boss Croker, the Tammany plutocrat and trust magnate, and on the other to Arkansaw Jones, the Southern aristocrat. And the trio would walk boldly over, not only the rights and liberties of both black and white on this continent, but would most likely deed the Philippines to the amalgamated ice trust of Croker, Aguinaldo & Co.

"What do I think about John Lind? Well, I am free to say that I cannot approve of the political methods of John Lind as I have seen them developed during the last four years, though I confess that I have entertained the greatest respect for his intellectuality and apparent earnestness. In 1896 I hailed with delight his advent into so-called independent politics. But as the real spirit of Populism was overridden and taken control of by a certain class of Democratic politicians, and as from time to time it became evident that John Lind was hand in hand with them, simply and solely, as I now believe, to build up a Democratic political machine in this state, I of course lost my faith in his political program, whatever respect I may still entertain for him personally. Let me explain:

"In 1896 the People's party of Minnesota stood, at the beginning of the campaign, as the second party in the state. Our party organization then represented a vast amount of brain and brawn and money and potent energy that had been freely and enthusiastically contributed by individual and united efforts of Populists all over the state. Men who work up such a party as the People's party was in 1896 form a sort of comradeship, united and cemented by fraternal ties. Our party organization extended to every county and election precinct in the state, and had already given hundreds of county offices to men within our ranks.

"In 1894 the People's party had fought in deadly combat with the Democratic party for second place among the political parties in the state and come out victorious. At the beginning of the campaign of 1896 the odds were all in our favor. It was a moral certainty that if the People's party were let alone in this state during another campaign it would practically assume the rank of second party for good. And this was the case in other Western and Northwestern states.

"To save themselves and their party from extinction by Populism the Democratic leaders got up the scheme of fusion. They pretended to reform their party to suit the Populists, brought out Bryan, the Demo-Pop, to serve as a bait, and secured the co-operation of certain leading Populists in chopping up the People's party into mincemeat to be fed into the lean carcass of the Democratic donkey. In this state, however, there were serious difficulties to overcome in getting the Populist meat into the belly of the donkey, because a large majority of the Populists had formerly been life-long Republicans and still retained their prejudices against the Democratic party.

"In this dilemma the Democratic leaders got up the brilliant idea of a free silver Republican party, a sort of political mongrel, a triple cross between the cattle, elephant and donkey species, to act as a medium through which the Populists of Republican antecedents might be led into the Democratic fold. Charles A. Towne of Duluth and John Lind of New Ulm were selected as star performers in the comedy in Minnesota. What followed is history and need not be repeated here.

"Now, I do not really blame the Democratic politicians for fighting, by fair means or foul, their rival, the People's party. Self-preservation is the first law of nature. But I do think that John Lind did not do the fair thing when he consented to allow his popularity and influence to be used against the People's party and in favor of the Democratic party. Without the People's party organization John Lind could never have been made governor of Minnesota, and yet no sooner was he elected than he began pulling every string in his grasp to build up the Democratic party at the expense of the People's party.

"Reviewing the movements of the fusionists during the last four years, and especially in the light of recent events, I am satisfied that John Lind was a genuine Democrat as early as 1896, but that, like Towne, he has in turn been playing silver Republican and 'orphan' at easy stages, in order to be able to conduct the wild and refractory Pops over the rough and rugged road from Populism to Democracy.

"For instance, at the Populists' state convention in Minneapolis in 1896 some leading Populists desired to see Mr. Lind face to face and ask him some plain questions as to his relation to the two parties—the Democratic and Populist—in case he should be elected. He was in Minneapolis, but he could not be located by the Populists in question, although the fusion leaders had him where they could put their fingers on him at any time. After his nomination he was brought in the room to make his little speech to the convention, and after it was made he vanished as suddenly as he appeared. Now, John Lind, I have every reason to believe, knew of this desire on the part of many prominent Populists to see him for the purpose indicated and he purposely and studiously evaded them. I then got the impression, as did many leading Populists, that John Lind and the fusion leaders regarded us as a lot of greenhorns who could be handled like so many cattle, simply by bell-gingling, yelling and whip-cracking, and the whole fusion program has since abundantly confirmed this view. Yet our regard for 'honest John' Lind was such that we, to some extent, excused him, and when he came out as the 'Political Orphan,' a phrase selected by himself as the proper term to define his political affiliations, we determined to give him our support and went out and solicited votes for him among the Republicans on the 'orphan' basis. I say it deliberately, for I know what I am talking about, that thousands of Populists and Republicans voted for him for governor in 1898 in the belief that he was strictly an independent and non-partisan candidate. And I believe that this vote elected him.

"Now, according to my notion of consistency and political ethics, John Lind should have remained a 'political orphan' during his term of office; otherwise he lays himself open to the charge of having obtained his election by false pretences.

"Could not John Lind have found some other suitable person to serve as his private secretary and political manager than the state chairman of the Democratic party? Was it necessary to choose a man who had made himself especially obnoxious by offensive partisanship in his dealings with Populists? Was there no alternative but to choose a man whose conspicuous ambition it had been for four years past to cripple and destroy the People's party that his own might profit thereby? This man Rosing has now so nearly succeeded, by the aid of Gov. Lind, in annihilating the People's party that the remnant of the latter is only the tail end of the donkey, and thus but a laughing stock or a joke.

"Now, this Lind-Towne, end-justifying-the-means program may be good Democratic politics, for all I know, but to my notion of political methods, acquired in the Republican and the People's parties, it is disreputable. If real and valuable reform in governmental affairs can come into existence by this road then all the political history of the past is a lie.

"Am I sore at John Lind because he has been the chief agent in wiping out the People's party? Well, yes; haven't I good cause to be? Suppose the People's party had succeeded in undermining the Democratic party in this state by similar methods, don't you think Rosing and the O'Briens would have been saying about us just what I am now saying about them? Don't you think they would have been employing all their ponderous ingenuity to get even with us?

"But we Pops are simply voting cattle! We must kiss the hand that smites us! Yes, let those who are content to live on crumbs from their victors' tables take them and be happy. I am not built that way. I stand on my dignity in politics as in other matters. I will never degrade myself by voting for a man who has taken an undue advantage of my generosity. I have only one vote, but John Lind cannot have it this year. I will not vote to perpetuate a Rosing political machine in Minnesota."

Wesley Evins, City Dray Line.

All work in my line promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me an order and be convinced.

Wesley Evins,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Subscribe for the News.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, OCT. 4, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President.
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

WHY should any man who is more prosperous today than he was four years ago vote against the administration that has made him prosperous?

"FOUR years ago," remarked one of the old line Republicans to the NEWS, "a Republican would not hardly dare to open his mouth in Thief River Falls, but it is different this year."

WHAT interests in common have the honest Populists of the Red River Valley and Dick Crocker, the New York political boss? And why should they support the same candidate for president?

IT IS extremely gratifying to note the enthusiasm with which the Republican county ticket is being supported by the people this year. With the vote of the fusion forces divided, there is no reason why the Republicans cannot elect their full ticket.

THE Fertile Journal very truly says that "the most unpardonable nonsense that any man ever indulged in is to say that he will vote the Democratic ticket, on account of the trusts. What great evil did the Democratic party ever remedy? The abolition of slavery, the reconstruction of the country after the rebellion, the resumption of special payments, the liberation of the Cubans and the conquest of Spain were achievements of the Republican party, and it is competent and willing to deal with the trust question."

BRYAN AND CROKER.

It has been asserted that one of the conditions of the alliance between Mr. Bryan and Mr. Croker is that if the former is elected the latter shall have the naming of a member of the cabinet. Mr. Bryan's rejoinder is that he has given to no one, either verbally or in writing, a promise of a cabinet position or of any other position, and does not intend to make any such promise during the campaign. He has not, he says, authorized anybody to make promises of offices for him, and does not mean to do so. He says that, if elected, he will be absolutely free to discharge all the duties of the presidential office according to his own judgment in matters not covered by the platform of the party.

When Mr. Bryan says he has promised no cabinet position or any other position to anybody, he no doubt tells the truth. It may be taken for granted that he has not told Mr. Croker that some man, whom the latter may select, shall be given a place in the cabinet, or shall be appointed collector of customs at New York, or shall be given some other specific office. It has not been supposed that Mr. Bryan made promises of that nature. They are not customary.

There is a strong belief, however, that Mr. Bryan has promised, if elected, to "recognize" Mr. Croker—that there is a "gentlemen's agreement" between them to the effect that Mr. Croker shall be "consulted" in the distribution of federal patronage in the state of New York, and that his suggestions as to the men to be appointed in that state shall be heeded. If Mr. Bryan is elected, he doubtless will give New York one seat in the cabinet. Is not there an understanding that that place shall be given to some person who is satisfactory to Mr. Croker? That is a phase of the case which Mr. Bryan's disclaimer does not cover. Nor does it cover the allegation that he has an agreement with Mr. Croker, not that the latter shall have any particular office for any particular individual, but that he shall be the boss of federal patronage in New York.

As a veteran politician, Mr. Bryan understands fully the kind of bargain which it is reported he has made with Croker. It would be advisable, therefore, for him to deny that such a bargain has been made if he can do so. If Mr. Bryan has not agreed that no man shall be appointed to any important federal office in New York who does not have Croker's indorsement, let him say so.—Chicago Tribune.

Bryan's Prophecy in 1896.

I hereby make the following prophecy: If William McKinley is elected and put in power for the next four years, wages will decrease, hard times will come upon us and over the land, the price of wheat will go down, the price of gold will go up, mortgages will be foreclosed by the money lenders and sharks, the factories and mills will close, we will export no goods, but will import from foreign lands all the goods we will use. Want and misery will be with us. Remember what I say.—William J. Bryan.

The Omnipresent Boxer.

Two men have been egged in Chicago for preaching that people live inside the earth instead of on its crust. The thing that made the Chinese mad, says the Chicago Times-Herald, was that people came among them preaching new doctrines. Your Boxer is to be found everywhere and always.

Automatic Photography.

An apparatus has been devised for automatically photographing people as they enter shops and other places.

MARKETS.

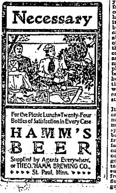
(Corrected to Date.)

No. 1 Northern	69c
Oats	31c
Flax	$1.36

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.



Necessary

For the Picnic Lunch—Twenty-Four Bottles of Satisfaction In Every Case

HAMM'S BEER

Supplied by Agents Everywhere, or THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn.

A GREAT SUPPLY HOUSE.

One of the great business enterprises of Minneapolis is the T. M. Roberts Supply House. Like all large and successful enterprises, it has been a growth from a small beginning. There seems to be a popular belief that it requires but little time, less capital, and no experience to start and manage a great mail order business. In the last six or seven years there have been started several supply houses in Minneapolis, but they attempted to start at the top, and soon found it impossible to compete with a house that started at the bottom and grew up in experience as its business increased.

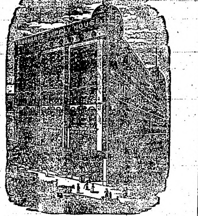
About 15 years ago Mr. T. M. Roberts had a retail hardware store in Minneapolis. It was a very good store of its kind, too, but it only occupied a single room and basement with about a 25-foot front and something like 100-foot depth. Mr. Roberts saw that in some lines of hardware—notably stoves and ranges—country and village people were obliged by their local dealers to pay too high a price for their goods, so he began to advertise stoves and ranges through the country at city prices. Naturally he began to sell them. He extended his advertising to other lines of hardware and began making unheard of prices. It was some time before he began to add other goods than hardware to his stock, and when he did so it was done very conservatively. He wanted to be perfectly sure of his ground before advancing.

One cardinal principle of this house from the very beginning was to share every bargain it obtained with its customers. If it had, for instance, a large quantity of steel nails on hand and the price advanced, it did not follow the market. Its selling price had been fixed to return a fair profit on the purchase price of the nails, and there the price stood until the stock was exhausted.

This season when interested parties attempted to get up a binding twine scare and hold prices up around 11 cents, the T. M. Roberts Supply House told its customers to wait before placing their orders. And those who did so profited. It would have been an easy matter for this house to have joined the hue and cry of binding twine famine, bought low and sold high, for it was the first house to break the price from 10½ to 11 cents to 9 7-8 cents, and finally forced it down to 8¼ cents. This is merely mentioned to show one of the many services this house has rendered the farmers of the Northwest.

There is no question but that one of the greatest factors in reducing prices of all general supplies to the country buyers have been the mail order houses, and foremost in its effect on the Northwest is the T. M. Roberts Supply House.

This house has had far from smooth sailing. Retailers' associations have repeatedly attempted to cripple it by boycotting manufacturers that are known to sell it goods, but fortunately for the purchasing public, money talks louder than resolution, and by purchasing in enormous quantities, paying cash on delivery, there has never been a time when all goods needed were not in hand. When a firm wants 10 or 15 carloads of stoves, a couple of million pounds of sugar, one or two hundred thousand pounds of coffee, and everything else in a like proportion, and goes into the market with cash in hand, it is going to get what it wants, and at a price that even the largest jobber cannot compete with.



T. M. ROBERTS SUPPLY HOUSE

The News is sometimes accused of inconsistency in opposing trusts and yet advocating the purchase of goods from supply houses. There is no inconsistency in this, for the supply house is not a trust, though in making it difficult for the local dealer to do business it has to that extent the effect of a trust, but the effect is brought about through an entirely different set of circumstances. The trusts absorb the small dealers and manufacturers in order to do away with competition, and then raise the prices of their commodities to suit themselves. The supply house uses up the small dealer because he cannot meet its prices, but here is the difference between it and the trust: When the competition is withdrawn the supply house cannot arbitrarily raise its price because of strong competition among themselves.

The supply house has come to stay. It is a product of the times. Conditions are such that goods must go from the manufacturer to the consumer at the minimum of expense. Under the old system the manufacturers sold the jobbers, through their traveling men, at from 30 to 90 days time. The manufacturers had to make a profit to cover cost of production, selling and bad accounts. The jobber, on receipt of the goods, would send his men to the retailer, and he must sell his goods high enough to get profit on the cost, plus freight, bad accounts and selling; and finally the retailer has to mark his goods sufficiently high to cover practically the same items. The supply house changed all this. They buy from the manufacturers for cash, and sell at once to the consumer for cash. The item of loss from bad accounts is eliminated, the cost of selling largely reduced, and the public gets the benefit of the saving. If manufacturers would sell direct to the consumer it would scarcely be an improvement; as it is now the supply house acts as a clearing house for a large number of manufacturers, and relieves them of the enormous detail incident upon handling orders from individuals, and while the expense of so doing by one factory would be so heavy as to preclude a great saving by giving lower prices; in the supply house taking care of individual orders for small quantities of goods is reduced to a system, and 10,000 orders can be handled practically at the same cost as one thousand, so that it is not likely that enough manufacturers will ever adopt the selling direct plan to do away with the supply house.

Another point that shows clearly the stability of the supply house is that every year that the T. M. Roberts Supply House has been in existence its volume of business has shown an increase over the preceding years. This also is evidence that the T. M. Roberts Supply House does not send out the worthless, rotten stuff its enemies say it does. There may be a sucker born every minute, but they are not numerous enough to keep a business growing while being continually assailed as viciously as the T. M. Roberts Supply House has been during the years of its growth and success.

The following figures give an idea of the size of the buildings occupied by this enormous supply house: The main building has 5[illegible] square feet floor space, while a warehouse in rear has over 28,000 square feet additional. Besides this 40,000 square feet are used in various warehouses in the city for storage purposes. Having this capacity makes it possible to carry a complete stock so that orders can be promptly filled. Mr. Roberts extends a cordial invitation to country visitors to call and look over this mammoth establishment. Subscribers and readers are especially requested when writing to the T. M. Roberts Supply House to say that they saw the notice of their business in this paper.

TO ESTABLISH LEPER COLONY.

Afflicted Filipinos Will Be Collected on One of the Islands of the Group.

Gen. MacArthur has convened a board consisting of Maj. Louis M. Maus, surgeon, Capt. George P. Ahern, Ninth infantry, and Capt. W. E. Horton, assistant quartermaster, to select an island in the Philippine archipelago for the segregation of lepers and to prepare plans and specifications for suitable buildings thereon and estimates of salaries for the necessary officials and employes. The board is also charged with fixing the ration and other allowances for the support of such leper colony.

This action was taken in view of the large number of people in the Philippines afflicted with leprosy, who are a menace to public health. Efforts are being made to prevent the further spread of the disease.

STEVENS FAVORITE
GIVE THE BOYS A Stevens Favorite Rifle.
Favorite (with Open Sights) $6.
J. STEVENS ARMS & TOOL CO., Chicopee Falls, Mass.

P. O. Box 1723.

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.

Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil A. Kaufer, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 25, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 10th, 1900, viz: Vaclav Havranek, H. E. 10,103, for the SW¼, Sec. 4, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Hudik, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Vavrika, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Krall, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.

10 4 6

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

For fine job work call at the NEWS office.

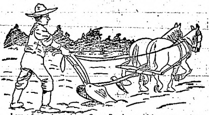
G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

La Bree Avenue. Thief River Falls.



I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

Burlington Route

A GREAT AMERICAN TRAVELER SAYS:

"I would rather dine on a Burlington route dining car than on any other dining car in the world. The only other railroad service that compares with it is the Orient Express, on which I traveled between Paris and Constantinople.

S. S. McCLURE,
Publisher McClure's Magazine.

Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33, Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

Peterson & Curtis wish to announce that the new drug-store is open. Location is already known to the public.

Wm. Lennon went up to the Red lake last week.

Julius Ploth went to St. Paul the first of the week.

Chas. Tedford arrived in the city yesterday from Cass Lake.

Dan Shaw went up to his claim on Shotley brook last week.

Go and see the new styles of outing hats at Mrs. Caldwell's.

Mrs. James Meehan visited friends in Crookston last week.

R. B. Vining and wife visited friends in Crookston last week.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

M. E. Bjorke, of St. Hilaire, was in the city the first of the week.

Wm. Murphy, the collector, was in the city the first of the week.

The citizens of Red Lake Falls will organize a Commercial club.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

For Sale—A good folding bed, nearly new, cheap. O. C. Jackson.

Coal stove for sale. In good condition. Inquire of Dr. Francis.

James Meehan, Jr., sold six lots in his addition to Tom Hines Monday.

County Attorney Van R. Brown came up from Red Lake Falls yesterday.

E. E. Zeh and family are removing to their new home in Porter's addition.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Staples will arrive in the city Saturday from Stillwater.

James Wiley left last Friday for the Red lake and will remain until next spring.

Home Anti Booze Cure, at the City Drug and Jewelry store. No cure, no pay.

Wanted—800 oak and cedar piles from 12 to 26 feet long. Carl Kretzschmar.

Attorney Richardson attended to legal business in Crookston the first of the week.

The ladies of the M. E. church will meet with Miss Wallin on Wednesday, Oct. 10.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

James Meehan, Jr., has four horses for sale—one heavy working team and one driving team.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

Practice shooting at Ole Peterson's shooting gallery, next to Odd Fellows' hall. Open day and night.

A. Gerber, assistant manager of the John Grove Land company at Crookston, was in the city Tuesday.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

Attorney H. W. Lee went to St. Paul the first of the week to be present at the opening of the supreme court.

Best qualities and latest styles in millinery at Mrs. Caldwell's.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

A barrier against disease and better than drugs is Shaw's Pure Malt. Sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

Matt Barzen the first of the week purchased the house he is living in and the one adjoining it of the Thief River Falls Lumber company.

P. Moylan, accompanied by his wife and children, came down from the Shotley brook the first of the week and are visiting friends and relatives here.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

Two parties from Iowa were in the city last week and purchased a quarter section each of the John Grove Land company. They will remove up here in the spring.

W. A. Case, the Republican candidate for county auditor, was in the city the first of the week interviewing his friends. Mr. Case stands an excellent show of being elected.

A crew of men went up to the Red Lake river a few miles last week to press hay for the Thief River Falls Lumber company. The hay will be shipped up to the Red lake.

Bert Young has the reputation of knowing a good thing when he sees it, and yesterday he bet $5 with S. Kenison that there would be 200 votes cast for McKinley in this city this fall.

W. L. Johnson, who for some time past conducted a barber shop in the rear of Coveny's saloon, left on Saturday for Thief River Falls, where he will hereafter reside.—Cass Lake Times.

Joseph Jerome and family came down from the Red lake the first of the week. Mr. Jerome's family will remain in the city during the winter, in order that his children may attend school.

The Crookston College will open its fall term September 10. Board and room furnished and taken care of in private family or hotel for $2.50 to $3 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

A hunter, who had noticed a sign, "No hunting on these grounds," remarked, after an hour's successful shooting, that the man who posted the notice must be mistaken, as he never found a place where there were more chickens.

A squaw known as "Old Maggie," a sister of Highlanding George, had her big toe cut off Monday by Dr. Francis. She had it badly crushed about three weeks ago, and, not giving it any care, it got in such a condition that amputation was necessary.

Five sheep were killed by wolves last Saturday night at the farm of W. A. Sorsdoil, near St. Hilaire, and the loser has built a scaffold in a tree, staked a sheep in the pasture and is lying awake nights on his high perch with a shot gun loaded with buckshot.

Paul Ricket raised 450 bushels of corn this year, on nine acres, which was perfectly ripe two weeks ago at the time of the first frost. The fodder will go a long ways towards wintering his cattle, while the soil gets the benefit of a rotation in crop. The corn was planted the latter part of May and was frozen down to the ground about the middle of June, but the obstacles notwithstanding, has turned out well.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Mrs. Tiviargo died Monday evening at 6 o'clock, after a protracted illness. The deceased was 45 years of age, and a woman highly respected in this community. The funeral services were held yesterday forenoon.

The city of Thief River Falls has, through Attorney Ira C. Richardson, asked that the Great Northern company be made a party to four damage suits begun against the corporation by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cunningham and Mr. and Mrs. A. Adams.

An Oklahoma girl advertised for a husband and got him. The total expenses for the advertisement and wedding outfit was $11, and within a year the husband died, leaving a life insurance of $3,000. And still some people claim that it does not pay to advertise.

C. L. Dobner on Monday purchased of W. A. Kratka, the latter's house in the First ward. This is one of the finest residences in the city, and will be occupied by Mr. Dobner and family this winter. S. F. Staples has rented Mr. Dobner's present residence on the East Side.

The sporting editor of the St. Hilaire Spectator says: "We are not prophesying an early or long winter, but will state that the muskrats have already built their houses good and large which makes an elegant blind for duck shooting with the aid of a few tall rushes properly arranged."

Three Warren men went hunting up in Roseau county, and took their wives along to spend a few days on a claim owned by one of them. They couldn't drive within a mile of it on account of the water, but the men waded the balance of the way, and returned satisfied that the water is holding the claim down all right.

A Trip to the Red Lake.

On return of the steamer Ethel from a flying trip to the Red lake, we had an interview with Wiley Tindolph, who was a practical steamboat man on the Wabash and Ohio rivers during the Civil war and ten years following. Mr. Tindolph reports a most enjoyable trip. The scenery along the river was beautiful, the recent frost having colored the foliage a beautiful red and brown, with Indian camps dotted along the banks, the weather being clear and calm on the up trip. With a jolly lot of passengers numbering 23—Joseph Crow and son, William Lennon, Dan Shaw, Ernest Warren and a lot more of jolly Thief River Falls boys, all out for a good time—the party left Thief River Falls by four-horse teams for the steamer, which was lying in wait four miles above town. Steam was up when the party arrived at the boat. Anchor was soon raised, and the Ethel steamed away at about 11 a. m. last Friday, with Capt. Charles Shirley at the wheel. Soon after, a bountiful and good dinner was served by the two neatly dressed and good cooks, Miss Carry Lonson and Miss Grace Umbright, two well and favorably known Thief River Falls girls. After enjoying dinner, all were on the alert for fun, and found it—sight-seeing, telling jokes, taking part at wood piles, shooting, etc. The afternoon and evening was perfect. Highlanding was reached and passed before any of the passengers had retired. Capt. Shirley was still at the wheel, Frank Umbright in charge of the engines, Otto Peterson firing and happy, good natured Bob Lonson all around handy man and pretty clever wherever he took part. At about 1 a. m. the boat dropped anchor, because of the fireman having fallen unconscious with nervous cramps in his face, head and spine. The surgeon, Dr. Crow, was called, and administered a salt bath, with severe rubbing, and in three minutes had his patient back to life again, and at daylight off again. The morning being perfect, the run to the Red lake, which was reached about nine o'clock Saturday morning, could not have been more enjoyable, passing immense hay fields on the way, with at least 500 tons of hay, nicely stacked. The agency was reached at about 11 a. m., where we stopped and went up town visiting for one hour. The banks at this place are high, nicely wooded, with rock and sandy beach, and for beauty cannot be surpassed on this continent. The lake shore is dotted with Indian homes and it looks as if they must surely enjoy solid comfort living in such a beautiful country as is found on the shores of the Red lake. The next stop was at the logging railroad docks, where three passengers got off. The Black Duck was the next stop, where Mr. Crow and most of the passengers left the boat, Mr. Crow visiting the Thief River Falls Lumber company's camps, while the boat went four miles further up the lake for passengers and freight, returning to Black Duck at 5:30 p. m., where we found Mr. Crow waiting. Along with him was a goodly number of passengers. While at Black Duck, taking on fuel, a heavy wind came up, pressing the boat hard on the sandy beach, and we were detained there at work for several hours trying to free the boat from the beach, but the wind proved too much for us and we were compelled to stay there all night. While the crew was hard at work on a capson pulling the boat off, one of our lady passengers stepped into the toilet room, which is located in the stern of the boat, and, while she was there, it became necessary to put on all the steam possible, in order to help the capson pull backwards, and the officers, not knowing that anyon was in the toilet room, opened the throtle and the water force from the wheel was thrown up with such force that it washed and forced the passenger out i[illegible] the engine room, not hurt, but awfully wet. The boat was freed from the beach, and we came back to the sorting gap, three miles above Thief River Falls, in good shape by 4 p. m. Monday, with all of the eleven passengers and jolly, good natured crew happy in a downpour of rain at the time of reaching the shore. Mr. Tindolph says that none need fear having a good time and a safe return, so long as Capt. Shirley is in command, and can highly recommend the trip to any one wishing a few days' outing.

300 STRONG

Will the McKinley and Roosevelt Club Be.

That the Republicans are going to carry this city and the northern part of Red Lake county for McKinley by a large majority is proven by the fact that withing a few days a Republican club with 300 members will be organized in Thief River Falls. A paper was circulated about town Tuesday and yesterday and already over 200 have signed, signifying a willingness to become members of a McKinley and Roosevelt club, and number will be increased to 300 inside of three days. A large number of the members of the club have become residents of the city since 1896, and twenty-six of the number have stated that they voted for Bryan, but that this year they will vote for McKinley. All of the members are voters and residents of Thief River Falls.

Raised 'Em.

The state board of equalization last week raised the assessments on personal property of all of the lumber companies doing business in the state. The Thief River Falls Lumber company's valuation was raised from $96,560 to $115,800; the St. Hilaire Lumber company from $24,325 to $26,757, and the Crookston Lumber company from $14,161 to $18,580.

IS INCORPORATED.

Northern Real Estate and Mortgage Company.

Articles of incorporation of the Northern Real Estate and Mortgage company were filed with the secretary of state last week. The paid-in capital of the company is $10,000, and the principal business will be that of buying and selling of farms and and loaning of money. The officers of the new company are:

President—C. L. Dobner.
Vice President—H. G. Dobner.
Secretary and Treasurer—S. F. Staples.

An office will be opened during the winter in rooms over the First State bank. The members of the new company are all well known in this city, the Messrs. Dobners being connected with the First state bank, and Mr. Staples has visited friends here a number of times. They are all hustlers and will undoubtedly do a good business. Mr. Staples will remove to this city this fall and make his home here.

HON. J. ADAM BEDE

Will Be at Red Lake Falls October 25th.

Hon. J. Adam Bede, the noted humorous political orator, will be at Red Lake Falls on Thursday evening, Oct. 25, to address a Republican rally. Arrangements are being made to run a special train from Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire on that date, and it is expected that a large crowd will go down.

Protest Dismissed.

On July 17, last, 80 acres of land was offered for sale at the U. S. land office in this city, as an isolated tract. The land was bought and paid for, and final receipts and certificates issued to Hovey C. Clarke. After the sale, Attorney J. E. Carpenter tendered full payment for the land and asked that the offer be accepted. He alleged that Clarke's purchase was illegal, as he had bought more than 160 acres under this law in his lifetime.

The local office refused to accept his offer, ruling that the sale of more than 160 acres to any one person at any one offering was what was prohibited by this law. Mr. Carpenter then filed a protest against the approval of the sale to Clarke, and today the land office officials here received notice from the commissioner of the general land office that the protest was dismissed.—Crookston Journal.

Issued Worthless Checks.

James Stewart, who has been buying cattle from the farmers in this county during the past couple years, shipped a car load last Saturday. It appears that he had failed to pay a few farmers for stock he had purchased, and they appeared on the scene and demanded their money. By telegraphing to the commission house to whom the catle was consigned, Mr. Stewart was at last able to secure funds to make settlement with these men. This week three farmers came in with check drawn on the Bank of Warren by Mr. Stewart in payment of cattle he had bought, aggregating $94, but, upon presentation at the bank, it was learned that there were no funds there to meet them. This shows either dishonesty or lax business methods.—Warren Sheaf.

Heard Bryan.

One hundred and eighty people from this city went to Crookston last Saturday on the special excursion train to hear the Democratic nominee for president, W. J. Bryan, make a speech. The people from this city were more or less disappointed in Mr. Bryan, but were pleased with the speech made by John Lind.

LOGGERS' MEETING

Makes Arrangements for Protection From Transients.

The loggers of northern Minnesota are preparing to protect themselves from the versatile "lumberjack." Formerly "jack" would take a job, work till he got some money and then quit. Hereafter he will be required to sign a contract for one month or six weeks, or whatever time he intends to work. At least that is the plan that is now proposed by the Northwestern Loggers' association. It has not been formally agreed upon, but most of the members of the organization seem to be in favor of it.

Some days ago a meeting of the Loggers' association was held at Duluth to agree upon some plan to protect themselves from the constant interruption of work in the woods by the restless woodsmen. During the past two or three years, ever since the demand for men has been large and wages high, it has been difficult for loggers to keep men together. At the recent meeting a remedy was suggested by adopting a system of demanding contracts from the men, not necessarily that they continue in the employ of any firm or concern for the winter, but for a certain length of time for specified wages that may be agreed upon. This proposition was agreed upon and a committee was appointed to interview the loggers of the northern part of the state and report to another meeting of the association, which is to be held in the very near future.

Another interesting feature of the proposed changes in dealing with woodsmen is that they will be paid a specified salary and be charged a certain amount for their board each week. Fifteen cents a day was talked of at the meeting yesterday. The wages of woodsmen at present range from $28 to $30 a month and board, and on this basis the men will get $41 to $45 a month and pay their own board, which will amount to about $15. It is also proposed to charge a certain amount for board. It has also been agreed upon to charge persons who seek accommodations at camps. In the past it has been customary to be quite liberal in allowing men traveling from camp to camp their meals and lodging, but it is claimed that this hospitality has been abused, and there is a large and rapidly growing fraternity of timber tramps, who move from camp to camp, and who will not work unless they can't very well avoid it. Lo the poor luberjack.

A Fitting Testimonial.

DEAR MR. McKINLEY:—Four years ago I had that idle feeling and craving for food in my stomach that I could not seem to fill for the want of something to eat. In fact, my entire family suffered from the same complaint. I had severe pains in my back from carrying the mortgage on my home. My condition was such that my friends hardly knew me—I looked so much like a tramp. Then hearing of your "Prosperity Remedy," I tried it, and today I am a changed man. I am glad to say that all my "hard time pains" have left me. We could not get along without your "Prosperity Remedy" in my family, and we shall continue to use the same.

Your obedient servant,
AMERICAN WORKMAN.

Coming This Way.

A dispatch from Chicago, published in the Minneapolis Journal, says:

"Present indications point to the immigration of more than 50,000 persons from states in the east and the central west to North Dakota, Washington and Montana within the next twelve months. The immigration will be at its height between Jan. 15 and May 15, and northern railroads are preparing to meet conditions that are expected fully to tax their immigrant-carrying capacities."

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Cary, Traverse & Company.

Watches,
Clocks,
Jewelry
and
Guns.

Repairing done a specialty.

Bicycles, guns and silver ware for sale.

Cary, Traverse & Co.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars—Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv.	Crookston	Ar.	6:20 p m
9:25 a m	"	Shirley	"	6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	"	Ives	"*	5:20 p m
10:21 a m	"	Wylie	"*	4:55 p m
11:30 a m	"	St Hilaire	Lv.	4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar.	Thief River F	"	1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv.	St Hilaire	"	4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar.	Red Lake F	"	3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

F. M. MILLER,
G. N. Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.

Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

United States Map.

15c. A copy of our handsome map, 48x38 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

PHIL A. KAUFER, Red Lake Falls Gazette
JEFFERS & BOUGHTON, R. L. F. Courier.
IVES & SOLL, St. Hilaire Spectator.
JOHN W. EASTMAN, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Johannes A. Sveum, H. E. 16,742, for the W½ NW¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Maanum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minnesota, August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on October 8th, 1900, viz: Nels August Olson, H. E. 15,967, for the NE¼ SW¼, NW¼ SE¼ and W½ NE¼, Sec. 29, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.
John Berg, of Ware, Minn.
Tom Olson Maanum, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden Minn., on October 8th, 1900, viz: Tom Olson Maanum, H. E. 16,447, for the SE¼, Sec. 28, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

A. J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels August Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Johannes A. Sveum, of Ware, Minn.
E. O. Satterlund, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

aug 30 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Gunerius O. Satnas, H. E. 15,590, for the E½ SW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 2, Tp. 154 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole P. Nygaard, of Norden, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Axel Larson, of New Solum, Minnesota.
Chris Loftsaa, of New Solum, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office, at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Ole P. Nygaard, H. E. 16,786, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 8, NW¼ NE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 17, Tp. 154, N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Gunerius O. Satnas, of New Solum, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Ole O. Nesja, of Norden, Minnesota.
Hans A. Myrom, of Norden, Minnesota

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 24, 1900, viz: Charles Hodik, H. E. 19,040, for the SE¼ SW¼ and Lots 6 and 7, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Bresa, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Homolka, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 24, 1900, viz: Anton Homolka, H. E. 16,102, for the SE¼ NE¼ and Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Charles Hodik, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Bresa, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Anton Anderson, H. E. 16,458, for the Lots 3, 4 and 5, Sec. 6, Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware, Minn.
Lars Bergman, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 12, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Walter Junkin, H. E. 20,338, for the S½ SE¼, Sec. 33, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and Lots 2 and 3, Sec. 4, Tp. 157, N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Alva J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Eugene Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Anton O. Haugh, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Martin O. Anderson, H. E. 16,457, for the Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 30, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 25, Tp. 158 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.
Nils Sandberg, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 17, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Carolina Olson, H. E. 19,669, for the SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 34, Tp. 158, N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Peder U. Reierson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Torger T. Sollom, of Newfolden, Minn.
Isak W. Ostrive, of Newfolden, Minn.
Aslak H. Langli, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.

sept27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 14th, 1900, viz: Evan P. Engestad, H. E. 19,177, for the NE¼ NE¼, Sec. 14, Tp. 153 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole A. Ronning, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Bernt Wold, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
L. M. Kjos, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Henry Norland, of Thief River Falls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 5th, 1900, viz: Edward Bolton, H. E. 16,043, for the N½ NW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and NW¼ NE¼, Sec. 12, Tp. 157 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Julius Hanson, of Ingalls, Minn.
Alfred Mickelson, of Ingalls, Minn.
John Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.
George Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 21, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 13th, 1900, viz: Tina O. Howe, H. E. 17,043, for the Lot 7, Sec. 6, NE¼ NW¼ and Lot 1, Sec. 7 Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Hans Hagen, of Ware, Minn.
Hans Johnson, of Ware, Minn.
John Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Severin Haug, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United Satates Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 27th day of October, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼, Sec. 19, SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 31, SE¼ NW¼, Sec. 32, T. 160 N., R. 44 W.

Any and all parties claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated August 30, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

Sept 6 6t

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.,
DENTIST.
In Thief River Falls from 5th to 10th of every month. Office over harness shop.

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office n Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW. — Boston Journal.

IN THE
North American Review
YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND
The Right Topics,
By the Right Men,
At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but

All Sides of All Questions

in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of

American Women

receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N. Y.

The Chicago Tribune

Is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

HOTEL OGAHMAH.
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop., Thief River Falls, Minn.
STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.
SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.
General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.
WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - - MINN.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
General Banking.
Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE, REAL ESTATE, FARM LOANS and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

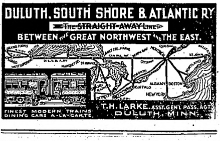
M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

Attention Settlers.

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.

DULUTH, SOUTH SHORE & ATLANTIC RY
THE STRAIGHT-AWAY LINE
BETWEEN THE GREAT NORTHWEST AND THE EAST.



FINEST MODERN TRAINS DINING CARS A-LA-CARTE.
T. H. LARKE, ASST. GEN'L PASS. AGT. DULUTH, MINN.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,
VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, WASHINGTON, D. C.

W. J. Dyer & Bro.,
Importers and Jobbers.
"National Club" Bicycles, "Russell" Sewing Machines, Talking Machines, "Gem" Cameras, Musical Merchandise, etc. If your local dealer does not handle the above goods, write direct to us,
21-23 W. Fifth St.
ST. PAUL, - MINN.

The John Hancock
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year

J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn

F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

~~THE~~ THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 40. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES

Brief Biographical Sketch of Men Up for Political Preferment.

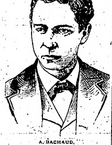
CANDIDATES ALL GOOD AND TRUE MEN

The Suffrage of the Voters of Red Lake County Is Respectfully Solicited.

It is with great pleasure that the News this week introduces to the voters of Red Lake county the Republican candidates for county offices. The convention which nominated these gentlemen realized the fact that the Republican party is not the dominant party in Red Lake county, but it also recognized the fact that there is a great army of independent voters in this county will vote for the best men regardless of political affiliations, and relies solely upon the intelligence of the people for success. Never in the history of the county should the people exercise greater care in the selection of officials than this year. Some decidedly incompetent men have been nominated by the opposing forces, and if they are elected the taxpayers will suffer. We do not mean to say that all the candidates nominated by the Populists and Democrats are incompetent—for both parties have put up a few good men—but we will say that there is not a candidate for political preferment on the Republican ticket who is not capable of performing the duties of the office to which he aspires, and if elected the taxpayers will be benefitted. All that the Republican candidates ask in this campaign is that the voters will endeavor to ascertain the merits of the different candidates, put aside party bias and vote. They trust in the intelligence of the voters voters and will not fear the results.

W. A. CASE.

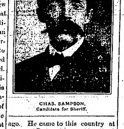
W. A. Case, the Republican candidate for county auditor, is a resident of the town of Rocksbury. He was born in New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 26, 1850, and was educated in the public schools of his native city and Boston. He came to Minnesota in 1878, and settled on a farm in the town of Wagner, Marshall county. He held the office of town clerk for 10 years, and was treasurer of School District No. 5 for the same number of years, resigning both offices in 1890 to accept the office of clerk of court of Marshall county, which office he held for four years. Since January, 1895, he has been actively engaged in installing Modern Woodmen camps, and he is well known throughout the county. All of the newspapers of Marshall county, his former home, regardless of political affiliations, speak of Mr. Case in the most flattering terms and advise the voters of this county to elect him. Such notices coming as the do unsolicited, prove the fact that his past record is good. Mr. Case is thoroughly competent, is making an active campaign and will be elected.



A. BACHAUD,
Candidate for Judge of Probate.

L. JENSEN.

L. Jensen, the Republican nominee for county treasurer, was born in Denmark thirty-five years ago. He came to this country at the age of seventeen, and has lived at Red Lake Falls for the past thirteen years, during the greater part of the time following the occupation of bookkeeping. He is an expert accountant, and has a reputation in his home town such as any man may be proud of.



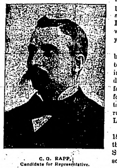
CHAS. SAMPSON,
Candidate for Sheriff.

Mr. Jensen has at different times been honored by his home town, and at the present time holds the office of treasurer of the city schools, which position he has held for the past seven years. He is an extremely safe and conservative man and we warrant to say that by electing him to the office of county treasurer the public will be efficiently served.

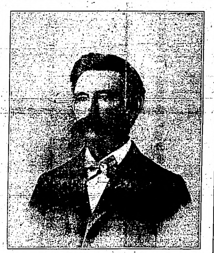
A. BACHAUD.

About every twenty years the title to all real property passes through the hands of the judge of probate, and for that reason the man who is elected to fill this office should have an active brain and a liberal education. The Republicans point with pride to the fact that their nominee possesses both these qualifications.

A. Bachaud, who is the Republican nominee for judge of probate, is a resident of the town of Lambert. He was born in Manville, R. I., and came to Minnesota when but four years of age. For six years he has been a teacher in the schools of Red Lake county, and last winter was given a position as assistant editor of "Le Canadian," a French Republican newspaper published in St. Paul, but, owing to ill health, had to resign. Mr. Bachaud has somewhat of a reputation as an amateur poet, having published a booklet of poems three years ago, and has also contributed to the "Scroll," a literary mazine, of Chicago, and lately two of his long poems were accepted and published in the "State Press," of Aurora, Ill. The "State Press" is a literary organization which furnishes original productions to leading magazines. Mr. Bachaud will undoubtedly be elected, and the tax payers of Red Lake county will be benefitted thereby. While the salary connected with this office is not large, it is one of the most important in the county. There are four candidates for the office and if the Republicans stand by Mr. Bachaud — and there is no reason why they should not—he will be elected by a large majority.



C. G. RAPP,
Candidate for Representative.

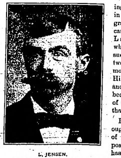


W. A. CASE,
Candidate for Auditor.

CHAS. SAMPSON.

Chas. Sampson, at present sheriff of Red Lake county and a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket, is known personally to nearly every voter in Red Lake county, and is universally esteemed. During the past two years he has conducted the office of sheriff in such a capable manner, as to reflect credit not only upon himself but the party which elected him.

Mr. Sampson was born at Osseo, Hennepin county, Minn., on the 18th day of October, 1860, and on the 4th day of June, 1877, removed to Red Lake Falls. He was married to Agnes Patnode the same year, and commenced life as a laborer, working on the dam constructed at Red Lake Falls by Carl Kretzschmar. On Feb. 12, 1888, he filed on a piece of government land in the town of Garnes, which he still owns and where he resided until elected sheriff two years ago. Mr. Sampson was a successful farmer, and has conducted the office of sheriff in such a fair and capable manner that the people are going to re-elect him.



L. JENSEN,
Candidate for Treasurer.

J. B. O'BRIEN.

The aspirant for the office of county superintendent of schools is a strong candidate, well qualified for the position and will make a good run.

J. B. O'Brien removed to this state from Illinois with his parents in 1882, and settled in Lyon county, when he was 17 years of age.

Mr. O'Brien began his first term of school in his home district in the fall of 1882, and for five years taught in the rural schools of Lyon county.

In the fall of 1890 he entered the Mankato State Normal school, completing the course in 1893. After graduation he came to Red Lake Falls, where he taught successfully for two years, removed to St. Hilaire in 1895, and has since been principal of the schools of that village.

He is a thorough gentleman of pleasing disposition, and has made school work his only occupation for fifteen years. Should the voters of Red Lake county see fit to entrust him with the office to which he aspires, we feel confident in saying the schools of the county will not degenerate any under his supervision.

CHAS. G. RAPP.

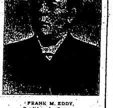
Chas. G. Rapp, the Republican nominee for representative from the 61st legislative district, which comprises the counties of Red Lake and Beltrami, was born in Sweden in 1856. He came to this country in 1878, settling in Chicago, where he was employed as a clerk in the large store of Marshall Field & Co. for some time. He then removed to Red Wing, Minn., and attended a college for two years. In 1882 he removed to what is now Red Lake county and took a claim seven miles west of Thief River Falls, where he lived for a number of years, removing later to St. Hilaire to engage in the mercantile business, where he has since been located.

Mr. Rapp is an old settler of this section of the state, and is personally known to nearly every voter in this county. He has been a successful business man, and personally is very popular. If elected, he will make an able representative.

FRANK M. EDDY.

Every voter in Red Lake county has a personal interest in the success of Congressman Frank M. Eddy, for whose great work the people are indebted for the free homestead law. Mr. Eddy is the first boy born in Minnesota who has had the honor of representing the state in congress. He was born in Olmsted county in 1856. During the time school was in session he did chores for his board, and during the months of vacation he worked in a brick yard to get funds to buy books and clothing. Toiling thus with his own hands, and earning his livelihood by the sweat of his brow, he knows what it is to labor for a living.

His whole career has been such that it gives him the deepest sympathy for those who toil, and by every act and vote he has tried to improve their interests. In addition to carrying on his mother's farm, he taught school during the idle months until 1882. He then spent two years as a "cruiser," or land examiner, and as such tramped through the forests of Minnesota, guided only by his compass, sleeping beneath a shelter tent and subsisting on bacon and baking powder biscuit. This experience gave him valuable ideas of the section of Minnesota which he later represented in congress.



FRANK M. EDDY,
Candidate for Congress.

In 1894 he was nominated for congress, and beat ex-Congressman Boen by 800 majority. In 1896 he was renominated and had E. E. Lommen as his opponent. He defeated Lommen by 2,100. In 1898 P. M. Ringdal was his opponent, and Ringdal was defeated by 8,800.

Congressman Eddy's last, and perhaps greatest, service to the people of his district was in passing the free homestead bill. It was a long, hard fight; the east and south, being well settled, were opposed to it. In 1898 the measure was defeated, but he continued to battle for the settlers in his district. He got his measure before congress again last April. At that time a spirited contest was made for the nomination to succeed him, but Congressman Eddy remained faithfully at his post in Washington, secured the passage of this most beneficial measure, and the people, at the largest primaries ever held in the district, renomi-

(CONTINUED ON SECOND PAGE.)

SPECIAL ELECTION

To Be Held in This City Tomorrow.

A special election for the purpose of voting for or against the proposition of bonding the city for $4,500, the money to be used to construct an electric light plant, will be held tomorrow. There is not a great deal of interest taken in the matter, and it is doubtful if a full vote is cast.

PINE LANDS

To Be Sold by the Secretary of the Interior.

The secretary of the interior has decided to dispose of at public sale the ceded lands of the Chippewa Indians, adjoining the White Earth and Red Lake reservations in Minnesota.

These lands comprise 33,316 acres of agricultural lands, near the White Earth reservation and 39,922 acres of pine land, containing 76,384,000 feet of pine. The value of this pine land is $231,489.

Petit Jurors.

The county commissioners last week drew the following list of petit jurors:

O. L. Larson, Sanders.
Charles Gustafson, Rocksbury.
M. P. Dargan, Polk Center.
Rudolph Ristau, Sanders.
Lars Netland, Rocksbury.
O. W. Lind, Sanders.
C. E. Traverse, Thief River F.
Regis Huot, Polk Center.
A. D. Brown, Equality.
Joseph Robidoux, Poplar River.
Carl Johnson, St. Hilaire.
John O. Waslie, Numedal.
M. A. Hatten, Terrebonne.
J. F. Matthews, Louisville.
G. K. Haavi, North.
L. G. Browning, Thief River F.
Frank Bourque, Thief River F.
Phillip Gibeau, Lambert.
Joseph Cyr, Poplar River.
Peter Kilburg, Black River.
Wm. Olson, St. Hilaire.
Dennie Connelly, North.
L. R. Bramsness, River Falls.
Fick Eckstein, Polk Center.

No grand jury was drawn. The court convenes in Red Lake Falls, Monday, Oct. 15.

The New Jail.

The county board met this week and let the contract for building the county jail to Jos. Brady, for $1,447. There were two other bidders, J. J. Rue, $1485, and Frank Majeau, $1,594. The plans and specifications, as furnished by E. Strassburger, of Crookston, were accepted. Work on the foundation has commenced. The commissioners have secured seven lots on Edward street and the jail will be built south of the residence of Damasse Bray.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Circus Rioters Held.

The five employes of the Syndicate circus, who were arrested by the state militia some time ago, will have to remain in jail here until the Cass county grand-jury meets next May. Judge Cant Tuesday afternoon filed an order discharging the writ of habeas corpus asked for by the prisoners, and remanding them to the custody of the sheriff again.—Duluth Herald.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

THE NEWS,
By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.
$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, OCT. 11, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

Four years ago the people voted for prosperity and got it.

> For labor, a short day is better than a short dollar; one will lighten the burdens, the other lessens the rewards of toil. The one will promote contentment and independence; the other penury and want. The wages of labor should be adequate to keep the home in comfort, educate the children, and, with thrift and economy, lay something by for the days of infirmity and old age.—William McKinley's Acceptance Speech.

The Fergus Falls Journal gives a correct definition of "fusion" when it says that it "is the last act of turning a Farmers' Alliance man into a Democrat."

> Instead of diminishing, as was predicted four years ago, the volume of our currency is greater per capita than it has ever been. It was $21.10 in 1896. It had increased to $26.50 on July 1, 1900, and $26.85 on Sept. 1, 1900. Our total money on July 1, 1896, was $1,506,434,966; on July 1, 1900, it was $2,062,525,496, and $2,096,683,042 on Sept. 1, 1900.—William McKinley's Acceptance Speech.

The most important county office, in many respects, to be filled at the coming election is that of judge of the probate court. That court is the grand conservator of all the wealth of the community. To the integrity and capacity of the incumbent of that office widows and orphans must look for protection. The Republican party of Red Lake county has not been unmindful of its duty in this regard, and has placed in nomination a good man.

> I defy any man to point me out right now or at any time a single proposition upon which Mr. Bryan is conducting this campaign which is not a proposition to destroy or to retreat. I defy any man to name a single Republican principle upon which we are waging this campaign which is not a proposition to remedy, to build, to construct and to advance.—United States Senator Beveridge.

Our Populist friends, who, in common with Dick Croker, the New York political boss, are this year support Mr. Bryan, may be surprised to find that "16 to 1" is not an issue this campaign. The New York Democrats have issued an official campaign handbook, which contains this statement:

"The Democrats of New York stand for the gold standard. Thanks to their representatives in congress and in the Kansas City convention, the money question, which four years ago alienated so many excellent Democrats, is not considered as an issue in this campaign. That imperialism has been forced to the front as the supreme issue of the campaign is due in no small measure to the aggressive fight made by the New York delegation in the Kansas City convention against the free coinage of silver."

> The American people use political parties for their purpose; political parties do not use the American people for their little ends.—United States Senator Beveridge.

> Empire has been expelled from Porto Rico and the Philippines by American freemen. The flag of the republic now floats over these islands as an emblem of rightful sovereignty. Will the republic stay and dispense to their inhabitants the blessings of liberty, education and free institutions, or steal away, leaving them to anarchy or imperialism?—William McKinley's Acceptance Speech.

That man McKenzie that runs the Crookston Times is the king of hustlers in the valley newspaper circles. To him more than any other man is due the great success of the Bryan demonstration in Crookston Saturday. And it was a success, from a crowd gathering point of view.—Warren Sheaf.

Now we don't want to rob that man McKenzie of any of the credit of that big meet, but it seems to us that Nat Campbell, with his stove pipe hat and twenty-five special policemen, did a good deal. Mac is not the only man in the vaudeville business.

> Combinations of capital which control the market in commodities necessary to the general use of the people by suppressing natural and ordinary competition, thus enhancing prices to the general consumer, are obnoxious to the common law and the public welfare. They are dangerous conspiracies against the public good, and should be made the subject of prohibitory or penal legislation.—William McKinley's Acceptance Speech.

The probabilities of the campaign at the present time appear to be that McKinley can be elected without either New York or Indiana, while Bryan, to be elected, must have not only both of these states, but others which are counted as safe for McKinley. This is certainly encouraging for the Republicans, but it does not by any means absolve any Republican voter from the duty of presenting himself at the polls and casting his ballot for the party of good government. Neither does it absolve him from the duty of using all his influence between now and election day to induce others to vote the Republican ticket. An election is never won until the ballots are cast, and we must not forget that we have to do with an adversary who has his forces well organized, and is prepared to take advantage of every mistake made by the Republicans, and to use every conceivable means of making converts and of getting them to the polls. A political campaign is not to be won by standing still, and there is too much at stake to permit the enemy the slightest advantage. There is but one way to insure success, and that is to make a Republican of every man who can be influenced by proper means, and then to get every Republican to the polls. If that is done, if we all put our shoulders to the wheel, the success of the party is assured, and with it four years more of good government. Let every one lend a hand.

> "Without any original thought of complete or even partial acquisition, the presence and success of our arms in Manila imposes upon us obligations which we cannot disregard. The march of events rules and overrules human action. Avowing unreservedly the purpose which has animated all our effort, and still solicitous to adhere to it, we cannot be unmindful that without any desire or design on our part the war has brought us new duties and responsibilities, which we must meet and discharge as becomes a great nation on whose growth and career from the beginning the Ruler of Nations has plainly written the high command and pledge of civilization."—William McKinley's Acceptance Speech.

LEST THEY FORGET.

The statement is sometimes made by Democrats in Thief River Falls that times were better under Cleveland's administration than under the present, in fact they say they have not seen any prosperity. Lest the people forget we will publish an article which was printed in the Chicago Inter Ocean in 1894:

"Thursday night was the climacteric of poverty and hunger. Whether it will stand as the sad climateric, or whether it will be surpassed by the record of future nights, depends upon whether the shaken confidence of the mercantile and manufacturing classes can be speedily restored. Never before since Chicago had a name and a place among cities, was it in such an evil case, that, after the station house and all charitable institutions were crowded to excess, there was an overflow of a thousand penniless, shivering and hungry men sheltering from the storm of a winter's night in the city hall, and fighting with the ferocity of brutes for a few mouthfuls of bread. We do not care to comment on the sad story. It is its own comment. Narrated in the plainest words, it is horrible. It needs no other adjective. The famished, frozen crowd was not made up of tramps. It was made up largely of honest men, who would be industrious could they find work to do."

MARKETS.

(Corrected to Date.)

No. 1 Northern.................. 67c
Oats.................. 31c
Flax.................. $1.46

> Liberty is the great Republican doctrine for which the people went to war, and for which a million lives were offered and billions of dollars were expended to make it a lawful legacy of all without the consent of master or slave. There is a strain of ill-concealed hypocrisy in the anxiety to extend the constitutional guarantees to the people of the Philippines, while their nullification is openly advocated at home. Our opponents may disgust themselves, but they have no right to discredit the good faith and patriotism of the majority of the people, who are opposing them.—William McKinley's Acceptance Speech.

TAX RATE

Fixed by the City Council Monday Night.

The city council held a meeting Monday evening. Owing to the bad condition of the road leading into the city from the north, on which the council has expended considerable money during the summer, it was decided to rent a road across the Knox farm, paying that gentleman $2.00 per day for the road while it was used.

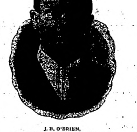
The assessed valuation of personal property in the city, as fixed by the county board of equalization, is $215,558, and it was decided to levy a tax of 4 mills for the interest fund, which will amount to $862.23; 4 mills for improvement fund, which will amount to $862.23; 5 mills for park fund, which will amount to $1,077.79, and 1 mill for sinking fund, which will amount to $215. The money for the current expense fund will be derived from saloon licenses, fines, etc., which during the past has amounted to over $6,000. The school, county and state tax will make the total about 45 mills, the rate paid last year.

Betting on McKinley.

Otter Tail county in '96 gave Bryan a majority over McKinley of 936, yet this week Steve Butler, treasurer of Otter Tail, wagered $25, even money, that McKinley would carry the county. Geo. W. Dowing, Democratic candidate for county attorney, took the Bryan end of the bet. In some quarters it is claimed that McKinley's majority in the great county will be 500, so great has the change in sentiment been among the Scandinavian farmers within the past four years.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES



J. B. O'BRIEN,
Candidate for Superintendent of Schools.

(CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE.)

nated him by an overwhelming majority. The able manner in which he championed this measure won for him the highest compliments of those who opposed it. The three terms which he has served have familiarized him not only with the needs of his district, but with the ways of securing for his constituents what they want. His experience and services have secured for him places upon important committees and a standing with the heads of departments which enable him to be of greater value than ever to his district—a standing which any new congressman must take the same or more to acquire. What endears Frank Eddy to the people is the fact that as a member of congress he is the same Frank Eddy he was when he was making brick or blazing his pathway through the forest, and is always as ready to do a favor for a man who wears a mackinaw as for one who wears broadcloth. He is the congressman of the plain people.

NELS HOLBERG.

Nels Holberg, Republican candidate for register of deeds, was born in Sweeden, January 3, 1861, and came with his parents to the United States in 1869, settling in Carver, Carver county, Minn., where he attended school for a number of years. Afterwards he removed to Alexandria, Minn., where he accepted a position in the law office of Senator Knute Nelson for one year, having charge of the collections. After that he worked for two years in the general merchandise store of Larson & Sundblad where had charge of the boot and shoe department, and afterwards removed to Henning, Otter Tail county, and started in business for himself. For four years he conducted his business very successfully, but in the spring of 1886, his store was destroyed by by fire, and having no insurance he lost his life's earnings. Then he removed to Red Lake Falls, this county, where he has made many friends by being honest and endeavoring to make an honest living for himself and family. He has the reputation of taking a deep interest in whatever he is engaged in and there is no doubt but that he will make a good register of deeds.

NELS HOLBERG,
Candidate for Register of Deeds.

DAY F. STACY.

Day F. Stacy, the Republican nominee for county surveyor, is a competent man to fill the position. It is the only means he has of supporting his family, and voters should remember this and mark an X after his name.

DR. GRUNDY.

While the office of coroner is not a remunerative one, it should be held by a physician, and the Republicans have nominated Dr. Henry Grundy, of Thief River Falls, who is thoroughly competent.

COMMISSIONERS.

The Republicans have placed in nomination for the importand office of commissioners, two excellent candidates. W. C. L. Demann, in the Second district, has been renominated and deserved to be. He is at present chairman of the county board, and his past record is good.

Louis Hanson, the nominee in the Fourth district, is a young business man of Thief River Falls. He is being actively supported by all tax payers and will be elected.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

The Crookston College will open its fall term September 10. Board and room furnished and taken care of in private family or hotel for $2.50 to $3 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

> The Democratic proposition is to destroy what the Republican party has accomplished. If this is not true, then there is no issue in this campaign. But it is true. There is the very fitness of fate in these three words—Democracy, Destruction and Death.—United States Senator Beveridge.

THE "SMOKE NUISANCE."

> The factories no longer stand silent and smokeless, a monument to governmental mismanagement and political agitation, as fatal as it is stupid; and all of the agencies and forces of industry today are in glad and full activity, and in the seats of power and judgment, guiding and directing all, sits a Republican congress and a Republican president. There they will remain by reason of the common sense of the American people whose happiness and prosperity they have restored.—United States Senator Beveridge.

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZ-[illegible]

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

To Be Voted on
AT THE NEXT GENERAL ELECTION
TUESDAY, NOV. 6, 1900.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
Department of State,
October 1, 1900.

Pursuant to section three hundred and eleven (311) of the General Statutes of 1894, the same being chapter one hundred and fifty-seven (157) of the General Laws of 1887, the proposed Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota, as adopted by Act of the Legislature for 1899, for submission to the voters of this state at the general election to be held on Tuesday, the sixth (6th) day of November, A. D. nineteen hundred (1900), is herewith submitted:

ALBERT BERG, Secretary of State.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
Attorney General's Office,
St. Paul, July 3, 1900.

Hon. Albert Berg, Secretary of State.

Pursuant to chapter 157 of the General Laws of 1887, I herewith file in your office synopsis of Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota as proposed by chapter 92 of the General Laws of 1899. I am very respectfully,

W. B. DOUGLAS,
Attorney General.

SYNOPSIS OF AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF MINNESOTA PROPOSED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE SAID STATE AT THE LAST SESSION THEREOF, AND TO BE VOTED UPON AT THE GENERAL ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 6TH, 1900.

By General Laws 1899, Chapter 92, it is proposed to amend Article eight (8), Section six (6) of the Constitution.

The section as now existing reads as follows:

Section 6. The permanent school and university fund of this state may be invested in the purchase of bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, but no such investment shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the issue of which the same in part would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed seven per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property of the county, school district, city, town or village issuing such bonds; nor shall such loans or investments be made at a lower rate of interest than three per cent per annum nor for a shorter period than five (5) years, nor for a longer period than twenty (20) years, and no change of the town, school district, village, city or county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of the issuing of such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

It is proposed by said chapter to amend the same so as to read as follows:

Section 6. The permanent school and university fund of this state may be invested in the bonds of any county, school, district, city, town or village of this state, but no such investment shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the bonds to be issued or purchased would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property of the county, school district, city, town or village issuing such bonds; nor shall such loans or investments be made at a lower rate of interest than three (3) per cent per annum nor for a shorter period than five (5) years nor for a longer period than twenty (20) years, and no change of the town, school district, village, city or county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of the issuing of such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

The effect of the above amendment if adopted will be to authorize the investment of the permanent school and university fund of this state for a period of not less than five (5) or more than twenty (20) years at an interest rate not less than three (3) per cent per annum, in the bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, when the bonds to be issued or purchased will not make the entire bonded indebtedness of such municipalities exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property contained therein.

The substantial change proposed by said amendment is to authorize such investments when the entire indebtedness, including the loan in question, does not exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property in such municipalities; whereas, under the existing constitution loans are permitted only where such total indebtedness does not exceed seven (7) per cent of the assessed valuation.

July 3, 1900.

W. B. DOUGLAS,
Attorney General.

Wesley Evins,
City Dray Line.

All work in my line promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me an order and be convinced.

Wesley Evins,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

Subscribe for the News.

TOWN TALES.

Viavi, Room 33
Palace Hotel, Crookston, Minn.

School Supplies
-AT-
The New Drug Store.

Chief Moose Dung is down from the Agency.

O. J. Rollis was in the city the first of the week.

Frank Cernousek was down to Crookston last week.

County Treasurer Tanberg was in the city the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Staples arrived in this city last Saturday.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

James Meehan, Jr., has one heavy working team of horses for sale.

Jim Collens last week shot a bear near his claim nine miles east of Germantown.

C. L. Dobner removed to the house he recently purchased of W. A. Kratka last week.

C. G. Rapp, Republican nominee for representative, was in the city the first of the week.

> In the year of 1894 the wage-earners of this country diminished their savings banks deposits by more than $37,000,000. In three years of Republican rule, from 1897 to 1899, the same deposits increased by more than $400,000,000.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

O. P. Johnson removed to the house he recently built in Meehan's addition last week.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

County Supt. of Schools Jeffers was in the city yesterday visiting the schools—and incidentally talking politics.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

The steamboat Lilly took a number of people up the Red Lake river a short distance Sunday on an excursion.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

> We hold Porto Rico by the same title as the Philippines. The treaty of peace which ceded us the one conveyed to us the other. Congress has given to this island a government in which the inhabitants participate, elect their own legislature, enact their own local laws, provide their own system of taxation, and in these respects have the same power and privileges enjoyed by other territories belonging to the United States, and a much larger measure of self-government than was given to the inhabitants of Louisiana under Jefferson.—William McKinley's Acceptance Speech.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Helsknecht, Mrs. Philip Zeb and Miss Anna Schusser have returned to this city from a visit with friends in Wisconsin.

Rev. L. J. Parbst left last Saturday for St. Paul, and from there he will proceed to Montevideo, where he will attend the Baptist state convention. He will be absent about four week.

W. A. Case, Republican candidate for county auditor, was in the city Tuesday.

James Meehan, Jr., and John Morgan went to Crookston the first of the week.

Largest assortment of all the latest books at Stebbins' drug store. Call and see them.

Evenson Bros. brought a raft of lumber from their saw mill on Shotley brook to this city the first week.

The Diamond Store is going to give away a handsome doll. Parties interested should call at the store and secure information.

M. K. Wall has returned to this city from an extended trip in Wisconsin. "Mike's" home-coming has given new heart to the local Bryan men.

The fire department was called out yesterday afternoon by a small fire in the roof of the large barn of the Thief River Falls Lumber company. It was put out before any great damage was done.

H. J. Funk and L. Hannand, accompanied by their families, have removed to this city from Fargo, N. D., and will live here until it freezes up, when they will settle upon the reservation.

> The Democratic party produced a deficit in time of peace; and the Republican party created a surplus in time of war. (Applause.)—United States Senator Beveridge.

> The Democratic party produced a deficit in time of peace; and the Republican party created a surplus in time of war. (Applause.)—United States Senator Beveridge.

S. A. Swanson, the Populist nominee for representative, was in the city the first of the week, and asked us to state in our next issue that he had no whiskers on his face. That is just why he is not going to be elected, too—although nominated by the whisker party, he will not receive their support.

The hold-up artist was abroad Tuesday morning, and at about 2 o'clock ran amuck Frank Wiley. He was dealt a severe blow, which knocked him senseless, but the the man who did the job got no reward for his work, as Mr. Wiley had given his money early in the evening to a friend for safe keeping.

A Crookston hotel clerk made it a point to inform a couple of jolly looking travelers as to the location of the bar, though they had not asked for it, and was horrified later to learn that one of the men was a D. D. and the other a presiding elder at the M. E. conference. Ministers who visit Crookston should take the precaution to carry big labels.

One of Thief River Falls' old steamboats, the Red Lake Express is at present in the bottom of the Red River of the North. It was purchased by Grand Forks parties last winter and removed overland to Grand Forks. It has been making trips on the Red river during the summer, but last week it sank, to the bottom of the river. A crew of men are now attempting to raise it.

McKinley Club

Up to date 257 voters in the city of Thief River Falls have signified a willingness to become members of the McKinley club. Organization will be perfected Saturday evening and all are invited to be present.

Harrison on Trusts.

President Harrison, in his message to congress, Dec. 3d, 1889, when he took office, said: "Earnest attention should be given by congress to a consideration of the question how far the restraint of those conditions of capital commonly called 'trusts' is matter of federal jurisdiction. When organized, as they often are, to crush out all healthy competition and to monopolize the production or sale of an article of commerce and general necessity, they are dangerous conspiracies against the public good, and should be made the subject of prohibitory and even penal legislation."

Mr. Bryan is not the original anti-trust man. Every bit of restraining legislation now on the statute books has been placed there by the Republican party.

REPUBLICANS NEVER RETREAT.

> Whenever people begin to retreat, that people begins to die, and the question is whether the period of our decline has come. The question is whether we are ready to abandon our traditional policy of expansion, of growth. Fellow citizens, consider our history. This is our traditional history: Washington and an independent nation stretching along the Atlantic, the mere stripling of the sea. Abraham Lincoln, and that nation made indivisible in its authority, flung westward from horizon to horizon, and even to the ends of the sunset. William McKinley, and that nation supreme among the powers of earth and its flag established over the islands that supply the oceans of commerce of mankind. These are the mountain peaks of American history which mark the advances of the American people, and you must read its tremendous meaning in the purpose of a Providence in whose sight a thousand years is but as yesterday. (Applause.)—United States Senator Beveridge.

SENATOR JONES' TRUST

DEMOCRATIC MANAGER HOLDS THE COTTON GROWERS BY THE THROAT.

What the Round Cotton Bale Trust Is and Why Mr. Bryan Does Not Denounce It When on the Stump.

Senator J. K. Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is a defendant in a proceeding brought under the anti-trust law of Texas. He has company in his trouble (John E. Searles, known in Wall street as one of the biggest "trust magnates," is a co-defendant.) The Texans have placed these two gentlemen under fire because they are the heaviest stockholders in a concern known as the American Cotton company. John E. Searles is president of the organization.

The chairman of the Democratic national committee says his company is but "a large business concern." But the Texans—and Texas is a Democratic state—think differently. It is charged that the Jones-Searles combination constitutes a conspiracy against lawful trade and free competition.

The American Cotton company is a monopoly if there ever was one. Not only is it entrenched behind $7,000,000 capital stock, but it is fortified by patents which exclude the possibility of competition.

Nicoll's Stock Exchange Handbook, a recognized authority, says: "The American Cotton company is a corporation which controls the patents for machinery and processes in making round-lap bales."

"Controls"—that word itself is suggestive of the "octopus." It is the word over which Mr. Bryan fumed in his St. Louis denunciation of trusts.

Every cotton ginning plant in the South must have one of the machines manufactured by the American Cotton company. They save time and money. The cotton ginner must make his arrangements with the Jones-Searles combination. It has exclusive possession of the field. The ginner must come to the terms of the combination. He can deal no place else. He cannot even buy independence from this $7,000,000 combination. The American Cotton company refuses to sell its product. It leases its machines. The manufacturer attaches one to his plant and yearly pays tribute to the American Cotton company. So great are the profits of this combination that in the short time the concern has been in existence Senator Jones is said to have risen from the estate of a comparatively poor man until he is now regarded as a millionaire. And the Southern ginners continue to swell the bank account of the Democratic campaign manager.

William Jennings Bryan, in his denunciation of trusts at St. Louis, gave a list of the great corporations of the country. He left out the American Cotton company and the American Ice company. The others he denounced. But these two Democratic organizations he ignored. He exclaimed: "Those who attempt to divide private monopolies into good monopolies and bad monopolies will never make any progress toward the overthrow of trusts." Therefore Mr. Bryan will not succeed as a trust smasher.

Even in making his division in monopolies Mr. Bryan showed strong discrimination. He specified such concerns as the Federal Steel company. Yet this concern is only one of several iron and steel companies in the country. No one is forced to do business with the Federal Steel. There are the American Steel and Wire company, the Republic Iron and Steel company, the National Steel company, the Carnegie company. And there are others. But Mr. Bryan made his division in favor of the American Ice company, which had absolute control over the prices in New York city, and which, last spring, turned upon the poor of the tenement house districts and added to its wealth by the suffering of the poverty-stricken. And Mr. Bryan makes his division in favor of a concern which is so fortified that every cotton ginning plant is forced to pay tribute to it.

It depends, when Mr. Bryan denounces trusts, upon whose ox is being gored.

McKinley Favors Arbitration.

While still in the house of representatives, Mr. McKinley, on April 3d, 1886, said:

"I believe, Mr. Chairman, in arbitration as a principle. I believe it should prevail in the settlement of international difficulties. It represents a higher civilization than the arbitrament of war. I believe it is in accord with the best thought and sentiment of mankind; I believe it is the true way of settling differences between labor and capital; I believe it will bring them both to a better understanding, uniting them closer in interest and promoting better relations, avoiding force, avoiding unjust exactions and oppressions, avoiding disturbances of trade and transportation; and if this house can contribute in the smallest measure, by legislative expression or otherwise, to these ends, it will deserve and receive the gratitude of all men who love peace, good order, justice and fair play."

Those who are attacking Mr. McKinley as indifferent to labor must have blinded themselves to his record.

The St. Paul Dispatch of Sept. 21, says:

"The current issue of the Reform Press Bureau presents the Democratic campaign issues according to the most advanced Democratic idea. The issues upon which the Democrats are making their campaign are fairly well shown in the Reform Press Bureau's cartoon for this week. It represents Capt. Van Sant staggering along a public highway with 'Teddy' Roosevelt in the lead, the captain being weighted down with a number of labeled articles, one of which is an enormous bottle marked 'Republican Enthusiasm Whisky.' The cartoon is, of course, of the scraggy, scrawly sort that the bureau turns out from its plant, and is very faulty in execution, but it suffices to show the Democratic plan of campaign—personal abuse and villification.

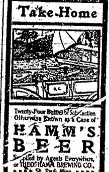
"A few weeks ago the Republican committee sent out a letter to the Republican editors of the state appealing to them to use the arguments of reason and moderation, and not to be driven by the abuse of the opposition to replying in kind. It has been observed that the Republican press has followed this advice very closely, and almost without exception Republican newspapers have confined themselves to fair and moderate criticism of Gov. Lind's administration, and have carefully avoided all personalities.

"The letter of the Republican committee to the Republican editors seems to have driven the Democratic managers into a frenzy, and they responded to the appeal for decent methods by getting out the indecent cartoon above alluded to."

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.



Take Home
Twenty-Four Bottles of Satisfaction Otherwise Known as a Case of
HAMM'S BEER
Supplied by Agents Everywhere, or THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn.

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of Congress approved February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 21st day of November, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼ Section 4, T. 157 N., R. 41 W.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated Oct. 9th, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

Oct 11 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 28, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on November 19th 1900, viz: Hermane Hansen, H. E. 16,720, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 25, Tp. 156 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole O. Lund, of Holt, Minn.
Olaf Iversen, of Holt, Minn.
Osvald Hoel, of Holt, Minn.
Arne A. Moe, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.

aug 11 6

CLOSING OUT SALE

Our entire stock of General Merchandise, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, must be closed out within the next thirty days.

We offer everything at or below cost. Nothing reserved from this sale. Seven thousand dollars worth of choice merchandise must be sacrificed. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs. It will pay you to take advantage of it.

TERMS CASH. Positively no goods charged.
Building for sale or rent.
Fixtures for sale.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

C. L. Dobner, President. H. G. Dobner, Cashier. L. Ellington, Vice-President.

FIRST STATE BANK
OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. Gallach, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. Ellington, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. Wheeler, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. Hendricksen, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. Dobner, President,
H. G. Dobner, Cashier

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
General Banking.
Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE, REAL ESTATE, FARM LOANS and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

G. H. Turville,
Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.
First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.
Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection
La Bree Avenue. Thief River Falls.

Burlington Route
A GREAT AMERICAN TRAVELER SAYS:
"I would rather dine on a Burlington route dining car than on any other dining car in the world. The only other railroad service that compares with it is the Orient Express, on which I traveled between Paris and Constantinople.
S. S. McCLURE,
Publisher McClure's Magazine.
Leaves Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., daily. Arrives Chicago 9:25 next morning. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.
P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

STILL ON THE RUN

DEMOCRATIC MANAGERS FAIL TO RESPOND TO TELLING BLOWS ADMINISTERED BY "BOB" DUNN IN HIS MILACA SPEECH.

STATEMENTS CONSERVATIVE

Losses by Democratic Mismanagement Run up into the Hundreds of Thousands, and the Surplus Is Rapidly Disappearing.

The speech of Hon. R. C. Dunn at Milaca Sept. 21 was such a body blow to the Lind administration that the Democratic machine was fairly paralyzed and has not even yet recovered. On the Sunday following the speech the Globe, Gov. Lind's official organ, had only recovered its breath sufficiently to make the feeble defense that the old railroad bonds voted by the Democratic legislature of 1857 were "stood for" by the people; that a majority of the people were Republicans and that the Republicans were therefore really responsible for the issue of the bonds, even if a Democratic legislature did pass the act.

And right there the Globe stopped. Even Gov. Lind, in his opening speech of the campaign at Red Wing the evening following Mr. Dunn's speech, could find no excuse to make for the extravagance and waste in the grain inspection bureau or the shameful incompetency of those in charge of the binding twine plant. The fact is there was no explanation that could be made—nothing but excuses—and the Democrats would gladly drop the subject where is it, had a plight as that leaves them in. Mr. Dunn's statement of the case was so conservative, and his language so mild, that few, even among Republicans, appreciate their importance and gravity.

The statement as to the grain inspection bureau is plain enough, and any one can see the point of it. It is a mathematically demonstrated proposition, the figures being furnished by the Democrats themselves and the conviction coming out of their own mouths.

The last year of Republican administration of the bureau cost	$191,681.12
The first year of Democratic administration of the bureau cost	207,955.59
Difference in favor of Republicans	$16,274.47

Now, if there was any difference in the cost of maintenance in the two years the excess should be in the year when there was the largest crop, but such is not the case, for the crop that it cost $207,000 to inspect was about one-fourth less than the crop that the Republicans inspected for $191,000. And it must not be forgotten that the Lind administration also had a board of appeals to fill with its heelers at a cost of $14,000, bringing the total excess over the expenses of the last year of Republican rule quite up to $30,000.

The cause of this difference in expense is not far to seek. It can be found in the fact that Gov. Lind appointed to the chief places in the bureau men who were totally unfamiliar with the work, and who were given places for purely political reasons, and this compelled the department to enlarge the pay roll in order to get men to do the work. The excess in the pay roll of 1900 over that of 1898 would, as Mr. Dunn has pointed out, pay twenty-seven inspectors salaries of $600 a year each. The department has simply added to the pay roll enough of these $600 inspectors to do the work of the $1,200 to $2,000 men who devote their time solely to Democratic politics.

But it was Mr. Dunn's expose of the mismanagement—to call it by its mildest name—in the prison twine plant that appalled the people and dumbfounded the Democratic managers. They could not deny the accuracy of the figures, for they were taken from Warden Reeve's official reports to the state auditor. In making his report of the facts Auditor Dunn speaks almost as a reluctant witness, disliking to attach discredit and reproach to the state of which he is so proud. He simply gives the official figures that show an excess of $341,651.45 in the operating expenses of the prison for 1900 over those of 1899.

He then points out that, according to Warden Reeve's report, there is on hand at the prison 1,175,000 pounds of sisal for which the managers paid 8¼ cents a pound, and which can be bought in the open market to-day for 5¼ cents a pound, showing a loss of 3 cents a pound on 1,175,000 pounds, or a total loss of $35,000. That is as far as Mr. Dunn carries the figures, but those who have read and followed his speech go further. They face the fact that the state has been disgraced if not robbed, and want to know the worst. The fact is that the managers of the twine plant bought, as Warden Reeve's report to the state auditor shows, more than 7,000,000 pounds of sisal, costing, according to the same authority, not less than 8¼ cents a pound. Now, this is about the highest price ever paid for that product, and that price ruled for but a short time, that time being when the Philippine insurgents were making their most successful fight against the American forces. It is a most singular thing that Col. Reeve, who had just returned from the Philippines as a nominal officer of an American regiment, should be so convinced of the permanence of the Aguinaldo "government" as to stock up the prison twine plant for years to come at a fancy price that could hold good only in the event of the failure of the Americans to subdue the rebels in the Philippines. If Col. Reeve had ever followed his men into actual battle in the Philippine war he would have seen enough to convince him that the Tagals could not hold out long against American arms, and he would not have paid out the state's money on a speculation, the success of which depended upon Tagal victory.

Taking Col. Reeve's figures for the cost of this sisal and the market reports for its value we can approximately fix the loss of the state in the speculation. The sisal was bought when it was at the highest point, and it soon began to depreciate in value, running down steadily until it struck below 5½ cents a pound, or a net loss of 3 cents from highest to lowest points. Supposing the decline to have been gradual and to have gone down to 3 cents from the time of the purchase until now, and the factory having used substantially 6,000,000 pounds during the period, it is certainly a conservative estimate to place the average depreciation in value at 1½ cents a pound. On 6,000,000 pounds that would foot up a net loss of $90,000, which, added to the loss on the stock now on hand, would make a total loss of $125,000.

But even this is not all, or the worst. The cordage trust, which had never been able to sell within 2 cents a pound of the prison twine, has gained new strength and is underselling the prison twine from 2 to 3 cents a pound. The prison twine has depreciated in quality while advancing in price, and the farmer who bought trust twine not only got it 10 per cent cheaper, but 10 per cent better.

OF COURSE THE BOOKS OF THE PRISON TWINE PLANT DO NOT SHOW THE LOSS, FOR THE FARMERS HAD TO PAY ENOUGH MORE FOR THE TWINE TO MAKE THE PRISON BOOKS BALANCE. THE LOSS ALL COMES OUT OF THE FARMER'S POCKET—NOT OUT OF THE PRISON OR THE ADMINISTRATION.

When in 1896, and again in 1898, Gov. Lind promised that he would "reform" the grain inspection bureau and the prison twine plant, it is to be assumed that this is what he meant, for that is what he has done in one year, put in tabulated form for convenience of understanding:

Increase in expense of grain inspection bureau	$30,000
Loss to state in prison twine plant	125,000
Total loss	$155,000

This, too, in a year when there was a short crop, less grain to be inspected, and, necessarily, less twine to be paid for. It is not only the loss of money that the farmer sustains, but the value of the grade in fixing the price of grain is destroyed and the farmers have lost confidence in the state binding twine plant and will buy trust twine rather than submit to the extortion consequent upon the almost criminal mismanagement of the prison twine plant.

It is not necessary here or now to go further into the details given by Mr. Dunn. If every other department in the state had been well managed the odium attaching to these two would condemn the whole. But they have not. There is not a department in the state that has been conducted as economically or as well as it was under Republican auspices, while almost without exception they have cost more. The state institutions, like the departments, have been conducted at an increased expense with no corresponding improvement in the service.

Such is reform as the people get it at Democratic hands—a reform that gives a worse service and charges more for it. No one wonders at the intervals of forty years between Democratic administrations.

One of the most significant facts pointed out by Auditor Dunn in his speech was that the per capita cost of maintenance of the inmates of the state prison, insane asylums and other public institutions steadily decreased from year to year as the institutions grew, until along about the close of the year 1898, when the work of the "reform" administration began to get in its deadly work, and then it came to a standstill or begun to increase again. There is positively no excuse for anything of this kind. The state has provided magnificent buildings for the care of its dependents, with every convenience for the comfort of the inmates and the most scientific arrangements for economically caring for them. Ever one will understand that, with the buildings and fixtures all provided, the cost of keeping should be reduced per individual as the number cared for increases. It is the wholesale idea in business—the same principle upon which one can buy a car load of flour at a less cost per pound than one can buy a single sack. Under ordinary circumstances, therefore, and with reasonably good management, the cost of caring for the state wards should be less per capita each year than they were the preceding year. Instead of this, as Mr. Dunn says, "In the years 1899 and 1900 there is a slight increase shown."

The same bad management is shown in every department of the state government. Every department went before the legislature demanding increased appropriations, and, when it was refused, made a lack of funds the excuse for failure. A striking instance of this is found in the game and fish commission, which found $26,000 a year ample for its support under Republican administration; but when the Democrats got in it was insufficient, and, as Gov. Lind himself declared, "the law is not enforced because the department has not sufficient funds with which to enforce it."

In his acceptance speech, Gov. Lind declared that the only difficulty with our finances at the present time is the large surplus in the treasury. If the Democratic grain inspection bureau is given a couple of more whacks at that surplus, at the rate of $30,000 a year, and if the prison twine plant can run the state in the hole at the rate of $125,000 a year, there will be no trouble with the surplus. It will be replaced in due time with the good, old orthodox Democratic deficit. The Republican party always preferred a surplus to a deficit, and the Democratic party can transform a surplus into a deficit quicker than any party on earth.

The thousands of farmers who are paying interest on the land they bought from the state will not forget that the bill to reduce the interest from 5 to 4 per cent would have passed but for the fact that the Democrats of the senate caucused on the measure and decided to oppose it as a unit.

HENRY W. [illegible],

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Office on LaBree Ave.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW.

Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty.

CROOKSTON, - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,

LAW AND COLLECTIONS.

Office over the postoffice.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,

NOTARY PUBLIC.

Office on La Bree Ave.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.,

DENTIST.

In Thief River Falls from 5th to 10th of every month. Office over harness shop.

Dr. A. Ekern,

(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)

Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.

GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA

Office in Herald Block.

Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m.

PORTER & PAULSON,

-- Proprietors of --

CITY DRAY

-- and --

TRANSFER LINE.

Great Northern Express Handled.

Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

Henry Francis,

M. D., C. M.

Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates:

Paul A. Kaufer, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jefferys & Edwards, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Scott, St. Hilaire Spectator.
Jens W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 25, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 15th, 1900, viz: Vaclav Havranek, H. E. 19,165, for the SW¼, Sec. 4, Tp. 154 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Hodik, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Vavrika, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Krall, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.

10 4 6

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 27th day of October, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼, Sec. 19, SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 31, SE¼ NW¼, Sec. 32, T. 156 N., R. 44 W.

"Any and all parties claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated August 30, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

Sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Anton Anderson, H. E. 16,188, for the Lots 3, 4 and 5, Sec. 6, Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware, Minn.
Lars Hegmann, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 12, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Walter Junkin, H. E. 20,328, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 31, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and Lots 2 and 3, Sec. 4, Tp. 157, N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Alva J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Eugene Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Anton O. Haugh, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Martin O. Anderson, H. E. 16,487, for the Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 30, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 25, Tp. 158 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware Minn.
Anton Houg, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.
Nils Sundberg, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 17, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Carolina Olson, H. E. 19,569, for the SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 34, Tp. 150, N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Peder O. Peterson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Torger T. Sollom, of Newfolden, Minn.
Isak W. Garfve, of Newfolden, Minn.
Aslak H. Langli, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 11th, 1900, viz: Even P. Engestad, H. E. 19,177, for the NE¼ NE¼, Sec. 14, Tp. 153 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole A. Ronning, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Bernt Wold, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
L. M. Kles, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Henry Norland, of Thief River Falls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 5th, 1900, viz: Edward Bolton, H. E. 16,043, for the NE¼ SW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and NW¼ NE¼, Sec. 12, Tp. 157 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Julius Hanson, of Ingalls, Minn.
Alfred Mickelson, of Ingalls, Minn.
John Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.
George Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 21, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 13th, 1900, viz: Tina O. Howe, H. E. 17,043, for the Lot 7, Sec. 6, NE¼ NW¼ and Lot 1, Sec. 7 Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Hans Hagen, of Ware, Minn.
Hans Johnson, of Ware, Minn.
John Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Severin Haug, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 21, 1900, viz: Charles Hodik, H. E. 19,010, for the SE¼ SW¼ and Lots 6 and 7, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Bresa, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Homolka, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 24, 1900, viz: Anton Homolka, H. E. 16,102, for the SE¼ NE¼ and Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Charles Hodik, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Bresa, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Ganerius O. Satnas, H. E. 15,203, for the E½ SW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 2, Tp. 154 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole P. Nygaard, of Norden, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Axel Larson, of New Solum, Minnesota.
Chris Loftaas, of New Solum, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 6 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., August 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office, at Crookston, Minn., on October 15th, 1900, viz: Ole P. Nygaard, H. E. 16,786, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 8, N½ NE¼ and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 17, Tp. 154, N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ganerius O. Satnas, of New Solum, Minnesota.
R. Martensen, of Norden, Minnesota.
Ole O. Nesja, of Norden, Minnesota.
Hans A. Myrom, of Norden, Minnesota.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 6 6t

CLOTHING!
CLOTHING!!
CLOTHING!!!

I have just received from Chicago a large assortment of ladies' winter jackets, which I will sell at ridiculously low prices.

This lot contains the finest grades of English Kersey, Beaver, Melton, Astrakan and Boncle, and comes in black, blue, brown, green and light and dark tan.

I am now prepared to show the finest line in the city of Clothing, Shoes, Underwear, Hats and Gents' Furnishings.

H. Lowin, RED ✳ STAR CLOTHING HOUSE. Proprietor.

HOTEL OGAHMAH.

C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,

John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done. Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - MINN.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, WASHINGTON, D. C.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 41. [redacted] RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Our entire stock of General Merchandise, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, must be closed out within the next thirty days.

We offer everything at or below cost. Nothing reserved from this sale. Seven thousand dollars worth of choice merchandise must be sacrificed. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs. It will pay you to take advantage of it.

TERMS CASH. Positively no goods charged.
Building for sale or rent.
Fixtures for sale.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON, Vice-President.

FIRST STATE BANK
OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. O. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
O. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE, REAL ESTATE, FARM LOANS and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,

John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done. Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - - MINN.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, WASHINGTON, D. C.

HENRY WATTERSON DESERTS BRYANISM

THE DEMOCRATIC EDITOR OF LOUISVILLE CALLS THE CHICAGO CONVENTION A WILD ORGY.

(From the Louisville Courier-Journal June 14, 1897.)

The history of the conspiracy which took place at the Chicago convention of 1896, and by which the temporary expedient, known as the Chicago platform, was concocted, is gradually coming to light, and is startling the country.

Within the last few days, in a debate in the senate, where a number of silverites were voting for high protection, it was developed that, in that convention, as the Courier-Journal has frequently shown, there was an intentional repudiation of the old-time Democratic idea of tariff taxation. Six or eight senators—followers of Bryan, who assisted in framing the platform—openly avowed that it justified them, and was intended to justify them, in voting to tax for protection lumber, cotton, wool, iron ore, coal and everything else that may be considered raw material.

The charge made by the sound money Democrats during the last canvass (and sometimes denied by the silverites for campaign reasons) is now confessed by their champion Tillman, who, when pressed by Senator Lindsay as to why the good old Democratic word "only" was omitted after the words "tariff for revenue," said: "I can throw some light on that subject. It was omitted purposely, after discussion."

It stands confessed, therefore, that in order to capture the votes of that element of the Republican party who were for free silver, but at the same time were for high protection, the Democratic principle of tariff was surrendered at Chicago, and the platform made capable of construction into a protection document.

So, likewise, in order to capture the votes of the Populists, the Chicago platform advocated doctrines that would lead to the ownership of railroads, and other species of paternalism run mad.

In order to curry favor with and obtain the votes of Debs, Altgeld and the socialists and anarchists who had been raiding the railroads, the old Democratic doctrine of "law and order" was thrown aside, and the principles of disorder and attacks upon the courts of justice were inserted.

And in order to obtain the floating vote of Coxey's army and the other discontented and volatile elements of the country (who are opposed to all government and all property in the hands of any one else), those provisions were inserted which led during the campaign to a general attack upon the rights of property all along the line, which led to the arraying of "masses against classes" the "poor against the rich" and section against section.

It transpires that the making of that platform was turned over by the Democrats to those unholy allies, to be shaped to suit themselves, as the price of their votes. It was not made for Democrats, not intended for Democrats; but was made for allies, who were not Democratic.

And yet, it is this monstrous document, thus intended to abandon Democratic principles for fear of scaring away the undemocratic allies, which reckless and irresponsible men seek to perpetuate upon Democracy and upon the country as the only declaration of Democratic principles, and as the basis of a great party.

The history of the concoction of that platform, now coming to light, presents a picture unexampled even in the diversified corruption of modern politics. We shall have to go back into the dark ages to find its parallel.

The picture of the frenzied and uncanny Tillman, the wild and revolutionary Altgeld, the windy and scatter-brained Bryan, and the other figures that supplied the ingredients would require the pen of a Shakespeare—the pen that with seemingly prophetic vision described a scene in "Macbeth," where a somewhat similar concoction was brewed.

It would almost seem as if the great dramatist intended to symbolize the wild and unholy orgy at Chicago, and to paint, in an allegory, the "deed without a name" there done, to make "the office deftly show."

Do You Want This to Return?

The following resolution, charging the Democratic party with direct responsibility for the fearful suffering of labor, was adopted by the Union Labor club of Chicago, and was printed in the newspapers Dec. 10, 1893:

"From the midst of the most prosperous era that the people of the United States have ever known, we are suddenly submerged to the depths of despair. In our own city 100,000 men and women are battling with starvation and cold. We are not alone in this; from every point of the compass in our fair land comes the wail of woe from freezing men and starving women and children. Never before in the history of our country has there been so large an army of unemployed. Never before have there been so many men, women and children dependent upon the cold charities of the world for subsistences; never so many factories idle; never so many attempts to reduce wages. For these calamities there is a cause to which we were hitherto careless and indifferent, but which we now thoroughly understand and appreciate. The suicidal policy of free trade which Grover Cleveland at its head proposes to establish, regardless of the suffering it may engender, is now thoroughly understood by the working people, and unless we, that are most interested in its preservation, awake ourselves and speak in trumpet tones, that policy will be pushed to the utmost extremity."

WEBSTER KNEW BRYAN'S TYPE OF DEMAGOGUERY.

The Statesman Denounced It In the Senate Sixty-four Years Ago.

Democrats and Republicans of the present generation alike revere and respect Daniel Webster. He was one of the greatest statesmen produced by this or any other country. Mr. Bryan is fond of quoting from Abraham Lincoln, another of America's greatest statesmen, and, in his eagerness, he has sometimes garbled his quotations, too. For a change, he might try a quotation or two from Webster, for example, from his great speech in the United States senate on Jan. 31, 1834, "The Natural Hatred of the Poor to the Rich." Sixty-four years ago, Daniel Webster stood up in the senate and denounced the demagogism of his day in words which fit the present crisis precisely.

Daniel Webster addressed the senate as follows:

"Sir: I see, in those vehicles which carry to the people sentiments from high places, plain declarations that the present controversy is but a strife between one part of the community and another. I hear it boasted as the unfailing security, the solid ground, never to be shaken, that the poor naturally hate the rich. I know that, within the last twenty-four hours, among men sent here to devise means for the public safety and the public good, it has been vaunted forth, as matter of boast and triumph, that one cause existed powerful enough to support everything and to defend everything; and that was, the natural hatred of the poor to the rich.

"Sir, I pronounce the author of such sentiments to be guilty of attempting a detestable fraud on the community; a double fraud; a fraud which is to cheat men out of their property, and out of the earnings of their labor, by first cheating them out of their liberty.

"'The natural hatred of the poor to the rich!' Sir, it shall not be till the last moment of my existence—it shall be only when I am drawn to the verge of oblivion, when I shall cease to have respect or affection for anything on earth—that I will believe the people of the United States capable of being effectually deluded, cajoled and driven about in herds, by such abominable frauds as this. If they shall sink to that point, if they shall so far cease to be men, thinking men, intelligent men, as to yield to such pretenses and such clamor, they will be slaves already; slaves to their own passions, slaves to the fraud and knavery of pretended friends.

"'The natural hatred of the poor against the rich!' 'The danger of a moneyed aristocracy!' 'A power as great and dangerous as that resisted by the Revolution!' 'A call to a new Declaration of Independence!' Sir, I admonish the people against the object of outcries like these. I admonish every industrious laborer in the country to be on his guard against such delusion. I tell him the attempt is to play off his passions against his interests, and to prevail on him, in the name of liberty, in the name of patriotism, to injure and afflict his country; and, in the name of his own independence, to make him a beggar and a slave. Has he a dollar? He is advised to do that which will destroy half its value. Has he hands to labor? Let him rather fold them, and sit still, than be pushed on, by fraud and artifice, to support measures which will render his labor useless and hopeless."

Porto Rican Trade Grows.

Four months' operations of the Porto Rican tariff law show an increase of more than 100 per cent in our exports to that island as compared with the corresponding months of 1899, and more than 300 per cent as compared with the corresponding months of 1897 or 1898.

The act went into effect May 1, 1900, so that the figures for August, which have just been completed by the treasury board of statistics, complete the record of the fourth month of commerce between the island and the United States under the new law, and render practicable a comparison of the four months' term with corresponding periods in preceding years.

The year 1898 is omitted, as this country and Spain were then at war.

The complete record is as follows:

Imports from Porto Rico into the United States:

Month of	1896.	1897.	1899.	1900.
May	$450,821	$353,938	$847,179	$1,103,877
June	616,746	361,329	814,603	1,218,257
July	254,676	145,373	449,267	640,023
August	107,880	72,625	74,323	281,903
Total during four months	$1,360,123	$1,153,264	$1,984,672	$3,244,060

Exports to Porto Rico from the United States:

Month of	1896.	1897.	1899.	1900.
May	$113,068	$161,815	$305,664	$696,479
June	178,318	157,138	341,423	890,979
July	101,946	156,298	213,303	529,729
August	194,361	143,945	251,843	403,623
Total during four months	$587,686	$629,224	$1,112,233	$2,525,815

Figures That Speak Volumes.

Acting President Hollister, of the Chicago Penny Savings society, reports as follows on the school childrens' deposits for the past three years:

Year ending June 30, 1898	$19,140.00
Year ending June 30, 1899	33,960.00
Year ending June 30, 1900	71,793.00

No comparative statement could more clearly demonstrate the prosperity now being enjoyed by the great middle class, whose children attend the public schools.

CLOTHING!
CLOTHING!!
CLOTHING!!!

I have just received from Chicago a large assortment of ladies' winter jackets, which I will sell at ridiculously low prices.

This lot contains the finest grades of English Kersey, Beaver, Melton, Astrakan and Boncle, and comes in black, blue, brown, green and light and dark tan.

I am now prepared to show the finest line in the city of Clothing, Shoes, Underwear, Hats and Gents' Furnishings.

H. Lowin, RED ✳ STAR CLOTHING HOUSE. Proprietor.

HOTEL OGAHMAH.

C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.

THE NEWS,
By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, OCT. 18, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

All of the candidates on the Republican county ticket are receiving a great deal of encouragement, and the chances of their being elected are good.

L. C. Simons, who was nominated by the Republicans for county attorney, has decided to remain in the race, and, while he will make no great effort to be elected, the people who are dissatisfied with both the Populist and Democratic nominees will be given an opportunity to vote for a man of their choice. Mr. Simons is a good, clean man and a capable attorney.

One of the over-zealous Daly papers at Fergus Falls states that Congressman Eddy's free homes bill was passed in the interests of the pine land barons. This may be believed by people living in that section of the state, but residents of this end of the district know that the bill was passed in the interests of poor, hardworking homesteaders—and they all appreciate Mr. Eddy's efforts, too.

The report comes from St. Hilaire to the effect that B. E. Burkee has decided to withdraw from the contest for county auditor, and the fight will now be between Adam Zeh, the Populist nominee, and W. A. Case, the Republican nominee. Mr. Burkee was an extremely popular man in the vicinity of St. Hilaire, but his acquaintance in the county was limited, and he could not hope to be elected.

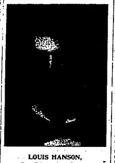
Thomas Jefferson, whom Mr. Bryan calls a model president, had in 1808 a regular army of 10,000 for a population of 7,200,000. William McKinley has in 1900 a regular army of 65,000 for a population of 75,000,000. Jefferson made the regular army .00138 of the population. McKinley's regular army is but .00085 of the population. As 85 is to 138, so is the threat of militarism to the country under McKinley to the threat of militarism under Thomas Jefferson himself.—Fargo Call.

As election day draws near, it becomes more certain each day that Frank M. Eddy will again be elected congressman from the Seventh district. Mr. Eddy will carry fourteen of the eighteen counties in the Seventh district, and the little county of Pope, where Mr. Eddy resides, will offset the majority given to Daly in the large county of Polk. Red Lake county will undoubtedly give a majority to Daly, although it would seem that the voters would not be so ungrateful, when it is considered that Mr. Eddy has done so much for this county.

It is reported—and upon good authority—that F. A. Grady, the Populist nominee for county attorney, has made a proposition to a number of the saloon keepers of Red Lake county to the effect that if they will each pay him ten dollars he will fight the law governing the closing of saloons on Sunday and have it declared unconstitutional. This law has been in force in Minnesota for a number of years, and we doubt Mr. Grady's ability to have it declared null. Mr. Grady, however, may be making this proposition in order to gain the support of the saloon element of the county, and, if that is so, the temperance people living in the county have a right to know on which shoulder he proposes to carry water. The columns of the News are open to Mr. Grady to give any explanation he desires.

Louis Hanson.

The office of county commissioner is an important one, and should be held by a man who is interested financially in the community he represents. Louis Hanson, the Republican nominee, si one of the substantial business men of Thief River Falls, and will have the united support of all the tax payers of this city. He is conservative, has sound judgment, and will make an efficient member.



LOUIS HANSON,
Candidate for County Commissioner.

Mistook Her for a Wolf.

Warren, Minn., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Stromer, a farmer's wife, was accidentally shot and killed instantly by Nels Fernstrom. Fernstrom was returning home from a hunt, and it was growing dusk in the early evening. He noticed what he supposed to be a wolf near a haystack. He immediately aimed and fired at the object. On going up to the object, he discovered that he had shot Mrs. Stromer.

MARKETS.

(Corrected to Date.)

No. 1 Northern	66c
Oats	30c
Flax	$1.50
Beef	2½c
Pork	4½c
Mutton	8c
Eggs	15c
Butter	13 to 20c
Hay, per ton	$6.00
Potatoes, per bu	40c

> No, the American people never retreat. And if we could retreat, we would not begin that movement at the request of those whose sympathy with this nation's foes has caused the shedding of American blood and the lives of American soldiers.—United States Senator Beveridge.

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

STATESMAN, SOLDIER AND MAN OF ACTION.

Cause of the Admiration in Which He Is Held in the West—Courageous Acts Are His Convictions.

(By R. P. Clarkson, of the Des Moines Register, Des Moines, Iowa.)

Theodore Roosevelt has the affection of the people of the Western states. Each step in his career is watched and followed with a depth of interest only accorded those who have a fixed place in our hearts. In thus establishing himself with the Western people, in his life in the West and as a leader of the Rough Riders during the war with Spain, he came into what was his own. He has within him the qualities which are possessed and admired in the rugged West and he has them in such a degree as to naturally make him a leader loved of all.

Roosevelt is a man of action. He is direct, honest and courageous. He is practical and resourceful and proves himself the master of every situation in which he is placed. With intelligent and well directed effort he surmounts every obstacle barring the way to achievement of desired ends. And withal he does not stoop or cringe, but, respecting others, he compels respect for himself. Of such stuff are made the men who have advanced the West to its present position of power and influence. These qualities in combination have wrought the greatness of the West, have brought material wealth and prosperity to its homes and made its voice a controlling power in the halls of national council and legislation.

The West claims Theodore Roosevelt. He is the favorite son of Nebraska, of Kansas, of Colorado, of the Dakotas and Montana—we might even say of Texas. He is the favorite son of all the Western people whose hearts have been warmed to him by his daring, courage, skill and patriotism. The rugged honesty, unswerving integrity of purpose and intelligent activity which marked the career of Roosevelt as civil service commissioner, as police commissioner of New York, and as assistant secretary of the navy, had commended him to the people of the Western states as a man worthy of the highest trusts. His course after the declaration of war with Spain fully revealed him to the Western people as their exemplar and prototype.

Roosevelt was active in the department of the navy at Washington, but he craved the activity of the field. He sought opportunity to give play and exercise to those hardy accomplishments acquired in the West. Roosevelt knew himself; he was conscious of his capacities and limitations. Of horsemanship he was a master. Of men he was a leader. Of daring and love of manly adventure he had his share. He was acquainted with the methods of the navy department at Washington. He was deficient in technical military education, but he sought a field where he could find full play for his accomplishments and took a position in command where no man would suffer a single discomfort or added danger by lack of his military training. He organized the regiment of Rough Riders. Col. Wood, an old officer, was first in command and Roosevelt was second. Not many moons had passed until "Teddy" was as thoroughly trained a soldier and officer as there was in the military establishment.

By the time the regiment of Rough Riders left their rendezvous at San Antonio to go to the front, every member of it was en rapport with the gallant lieutenant colonel. A thousand men from many different states, from all walks of life, and from every grade of society had within a few short weeks been knit together in a close, harmonious and effective fighting organization. Where in history can be found a parallel to this?

Through the weeks of drill, on the way to the front, on the field of battle, Roosevelt looked after the welfare of his men and exacted of every man his duty. When the fighting was over he brought his men home and, in taking leave of them at Montauk, he gave them heartfelt advice in a speech that will never be forgotten. His words on that occasion but revealed the man and the mainsprings of his own strenuous existence. There is no man in the United States whose actions more thoroughly accord with his spoken words.

Theodore Roosevelt cannot rest on duty done or laurels won. With him life is not lived until the last day is done. Accomplishment only invites to preparation for other fields of usefulness. This is the best Western spirit. It is the spirit that is building our cities, laying our railroads, sinking mines in our mountains and reaping and marketing our great harvests. Theodore Roosevelt is not alone popular in the West for what he has done, but he is popular for what he is and for what he will do, for the unconquerable spirit that stirs and moves within him.

Since the Spanish war Roosevelt has moved steadily forward in a new field of responsible civic duties. By his administration of the affairs of the State of New York he has increased his fame as a well rounded statesman. The boys whom he led up San Juan Hill are watching his course with affectionate pride. They and their fathers and brothers and friends are for him for vice president, just as they would be for him for president were he running for that office of man's highest ambition. He has demonstrated his capacity and they know him thoroughly, so their hats are off for him.

The great West admires and treasures Col. Roosevelt because of the chivalrous courage and steadfast endeavor by which he has become a leader of men—whether on the trails of the mountain and plains states, leading the Rough Riders up San Juan Hill, in official position or in the councils of statesmen, or as an author who has had the courage and power to reach distinction by personal service in other fields of endeavor, and who has utilized the leisure hours of a busy life to study and write for the entertainment and instruction of present and future generations.

Roosevelt's chief characteristics are Western, therefore the West is for McKinley and Roosevelt with a fervor and determination that will restore all the mountain and plains states to the Republican column in November, with possibly one exception.

R. P. CLARKSON.

Des Moines, Iowa.

READ THIS!
Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.
C. KRETZSCHMAR.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY
Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.
Just talk to R. B. Vining at Thief River Falls.

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

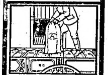
N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.,
DENTIST.
In Thief River Falls from 5th to 10th of every month. Office over harness shop.

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m.



Farmers Know
The quality of barley used in making
HAMM'S BEER
None but the best could make so good a brew ✤ Supplied by agents everywhere, or ✤ THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn. ✤

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Subscribe for the NEWS.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?
—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.
JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

THE GREAT NORTHERN
Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars—Meals Served a la Carte.
Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east east and south.
LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv.	Crookston	Ar. 6:30 p m
9:35 a m	"	Shirley	" 6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	"	Ives	"*5:30 p m
10:21 a m	"	Wylie	"*4:55 p m
11:30 a m	"	St Hilaire	Lv. 4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar.	Thief River F	" 1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv.	St Hilaire	" 4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar.	Red Lake F	" 8:35 p m

* Stop on signal.
Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address
F. M. Miller,
G. N. Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Wesley Evins,
City Dray Line.
All work in my line promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me an order and be convinced.
Wesley Evins,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil. A. Kauper, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ivar & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., October 11, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden Minn., on November 28th, 1900, viz: Nicolai O. Finnestad, H. E. 15,210, for the W½ SW¼, SE¼ SW¼ and SW¼ SE¼, Sec. 21, Tp. 156 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

S. Tunheim, of Newfolden, Minn.
John O. Bakke, of Newfolden, Minn.
K. M. Gustafson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Ole N. Skaaraas, of Newfolden, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

oct 18 6t

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of Congress approved February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 21st day of November, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼ Section 4, T. 157 N., R. 41 W.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated Oct. 9th, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

Oct 11 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 28, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on November 19th 1900, viz: Hermane Hansen, H. E. 16,720, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 25, Tp. 156 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole O. Lund, of Holt, Minn.
Olaf Iverson, of Holt, Minn.
Osvald Hodl, of Holt, Minn.
Arne A. Moe, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.

Oct 11 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 12, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Walter Junkin, H. E. 20,326, for the S½ SE¼, Sec. 33, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and Lots 2 and 3, Sec. 4, Tp. 157, N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Alva J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Eugene Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Anton O. Haugh, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Martin O Anderson, H. E. 16,487, for the Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 30, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 25, Tp. 158 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware Minn.
Anton Houg, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.
Nils Sundberg, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 17, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Carolina Olson, H. E. 19,569, for the SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 34, Tp. 156, N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Peder O. Peterson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Torger T. Sollom, of Newfolden, Minn.
Isak W. Garlve, of Newfolden, Minn.
Aslak H. Langli, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.

sept27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 14th, 1900, viz: Even P. Enestad, H. E. 19,177, for the NE¼ NE¼, Sec. 14, Tp. 153 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole A. Henning, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Bernt Wold, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
L. M. Kjos, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Henry Norland, of Thief River Falls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 5th, 1900, viz: Edward Bolton, H. E. 16,683, for the N½ NW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and NW¼ NE¼, Sec. 12, Tp. 157 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Julius Hanson, of Ingalls, Minn.
Alfred Mickelson, of Ingalls, Minn.
John Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.
George Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 21, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 13th, 1900, viz: Tina O. Howe, H. E. 17,013, for the Lot 7, Sec. 6, NE¼ NW¼ and Lot 1, Sec. 7 Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Hans Hegen, of Ware, Minn.
Hans Johnson, of Ware, Minn.
John Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Severin Haug, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.

sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 24, 1900, viz: Charles Hudik, H. E. 19,049, for the SE¼ SW¼ and Lots 6 and 7, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Breza, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Homolka, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., July 20, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on October 24, 1900, viz: Anton Homolka, H. E. 16,102, for the S½ NE¼ and Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 6, Tp. 158 N., R. 41, W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Charles Hudik, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Keller, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Breza, of Ware, Minn.
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

sept 13 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 25, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 15th, 1900, viz: Vaclav Havraneck, H. E. 19,103, for the SW¼, Sec. 4, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Hudik, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Vavrika, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Krall, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.

10 4 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Anton Anderson, H. E. 16,488, for the Lots 3, 4 and 5, Sec. 6, Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Martin Iverson, of Ware, Minn.
Lars Bergman, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.

9 20 6

HON. J. F. JACOBSON

ARRAIGNS PRESENT DEMOCRATIC MANAGEMENT.

Shows the Failings of Governor Lind's Ante-Election Pledges and the Mismanagement of Every Department of Which the Democratic Party Have Had Control.

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen: I shall endeavor to make some remarks on the questions of the day, and I shall particularly address myself this evening to the state issues, as previous speakers who have been here have treated almost exclusively of national issues. The state issues are of sufficient importance to well deserve a good deal of our attention. When we consider that our state government costs something over four million dollars in a year, expended direct from the taxpayers of this state, from different sources, it is then very apparent that it is of such importance that we should study this subject and cast our votes intelligently when we are deciding upon the state ticket.

The national issues, I say, are discussed by all the public speakers and newspapers of the land; everybody is talking about them. But there are very few that have a single word to say of the state administration, the administration of its different departments, and my services in this state having been of such a nature that has given me opportunities to study these matters, perhaps more so than a great many others, what I shall say to you to-night will be from personal knowledge. It will not come second-handed. It is a subject that I have been able to inform myself somewhat upon.

Four years ago the Democrats, the People's party and the silver Republicans nominated a former Republican for the highest office for governor. He was in that campaign unsuccessful. The same forces renominated him two years ago. He made a campaign of the state, making certain promises that, if he was elected, he would perform. The people took him at his word, and he was elected by a handsome majority over the Republican party that had been in almost unbroken power in this state for the last forty years. Now, Mr. Chairman, I believe that it is our fair province to inquire into those promises that were made two years ago, see what they were, and see whether or not they have been fulfilled to that extent that was expected by the people of this state.

Lind Posed as a Republican.

Another thing that is eliminated from this campaign is the statement that was made four years ago by the gentleman that is now governor of our state, that he was then still a Republican except upon one single point, and that was the money question. Two years ago I believe he admitted that he had changed his mind somewhat, not only on the money question, but he had also changed his mind a little on the tariff question. He was a little further away from it than he had been before, and now he admits that he is anything but a Republican, and hence we can treat him as a Democrat. There can be no question about that. And it is perfectly honorable to be a Democrat. I like to see a good Democrat, one who is not ashamed of being a Democrat, who speaks right out in meeting and fights on the Democratic side. A Democrat ordinarily is one of the best fighters I ever knew. He will fight just as hard when there is no ghost of a show to elect a single man as when there is a chance to elect them all. So I have a good deal of admiration for him, but we should then treat him as the embodiment of the Democratic principles. The governor stands squarely on their platform with both feet, fighting their cause. He is doing everything in his power to defeat the Republican party and its principles. Now, I want to ask of you, in all candor, why should a Republican support a man that is not with us, but who is against us? Is there now any further reason why Republican votes should help to re-elect him? If so, then why stay in the Republican party? It is a well known fact that he could not have been elected to that position if it had not been for the Republican votes that helped to swell his majority tw oyears ago. I must take it then that the people voted for Mr. Lind two years ago for governor because they believed that he would do certain things better than they had ever been performed by any governor in this state.

Stand to Republican Principals.

There is no man in this state who can say that Capt. Van Sant, the Republican candidate this year, is not a clean man morally; that he is not an honorable, upright, conscientious and good American citizen. That is equally true of Mr. Lind, and no one will attack his personal record in any manner; and least will I do so. We have been personal friends for years. He has left the Republican party and the principles in which I believe, and when he left them he left me. I still believe in the Republican principles. I still adhere to the same things that both of us believed six years ago. I see no reason why I should follow him into a party in whose principles I do not believe, and I believe that it is the duty this fall, of the Republicans, not only to vote for those who believe in the Republican principles, not only to vote for the national ticket, but to vote for the state ticket. We have furnished the Democratic party with a candidate, but is there any good reason why we should furnish him with a sufficient number of Republican votes to elect him? Now, I say, that this is carrying the thing a good deal further than any reasonable man should ask. If we believe in the Republican principles, we should adhere to those principles clear down to the state, county and council ticket. If we do not, we should go into the other ranks and vote and work with them; but I see no reason why we should now, at this time, continue to give our patronage to the other party.

Governor Lind's Pledges.

Now, I said a little while ago, that Mr. Lind was elected upon the canvass that he made two years ago, and the promises and pledges that he made to the people of this state. Hence, I will devote some of my remarks this evening to a few of them, and we will examine and see whether or not those pledges and promises have been fulfilled as the people expected they would be.

Mr. Lind attacked the Republican administration along a good many lines. One that he laid special stress upon was the grain inspection department; another was the twine department; another was the administration of the school funds and the public lands, and another was the transportation question. Upon these the people actually believed that he would accomplish something that had never been done before by any of the Republican governors of this state. Let us see whether or not he has fulfilled those promises.

The Twine Plant Mismanagement.

I want to take up first the twine plant. The charges that were made against the Republican party in Lind's campaign in this county, and all over this state, were that the twine plant had become a part of the twine trust; that the managers of the twine trust had diverted it from its original intention, and that the farmers were unable to get twine at cost from that plant. Now, permit me to give you a little history of the origin of the twine plant and how it came to be established at Stillwater. It has grown from a very small thing up to a very large institution. It is the only manufacturing establishment we have of its kind in the state. In 1889 the Republican party was in power. The contract system at Stillwater for our prisoners had been enforced for a great many years. There had been a great deal of dissatisfaction amongst the laboring people against that system, because they said the prison labor came in contact with the free labor of the state. The legislature of 1887 abolished the system, but gave us no other system in its place. When the legislature of 1889 met we were confronted with the situation that the prisoners at Stillwater had practically nothing to do. In order to relieve that situation, we cast about to find something for those prisoners to do. There was no twine plant in this state, nor any west of Chicago at that time. Twine was largely used in our state. There were millions of pounds being sold every year. We made application in 1889 for that plant, and inside of eighteen months began to manufacture twine on a small plan. It has grown from year to year until now it has become a plant that is capable of manufacturing nine million pounds per year, or more than half of all the twine that is used in this state. Nearly one-half or over one-half million dollars is involved every year in the running of this plant. As you all know, the prison twine, for a number of years, has been sought after by the farmers of this state because it has been cheaper than the other commercial twine throughout the country, and the great dissatisfaction that was created two years ago—and Governor Lind and other Democratic stump speakers took advantage of that situation—was not because the twine was too high, but because everybody couldn't get it. There was only so much twine, and by the way, at that time we only manufactured about four million pounds of twine a year. The twine plant has been increased twice since then. Two years ago we increased it one-third, from six million pounds to nine million pounds, and to-day it is capable of manufacturing nine million pounds. It is true that the plant, under the new management, has not been able to do that, but that is the capacity of the plant. Now, the dissatisfaction that was created four years ago with that plant was, as I say, not that the plant was not run well and doing well, but because there was not enough twine to go around, and the few who sent in their orders early were regarded by their neighbors as favorites, and a great deal of clamor went up throughout the state, that there must be something wrong with that institution. Governor Lind promised the people, if he was elected governor of this state, that he would see to it that the twine so manufactured should be given to the farmers at cost. Let us now see what has taken place. Wolfer had been in charge of the twine plant for nearly ten years. He was the most efficient man that I have ever been in that or any other state institution, and I am sorry to say that he is not there to-day. The reason why he is not there to-day, it is perhaps unnecessary to inquire into. It is not, however, creditable to the present administration. When he was discharged or resigned a little over a year ago, Governor Lind appointed a new man in his place. Mr. Reeves from Minneapolis now has charge of that institution. They commenced to manufacture twine. They sent their agents down through the Southern states and to Central America to make large purchases of raw material. But they purchased nothing but sisal and manufactured the twine from that material alone. Every pound that has been bought by this administration of Governor Lind's has been nothing but sisal. They bought all their twine or nearly all the raw material, at a time when material was very high. I want to be perfectly fair, so that no statement of mine can be construed as making out a good case for our side when, in reality, the other side should have some of the credit. They sent inexperienced men into the market to buy this twine, and they bought more at the time than any prudent business man would have done if he had been handling his own capital. They bought a large amount more than they were able to use at those high prices, and to-day they have nearly a million and a half pounds of raw material and manufactured twine that was not disposed of during the season. Now, the price of this fiber has gone down from two and a half to three and a half cents per pound. With the present amount on hand, the state will now lose over $40,000 this year, to say nothing about the losses that may come in by the non-collection of a large amount of outstanding notes.

Now, let us see what the situation was two years ago. We were unable to furnish the required number of pounds of twine, and we turned back during that season orders for more than four million pounds—cash orders—that we were unable to fill. Every pound that was manufactured was disposed of to the farmer three or four months in advance. This year the farmers of the state did the same thing that they had been doing before, sent in their orders early, expecting that they were going to get about as good a bargain as they had been in the habit of getting for the last four or five years on this twine. The consequence is that we sold within a million and a half poundr of what we had bought, because the farmers believed that they were going to get the same kind of twine that they had been getting, but at two or three cents less than the cost of the commercial twine. They did not know but what they were going to get just as good twine as they had always got. But the fact of the business was that, when they came to examine the twine, they found they had got something that was not as good as they had been in the habit of getting. I am not going to say it was worthless, because it was not. You could use it, but it was the since the plant was established; and when the farmers saw what kind of twine they began to get, the orders ceased to come in; and hence the management has been unable to dispose of all of its twine this year.

Poorest Twine Ever Made in Stillwater

But that it not all. The farmers found, when they came to get this twine and compare it with other commercial twine, that they were not getting it as cheap as they could get it from their local dealers. When they came to compare the quality of the twine with that they were getting from the penitentiary with the quality of the twine that they were getting from the commercial dealers, they found that it was more expensive. Hence there was a great deal of dissatisfaction, and no one this year has heard of a second order being sent by the same farmers to Stillwater for twine. It was not the same kind of twine that they had been able to get before under the old administration.

Now, we have at the present time a dead loss to the state of from $35,000 to $40,000, but what will be the consequences next year? What is the serious question in regard to this twine plant? Why, we must dispose of the manufactured twine every year or it will result in A Dead Loss to the State.

And I want to say right here that the twine plant has got a great many enemies in this state. Not only amongst the twine manufacturers of the United States, but the wholesale dealers in twine in this state, and they are a powerful factor. Then there is another class of people that do not look upon the success of this twine plant with any degree of kindness, and that is the local dealers in this article. Let it be known in this state that the twine plant is not able to carry its own weight and you will hear a howl go up from all over the state, and from the laboring men of the city; for the latter class of people do not look with any degree of kindness on this plant because they say it comes in competition with their affairs, and the only reason why we have been able to make appropriations and carry this plan on successfully is because we could show to an absolute certainty the falsity of the arguments made against it and say, "See what a grand success we have made out of it." It was not only manufacturing the twine at prices from 3 to 5 cents below other commercial twine, but it was actually better than that and making a large clear profit to the state every year.

Better and Cheaper Twine and Profit to the State.

Now, Warden Wolfer, when he was before the investigating committee two years ago, which was appointed by the legislature to investigate the charges that Gov. Lind and others made, testified under oath that the twine plant had made in 1897 a clear profit above all expenses of over $48,000. I want to say, also, that the prison labor is charged up to the twine at 50 cents a day. The farmer who gets the twine pays for that, and the wear and tear of the machinery is taken out and considered in making these figures; but when you take all this out we had made a clear profit in 1897 of over $48,000.

In 1898 we manufactured about 6,000,000 pounds of twine, paid the prison institution 50 cents a day for the days employed in making that twine, and paid for the wear and tear of the machinery and cleared and put into the state treasury over $57,000 in clean, cold cash. So, in two years—I cannot trace the whole history, because it would be too lengthy—in two years we had made twine in the State of Minnesota and sold it to the farmers at from 3 to 4 and even 5 cents a pound less than the commercial twine was sold for and cleared for the state more than $130,000, and in the time since the plant was organized and established we have made over $200,000 in cold cash that was not in the treasury on the first day of August one year ago.

Poor Quality, High Price and Loss to the State.

Now, what is the condition at this time under the Democratic and new administration that told the farmers that if Gov. Lind was elected they should have their twine for cost, intimating that they were not getting it as cheaply then as they ought to have got it? What has been the consequence this year? The farmers who bought their twine, when you come to consider the quality, were paying from 1 to 2 cents a pound more than the retail dealers of this country were selling the twine for. Now, understand the point I make. One of my customers had ordered 500 pounds of Stillwater twine this year and he had been using it for some time. He was very much dissatisfied with the quality, but yet he was using it. The shortness of the twine, the number of pounds it took to the acre was far in excess of anything he had ever been used to before, and therefore he ran short when he got about half way through. He came to my office and asked me if I had any twine. I told him I had. He asked me if I had pure manila twine. I told him certainly. He asked me how much it was, and I said 14 cents a pound. Well, he said he thought that was rather high, but it looked reasonably good, and he thought he would buy some anyhow. He took that twine home. He had three eighties in one field and had just made one round, which would make two miles and a half, the whole round of three eighties. The man is farming over 600 acres of land. He put one ball of the manila twine in one reaper. They were of six-foot cuts, and one of each of the other machines had the old Stillwater twine. He started to go around this two miles and a half on the same piece and the machine that was at the head of the procession was the one that had the manila twine, so, if there was anything in favor of that, it made the longer turn around. He made three trips around that piece with the manila twine, and he did not get around twice with the sisal twine. His boy had been to school and he figured it out and saw about how it compared in price. The sisal cost him here, with the freight added, 10½ cents; mine cost him 14 cents a pound, and he found by figuring it out that my twine was cheaper at 14 cents a pound than the Stillwater twine was at 10½. So, you see that he paid 3½ cents a pound less for my twine when you come to consider the amount of work it would do, and I was also making a fair profit. I was not selling it at cost. So you see that this twine, instead of being cheaper than it had been before, upon investigation is found to be higher, and the farmers of Minnesota are compelled to pay the state a higher price for the twine than they could purchase it at all over this country from their local dealers, to say nothing about wholesale prices.

Future Danger to the Plant.

But that is not the serious feature of this controversy in regard to our Stillwater twine plant. We can stand a loss, it is quite small to each farmer, but the serious thing about it is this: How many of the farmers who ordered that kind of twine that year will send in their cash orders this year or next year? How many, do you suppose, will do that with the knowledge before them that they have not been getting anything but sisal twine, manufactured by a lot of men who don't know the difference between good and bad twine? Do you suppose they are going to send their money there next year, and in the month of January, February and March, to pay for that twine or the product of that twine plant? So the consequence is that we will meet with the same conditions that any other manufacturer does when he cannot dispose of his property, and when the next legislature meets it will meet under a condition altogether different from that which confronted it when Gov. Lind took hold of that plant. There was a surplus at that time of some $200,000, and to-day, according to State Auditor Dunn, the fund is overdrawn over $10,000. Now, what will be the overdraft a year from now, provided we do not dispose of the twine? And in order to dispose of it we must sell it at least as cheap as other commercial twines are sold or else the farmers will not patronize us. Then you will see the enemies of the twine plant from all over the country, and there are, as I say, a good many of them, applying for the wiping out of the whole institution, and they will have all these facts and figures before them to back them up and show that the state is running behind. Up to the present time we can say that it is the only plant of its kind in the state that was making a dollar and that was the situation when Lind got hold of it; but the situation to-day is that it has run way behind.

Now, then, what he promised was a reform. He promised this twine at cost, intimating all the time and conveying to your minds that you were not getting it at fair and reasonable rates. The price charged at the time that he was making these charges was 5½ cents for sisal, 6¼ for the half-and-half, and 7 cents for pure manila, when every commercial twine dealer at that time was selling it at from 11 to 12 and up to 15 cents a pound.

Now, the farmers were not satisfied. A great many of them thought that they were being wronged and robbed at that time, and thought that perhaps with a change they would be a great deal better off. What has the result been? Either Gov. Lind, at the time he made those charges, was mistaken, or else he had not investigated the institution at all; for, if he had, he could readily have found out the facts.

Gov. Lind Directly Responsible.

But you will say he is not to blame for that. The men who are handling that business are to blame for it. Now, that is partially true, but it is not altogether true. He appointed all of those men and he has his own board of control over there, and therefore he must be held responsible to the people of this state. The trouble is simply this, that the men he has appointed at the head of that institution do not know how to make twine as cheaply as it ought to be made. It is easy enough to make promises just before election as to what a man is going to do in office, but when you come to do it, it is not half so easy as the man thinks. It is easy to say, "If I am elected I will do so and so," but when you undertake to do it you will run up against a great many difficulties that you never dreamed of.

Now, I have heard a great many say upon that point that the governor has not come up to their expectations. Some of them now say that there must be something wrong with the institution, using the governor's own language of two years ago. I don't think there is anything wrong except the men whom he has appointed to operate it. The twine plant is all right; the labor he has is all right; they are the same men who were there before. They are a class of men that have got to work whether they want to or not—they are not in a position to strike. He has the same control over them that the Republicans had. The difference is this, that THE REPUBLICANS APPOINTED TO THAT INSTITUTION A LOT OF GOOD, CLEAN BUSINESS MEN, WHO KNEW HOW TO RUN A PLANT OF THAT KIND.

Reform That Needs Reforming.

Now, you have noticed that twine went down from the time he bought, early in the season, up to the present time. That is true, and we will give him credit for all that. But the trouble was that he bought a great deal more than he ought to. He did not use good business judgment, and when I say "he" I mean the institution over there. He did not use the good business judgment that any ordinary business man would. Every local dealer, and every wholesale dealer in the country could see, and without any specs on whatever, to an absolute certainty, that twine was bound to be cheaper. Now, he agreed to give us twine for cost. Remember, now, and think back five or six or seven months, when they fixed the price on twine. What did he tell you this year? That the twine is still there, to be sold to the farmers direct for cost. In other words, no profit should be taken off and put into the state treasury as the Republican administration had done for years. The small profit that I have spoken of, in 1897, $47,000, and in 1898 about $57,000, was to be given direct to the farmer. It was heralded all over this state that there had been a changed method of doing business, and that, instead of that profit going to the state, the farmer should have the full benefit of the whole plant. Now, you expected to get it for cost, did you not? Certainly you did. And you did get it for just exactly what it cost them, but the trouble with the whole business was that the twine cost so much it wasn't worth the price. It was not exactly the kind of reform you expected in that institution, but it is exactly what you got, and that was the fulfillment of one of the promises that were made two years ago by Gov. Lind.

About Grain Inspection.

There was another promise that he made, which I am going to examine for a few moments now, and that was that if he was elected governor of this state he would reform the grain inspection department. I am willing to concede that he has reformed it. I am willing to concede everything that he claimed he would do as far as he went, but he has not quite succeeded in satisfying all the people of this state upon that subject yet. We know that the inspection is not quite what it ought to be, and I want to tell you, my friends, from my experience that it never will be quite satisfactory to everybody in the state. It is not like weighing out wheat. There you can depend upon a mathematical certainty for a result, but when it comes to inspecting wheat you have got to depend upon a man's judgment, upon the eye, upon the judgment of a human being, and he is going to make some mistake, and I don't care how honest and how faithful the man may be. Now, Gov. Lind and everybody else that made the charges two years ago, knew this just as well as I know it, but the farmers of the state believed that wheat inspection could be carried on to a mathematical certainty; that with the right kind of men in there there would be no further reason for complaint. Now, Gov. Lind must have known that this could not be done, and yet he tried to convey to your minds that if he was elected governor of this state that complaint would be taken away entirely. He simply promised a good deal more than any other man ever will be able to accomplish in this day. To say that there was not cause for complaint two, four and six years ago, I am not going to contend. I am not going to defend all those who were appointed by the Republicans, by any means. Some of them were incompetent men, and some are very incompetent men to-day. Take some of them that you know; would you ever pick them out as the guardian of your interests, out there especially? You know some of them. Would you select some of those individuals that have been appointed in that department? Men who never handled a bushel of wheat in their lives? Yet to-day they are your guardians, looking after your interests in that department, and the consequence is that the result has been about the same as ever. The change has been so imperceptible that many of you have not been able to see it. But there is one thing in the administration of the affairs of that department that we can all see very plainly, and that is that it costs so many dollars to do a certain kind of business. There are so many car loads of wheat shipped to Minneapolis and Duluth every year, and it costs you so many cents a car load to have that wheat inspected, and when it comes to the business part of the department Mr. Lind has again failed to come up to your expectations, or his own, for I haven't any doubt but he was honest in that part of it, that he would see to it that none but honest men were appointed. I presume that he thinks he has made such appointments. But he has run up against the same difficulty that any governor runs up against; that is, he has appointed a lot of men on the recommendation of some one else, and some of them have not turned out to be the class of men that ever ought to hold office, and there he has not been any more successful in this particular branch of the business than any other governor of the State of Minnesota.

Republicans Found to be Honest.

A great many thought that the Republicans had been in office so long, having been in power for almost forty years, that there must necessarily be something wrong, and it was a good thing to have a change, that you might find out just how wrong and how bad it had been. A great many of you waited patiently for months—yes, for years—to hear something about the rascality of the guardians of some of those institutions. Have any of you ever heard a thing? Has there been any exposure of a single dollar stolen or misappropriated in either of these departments? With all the machinery in his own hands to investigate these institutions, not one of those things happened that you expected. I simply remind you of these things that you may see that the administration that you had thought had become useless, to a great extent, and thought that a change would be beneficial to yourself and to the state, was not, in fact, so. They have, however, proven one thing, and that was that the administration of affairs by the Republican party was a good, clean, honest, business administration, with not one single exposure of rascality in all of these state institutions, where $4,000,000 a year is expended.

Increased Cost of Inspection.

The inspection department under Lind's administration in 1899, and with over 7,000 cars of wheat less to inspect, cost the State of Minnesota $16,000 more than it cost in 1898. Hence, it has cost a great deal more per capita to inspect the wheat. Why is this so? Isn't it simply for the reason that they have found it necessary to employ a larger number of men than the Republicans did when they were in power? The same amount is paid in every case, but Gov. Lind has kept a larger force than was kept there before to do the same class and the same amount of work. That was another of the reforms, and that was the kind of reform you get in that department. This was not exactly what you expected, but it was exactly what you got.

Now, there is another question which I want to touch upon—another of Gov. Lind's promises—and that was this: that if he was elected governor he would see to it that honest men were appointed for the different positions in this state. I believe he had the best of intentions to do so, but when you come to look over the ground and see the results, they are somewhat disappointing, even to his friends.

Increased Expense in All Departments.

Now, in the other departments of the state, how is it? You have not heard. You are not interested. You have not looked the matter up. But the fact is, that it costs more per capita in every single state institution under the present administration of John Lind than it did two years ago under the Republican administration. It is true, it is not much, but it is more all along the whole line. There is not a single department that can show one dollar of saving. Perhaps you will say that that is the result of the changed condition of affairs. Yes; it is a result of the change of administration, but there is no other cause that I can see. Then, is there any reason why we should continue to vote against the interests of our own party, and support a man that has not been able to do better than we did?

Some Facts About the Railroad Commission.

There is one other feature that I wish to call especial attention to, for it is the one, Gov. Lind is making his campaign on this fall, more particularly. He promised me two years ago that, if he was elected governor, he would see to it that we should get reasonable freight charges in this state. Let us see whether or not he has fulfilled these promises. I want to be perfectly fair. I want to give the railroad and warehouse commission credit for everything they have done, and I want, also, in addition, to call your attention to the added facilities under which his commission has been able to work, that were not in existence four and two years ago. The first rate case in this state that was tried, where any result was arrived at in the courts and held constitutional by the supreme court, was the Steenerson rate case. There it was decided that the legislature and the commission had the power to establish just rates throughout the state. But the railroad companies of the state appealed the case from the district court to the supreme court, holding it in the courts for nearly three years before we got any decision, and before we got the decision the railroad companies, little by little, had reduced the rates on those freights until they were about on a par with the decision of the commission. In the meantime, however, the people of the state had been paying the same old rates that they were compelled to pay before the decision was rendered.

In 1897 I introduced a bill making the order of the railroad and warehouse commission effective immediately upon the judgment in the district court; that if the railroad company wanted to appeal from the district court to the supreme court, or to the United States supreme court, before they could take an appeal they must give a bond to the State of Minnesota that they would repay every dollar of freight that had been paid in excess of the order of the commission, between the time that it was in the district court and its settlement in the supreme court, provided the supreme court sustained the decision of the district court. I want you to pay particular attention, that you may understand fully the significance of this kind of legislation, and see why Gov. Lind has been successful in some of these suits against the railroad companies.

Lind's Success Attributable to Republican Legislation.

If that law had been on the statute book in 1897, when this Steenerson rate case was finally decided, the railroad companies would have to pay back to the people of the State a good many hundred thousand dollars that they collected between the time the decision was rendered in the district court and the final decision in the supreme court.

In 1899 I introduced another bill, which was passed by the Republican legislature and which is now a law, prohibiting a railroad company from raising the rates on wheat, flax and other grain products, on stock, coal or lumber, without first obtaining the consent of the railroad and warehouse commission. Mr. Lind's commission, last spring, had an opportunity to act upon one of these requests by the railroad companies. The railroad company, for the first time in the history of this state, was compelled to ask leave and get an order from the commission before it could raise the rates on those commodities in this state. And you will remember now how much credit Gov. Lind and his commission have taken to themselves for their action upon these particular matters that I have mentioned. The railroad companies, last winter, when everything began to go up, when labor went up and everything got higher, made an application to be allowed to increase their rate on lumber and coal in the southwestern part of Minnesota; some of the roads as high as 20 per cent. They went before the commission and, under my law, the railroad companies were compelled to demonstrate to the commission that the increase was reasonable and necessary. They were not able to do that, and the commission said, "You cannot raise the rate." Now the commission is claiming all the credit for this, and saying in their press bureau, "Just look and see what our commission is doing! We have prevented them from raising the rates in this state!" They fail to mention that the legislature two years ago, passed the law under which they operate, prohibiting the railroad company from doing that very thing until they can obtain the permission of the railroad and warehouse commission. They are very careful in their speeches to say nothing about that; they merely tell you that they have stopped them from raising the rates on those articles, and leave it to

DEFECT VI PAGE

SUPPLEMENT TO
The News,
THIEF RIVER FALLS. MINN.
Thursday, October 18, 1900.

be inferred that the railroad and warehouse commission have always had that power.

Now I say that all these new laws, and another law passed in 1897, gave them additional power that they did not have before. It gave them the privilege of commencing an action without any one making a complaint. They took advantage of that law and commenced an action themselves, but you do not hear them mentioning anything about that new law. They want to convey the idea to the people of this state that they are doing something that the old commission would not do. They do not tell you that within the last two or three years these new laws have been placed on the statute book by Republicans, because we found it necessary to give the commission more power than they had had before, and therefore now they are better equipped.

Railroad Commission Negligent of Duty.

Now, there are a great many other things in regard to the state administration that should be gone into in detail, and if they were gone into they would not show up half as well now as they pretended they would two years ago, just before election. Let us see whether or not Lind's administration in the railroad and warehouse commission has been all that it ought to be. Two years ago next spring I made complaint to the railroad and warehouse commission concerning the wheat rates on this particular road, and I want to read it to you.

"St. Paul, Feb. 27, 1899.

Railroad and Warehouse Commission, St. Paul, Minn.,

Gentlemen: Having examined closely into the cost and earnings of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad company of this state, we have become thoroughly convinced that said railroad is charging excessive and exorbitant freight rates, and this being specially true as to grain rates. We demand a reduction of at least two cents a bushel on all distances of 100 miles or over. Such a reduction can be made and yet earn a reasonable net profit on the actual amount of capital invested in said road. We further find that said road, instead of reducing freight rates as the patrons of this road had the moral and legal right to expect, taking the earnings into consideration, they have instead largely increased the same within the last eighteen months. We therefore demand that you take such action as will speedily remedy this unequal and unjust condition of affairs. Respectfully yours,

—J. F. Jacobson,
—H. Hauser."

Now, under the law, any citizen of this state has a right to make a complaint to this commission whenever he has any grievance, and this complaint was made more than twenty months ago; yet the commission up to this time, from some reason unknown to me, have not yet taken one step toward prosecuting the company named by Senator Hauser and myself. I mention this simply to show that the commission has not done as it ought to have done. When I complained in the Hanley Falls "Y" case to the commission, of the failure of the company to construct a "Y" down there, inside of one month from the time I made the complaint the railroad and warehouse commission took action and prosecuted that case as far as they could go with it. But this complaint has laid in the office of the commission for twenty months before it has summoned a single witness to prove or disprove the truth of the complaint. So I say, when you look into the administration of the different departments, it is not all as you thought it would be two years ago, before election. In a good many departments it has simply been a failure. So I say again, Is there any reason why we should continue in power these officials? Is there any reason when we vote the rest of the Republican ticket, for singling out the governor? Has he done anything to deserve the support of any Republican?

No Nobler, Truer Man Than Capt. Van Sant.

Now, who is our candidate, for governor, and what record has he made? He was a member of the legislature in 1893. He was speaker of the house of representatives in 1895. I served with him for two years, so that I know something about the man. I know him as well as any man can in that length of time, and I want to say to you to-night that there never was a truer, nobler, cleaner man ever placed on any ticket for governor of this state. He is not the ablest man in the world, but he is a good, clean, honest business man, that nobody needs to feel ashamed of. In 1891 the Democrats and the People's party got hold of the legislature. It cost that legislature $163,000 to do the business of the session. In 1893 it cost the Republican legislature $142,000; that was under the administration of Speaker Lee. Under the administration of Van Sant, who was elected speaker in 1895, it cost the state $137,000, or nearly $27,000 less than under the democratic and People's administration party administration. I cite this as an illustration of his business capacity. I want to say to you, as a fact that figures will demonstrate, that under Van Sant's administration, one which he had more to do with than any man in the legislature, the business of the legislature was the most economical of any administration for many years. When people came there who wanted an office—and I want to say that there are hundreds of them at every session—they are looking for soft jobs at $5 per day—Mr. Van Sant had the nerve and the backbone to say: "We don't need you," and he applied the same business principles throughout, as he will in every department of the state if he is elected its governor. It don't take an orator or a good politician to good, clean, honest business man like Capt. Van Sant.

There are other subjects which I should like to take up, but time will not permit. What I have stated, I have stated to you from my own personal knowledge, from what I have been able to learn from a thorough investigation of the different departments. I have called your attention to these matters that you may thoroughly understand how a Republican ought to vote this fall, and I thank you for your attention.

VAN SANT ON STATE ISSUES

My Friends: If the question were asked me: "What is the the most valuable and desirable quality for a man in public life to possess?" I would answer: "Honesty." And by that I mean not only that the politician and statesman shall avoid violating the penal code, but that he should be scrupulously honest in his convictions, in his intentions, in his speech and in his acts. The commandment, "Thou shalt not steal" is directed as much against the larceny of the thoughts and ideas of another as against the larceny of a horse. Literary larceny is termed plagiarism or piracy, according to its degree, one being petty and the other grand larceny. A man's ideas and thoughts are as much his property as his horses and cattle.

The literary thief, when discovery overtakes him, is not sent to jail, because the penal code does not extend to his offense; but he finds that he is held in public odium and has ruined his career. So when a politician or statesman steals the thoughts or ideas of another and, without giving credit to the original owner, converting them to his own use, his offense is not one which makes him amenable to the law, but the penalty is as sure and severe as that of the literary pirate. His offense is against public morals, and public opinion inflicts the punishment.

Must Keep His Promises.

When a candidate for public office makes promises to the people, he must keep them. If he gives his pledge that certain reforms shall be made if the people elect him, three things are requisite. The candidate must honestly believe that reforms are needed, there must be something to reform, and, if elected, he must fulfill his pledge and effect the reforms.

And when a candidate for public office comes before the people he must appear in no borrowed garments. His plumage must be all his own, for if not, just as soon as the people detect his disguise his experience will be similar to the ass that paraded in the lion's skin. The men of to-day are very keen-sighted, and there never was a period in the history of the world when shame and false pretenses had such a hard time. I think, in fact, I know, that the people of Minnesota have weighed the claims and merits of the different political parties and their respective candidates presented at this election. They see, on the one hand, the Republican party, tried by forty years in the management of the affairs of the state, and its candidates supported by the splendid record of their party and pledged to carry out its great and lofty aims, to protect and advance the interests of the commonwealth, and to uphold the principles which have lent luster to twenty-two Republican administrations. Conservative where the people's interests are concerned; progressive in aiding the state's development; aiming at the highest and greatest good, the Republican party has been a safe and a wise counselor, in whom the people have learned that implicit confidence may be placed.

Democracy's Soiled Garments.

On the other hand, they see the Democratic party and its candidates, with no record except a few inconsiderable soiled garments which Democracy would gladly hide beneath its own tattered raiment—with no principles except an imitation set constructed of negations of everything Republican. And to-day Minnesota Democracy and its candidates stand before the voters arrayed in plumage surreptitiously borrowed from Republicans, hoping that the people are not sufficiently keen-sighted to detect the disguise, swaggering around in attire "a world too wide for their shrunken shanks."

The plain fact is, my friends, that our political opponents have made a desperate attempt to steal our thunder, and are trying to persuade the people that the ideas and plans they advance for the carrying on and improving our state government are their own, while, as a matter of fact, every substantial thing they possess or present they have purloined from the Republican cupboard. Consider the Democratic state platform. It "points with pride" to our system of which the Republicans gave to the grain growers and shippers of the state fifteen years ago. It points with more pride to the state laws for the control of railroads and railroad rates, and to work the present state railroad and warehouse commission is doing. They imagine the people are credulous enough to believe that they have placed the railroads of Minnesota under state control. But the people know that the state laws for the supervision and control of railroads were the work of Republican legislatures; that on March 6, 1871, a Republican legislature passed an act entitled, "An act to regulate the carrying of freight and passengers in this state," whereby the state asserted its power to exercise control of railroads in the interests of the people. That act prescribed a maximum rate for freight and passengers, and provisions sufficient to prevent prohibitory rates and discriminations, and the man who was mainly instrumental in winning the fight for the right of the state to assert such control, was the great friend of the people, Cushman K. Davis. It was a Republican legislature that passed the laws creating the state board of railroad and warehouse commissioners and which gave them the powers which they now exercise.

Grain Inspection,

Taxing Railroads.

It was a Republican legislature that provided for the taxation of the unused railroad lands. The first suggestion of legislation for the inspection of Minnesota wheat, and of protecting it from being mixed in Eastern elevators with wheat of inferior grades, was made by the Hon. A. J. Edgerton, the first railroad commissioner under Gov. Austin, and Gov. Davis in his third annual report, dated Dec. 31, 1873.

To-day we find our political opponents, who are temporarily and accidentally in charge of the department-al portion of our state government, making wonderful discoveries and dangerous experiments, wonder-stricken and gleefully mischievous, like a child examining its father's watch for the first time. The mystery of "how the wheels go round" has not been solved yet by our Democratic friends. The complex machinery of our state government, so carefully and wisely constructed by the Republican party, is to them still incomprehensible, and their ignorant experiments, if not prevented, may throw the machine out of gear and work serious injury.

Lind Not the Author.

The Democratic state platform proceeds to indorse what it terms 'Gov. Lind's proposition to the last legislature for tax reform, by which the cost of state government would be defrayed from corporate taxes only.' Let me draw your attention to the fact that this proposition was not original with Gov. Lind, by any means. I find, on page 4 of the biennial report of the Republican auditor of state, the Hon. R. C. Dunn, which was laid before the legislature when it convened, in January, 1897, the following recommendation:

"The modern tendency in taxation by states is to lessen the tax rate upon realty and derive increased revenue from taxes upon corporations, inheritances, etc. This, it seems to me, is the proper time for our state to make an advance toward this system of taxation."

And, furthermore, Republican legislatures have acted upon the state auditor's recommendation, by passing laws imposing a tax upon inheritances and foreign corporations, and there is no doubt that before very long the cost of state government will be entirely defrayed by such taxes.

The Democratic state platform concludes by demanding that "the gross earnings tax on railroad earnings be increased to 4 per cent, as recommended by Gov. Lind to the last legislature."

Not Even Recommended by Lind.

As a matter of fact, Gov. Lind's message to the legislature of 1899 contains no such recommendation; but I find on page 20 of the state auditor's report, submitted to the legislature of 1899, several days in advance of the governor's message, a recommendation that the legislature increase the gross earnings tax to 4 per cent. It is true that the governor recommended an increase in the tax, but he made no such specific recommendation as is claimed in the Democratic platform. No one to-day denies that the plan of taxing the gross earnings of railroads is the best and most convenient that could be devised. The Republican state platform indorses the plan and urges that the rate of such taxation be maintained at such a figure as to make the tax annually collected from the railroads equal and uniform with the taxes imposed on other property throughout the state.

While on this subject of taxation, let me draw your attention to another matter which I would not be surprised to hear had also been appropriated by our Democratic friends. I refer to the in the northeastern part of the state. Formerly this class of property escaped all other taxation by paying a state tax of 1 cent per ton on the gross output of the mines, and the total amount of tax for any one year ranged from $8,030.00, in 1891, to $24,721.00, in 1896. In 1896 Attorney General Childs furnished the state auditor with his opinion, to the effect that the 1 cent tax per ton was unconstitutional; and all mines and mineral lands were, therefore placed upon the assessment rolls of the different counties, to be assessed and taxed the same as the property of other corporations and individuals.

Taxation of Mines and Mineral Lands

Prior to that time the counties in which the mines were situated had not received a cent of taxes from this property, and the burden of maintaining the county government, administrative, judicial, etc., was borne by the small property owner. The legislature repealed the law providing for the 1 cent per ton tax, and in 1896, and since, that year, the property of the mine owners has been taxed upon an assessed valuation, like other property. Each year the valuation has been increased, and for this year the amount of taxes paid by the mine owners is about $220,000.00, and it must be remembered that nine-tenths of this tax goes into the treasury of the county in which the property is situated, the state receiving the other tenth. The result is that the burden of taxation upon the people has been decreased at least one-half in the counties affected. I might also mention the fact that a Republican legislature gave to the state board of equalization the power to raise the individual assessments of mining and other corporations, a power which has aided greatly in the equitable distribution of the burdens of taxation.

Democratic Claim Ridiculous.

I may safely and truthfully say, there is not and has not been a wise and beneficent legislative or official act or recommendation in the interests of the taxpayers of the state that has not had its initiative with a Republican legislature or a Republican state official, and as it has been in the past, the people may reasonably expect it will be in the future. For our political opponents to lay claim at this time to the credit of initiating any of these acts or recommendations is not only ridiculous but it is untruthful and dishonest. The question of taxation has always been given the deepest and most careful consideration by our Republican legislatures, and if radical action has not been taken as rapidly as some may have desired, that is, in my opinion, an evidence of that careful conservatism which should always be manifested in dealing with public questions of the greatest importance. Rash or hasty action is but too often productive of disastrous consequences, and the people of Minnesota may feel confident, judging by the past record of the Republican party, that their interests are absolutely safe in its hands and that it will do the right thing at the right time.

The larcenous appropriation of Republican ideas on the part of the Democrats is not confined to questions of taxation.

In the matter of the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company's land grant, the question of its validity was first raised in 1886 by former State Auditor W. W. Braden; in 1893 the question was before the state senate, and the then attorney general gave an opinion that the question should be carried into the courts. In June, 1895, State Auditor R. C. Dunn took up the matter, and the result was the validity of the grant was tested in the courts, and finally set at rest by Judge Lochren.

In the state auditor's report for 1895 and 1896 a complete statement was made to the legislature of the status of the different with important recommendations relating to their adjustment. The result was that the legislature made an appropriation for the purpose of defraying the cost of litigation to determine the contentions of the state as to these grants in the courts, and appointed a commission to supervise the prosecution of the state's claims. In the case of one grant, that of the Little Falls & Dakota Railroad company, a suit involving some 13,000 acres, which the state claims were not earned by the grantee, but had been deeded to it by the former Democratic state auditor, is still before the courts, but there is no doubt that the state will win its case. As to the Southern Minnesota Railroad swamp lands grant, to which Gov. Lind gave such prominence in his speech of acceptance, holding that the company never was entitled to such a grant, but had been deeded some 36,000 acres of land improperly, the attorney general, the Hon. W. B. Douglas, does not agree with the governor, but has given an opinion that the company has a valid grant, under an act of the legislature subsequent in date to those acts which the governor had depended upon as the basis for his opinion.

Railroad Land Grants,

False Pretenses and Plagiarism.

And yet, Gov. Lind is reported as saying in a speech he delivered recently at Red Wing that he had been busy ever since he assumed office in straightening "out the mess" arising from the condition of railway land grants. This is simply an assumption of credit and duties which rightfully belong to the auditor of state, and is a part and parcel of the series of false pretenses, misrepresentation and wholesale plagiarisms upon which the Democratic campaign is being conducted.

Absolutely the only works which our opponents can honestly claim as their own are the achievements of the railroad and warehouse commission, the operations of the state grain inspection department and the management of the state prison binding twine plant. Our political opponents are claiming great credit for their Railroad and Warehouse Commission.

They say that when the Republicans were in control of the commission it never initiated proceedings to secure a reduction of railroad rates, but Gov. Lind's commission has, of its own initiative, commenced such proceedings. The Democrat who made this statement would much better have remained silent in the interests of his party, for it recalls to my mind certain facts which cannot help their cause. I have shown you how the Republican party fought and won the battle for state control of railroads. Further than this, Republican legislatures created the railroad and warehouse commission, vesting it with such wide powers as to enable it to control the rates charged by the railroads, and to proceed, on their own initiative, to regulate such rates as they deemed reasonable or equitable. Chapter 10, of the General Laws of 1887, vested the commission with such authority.

In 1891, when the Democrats and Populists controlled the legislature, they proceeded, like a bull in a china shop, to make a few improvements, and they enacted a law (Chapter 106 of the General Laws of 1891) which restricted the railroad commissioners from instituting any action to secure a reduction of unjust or exorbitant railroad rates, and prescribed that they should not act in such matters except upon a verified complaint duly filed with them. It was the Republican legislature of 1897 that again conferred the power upon the commission to proceed in its own initiative in the and Chapter 67 of the General Laws of 1897, empowered the commission, although no complaint had been filed with it as the act of 1891 required, to proceed upon its own motion to investigate the reasonableness of railroad tariffs of rates, fares, charges and classifications and to fix and adjust the same so that it would be reasonable; and it was the Republican legislature of 1899 that passed a law providing that the railroad and warehouse commissioners should be chosen and elected by the people, instead of being appointed by the governor, as heretofore.

Reduction of Railroad Rates.

Therefore, we find that the Democratic spellbinders are adroitly misappropriating and converting to their own use and benefit the credit for the beneficial railroad legislation which the Republican party gave to the people, and ignoring the fact that the fusion legislature of 1891 practically succeeded in crippling for a time the usefulness of the railroad and warehouse commission.

Grain Inspection.

Now I come to a question over which our political opponents are greatly exercised and deeply distressed, since the delivery of a certain speech at Minneapolis by the Hon. R. C. Dunn. I mean the question of grain inspection and weighing, and the operation of the state inspection department since the former Republican chief inspector was removed and the Democrats have been in undisputed control. This, our opponents hoped, would be their winning card for the campaign, and they had prepared to play it strong, and it is almost saddening to see how their little plan has gone astray. Controlling, as they believed, all the avenues of reliable information as to the actual operations of the inspection department, and exercising a rigorous censorship over all information issued or applied for, they thought themselves impregnably intrenched until election day had passed.

Presuming on this supposed safety the state has been flooded by them with all manner of alluring and deceptive statements intended to persuade the people that the Democratic grain inspection was a great good thing for the farmers and far superior in every way. But like a bolt from a clear sky came the exposure of the financial condition of the department by the state auditor and this Democratic house of cards fell flat. The question of grain inspection has become a millstone around their necks, and will drag them deep

Beneath the Waters of Oblivion.

It has been shown by irrefutable figures that the Democratic administration of the grain inspection department cost $10,274.47 more for the year 1900 than for the year 1898, when the department was under Republican administration, and that this increase in expenditure was due to a large increase in the number of employes, notwithstanding there were fewer cars of wheat inspected in 1900 than there were in 1898 by not less than 27,000, or their equivalent in bushels.

As to the value of the grain inspection, it has never during the fifteen years of its existence been done so irregularly or unsatisfactorily. This is plainly seen by the Minneapolis market reports wherein it is shown that wheat given a high grade by the state inspectors on being sold on sample frequently fails to command the price paid for wheat which has been given a lower grade. This is an every day occurrence, not merely occasional, and indicates most clearly that the inspection is at fault. I am informed also, that there have been many more reinspections and the grade given by the inspectors has been overturned oftener during the past year than ever occurred in any former year; but the actual figures on this matter is one of the buried secrets of the present administration, which will not be disclosed until after election, when, and not before in all probability, the annual report of the department will be given to the public.

Increased Cost of Inspection.

It also appears to have been the policy of the present administration to increase the cost of inspection to the farmers and small shippers in greater proportion than it has been increased to the elevator man and large shippers. For instance, in the beginning of the 1900 year the fee for inspection on arrival at terminal points, that is, "in" inspection, was raised from 15 cents to 20 cents, and subsequently to 25 cents per car load, but no corresponding increase was made in the fee for outgoing inspection. The fee for inspection "on arrival" comes out of the price the farmer is paid for his wheat. The fee for outgoing inspection is paid by the terminal elevator men and large shippers. Recently the fee for outgoing inspection has been raised, but not in proportion to the increase of the "in" inspection fee. To-day we find that the fee for inspection "on arrival" is 25 cents per car and the fee for outgoing inspection is 40 cents per 1,000 bushels. That is to say, the inspection fee which comes out of the farmer has been increased 66⅔ per cent during the past year, while the fee that is paid by the terminal warehouse men has only been increased 33⅓ per cent.

With the smaller crop this year any one would imagine that the inspection force could have been decreased and not increased, as it has been. There has been less work, and fewer inspectors were needed; a smaller force would have entailed a smaller increase in the inspection fee, and such increase as was absolutely necessary might have been apportioned fairly upon the grain growers on the one hand and the elevator men and shippers on the other. A reduction in the force would have shown sound business management, and a fairly equalized increase of fees would have shown a sense of justice and fairness.

No Reason to Be Proud.

What, with irregularities in the grading of grain, the addition to the inspection force of a large number of superfluous and inexperienced political hangers-on, the consequent large increase in the expenditure of the department and the unjust and discriminating increase of the inspection fee, our Democratic opponents have small reason to be proud of their record in the matter of grain inspection.

If elected, I promise to use all the powers conferred on my office to correct any and all irregularities, to make the service of the most efficient character and to keep the expense account down to the lowest possible amount consistent with good service.

The record made by the Democratic administration in its management of the state prison

Binding Twine Plant

is not one which redounds to their credit, nor is it a monument to their business sagacity or intelligence. Since the resignation of Warden Wolfer this twine plant has been conducted apparently on purely political principles, and the result has been that during the past year the farmers who had contracted to buy their binding twine from the prison plant have been compelled to pay from 2 to 3 cents more per pound for it than they could have bought the same quality of twine for from outside jobbers. In former years the farmers were allowed to cancel all or part of their orders in case of crop failure, but during the past year of Democratic control, despite the fact of a general partial failure of the crops the farmers were not allowed to cancel their orders, but were held mercilessly to their contracts. Why was this arbitrary action taken by the prison management? It was taken because the managers of the prison twine plant found themselves in a hole financially and knew that unless they insisted on the farmers taking all the twine ordered at the beginning of the season the prison twine plant would come out with a very large deficit. And why was this the case? Because the managers neglected or were

Ignorant of Business Principles and bought some seven million pounds of sisal at the highest prices which have prevailed for years for such fiber, totally oblivious of the possibility of a short crop or of a decline in the market price of fiber. They paid for this 7,000,000 pounds of fiber an average price of 8 4-10 cents per pound f. o. b. in New York, and by the time it was delivered at Stillwater the freight charges brought the cost of it up to 8¾ cents per pound. And further than this, in spite of their arbitrary refusal to cancel farmers' orders, they overstocked on this high-priced twine to the extent of between 1,100,000 and 1,200,000 pounds. To-day the prison twine plant holds that amount of raw material, costing 8¾ cents per pound, while the same quality of sisal can be bought for less than 5½ cents per pound, entailing a loss upon the state, for the price of fiber is still falling, of 2¾ cents per pound, equal to $39,000.

Further than this, the managers of the prison twine plant during the past year succeeded in spending a balance of $208,696.14 on hand on July 31, 1899, and their expenses were $658,190.61 for the year, as compared with $316,639.15 for the previous year. The outstanding accounts of the farmers who bought this expensive prison twine amount to $375,863.84, and as most of them have a large amount of twine left over, having been unable to use it owing to short crops, it is not probable that the prison managers will find collections for twine very brisk.

More Misrepresentation.

In spite of these facts and figures, which are absolutely true, being taken from the books in the state auditor's office and from the monthly expense list sent into that office by the warden of the state prison, some of our political opponents are trying to make the people believe that the prison twine plant has, under Democratic administration, been conducted in a business like way, and that the fund will have a surplus of profits of $10,000 at the end of the year; and that the managers of the plant have actually saved the state some $10,000 on the year's business. Their statements are untrue, and they are proven to be untrue by the state auditor's books and by monthly expense statements of the prison managers themselves.

This is not a matter over which Republicans exult. We do not rejoice over the death of a sinner, and we see no cause for congratulation because our political opponents have succeeded in crippling the state institution so useful and so valuable to the agriculturists of Minnesota. The prison twine plant in the past has been the means of relieving our farmers from an odious monopoly, and it is to be sincerely deplored that its usefulness has been impaired and its popularity lessened by the ignorant mismanagement of politicians overeager to make political capital at the expense of the farmers and of the state.

Ignorant of the Art of Government.

It is a remarkable fact that the art of government is incomprehensible to the Democratic party. The Democrats have never discovered the secret of successfully managing the affairs of the state or the nation. The principles of good government are to them unknown, and even the brightest minds in the Democratic ranks fail to grasp the fact that in the conduct of public affairs honesty of word and purpose, accuracy of thought and intelligence in action are absolutely essential. The present campaign has furnished an example of that peculiar unfitness and narrowness of perception so characteristic of Democracy. I refer to the singular blunder made by my political opponent in a speech delivered early in the campaign in which the following statement was made:

"The only difficulty with our finances at the present time is the large surplus in the treasury. At the end of the fiscal year, Aug. 1, the state treasurer had in his vaults and on deposit in the various banks $2,169,337.52. This sum is largely in excess of the amount actually needed for the requirements of the state. And I cannot help but express my regret that the last legislature did not cut down the tax levy, as I advised in my message."

Any person possessing the faintest conception of the financial system and condition of the state would have avoided making such a blunder as is made by the speaker when he states that there was a large surplus in the state treasury. As a matter of fact there was No Surplus at All.

On the contrary, there was barely enough to meet the current expenses of state government for the remainder of the year. Of the $2,169,337.52 referred to by Gov. Lind, $1,425,225.78 belonged to permanent funds which cannot be diverted from the purpose provided by the constitution and the statutes. About $1,140,000 of this remnant formed part of school, university and state institution funds, part of which belong to the permanent fund and the remainder to be distributed to aid the educational and charitable institutions of the state as provided by law.

Only $744,111.74 belonged to the general revenue fund and was raised by taxation; two-thirds of the amount was derived from the sale of school, university, internal improvement and swamp lands and the interest on land contracts, and in place of being extracted from the pockets of the taxpayers, greatly aids in lessening their burdens. The amount in the general revenue fund is for the purpose of meeting the cost of state government, and by the end of this year it will be exhausted. As to the Reduction of the Tax Levy.

In his profound regret that the legislature failed to reduce the rate below 1.5 mills the speaker overlooked the important fact that the state auditor, in accordance with the power vested in him by law, reduced the rate last year one-tenth of a mill and this year will reduce it another tenth, making the rate of the state tax levy only 1.3 mills, which is nine-tenths of a mill below the rate levied by the fusion legislature of 1891.

Of course we all know that many wild statements are made during the heat of a political campaign simply for the purpose of producing political effect, and the statement I have quoted may have been of that character. We know that during the campaign of two years ago Democratic candidates and speakers made many statements which were not borne out by facts, and made numerous promises which have not been kept. They promised to reduce the taxpayers' burdens and to reduce the cost of maintaining the state government institutions. But their pledges are unfulfilled. So far from the cost of state institutions having been reduced for the two years of 1899 and 1900, it has been increased. Under Republican administration the per capita cost of state institutions had been steadily reduced. For 1896 it was $191, for 1897 it was $176, for 1898 it was reduced to $159; for 1899 it increased to $160, and for 1900 it was about the same figure. The small value of campaign promises is thus shown.

The Democratic orators in 1898 made many other promises, notably in the direction of reform of the state grain inspection and the manufacture of binding twine at the state prison, and we know how these promises have been kept.

School Supplies
-AT-
The New Drug Store.

TOWN TALES.

W. A. Case was in the city last week.

Joe Rolette has returned to Pembina.

W. E. Wood, of Warren, was in the city last week.

Martin Moylan went up to the Red lake last week.

W. O. Smiley went to Bemidji the first of the week.

C. J. Winton came up from Wisconsin last week.

County Auditor Adam Zeh was in the city last week.

Geo. W. Peck, of Argyle, was in the city last Saturday.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

K. M. Hansen was down to Red Lake Falls the first of the week.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

W. B. Fuller and Louis Hanson were down to Crookston last week.

Morgan Vaughan was down from Germantown the first of the week.

James Meehan, Jr., has one heavy working team of horses for sale.

L. C. Simons and wife, of Red Lake Falls, were in the city last week.

Sheriff Sampson was in the city the first of the week summoning jurors.

James Rogers last week purchased the Purdy farm, west of the city.

The ladies of the Catholic church will meet with Mrs. Deloria this afternoon.

About twenty-five lumber jacks went up to the Red lake on a steamboat yesterday.

Attorney H. W. Lee was in the southern part of the county last week soliciting votes.

Anton Langseth, Nye Farnham and Knute Bjorge went up to Mud lake last week to hunt.

Chief Moose Dung and Chas. Summer were down to Crookston last week buying goods.

Largest assortment of all the latest books at Stebbins' drug store. Call and see them.

C. C. Jackson last week removed into the house recently built by him in Meehan's addition.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The ladies of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. Mays next Wednesday afternoon.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

D. Lenehan and J. T. Knight, both Democratic candidates, were in the city the first of the week.

Joe Lumbay, a Chinaman, has opened up a laundry in the Sven Johnson building, on Main street.

Two car loads of sheep and three car loads of cattle were shipped from this city Monday to Montana.

A. R. Holston, of Crookston, will address a Populist rally in this city on the evening of Nov. 1st.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

J. D. O'Brien, Republican candidate for county superintendent of schools, was in the city last week.

Bert Young went up to the Thief lake country with several horses and will trade with the farmers.

A. L. Himle, the Iowa land man, accompanied by his two brothers, is here looking after his lands in this section.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

T. J. Knox, fusion candidate for railroad commissioner, will address a meeting in the city hall tomorrow evening.

Joseph Leicht, the well known editor and publisher of Winona, was in the city last week transacting business.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

Thomas Lucas, Social-Democratic candidate for governor, delivered an address in the city hall Tuesday evening.

Miss Sarah Vaughan is substituting as teacher in the Central school for Miss Stinchfield, who is confined to her home by illness.

Nels Holberg, whom all the voters in the northern part of the county want to see elected register of deeds, was in the city last week.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

There were just a few candidates in the city during the past week—and the dear voters have thrown away their pipes and are smoking cigars.

Carl Kretzschmar started a crew of men at work the first of the week building the new water wheel, which will run the electric light plant.

Bills to the amount of $188.99 for street work and election expenses were allowed at the meeting of the city council held Monday evening.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Young men, whose fathers became full citizens before they become twenty-one years of age, are full citizens themselves, and are entitled to vote.

A dance will be given in the Odd Fellows' hall tomorrow evening by the Thief River Falls base ball club. A Crookston harpist will furnish the music.

Oscar Engelstad, a son, of Peter Engelstad, the well known Rocksbury farmer, had his fingers badly jammed last Saturday by being struck by a hammer.

Ed. Hemry, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city last week posting up notices to the effect that he was an independent candidate for the office of register of deeds.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

Chas. Gow, John Halverson and Ashley E. and Albert Ellickson, of Madison, Minn., four land seekers, arrived in the city yesterday and are looking over the country around here.

About twenty-five Sioux Indians from North Dakota arrived in the city last week and are camping across the river. They have had several big dances with the local Chippewas.

Dr. Daig, the eye specialist of Crookston, will again be at the Hotel Ogahmah next Monday till Tuesday noon. If your eyes trouble you or you have headache, see him. Examination free.

A late ruling of the pension department has been made to the effect that any pensioner the victim of strong drink and other dissipated habits, who makes a public nuisance of himself, may be investigated by a special examiner, and, if found guilty, is likely to be dropped from the rolls. The order has been sent out to pension agents to this effect.

A MINNESOTA TAMMANY

The Entire Administration of State Affairs Under Governor Lind Subordinated to the Building Up of a Political Machine.

TAKES THE CUE FROM CROKER'S METHODS.

Every Employe of the Administration Held Up and Made to Contribute a Portion of His Salary to Further the Interests of the Worst Political Ring Ever Known in the West.

The Democratic State Committee has been pouring out money like water in the present campaign. Where does it come from? The letter printed below tells the story. Directly, it would seem to come from the office-holders under the Lind-Rosing machine; primarily it comes from the tax-payers and shows why every department of the present administration has been run at a much greater expense than under republican control. It proves that the people's money is used to build up a political machine on the plan of the infamous Tammany Hall of New York.

L. A. ROSING, Chairman.
J. J. THORNTON, Vice Chairman.

T. R. KANE, Secretary.
P. B. WINSTON, Treasurer.

Minnesota Democratic State Central Committee.

HEADQUARTERS: MERCHANTS HOTEL.

St. Paul, Minn., March 23, 1900.

Mr. Geo. LeSage,
Dairy and Food Department,
Duluth, Minn.

Dear Mr. LeSage:—

I presume that you have been informed of the appointment of a committee named by the office holders, which committee suggests an equitable contribution from the several state appointees holding office under Governor Lind, for the campaign fund of 1900. This amount is graduated according to the salary received, those receiving a larger salary making a larger percentage on the whole.

Those receiving $100 per month contribute monthly $3, those receiving $200 per month contribute monthly $10. We note that the various employes in nearly all cases have remitted the sums equitably contributed to the campaign fund of 1900, for the year 1899. There appears at the close of last year in your account with the committee, a balance of $27, which we would be very glad to receive from you.

Will you kindly remit your check to the order of Maj. J. M. Bowler, Treasurer, for $27 for last year, and it will be very pleasing to the committee if you will remit to April 1, 1900, making $9 additional for 1900.

Trusting that you will take immediate notice of this late communication, I am,

Cordially yours,
ELWOOD S. CORSER.

The above letter explains itself. Mr. Corser is surveyor general of logs and lumber of the Minneapolis district. He is a "silver republican." When Governor Lind appointed him, it raised such a protest from decent democrats that there was strong talk of opposing his confirmation in the senate. The letter is written to one of the employes of the dairy and food department. "Maj. J. M. Bowler, Treasurer," is the dairy and food commissioner. It shows that from the moment the departments under Lind were reformed, every employe has been assessed a percentage of his salary for the machine.

Governor Lind, Rosing, Corser, Pope, Bowler, T. D. O'Brien, O'Shaughnessy, et al, have adopted from Boss Croker the corrupt tactics of the notorious Tammany Hall of New York.

How Do the People Like It?

A. Bachand, Republican candidate for judge of probate, was in the city last week interviewing the voters. Mr. Bachand is a very pleasing gentleman to meet, and made many friends while here.

G. Gullickson, of this city, came down from the Mud lake the first of the week. He reported that duck hunting has been good this last month. He and his two brothers have 2,000 birds ready for shipment.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

A petition signed by a number of residents of Thief River Falls, asking the city council to put in a system of water works and sewerage, was presented to the city council Monday evening. Action was postponed.

Attorney C. H. Bjorn, of St. Paul, addressed a Republican rally in the city hall last Friday evening. John Goodwin, filer in the Thief River Falls Lumber company's mill, presided, and the meeting was fairly well attended.

Geo. Osman, or "Skin George," the veteran hide buyer, carries a grip with his initials, "G. O.," on it, and one of his mischievous friends added to it, so that it now reads G. O. P., but George says "das machs nix aus, yust so do poys has a leedle fun. It's yust so well as ony odder fellar."

A St. Hilaire man named Dahl built a cellar and a cistern and cemented both. This was before the heaviest rains fell, and now they both leak, one out and the other in—and Editor Soll calls it "nigger" luck.

The Crookston College opened its fall term Sept. 10. Winter term will open Nov. 5th. Board and furnished room taken care of in private family for $2.50 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

It is estimated that since the formation of the city about $2,500 has been spent on the street leading from the depot to the bridge. At present it is in worse condition than any street in the city, and that the money has been foolishly spent does not admit of a doubt. Would it not be a good idea for the city to spend money in placing gravel upon the streets in the future and give the road grader a rest?

Jack Legacy bought a 160-acre farm in Poplar River last spring for for $1,200. He seeded it to flax, and has just threshed a thousand bushels, which is worth today in our market $1.45 per bushel, or $1,450. Thus he cleared his farm and has $250 surplus, from one year's crop, and this is supposed to have been a poor year. It may have been elsewhere, but not so in Red Lake county, the garden spot of Minnesota.

Remember the excursion to Red Lake Falls next week.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

The People Voted for Them Last Friday.

The special election held last Friday for the purpose of voting upon the proposition of bonding the city for $4,500, the money to be used to build an electric light plant, carried almost unanimously. The election was very quiet, and about a two-thirds vote was cast. The following was the result:

	Yes.	No.
First ward..........	124	16
Second ward.........	86	10
Third ward..........	48	29
Total	258	55

At a meeting of the city council held Monday evening the contract for the putting in of the plant—except the building of the power house—was let to the Triumph Electric company for $3,175. There was but one other proposition before the council, which was from the Northwestern Electric company, and they offered to put in the plant for $2,950, but the members of the council did not consider that this plant was as good as the one proposed to be put in by the Triumph company. The plant to be put in has a capacity of runing 1,500 lights, and it will be in operation inside of a month.

A NEW BANK

To Be Organized in Thief River Falls.

A bank to be known as the Western State Bank of Thief River Falls, with a capital of $10,000, will be organized in this city next week. L. C. Simons, of Red Lake Falls, is one of the leading promoters of the institution, and he has subscribed for one-half of the stock, the remaining half being taken by citizens of this place. It will be opened for business in about two weeks, although a location has not yet been selected. Next spring a two-story brick building will be erected. The cashier of the new bank has not yet been decided upon, but he will be some man not at present a resident of this city.

BY PETITION.

Democrats and Populists Nominated That Way.

The Democrats and Populists of this county discovered last Friday that the conventions nominating their county tickets were not legally called, and consequently the candidates of these parties in this county have filed with the county auditor certificates of nomination by petition. The Republicans were the only ones in this county to hold a legal convention, and it only goes to prove that if you want competent officials and men who know how to do a thing right you will vote that ticket.

Government Lands.

The secretary of the interior has designated Nov. 27 as the day for offering the pine lands on the four townships of the White Earth reservation for sale at auction under the Nelson act of 1899. The sale will be held at Crookston.

The agricultural lands on this area will be opened for entry Dec. 4. They may be entered under under the homestead act, but the provisions of what is known as the free homes bill will not apply to these lands, inasmuch as they will be opened subsequently to the passage of the free homes bill, which applies only to those lands that have been opened to settlement prior to May 17, the date of the bill.

A circular of instructions relative to this sale is now being prepared.

M'KINLEY CLUB

Organized Monday Evening 278 Strong.

A McKinley and Roosevelt club, with 278 members, was organized in this city Monday evening. The following officers were elected:

President—C. L. Dobner.
Vice President—John Goodwin.
Secretary—John W. Eastman.
Treasurer—Ira C. Richardson.

It was decided to rent a building, open up headquarters and keep them open every day and evening until the close of the campaign. The club will meet every Monday evening, and the state central committee has been requested to send up some good speakers.

A BIG RALLY

Will Be Held at Red Lake Falls on Oct. 25.

The Republicans of Red Lake county are going to have one of the biggest demonstrations ever held in the northern part of the state at Red Lake Falls on Thursday evening, Oct. 25. A special excursion train will be run from Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Wylie to Red Lake Falls on that date, and it is expected to fill Matt Skala's opera house in that town to overflow with enthusiastic Republicans. Hon. J. Adam Bede, who has a national reputation as a humorist and philosopher, will be the orator, and it will be well worth anyone's time to go and hear this genius. The special train will leave Thief River Falls at 6:30 in the evening, returning after the speaking is over, and the fare will be one fare for the round trip.

Ladies' Bazar.

The ladies of the Catholic church will hold a fair in the city hall Oct. 24th and 25th. The bill of fair for each evening is given below. The ladies have many valuable articles for sale that will be disposed of at auction, regardless of cost. All are invited to inspect the articles on sale at the different booths, and you will doubtless find bargains that will repay you. See the bill of fair:

NEW ENGLAND SUPPER.
Wednesday evening, Oct. 24.
Warm Roast Chicken With Dressing.
Potato Salad (German Style).
Sweet and Sour Pickles.
Cold Boiled Ham. Cold Turkey.
Baked Beans.
Steamed Brownbread. Rolls.
Pumpkin Pie.
Coffee. Tea.

OYSTER SUPPER.
Thursday evening, Oct. 25.
Raw Oysters. Oyster Stew.
Potato Salad.
Cabbage Salad. Cold Meats.
Rolls.
Cake. Doughnuts.
Coffee. Tea.

Does Not Approve.

The county commissioners of Red Lake county, at their last meeting, petitioned to the state board of correction and charities to change from the county to the town system of caring for the poor. The state board has denied the request, and, in a letter to the NEWS, Jas. F. Jackson, the secretary, says:

"The town system of caring for the poor in the newer counties has proven decidedly inhumane, and it has led to much needless bickering and no little litigation. I am sure if one could be in this office and know, as we do, the unnecessary suffering occuring under the town system, they would be very reluctant to adopt it for Red Lake county."

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

DOUBLE DEALING OF THE RAILROAD COMMISSION

Deceives the People With the Pretense of Reduced Rates, but Makes no Actual Effort to Secure Reduction on Farmers' Produce.

PROPOSED ORDER WOULD ONLY AFFECT SEVEN TOWNS

And the New Rate Would Apply Only to Articles Not Shipped Out of Points Where It Is Proposed to Put the Rate Into Effect.

The Whole Thing a Deliberate Deception.

For the last six months, and, indeed, ever since John Lind determined to stand as the candidate of his party for governor, the railroad and warehouse commission has industriously employed itself in the work of making campaign capital for the Democratic party, and has made pretentious claims to the "saving" that it would accomplish to shippers in the lowering of freight rates. A great hue and cry has been raised by the Democratic press of the state concerning the commission's famous order to the companies to lower their rates upon certain classes of freight; or, in the event of their refusal to make such reductions, to establish terminal points at various of the smaller cities throughout the state.

This widely-advertised scheme was, as all well informed persons knew at the time, simply a political manoeuvre which it was never expected or intended to develop in the shape of an actual reduction of rates, or to actually bring about any substantial changes in the matter of tariff charges. It might be well, for a thorough understanding of the case, to give a brief history of the proceedings leading up to the late order of the commission.

In February, the commission called on the railroads to appear before that body and show cause why the distributing rates made by reason of the great shipment out from the distributing centers, should not apply between all cities in the state. The attorneys for the railroads appeared before the commission and asked if any complaint had been made, citing the law under which the commission was authorized, to order a revision of rates, "upon complaint being made." The commission admitted that no such complaint had been lodged. The matter ran on for some time, being carefully kept before the public by the commission through the medium of the press. The position was then taken, and has since been adhered to, by the attorneys for the roads, that the wholesale idea obtained in the matter of shipping, just as it would in the matter of barter and sale—in other words, that a point from which freight was shipped by the thousand tons should have a better rate than a point from which freight was shipped by the single ton. After repeated conferences between the governor and the commission, some time in the month of August, the commission served notice on the roads that it proposed to adopt rates on merchandise, and the rate to be adopted would be a reduction upon the then existing rates between all cities, to an extent approximating 15 per cent. This reduction, it will be observed, applied only to merchandise, such as was not included in the "commodity" rate.

(For a clear understanding of this term, it should be stated that all freight is classified. The roads affected in this case coming under the classification, "Western," adopted by the commission for some time and recognized as a distinct classification at the present time. When the railroads make rates on different classes of freight lower than that fixed in the classification or distance tariff, that is what is known as a commodity rate. Wheat, flax, all kinds of grain, lumber, coal, binding twine and such articles, coming under the classification of "commodity.")

The commission distinctly stated in its order that "nothing herein shall be taken as proposing a cancellation or modification of any existing tariff." That means, in plain, unmistakable terms, that the proposed reduction could not, in any way, affect the rate on the following named commodities, which are specifically exempt under the order of the commission from the proposed reduction, namely: Brick, bran, mill stuffs, coal and coke, emigrants' movables, flour, hay and straw, ore, potatoes, wood, wheat, stone, corn, flax, grain, cattle, hogs, horses and mules. These are the horses and mules. These are the things which were exempted from the reduced rate proposed by distinct specification of the order. The articles upon which the reduction should take effect were as follows: Paints, glass and oils, dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, groceries, barbed wire, iron, nails, hides and pelts, machinery and castings and furniture (except emigrants' movables.) It will be seen instantly that the value of commodities exempted from the reduction, as compared with those upon which the reduction would be in force, are as in the proportion of 100 to 1. Of course, the greatest shipping is that of wheat, live stock, corn, and other grains, lumber, flour and other articles contained in the list first named. Had the reduction originally ordered been made, the direct benefit to the consumer would have been very, very slight; but the reduction was never made, and was never even ordered.

The railroads, on receipt of the commission's notice, served a reply that they would not comply with the order: that the proposed rate was too low and could not be complied with without an actual loss upon every ton of freight shipped, and that, therefore, the proposed rate was burdensome and confiscatory. Recognizing the force of the answer, and having known all along that the roads would refuse to comply with the order, the commission notified the southwestern roads to come into a conference, and agreed that they would abandon every effort in the direction of a reduction, and make no attempt at changing the rates or classification if the roads would agree to put in force, out of New Ulm and three or four other towns, which the commission named, a rate which would be the same as that then in force out of the distributing centers, St. Paul, Minneapolis and the Minnesota Transfer. In order that a clear understanding of the case may be had, it should be stated that the roads shipping out of St. Paul last year handled six billions pounds of out-freight. That which could be shipped out of New Ulm in any one year would not exceed five hundred thousand pounds. What the commission, therefore, asked, was not that there should be any general reduction in rates, but that the roads should agree to specify as distributing points a certain number of favored towns, New Ulm always being the first one named, and that those favored towns should be given the same rate on shipments out as that which was then in existence at the distributing points where freight was handled by the billion pounds.

The commission pleaded with these roads to make this concession, submitting the names of towns which they desired to have added to the list of distributing points. These towns were: Stillwater, Duluth, West Duluth, Fergus Falls, Moorhead, Crookston, Red Wing, Winona, Mankato, Albert Lea, Rochester, Faribault, New Ulm, Litchfield, Austin, Little Falls and Hastings. In the various discussions at the conferences between the commission and the representatives of the roads, the commission gradually withdrew name after name of the towns submitted, until it finally came down to the point where the commission had agreed to compromise upon the basis of an amended list of additions to the distributing points, as follows: New Ulm, Austin, Rochester, Red Wing, Albert Lea, Mankato and Winona. This revised list was the one upon which the commission made its final stand, and which the roads had substantially agreed to accept, with the distinct understanding that no further conditions be asked by the commission during the present fiscal year.

Now let the interested shipper set himself to the task of ascertaining just what benefit would accrue from the adoption of the exactions made by the commission. Let it be understood to begin with, that there is not a reduction of one cent in a million pounds of freight contemplated in the general plan of revision. All that is asked is that the roads add the seven towns of New Ulm, Rochester, Austin, Red Wing, Mankato, Winona and Albert Lea to the list of distributing points. That would give to the towns named the same rate on out-freight that is enjoyed by St. Paul, Minneapolis and the Minnesota Transfer, and it would not affect by one single penny the rate on freight shipped to those points from any other point. In other words, the shippers of the towns named would have the benefit of the reduced rate on brick, paints, oils, dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, groceries, barbed wire, iron, nails, machinery and furniture, shipped from those points to other points within the state. How much of that class of freight would be shipped out of New Ulm, Rochester and the other towns included in the list? Not enough so that the difference would pay the postage on the correspondence between the shipper and the consignee in the ordinary course of business. All of the goods and merchandise upon which the reduced rate applied are shipped from the existing distributing points, namely, St. Paul, Minneapolis and the Minnesota Transfer, to the points which the commission named as additions to the list of distributing points. The shipments out of these towns are included in, and covered by, the express reservation in the commission's order, where it says, as above stated, that "nothing herein shall be taken as proposing a cancellation or modification of any existing commodity tariff;" almost every article shipped out of these towns is included under the commodity tariff, and, therefore, the rate on it is fixed and unalterable by the specific order of the commission itself.

With this clearly-stated showing of the case, the commission's grand coup collapses like a house of cardboard, and is swept away as completely as was the loud pretense of reform in the management of the grain inspection bureau and prison twine plant, when Auditor Dunn fell upon them in his Milaca speech. It was obviously the purpose of the commission to manufacture political capital for the campaign, and its cunningly-advertised programme was arranged as thoughtfully as any other detail of the Democratic campaign. The absurd pretense that the shippers of the state would be saved any material sum in freight by the adoption of the commission's order is as bad as the other shallow pretense of the administration in connection with the inspection bureau and the prison twine plant. The commission started out with a tremendous bluff at a general reduction of rates; it then qualified this first bluff with another proposition for a classified reduction of rates; again, it proposed to substitute for the proposition to reduce rates, another proposition to apply certain existing rates to certain newly-named points; finally it comes down to a piteous appeal to make a special rate for New Ulm, the governor's home town, and three or four other small cities, under the pretense that it is going to lower the rates at these points, whereas, in fact, the articles upon which the reduction is ordered are not shipped in any large quantities from these points. It is safe to say that the difference in the cost of "shipments out" from the proposed new distributing points would not amount in any one year to a total of $10,000. With one hand the commission orders a reduction of rates upon certain commodities from certain points, and with the other specifies the commodities upon which the reduction was to take effect, carefully excepting the articles shipped out from these proposed distributing points. Had there been an honest intention to accomplish an actual reduction of rates, the order would have been made to apply, for instance, to flour and beer, which are the principal articles shipped from New Ulm; it would have been made to apply to lumber, which is the principal article shipped from Little Falls; it would have been made to apply to stone, which is the principal article shipped from St. Cloud; to wheat and other grains, the principal articles shipped out of Fergus Falls, Moorhead and Crookston and other agricultural centers. Instead of that, it perpetrates the silly joke of saying that the brewers and millers of New Ulm may ship paints, glass and oils at a reduced rate; that the lumbermen of Little Falls may ship groceries, clothing, boots and shoes at a reduced rate; the quarrymen of St. Cloud and Mankato may ship hides and pelts and machinery at a reduced rate; and the farmers and grain men of Fergus Falls, Moorhead and Crookston may ship groceries, nails and lace curtains at a reduced rate.

The whole order is so cheap a piece of political pettifogging, and so transparent a ruse to catch votes, that it only needs this explanation of its true character to expose it to the ridicule and contempt of every intelligent citizen in the state.

It is a singular thing, indeed, that Gov. Lind should be campaigning the state and taking to himself credit for the passage of the so-called Somerville law, to tax foreign corporations doing business within the state. In doing so the governor pays an unconscious, and therefore a sincere, compliment to the republican legislature which passed the bill, to the republican auditor and to the republican secretary of state, who recommended it in their biennial reports, and to the republican policy, which has consistently and continuously given itself to the adoption of just such measures ever since it came into power, forty years ago. If there is any political significance in the passage of the Somerville bill it is in the fact that the governor's recognized representative on the floor of the senate, Senator Stockwell, was the most violent and uncompromising opponent of the bill. Senator Stockwell is at present the fusion nominee for congress in the fifth district, having been selected for that place, like every other fusion nominee, at the direct instigation of Gov. Lind himself. Throughout the session of 1899 Senator Stockwell was admittedly and avowedly the governor's mouth-piece in the upper body of the legislature, and frequently chairman of the democratic caucuses, which were held to discuss and consider various measures pending. Had Gov. Lind been such an advocate as he now professes to be of the Somerville law it would have been an exceedingly simple and easy task for him to have called off the opposition of Senator Stockwell to the Somerville bill and to have given it the support of the democrats in the senate. Instead of doing so, however, he gave Senator Stockwell his moral support in opposition to the bill by at least refraining from interference, and the most violent attacks upon the bill when it was under discussion in the various stages of its consideration before that body were made by Senator Stockwell, who declared that "if this bill passed and becomes a law it will be a deliberate robbery of $200,000 a year taken from the legitimate business men of the state."

The democratic party must be hard up indeed for campaign material when it will take up a law that was originally recommended by two republican state officials, passed by a republican House of Representatives, concurred in by a republican senate, and forced to its enactment in spite of the opposition of the democrats, and parade such a bill as something distinctly democratic and something of which the governor himself is proud and for which he claims all credit. As a matter of fact the governor is entitled to the credit for the passage of the Somerville bill upon exactly the same theory that the little boy gave credit in his composition when he said: "Pins has saved thousands of people's lives by their not swollering them."

The Republican newspapers and workers should take particular pains to impress upon voters the fact that the Democratic candidate for state treasurer, H. C. Koerner, was nominated for the sole purpose of catching the thoughtless and uninformed friends of the present Republican state treasurer, August T. Koerner. The Republican nominee for state treasurer is Hon. J. H. Block, who has the unqualified and enthusiastic support of Hon. A. T. Koerner, and the Democratic candidate for treasurer, H. C. Koerner, is at present an employe of E. M. Pope, public examiner, and central figure in that memorable "Mankato Episode."

"National politics can encourage industry and commerce, but it remains for the people to project and carry them on."—William McKinley.

PROSPERITY FOR FARMERS

HOW IT HAS BEEN BROUGHT ABOUT BY THE REPUBLICAN POLICY OF PROTECTION.

STATISTICS IN EVIDENCE

Every Article Produced by the Farmer Is Favorably Affected by Protective Legislation.

The farmer has shared with the business man, the manufacturer and his workmen, the railways and their employes, and the various classes of our citizens, in the general prosperity following the return to the tariff policy of protection. His markets have increased both at home and abroad, and with this increase have come advanced prices for what he sells and advanced value of that which he retains. Not only do the figures of exports show a marked increase in the receipts from abroad, but in the home market, by far the most important to the farmer, prices have advanced, consumption and demand increased, and with these has come prosperity to this greatest class of producers.

On all farm products the rate of duty was reduced by the Wilson tariff, and in most cases that of the McKinley tariff was restored by the Dingley tariff. This increase has had its effect in checking the importation of manufactured articles of farm production, and thus has saved to the farmers a share of the home market.

Decreased Importation of Farm Products.

There was a marked decrease in the importation of farm products immediately following the repeal of the Wilson law, which occurred in July, 1897, the imports of the year ending June 30, 18997, having thus come entirely under the Wilson act. The total imports of agricultural products, as classified by the Department of Agriculture, were, in the fiscal year 1897, $400,871,468; in 1898, under the Dingley law, they dropped to $314,291,796, and in 1899 were $355,514,831. This gives an average reduction of over $60,000,000 a year in agricultural imports in 1898 and 1899, as compared with 1897.

A Lesson From Eggs.

Many single incidents might be cited to show the reduction in individual classes of articles, but as a single example will be all that is required for this purpose, the comparatively unimportant item of eggs is selected. Figures of the Bureau of Statistics show that prior to the enactment of the McKinley law, which placed a duty upon eggs entering into the United States from abroad, the value of the importations ranged from two million to two and a half million dollars per annum, being, in the year 1889, $2,418,920, and in the year 1890, $2,074,912. Immediately following the enactment of that law the year 1894, the last year of the McKinley law, amounted to only $199,556, or about 10 per cent of the average in the years preceding its enactment.

The Wilson law, however, reduced the duty on eggs from 5 cents to 3 cents per dozen, and in 1895, the first year of its operation, the importations increased to $324,133 in value, following the general depression in 1896-1897. The Dingley law restored the rate of duty to 5 cents per dozen, and in 1898 the value of importations again dropped to $8,078, and in the fiscal year of 1899, averaged about $1,700 per month, or a trifle over $20,000 per year, as against an average of over $2,000,000 per annum before a duty was placed against this article of foreign production. This clearly shows that protection keeps the home market for the American farmer.

The Home Market Under Protection.

Prior to the election of 1892, and the depression which immediately followed it, the amount of wheat retained for consumption in the United States was about six bushels per capita. On some occasions it exceeded that figure, being, in 1883 and 1885, more than six and one-half bushels per capita, and seldom falling below five and one-half bushels. In the year 1893, however, during the depression which immediately followed the election of a Democratic president and a free-trade congress, the per capita wheat consumption fell to 4.85 bushels, in 1894, to 3.41 bushels, and in 1897 was 3.88 bushels. Immediately following the repeal of the Wilson tariff there was a marked increase in the per capita consumption, and in 1899 it had again about reached its nomal figure, being for that year, 5.95 bushels per capita.

Another example may be found in the amount of cotton retained for consumption under protective and low tariffs, respectively. In the years 1891 and 1892 the amount of domestic cotton retained for consumption was, respectively, 22 and 24 pounds per capita, while in 1893 it fell to 17 pounds per capita. In 1894 it was 16 pounds, and in 1896 and 1897, 18 1-2 pounds, increasing, however, in 1898, under protection, to 25.2 pounds, and in 1899 to 21.7 pounds or 60 per cent more than the average during the entire Democratic free-trade term from 1893 to 1897.

Sheep and Wool Values Reduced.

Take the single item of wool. The Wilson law gave the country in the item of wool an example of the effect of genuine, Simon-pure Democratic free trade. It was, to the free-trade mind, the one redeeming feature of that act, whose feeble attempt at retaining a shadow of protection was denounced as an evidence of "party perfidy and dishonor." Under that act, importations of foreign wool, which had never but once reached so much as 150,000,000 pounds, were, in the first year, more than 200,000,000 pounds, and in the closing year exceeded 350,000,000 pounds. As a consequence, wool fell nearly 50 per cent in value, the October price of washed clothing Ohio fleece wool, medium, dropping from 33 cents per pound in 1892, to 19 cents in 1896, but increasing to 29 cents in 1897, immediately following the restoration of the protective tariff, under the Dingley law, and to 33.5 cents in the month of October, 1899.

Foreign wool, which, under protective tariffs, formed from 16 to 23 per cent of the domestic consumption, increased to 40 per cent in 1895, 46 per cent in 1896, and 57 per cent in 1897. As a consequence of this increased importation of foreign wools and the accompanying reduction of nearly one-half in price, the number and value of sheep on farms was greatly reduced. The number of sheep on farms in 1893 was 47,273,533, and their value $125,909,264. By 1896 the number had fallen to 38,298,783, and the value to $65,167,735, the actual value having thus been reduced about one-half, meaning a loss in sheep alone of nearly $60,000,000 to the farmer, while the annual loss in his wool clip during that time was correspondingly great.

The value of the foreign wool imported prior to 1893 had not for many years reached so much as $20,000,000; but in 1895 it had exceeded $32,000,000, and in 1897, the last year of the existence of the Wilson tariff law, was $53,243,191; while imports of woolen goods, which, in 1892, amounted to $35,000,000, were, in 1896, and in the fiscal year 1897, $49,000,000.

Value of Farm Animals Restored by Protection.

The value of horses on farms fell from more than more than $1,007,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1892, to $500,000,000 in 1896, and $452,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1897, a loss of $555,000,000 in this one item during five years.

In mules, the value fell from $175,000,000, in 1892, to $92,000,000 in 1897; swine, from $241,000,000, in 1892, to $166,000,000 in 1897; and of all farm animals the value fell from $2,461,755,698, on Jan. 1, 1892, to $1,655,414,612 on Jan. 1, 1897, a loss of $806,341,086, while the figures for Jan. 1, 1900, show that the two-billion-dollar line has again been crossed by the restoration of values accompanying the Dingley protective tariff and the prosperity which it brought to the farmer by increased home consumption, as well as increased foreign markets.

The American Agriculturist, a well-known publication, in a recent number, says that the live stock of the country in 1900 is worth $700,000,000 more than it was during the years of depression under the low-tariff act.

Value of Crops Restored by Protection.

Nor is it in farm animals alone, however, that the farmer was the loser under low tariff, or the gainer under protection. The value of the corn crop in the United States fell from $642,00,000 in 1892, to $491,000,000 000 in 1896; that of wheat from $513,000,000 in 1891 to $225,000,000 in 1894, and $237,000,000 in 1895, returning to $428,000,000 in 1897; oats fell in value from $209,000,000 in 1892, to $132,000,000 in 1896; rye, from $15,000,000 in 1892 to less than $10,000,000 in 1896; barley, from $45,000,000 in 1891 to $22,000,000 in 1896; tobacco, from $47,000,000 in 1892 to $27,00,000 in 1895; cotton, from $320,000,000 in 1892 to $200,000,000 in 1896; and potatoes, from $103,000,000 in 1892 to $72,000,000 in 1896. In all these cases the figures for later years show a marked increase in values over those under the Wilson act.

Testimony of an Agricultural Authority.

On this general question of the value of crops, the American Agriculturist says that—

"The value of staple crops in 1899 was valued at $400,000,000 more than under the low-tariff depression, and other crops aggregated an increase of more than $200,000,000 in value, or 25 per cent gain, as compared with the period of depression, including 1894, 1895 and 1896."

One other feature of the improved condition of the farmer is pointed out by the American Agriculturist, and this relates to the value of agricultural real estate, which, it says, has more than recovered in value, and is now worth $1,200,000,000 more than it was a single year ago, when the percentage of farms occupied by owners is now larger than ever before, while the number of farms under mortgage has materially decreased. The amount of mortgages on farms occupied by their owners is estimated at about $300,000,000 less than at the beginning of the decade. "Mortgages," it says, "now average only about 27 per cent of the value of the farms they are on, the rate of interest has declined, and the great bulk of mortgages now in force were incurred to buy the farm or to improve it."

Freight Rates Declined More Than Farm Prices.

One further fact of interest to farmers is that freight rates have fallen with greater rapidity than prices of farm production. The average rate by rail in 1870 was 33.3 cents per bushel, and in 1899 11.1 cents, a fall of 66 2-3 per cent; while the rate from Buffalo to New York by canal fell from 11.2 cents per bushel in 1870, to 3 cents per bushel in 1899, a reduction of 73 per cent. On freight rates from the Pacific coast to New York the rates on canned goods in car load lots show a fall of from $3.66 per 100 pounds in 1870, to 75 cents per 100 pounds in 1897, a reduction of 80 per cent.

Freight rates on live cattle from Chicago to New York fell from 55 cents per 100 pounds in 1880, to 25 cents in 1899; hogs, from 43 cents to 25 cents; sheep, from 65 cents to 25 cents, and dressed beef from 58 cents to 40 cents, while refrigerator car rates on dressed hogs fell from 59 cents in 1887, to 40 cents in 1899.

Prosperity and the Silver Question.

The facts cited, showing prosperity in every branch of industry, have an important relation to the silver question, which formed so prominent a feature of the campaign of 1896, and which the Democratic leaders promise to again urge in the campaign of 1900. Mr. Bryan said in 1896 that the cause of the depression which then existed in every industry was not the tariff, but the lack of sufficient currency, and that this could only be supplied by the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. The country rejected free coinage of silver, and at the same time and the prosperity which has come both in increased business and increased currency disproves the Democratic claim that the depression which then existed was due to the necessity for the free coinage of silver, and at the same time sustains the claim of Republicans that it was due to the low tariff then existing.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

To Be Voted on
AT THE NEXT GENERAL ELECTION,
TUESDAY, NOV. 6, 1900.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
Department of State,
October 1, 1900.

Pursuant to section three hundred and eleven (311) of the General Statutes of 1894, the same being chapter one hundred and fifty-seven (157) of the General Laws of 1887, the proposed Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota, as adopted by Act of the Legislature for 1899, for submission to the voters of this state at the general election to be held on Tuesday, the sixth (6th) day of November, A. D. nineteen hundred (1900), is herewith submitted:

ALBERT BERG, Secretary of State.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
Attorney General's Office,
St. Paul, July 3, 1900.
Hon. Albert Berg, Secretary of State.

Pursuant to chapter 157 of the General Laws of 1887, I herewith file in your office synopsis of Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota as proposed by chapter 92 of the General Laws of 1899. I am very respectfully,

W. B. DOUGLAS,
Attorney General.

SYNOPSIS OF AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF MINNESOTA PROPOSED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE SAID STATE AT THE LAST SESSION THEREOF, AND TO BE VOTED UPON AT THE GENERAL ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 6TH, 1900.

By General Laws 1899, Chapter 92, it is proposed to amend Article eight (8); Section six (6) of the Constitution.

The section as now existing reads as follows:

Section 6. The permanent school and university fund of this state may be invested in the purchase of bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, but no such investment shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the issue of which the same in part would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed seven per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property of the county, school district, city, town or village issuing such bonds; nor shall such loans or indebtedness be made at a lower rate of interest than three per cent per annum nor for a shorter period than five (5) years, nor for a longer period than twenty (20) years, and no change of the town, school district, village, city or county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of the issuing of such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

It is proposed by said chapter to amend the same so as to read as follows:

Section 6. The permanent school and university fund of this state may be invested in the bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, but no such investment shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the bonds to be issued or purchased would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property of the county, school district, city, town or village issuing such bonds; nor shall such loans or indebtedness be made at a lower rate of interest than three (3) per cent per annum nor for a shorter period than five (5) years nor for a longer period than twenty (20) years, and no change of the town, school district, village, city or county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of the issuing of such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

The effect of the above amendment if adopted will be to authorize the investment of the permanent school and university fund of this state for a period of not less than five (5) or more than twenty (20) years at an interest rate not less than three (3) per cent per annum, in the bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, when the bonds to be issued or purchased will not make the entire bonded indebtedness of such municipalities exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property contained therein.

The substantial change proposed by said amendment is to authorize such investments when the entire indebtedness, including the loan in question, does not exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property in such municipalities; whereas, under the existing constitution loans are permitted only where such total indebtedness does not exceed seven (7) per cent of the assessed valuation.

July 3, 1900.

W. B. DOUGLAS,
Attorney General.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

United States Map. 15c. A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 42. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

~~CLOSING OUT~~ SALE

Our entire stock of General Merchandise, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, must be closed out within the next thirty days.

We offer everything at or below cost. Nothing reserved from this sale. Seven thousand dollars worth of choice merchandise must be sacrificed. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs. It will pay you to take advantage of it.

TERMS CASH. Positively no goods charged.
Building for sale or rent.
Fixtures for sale.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON, Vice-President.

FIRST STATE BANK
OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. GALLAGH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
General Banking.
Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE, REAL ESTATE, FARM LOANS and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.
General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.
WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - - MINN.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,
VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, WASHINGTON, D. C.

FOR FARMERS TO CONSIDER

WHAT CAN BE LOST BY ELECTING MR. BRYAN.

Do the Farmers Want Prosperity or a Repetition of the Hard Times of the Cleveland Administration?

(By George H. Crumb of Missouri.)

Under the Wilson tariff, farm products and live stock sold lower than ever before; the factories were closed; the shops were empty; and the country was filled with tramps, asking for work and begging for bread.

More than half of these tramps had families at home, suffering for the necessaries of life. So hard was their lot that thousands of despairing women accepted employment at starvation wages, to live, thus again driving men out of employment.

When the election of McKinley gave an assurance of better times, money was easier to get, and shops and factories began to open.

The improvement, though steady, was slow, until the Dingley tariff law was passed. Then the change, you will recollect, was wonderful.

The prices of labor rapidly increased, and soon the demand for labor exceeded the supply. Everybody could find a job. The workingmen could buy what the farmers had to sell, and the farmers' products increased steadily in value.

The tramps disappeared. The condition of the people, generally, improved. Mortgages have been paid off, or greatly reduced by many who had before lost all hope of getting out of debt, or saving their homes.

Farms have been improved. New homes have gone up on every side. Now, the question is: DO WE WANT THESE TIMES TO GO ON, OR DO WE WANT TO GO BACK TO THE WAY TIMES WERE FROM 1894 TO 1896?

Do we want the farm products to sell at 1896, or at 1900 prices?

Do we want the workingmen to labor at 1900 prices and to support their families in comfort, as they are now doing, or do we want to send them tramping over the land, organizing Coxey armies, while their families are starving?

Are we satisfied to let well enough alone, or shall we try a change, put the men in charge of the country who passed the Wilson bill, and try the chances of getting back to the conditions of 1895?

What improvement can we expect from the election of Bryan?

Does he, or do his supporters, pretend to say that farm products will bring more if he is elected?

Does he, or do his speakers, say that under his administration the prices of labor will be increased?

Do they promise anything better in the condition of farmers, or laboring men, or anybody but investors, or owners of silver mines, if Bryan is elected?

Can they make times better for you and me than they are now? If so, how do they propose to do it? Have they told you of any plan?

CAN'T THEY MAKE TIMES WORSE AGAIN, BY DISTURBING AND DESTROYING BUSINESS, AS THEY DID BEFORE?

They threaten and say that they will reduce the tariff on manufactured goods. This will stop the factories, as it did before, and again scatter tramps all over the country; reduce the demand for what the farmers raise and the prices for such products at the same time.

Would not the farmers rather sell the products of their farms at fair prices to laborers than to give it to them, as tramps?

Are you going to vote yourself out of a job? Do you want to vote workingmen out of their jobs?

Do you propose to go into the tramping business, or to help start tramps on the roads again?

Choose you, now, what should be done and vote according to your honest judgment and for the best interests of all the people of this country.

Use Common Sense! Throw prejudice and passion away!

What benefit have you to expect from the election of Bryan?

GEO. H. CRUMB.
Bloomfield, Mo.

That Militarism Bogy.

Latest statements show that there are about 16,000 soldiers of the entire American army who are now in the United States. This is the fewest number ever within the borders of the country since the Civil war, and is at the rate of one soldier for about 5,000 people. While this one soldier is "overthrowing the liberties of the people," as Bryan claims the soldiers will do, what will the other 4,999 people be doing?

Our army at home and abroad is the smallest, comparatively, in the world. The armies of the world, per capita to population, are:

Country.	Population.	Army.	Soldiers per 1000 population.
France	38,500,000	560,000	14.05
Germany	52,300,000	600,000	11.05
Austria-Hung'ry	41,500,000	380,000	6.07
Russian empire	129,300,000	790,000	6.01
Turkey	33,600,000	240,000	7.01
Great Britain	38,000,000	210,000	5.06
Italy	29,700,000	210,000	7.01
United States	76,000,000	65,000	.86

What blaring nonsense do these hard figures make to the Democratic campaign cry that the United States is "groaning" under a "bloated" armament!

Where Duty Is Plain.

"It is time to dismiss the 'craven fear of being great,' to recognize the place in the world that God has given us, and to accept the responsibilities which it devolves upon upon us in behalf of Christian civilization."

These are the words of Rev. Josiah Strong, in his new book, "Expansion." The work is, really, one of the most interesting on this subject, so much discussed in this campaign. Attention is called to the astonishing development of energy which has subdued the continent and which to-day makes us the most forceful and resourceful nation of the world.

Our new manufacturing supremacy gives every promise of permanence. The manufacturing interests must inevitably become greater, so that our national welfare will be increasingly dependent upon foreign markets. Calling attention to the profound significance of China's awakening, he argues that the Pacific is to become the center of the world's population, commerce, wealth and power. We are thus entering upon a new "world life" which creates new necessities and new obligations which it will be impossible to evade. Amid these changing conditions we could not maintain a policy of political isolation. He continues:

"It is quite too late to ask whether we will expand. We have already expanded.

"Our policy should be determined, not by national ambition, nor by commercial considerations, but by our duty to the world in general and to the Filipinos in particular. . . . I know of no witness who has had personal observation of the Filipinos who declares them capable of self-government. It is the Tagalogs who have been in arms against the United States . . . . but they constitute only one-fifth of the population. . . . In many provinces there was absolute anarchy, and from all sides came petitions for protection and help."

"Do we owe no protection and help to these four-fifth against the one-fifth? One other question I would like to ask the anti-expansionists. Will they kindly explain why it is that Americans, with the traditions and inheritances of Anglo-Saxons, and with the experience of freemen, are incapable of governing one-tenth of their number of Filipinos, and cannot even attempt it without sacrificing the republic and losing their own liberties, while a tribe of Malays, who have neither the inheritances or experience of freemen, can create a republic and successfully govern, not only themselves, but also four times their number of undisciplined tribesmen?"

Prices Then and Now.

Twenty-five years ago farmers paid the following average prices for goods they needed:

Coal, per ton	$9.00
Flour, per bbl	$12.00
Sugar, per lb	16c
Coffee, per lb	50c
Kerosene, per gal	50c
Shoes (if bought) per pair	$5.00
Cotton cloth, per yd	20c
Clothes (if bought) per suit	$20.00

These same farmers, all over the United States, pay the average prices given below:

Coal, per ton	$4.00
Flour, per bbl	$4@5
Sugar, per lb	5-1-2@6c
Coffee, per lb	12@30c
Kerosene, per gal	10@15c
Shoes, per pair	$1.50@3
Cotton cloth, per yd	5c
Clothes, per suit	$8@10

The farmer gets his supplies relatively cheaper, and receives better prices for his produce to-day than ever before. He is sure of a cash buyer for everything he sells, just as long as the country is prosperous.

And he remembers who was the "advance agent of prosperity."

Farmers and Railroad Building.

There is under construction in the United States, at the present time, according to the Railway Age, the following mileage of railroads:

	Miles.
New England	447
Middle States	2,240
North Atlantic States	9,752
Gulf of Mississippi and Valley States	6,798
Central Northern States	5,623
Northwestern States	6,191
Southwestern States	21,207
Pacific States	6,377
Total miles	58,841

Much of this includes double-tracking on the roads already built, the traffic between the East and West, and between the Southwest states and the Gulf ports having grown so fast that more trackage is needed. The building of 60,000 miles of track means millions of dollars to American wageworkers, who, in turn, expend the greater proportion of their earnings, directly or indirectly, among the farming element.

The prosperity brought about by Republican ideas and policies has caused this revival of railroad construction.

Active Factories Cause Good Prices.

One of the largest glass manufacturing companies of St. Louis, a company free from any combinations, reports that in 1895 it paid out "$42,805.45 for skilled labor, and $23,414.40 for unskilled labor, the total being $66,229.85. The same company disbursed "$105,417.30 for skilled and $55,090.20 for unskilled labor in 1899, a total of $160,507.50." The employes naturally had more to buy, and the farmers who supplied them had so much the better market. What is true with this one glass factory is true with manufacturing establishments the country over.

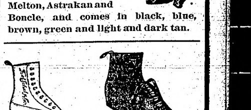
Farm Products in the Orient.

Four years ago we sold to China and Japan a little over $12,000,00 worth of goods. In the year ending June 30, 1900, the same countries took about $50,000,000 worth of American goods. The farmers of the West, who supplied the wheat and beef and fruit, and the cotton growers of the South were the chief gainers.

CLOTHING!
CLOTHING!!
CLOTHING!!!

I have just received from Chicago a large assortment of ladies' winter jackets, which I will sell at ridiculously low prices.

This lot contains the finest grades of English Kersey, Beaver, Melton, Astrakan and Boncle, and comes in black, blue, brown, green and light and dark tan.



I am now prepared to show the finest line in the city of Clothing, Shoes, Underwear, Hats and Gents' Furnishings.

H. Lowin, RED ✳ STAR CLOTHING HOUSE. Proprietor.

HOTEL OGAHMAH.
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

G. H. Turville,
Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.
First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.
Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection
LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, OCT. 25, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President.
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

A club of about fifty Social-Democrats has been organized at Red Lake Falls. The members were formerly members of the Populist party, but they can't stand for confusion.

The Red Lake Falls Gazette, a Populist paper, is going to support Frank M. Eddy for congressman. The Gazette believes that the best interests of the district demand Mr. Eddy's re-election.

It is dawning upon the people rapidly that the "Free Homes Bill" is a great "Fake" and solely in the interest of the "Timber Sharks."—Fergus Falls Free Press.

If the editor of the Free Press is not a "fake" then the people of the Seventh district misjudge him.

Why is it that the fusion public speakers when addressing an audience in Thief River Falls fail to denounce the so-called 'lumber trust? When speaking in farming communities they devote most of their time in denouncing this trust, But then they have a different argument for every section of the country.

We wonder if the Populists of Red Lake county would have enjoyed attending the big banquet in New York last week? Mr. Bryan sat at the head of the table sanwiched in between Mayor Van Wyck, president of the Ice Trust, and Richard Crocker, the most unscrupulous political blackmailer in the world. Great is the leader of the "common people!"

Gov. Lind did not make any votes for himself at Wadena last week. During the course of his speech, he referred to the binding twine question, saying that the rise in the price of raw material was due to the war, and, continuing said:

"You know that a war always creates a demand for rope, and my only regret is that more rope was not used and everyone connected with the war hanged."

And a few of his indiscrete, but enthusiastic followers applauded this remark!

Thief River Falls ought to give Frank M. Eddy a large vote this fall, thus not only showing our appreciation for the beneficial legislation he has already secured for this section of the country, but placing ourselves in a position to ask for more. We do not mean to insinuate that Mr. Daly, in the event of his election, would not work as hard to secure the opening of the reservation as will Mr. Eddy, but the latter has the prestige of an acquaintance with congressmen, with whom he has served for six years, is a member of the committee on Indian affairs and is in a position to do us a great deal of good. While Mr. Daly is unquestionably an able man, his influence in congress during his first term—like that of all new members—would not be great enough to secure the passage of a bill to open up this reservation. We do not not want to wait for four or six years to get this land opened to settlement—and for that reason we should all—regardless of party affiliations—work for Frank M. Eddy. His election is of more importance to Thief River Falls than anything else. It is the paramount issue.

Frank M. Eddy Makes a Statement.

Mr. C. L. Dobner,
President of the McKinley and Roosevelt Club,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Dear Sir:

I have been given to understand by a letter that I received from Thief River Falls, that the story has been started that I am opposed to the opening of the Red Lake Reservation lying adjacent to your city. You will remember that when I was there, that I had a talk with you and other prominent men, in which I distinctly and postively stated that I would do all in my power to open that portion of the Reservation for settlement; and that I made arrangements when there to meet the citizens of your city after election, to agree upon a plan to pursue; and that I realize the necessity of opening the land for settlement, and that everything that I can do to bring about this result will be done.

Very truly yours,
FRANK M. EDDY.

[Anyone wishing to see the original letter should call at Mr. Dobner's office.]

DO YOU ENDORSE THIS?

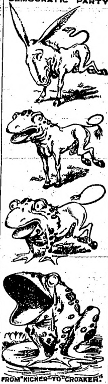
Just to show the tactics being adopted by the supporters of M. J. Daly to accomplish the defeat of Congressman Frank M. Eddy, the News here publishes an article taken from the Pelican Rapids Press, a paper published in Mr. Daly's home county:

Mr. Eddy has had ample opportunity to do something for the common people of this big Seventh district while he has been in congress. All that his manager, Elmer Adams, attempts to claim for him is that he was instrumental in securing the passage of what is known as the "free homes bill." It is admitted that Eddy did do some work in the interests of that bill. What is this so-called "free homes bill?" It has a well sounding title, but that is about all there is to it. Its title is misleading. If the bill really meant what its title would naturally indicate, Mr. Eddy might claim some credit at the hands of the common people for having assisted in its passage. It is now rapidly coming to light that the "free homes bill" is a bill directly and almost solely in the interest of the "timber sharks." The lands effected by this bill are not such lands as make "free homes." There is much valuable timber on these lands in the northern part of the Seventh district, which the "timber sharks" wanted to get possession of as cheaply as possible, and so they conceived this method under cover of the so-called "free homes bill." These "timber sharks" are already seeking to employ men to file and live upon the land the required time to obtain titles from the government.

What do the voters living in Thief River Falls, which borders upon the land affected by this bill, think of this? Do they think it was passed in the interests of the "timber sharks," or in the interest of the thousands of poor settlers who inhabit this vast section northwest of Thief River Falls? People living in the southern part of the district may believe these statements, and it may result in Mr. Eddy's defeat—and, if so, it will be accomplished in a dishonorable way. In this section, where all know the beneficent results of this bill, it is the duty of every voter to repudiate the tactics being resorted to for the purpose of defeating Mr. Eddy.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

EVOLUTION OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.



FROM "KICKER" TO "CROAKER."

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars--Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv. Crookston	Ar.	6:20 p m
9:35 a m	" Shirley	"	6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	" Ives	"*	5:30 p m
10:21 a m	" Wylie	"*	4:55 p m
11:30 a m	" St Hilaire	Lv.	4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar. Thief River F	"	1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv. St Hilaire	"	4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar. Red Lake F	"	3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

F. M. Miller,
G. N. Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

Just talk to R. B. Vining at Thief River Falls.

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - - MINN

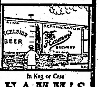
IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

DR. J. J. HOVE,
PHYSICIAN and SURGEON.
Office Over First State Bank.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN.

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.,
DENTIST.
In Thief River Falls from 5th to 10th of every month. Office over harness shop.

Shipped With Care



In Keg or Case
HAMM'S BEER
Is Always Fresh, No Matter Where You Buy It • Supplied by Agents Everywhere, or • THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Wesley Evins,
City Dray Line.

All work in my line promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me an order and be convinced.

Wesley Evins,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.
Phil A. Kauffe, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
John W Eastman, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE.

State of Minnesota, } ss. DISTRICT COURT.
County of Red Lake. }

Adolph O. Gallasch, Plaintiff,
vs.
F. H. Kratka, Alice B. Kratka, M. D. Wells, H. G. Macpharland and B. R. Wells, Co-partners as M. D. Wells & Co., Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a Judgment and Decree entered in the above entitled action on the 22d day of September, 1900, a certified transcript of which has been delivered to me, I, the undersigned, Sheriff of said Red Lake county, will sell, at public Auction, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, the tenth day of December, 1900, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the court house in the village of Red Lake Falls, in said County, in one parcel, the premises and real estate described in said Judgment and Decree, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lots number thirteen (13) and fourteen (14), in Block number fifty-eight (58), in the original townsite of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof now on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for said Red Lake County.

Dated October 22d, 1900.

CHARLES SAMPSON,
Sheriff of Red Lake County.
A. A. Miller, Plaintiff's Attorney,
Crookston, Minnesota. Oct 25 6

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE.

State of Minnesota, } ss. DISTRICT COURT.
County of Red Lake. }

L. Ellington, Plaintiff,
vs.
F. H. Kratka, Alice B. Kratka, Jacob Morck, Minnie Morck, John G. Woolley and Mrs. John G. Woolley, his wife, Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a Judgment and Decree entered in the above entitled action on the 22d day of September, 1900, a certified transcript of which has been delivered to me, I, the undersigned, Sheriff of said Red Lake County, will sell, at public Auction, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, the tenth day of December, 1900, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the court house in the village of Red Lake Falls, in said County, in one parcel, the premises and real estate described in said Judgment and Decree, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lots one (1), two (2) and three (3), of Block fifty-eight (58), in the original townsite of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for Red Lake County, Minnesota.

Dated October 22d, 1900.

CHARLES SAMPSON,
Sheriff of Red Lake County.
A. A. Miller, Plaintiff's Attorney,
Crookston, Minnesota. Oct 25 6

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE.

State of Minnesota, } ss. DISTRICT COURT,
County of Red Lake, }

J. W. Wheeler, L. Ellington, A. G. Gallasch and C. Hendrickson, Plaintiffs,
vs.
F. H. Kratka, Alice B. Kratka and Mary C. Wilcox, Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a Judgment and Decree entered in the above entitled action on the 22d day of September 1900, a certified transcript of which has been delivered to me, I, the undersigned, Sheriff of said Red Lake County, will sell, at public Auction, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, the tenth day of December, 1900, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the court house in the village of Red Lake Falls, in said County, in one parcel, the premises and real estate described in said Judgment and Decree, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lots number twenty three (23) and twenty-four (24), in Block number thirty-one (31), in the original townsite of Thief River Falls, Red Lake County, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds in and for said County.

Dated October 22d, 1900.

CHARLES SAMPSON,
Sheriff of Red Lake County.
A. A. Miller, Plaintiff's Attorney,
Crookston, Minnesota. Oct 25 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., October 11, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden Minn., on November 26th, 1900, viz: Nicolai O. Finnestad, H. E. 15,310, for the W½SW¼, SE¼ SW¼ and SW¼ SE¼, Sec. 21, Tp. 156 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
S. Tusheim, of Newfolden, Minn.
John O. Bakke, of Newfolden, Minn.
K. M. Gustafson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Ole N. Skaaraas, of Newfolden, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
oct 18 6t

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of Congress approved February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 21st day of November, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼ Section 4, T. 157 N., R. 41 W.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated Oct. 9th, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
Oct 11 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 28, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on November 19th 1900, viz: Hermane Hansen, H. E. 16,720, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 23, Tp. 156 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
Ole O. Lund, of Holt, Minn.
Olaf Iversen, of Holt, Minn.
Osvald Hoel, of Holt, Minn.
Arne A. Moe, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.
Oct 11 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 12, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Walter Junkin, H. E. 20,823, for the S½ SE¼, Sec. 33, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and Lots 4 and 5, Sec. 4, Tp. 157, N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
Alva J. Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Eugene Webster, of Ware, Minn.
Nels Olson, of Ware, Minn.
Anton O. Haugh, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Martin O. Anderson, H. E. 16,487, for the Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 29, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W., and SE¼ NE¼, Sec. 29, Tp. 158 N., R. 42 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
Martin Iverson, of Ware Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.
Nils Sundberg, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
9 20 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 17, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Carolina Olson, H. E. 19,820, for the SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 34, Tp. 156, N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
Peder O. Reierson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Torger T. Sollom, of Newfolden, Minn.
Isak W. Garfve, of Newfolden, Minn.
Aslak H. Langli, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.
sept27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 14th, 1900, viz: Even P. Breestad, H. E. 19,177, for the NE¼ NE¼, Sec. 14, Tp. 153 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
Ole A. Ronning, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Bernt Wold, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
L. M. Kjos, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Henry Nurland, of Thief River Falls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 5th, 1900, viz: Edward Bolton, H. E. 16,043, for the N½ NW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and NW¼ NE¼, Sec. 12, Tp. 157 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
Julius Hanson, of Ingalls, Minn.
Alfred Mickelson, of Ingalls, Minn.
John Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.
George Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 21, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 13th, 1900, viz: Tina O. Howe, H. E. 17,043, for the Lot 7, Sec. 6, NE¼ NW¼ and Lot 1, Sec. 7 Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
Hans Hagen, of Ware, Minn.
Hans Johnson, of Ware, Minn.
John Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Severin Haug, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 25, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 15th, 1900, viz: Vaclav Havranek, H. E. 19,103, for the SW¼, Sec. 4, Tp. 153 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Hudik, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Vavrika, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Krall, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.
10 4 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 15, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on October 29th, 1900, viz: Anton Anderson, H. E. 15,483, for the Lots 3, 4 and 5, Sec. 6, Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:
Martin Iverson, of Ware, Minn.
Lars Bergman, of Ware, Minn.
Anton Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Christ Erlandson, of Ware, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
9 20 6

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m.

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Supplement to

THE NEWS.

FOR THE FARMER.

To insure pure milk the atmosphere in which the cows are milked must be pure. Putting down hay or cleaning out the stable just before milking is a bad practice. The milk in passing from the teat to the pail through an atmosphere laden with stable odors and dust may become sufficiently contaminated to materially affect the flavor of the butter. For similar reasons we hear milking in the barnyard condemned, especially in dry, dusty weather. I noticed in England the farmers had making sheds in or near the pasture fields and that the men had long linen ulsters which they slipped on when going to milk. I thought this a good idea, as it tended to cleanliness in milking and also to a saving of the clothes. Before starting to milk, the flanks and udder of the cow should be wiped with a damp cloth to remove all loose hairs and dirt which otherwise might fall into the milk pail. It is found a good practice to cut off the cow's switch and clip the hair from the hind quarters when putting her in for the winter. Endeavor as far as possible to have the cows milked by the same person, at the same hour, in the same place and in the same order. Milk with dry hands, vigorously and exhaustively. Nothing will prolong the milking period more than by getting the last drop, and, remember, the first pint has but 1 per cent butter fat, while the last pint has 10 per cent. Bacteriologists tell us the small amount of milk which has collected in the teat abounds with injurious forms of bacteria, while the remaining portion of the milk is practically germ free, and they recommend not allowing the first stream to go into the milk pail.

Stamp Your Honey Packages.

It is a good plan for all apiarists to put their name and address on all packages of nice honey, either in combs or extracted. A rubber stamp, with plain letters three-eighths of an inch high, is best to mark sections, but bottles or cans of extracted honey must have a printed label pasted on. The marking of first class honey or good goods of any kind is a help to everybody who handles it. If the jobber has any fault to find he can easily trace it to the producer. If the grocer likes it he will be apt to remember the name and buy some more of it, while the consumer will do the same.

If you are producing a superior article in quantity, marking it and selecting a reliable jobber and sticking by him, it will be a profitable undertaking, but it won't pay to change jobbers every year or to put your name on anything but a good grade of honey. The ground is taken by jobbers that they do not want the honey stamped, because putting the producer's name on it leads the retailer to deal direct with the producer to the demoralization of the market. They should more truthfully say, to the loss of their profit. Manufacturers of clothing, of wagons, fancy butter and many other lines of goods put their name on the goods, and the jobber is helped thereby. Darlington butter brings 75 cents per pound because it is Darlington butter. If Tom Jones takes extra pains in handling the carload of fine honey which he produces every year there is no harm in letting the people know that it is Tom Jones' honey and that it is worth 1 cent per pound more because it is as represented.—American Agriculturist.

Rye as a Farm Crop.

Rye is one of the best paying crops, as far as dollars and cents go, raised in Columbia county, N. Y. We have paper mills that use a good deal of straw, and several large flouring mills that use the rye, taking it from year to year. The same acreage of rye brings us more money than hay, and the quantity is on the increase, if anything. The average yield of rye per acre for our county is estimated to be 16 bushels, but a great many reach 20 and more. I had a field of less than eight acres that had 187 bushels of grain and 12 tons of straw. The machines for thrashing rye, cleaning and measuring at the same time, are used entirely. They leave the straw in nice shape, all bound and ready for the market. To have a bountiful crop, it needs to be protected through the winter and spring.—George W. Higgins in Rural New Yorker.

Hog Prospects.

Those who are in position to judge do not anticipate large supplies and bad breaks in the hog market before the opening of the winter packing season, Nov. 1. Reports from all over the country indicate that numbers of hogs to be finished this summer and fall are not large. In spite of a big corn crop ahead it is very likely that the winter season will open with hog prices well above those of last year, and, moreover, that prices during the coming winter will average well. A bumper corn crop usually means very cheap hogs, but this condition promises to be modified next winter by an excellent demand for provisions. Definite calculations are impossible at such long range, but there is every indication of a healthy hog market next winter at prices comparing favorably with values of corn.—National Stockman and Farmer.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

AN AMERICAN WOMAN WHO INFLUENCES GERMANY'S EMPEROR.

What Two Women Saw—Social Functions For Women—The Ruling Passion—Needs No Chaperon—Does Coeducation Educate?

In his telegram to President McKinley the German kaiser said that the Countess Waldersee, wife of the field marshal who has gone to China to command the allied forces, is an American woman.

As a little girl Mary Esther Lee played among the flour barrels and currant boxes of her father's grocery store on Front street, New York. But that was many years ago. Now the little girl is a white haired and regal lady, with the title of princess. More than that, she it is who is the power behind the German throne, who is known as the "female Bismarck" and who, it is believed, brought about the kaiser's marriage. Her title is Princess von Noer, and she is a powerful influence in the great palace at Berlin.

Her history is most interesting and unusual. Her father left Connecticut in 1810 and began a small grocery business in New York. Though he was financially successful, when he died in 1853 he left but a very small fortune to his family. Mrs. Lee, unable to afford the expensive living in New York, bundled up her little family and went to Stuttgart. Here the eldest daughter married Baron von Waechter. He soon became embassador from Wurtemberg to Paris, and in due course of time Mrs. Lee and her other daughters found themselves in the social set of the great French capital. Other important marriages came about.

Mary Esther, the youngest girl, found a fast and affectionate friend in Princess Louise of Sleswick-Holstein. Through her she formed the acquaintance of the father of the princess, an old widower, who immediately fell desperately in love with the beautiful and bright little American girl. To compensate for marrying the daughter of a grocer the prince gave up his title and accepted the simpler designation of Count von Noer, which was given to him by the Austrian emperor. The groom was 64 years old, the bride 24. Six months later the venerable husband died, and his rich and youthful widow settled down in Vienna. There she won the esteem of the Austrian emperor, and he created her princess of Noer in her own right.

A few years after being made a princess the one time daughter of a grocer met Count von Waldersee. A marriage between them took place in 1874. These two brilliant and clever people went to Berlin, and in a few months the countess was a social power.

Her particular ambition was to marry her grandniece by her first marriage, Princess Augusta Victoria of Sleswick-Holstein, to Prince William of Prussia, the present emperor of Germany. The mother of the prince raised great objections, but the Princess von Noer was persistent and tactful and planning, and the wedding was celebrated. Prince William and his bride were both devoted to the one who helped along the rough way of their courtship, and their gratitude has been unceasing. When Princess Augusta Victoria became empress, she was more than ever under the sway of her American aunt.—Boston Herald.

Mumps.

Onct I took the mumps, and, my,
Didn't I look funny! I
Made the people laugh and roar
When they peeked in through the door.
But ma didn't laugh, and she
Was jes' awful nice to me,
Even though I had the "grumps,"
For that always goes with mumps.

And I couldn't swaller good;
So she fed me all she could—
With a spoon on soupy stuff.
Jiminy! I got enough
Of that sort of thing, you bet!
Soup's too watery and wet.
And pa had to do the chores,
'Cause I dassent go outdoors.

I was down in bed three days,
Sick in lots and lots of ways,
And they promised me some figs
And new boots and guinea pigs
And some more that I forget,
But I haven't got 'em yet!
And I foun'—jes' think of it—
Two whole loads of wood to split!

—Edwin L. Sabin in Puck.

Put a cross-mark (X) opposite the name of each candidate you wish to vote for in the squares indicated by the arrow.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

VOTE FOR NINE.

Presidential Elector—WILLIAM B. LEE—Republican—McKINLEY
Presidential Elector—JOHN L. GESSELL—Republican—McKINLEY
Presidential Elector—EDWIN DUNN—Republican—McKINLEY
Presidential Elector—J. C. DONOVAN—Republican—McKINLEY
Presidential Elector—O. K. NAESETH—Republican—McKINLEY
Presidential Elector—CARL WIRTH—Republican—McKINLEY
Presidential Elector—JOHN S. DODGE—Republican—McKINLEY
Presidential Elector—GEORGE A. WHITNEY—Republican—McKINLEY
Presidential Elector—H. W. STONE—Republican—McKINLEY

Presidential Elector—RUDOLPH SCHIPFFMAN—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN
Presidential Elector—M. R. PRENDERGAST—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN
Presidential Elector—O. W. ANDERSON—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN
Presidential Elector—GEORGE LESTER—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN
Presidential Elector—O. T. RAMSLAND—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN
Presidential Elector—DANIEL ABERLE—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN
Presidential Elector—F. D. NOERENBERG—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN
Presidential Elector—JOHN JENSWOLD, JR—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN
Presidential Elector—T. C. HODGSON—Democrat Peoples—BRYAN

Presidential Elector—GEORGE F. WELLS—Prohibition—WOOLLEY
Presidential Elector—JAMES A. McCONKEY—Prohibition—WOOLLEY
Presidential Elector—CHAS. M. WAY—Prohibition—WOOLLEY
Presidential Elector—B. S. ELLIS—Prohibition—WOOLLEY
Presidential Elector—CHARLES C. DREW—Prohibition—WOOLLEY
Presidential Elector—ALBERT J. KANNE—Prohibition—WOOLLEY
Presidential Elector—ANDREW RANKIN—Prohibition—WOOLLEY
Presidential Elector—P. J. NELSON—Prohibition—WOOLLEY
Presidential Elector—JOHN J. RENDAHL—Prohibition—WOOLLEY

Presidential Elector—WARREN W. MORSE—Social Democrat—DEBS

Presidential Elector—CHARLES WILLIAM BRANDBORG—Socialist Labor—MALLONEY

STATE BALLOT.

VOTE FOR ONE

Governor—SAMUEL R. VAN SANT—Republican
Governor—JOHN LIND—Democrat—Peoples
Governor—BERNT B. HAUGAN—Prohibition
Governor—SYLVESTER M. FAIRCHILD—Midroad-Populist
Governor—THOMAS H. LUCAS—Social-Democrat
Governor—EDWARD KRIZ—Socialist-Labor
Governor—

VOTE FOR ONE

Lieutenant-Governor—LYNDON A. SMITH—Republican
Lieutenant-Governor—THOMAS J. MEIGHEN—Democrat—Peoples
Lieutenant-Governor—C. B. WILKINSON—Prohibition
Lieutenant-Governor—ERICK G. WALLINDER—Midroad-Populist
Lieutenant-Governor—

VOTE FOR ONE

Secretary of State—PETER E. HANSON—Republican
Secretary of State—MICHAEL E. NEARY—Democrat—Peoples
Secretary of State—FRANK W. CARLISLE—Prohibition
Secretary of State—

VOTE FOR ONE

State Treasurer—JULIUS H. BLOCK—Republican
State Treasurer—H. C. KOERNER—Democrat—Peoples
State Treasurer—CHARLES W. DORSETT—Prohibition
State Treasurer—STEPHEN W. POWELL—Midroad-Populist
State Treasurer—

Vote for One

Attorney General—WALLACE B. DOUGLAS—Republican
Attorney General—R. C. SAUNDERS—Democrat—Peoples
Attorney General—

Vote for One

Chief Justice Supreme Court—CHARLES M. START—Republican
Chief Justice Supreme Court—

Vote for One

Associate Justice Supreme Court—LOREN W. COLLINS—Republican Associate Justice Supreme Court—

VOTE FOR THREE

Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Four Years }—IRA B. MILLS—Republican
Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Four Years }—JOSEPH G. MILLER—Republican Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Two Years }—CHARLES F. STAPLES—Republican Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Four Years }—P. M. RINGDAL—Democrat—Peoples
Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Four Years }—T. J. KNOX—Democrat—Peoples
Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Two Years }—S. M. OWEN—Democrat—Peoples
Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Four Years }—M. R. PARKS—Midroad-Populist
Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Four Years }—M. P. MORAN—Midroad-Populist
Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Two Years }—JOHN J. HIBBARD—Midroad-Populist
Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Four Years }
Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Four Years }
Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner for Two Years }

"Amendment to section six (6) of article eight (8) of the constitution providing for loaning the permanent school and university funds to, or the purchase of bonds of cities, villages, towns, counties and school districts. —YES
—NO

SAMPLE.

COUNTY BALLOT.

Put a cross mark (X) opposite the name of each candidate you wish to vote for in the squares indicated by the arrow.

Member of Congress 7th District. FRANK M. EDDY—Republican. ☐
Member of Congress 7th District. MICHAEL J. DALY—Peoples. Democrat. ☐
Member of Congress 7th District. H. H. AAKER—Prohibition. ☐
Member of Congress 7th District. HÅLDOR E. BOEN—Referendum. ☐
Member of Congress 7th District. ☐
Vote for one.

Representative 61st District. CHARLES G. RAPP—Republican. ☐
Representative 61st District. S. A. SWANSON—Peoples Independent. ☐
Representative 61st District. JAMES MEEHAN, JR.—Democrat Independent. ☐ Representative 61st District. ☐
Vote for one.

County Auditor—W. A. CASE—Republican. ☐
County Auditor—ADAM ZEH—Peoples Independent. ☐
County Auditor— ☐
Vote for one.

County Treasurer—L. JENSEN—Republican. ☐
County Treasurer—O. T. TANDBERG—Peoples Independent. ☐
County Treasurer—JACOB THILL—Democrat Independent. ☐ County Treasurer— ☐
Vote for one.

Register of Deeds—NELS HOLBERG—Republican. ☐
Register of Deeds—SAMUEL GIBEAU—Peoples Independent. ☐
Register of Deeds—EDONOR PERUSSE—Democrat. ☐
Register of Deeds—EDWARD HAMRY—Independent. ☐
Register of Deeds— ☐
Vote for one.

Sheriff—CHARLES SAMPSON—Republican. ☐
Sheriff—E. A. MORAN—Peoples-Independent. ☐
Sheriff—DANIEL LINNIHAN—Democrat-Independent. ☐
Sheriff— ☐
Vote for one.

Judge of Probate—ANATOLE BACHAND—Republican. ☐
Judge of Probate—JUSTUS L. JOHNSON—Peoples Independent. ☐
Judge of Probate—J. T. KNIGHT—Democrat-Independent. ☐
Judge of Probate— ☐
Vote for one.

County Attorney—LUMAN C. SIMONS—Republican. ☐
County Attorney—F. A. GRADY—Peoples-Independent. ☐
County Attorney—HENRY W. LEE—Democrat-Independent. ☐ County Attorney— ☐
Vote for one.

Supt. of Schools—J. B. O'BRIEN—Republican. ☐
Supt. of Schools—FRANK JEFFERS—Peoples-Independent. ☐
Supt. of Schools— ☐
Vote for one.

Coroner—HENRY GRUNDY—Republican. ☐
Coroner—JOSEPH BELAIR—Peoples-Independent. ☐
Coroner— ☐
Vote for one.

County Surveyor—DAY F. STACY—Democrat-Republican. ☐ County Surveyor—P. O. HAGGLUND—Peoples-Independent. ☐ County Surveyor— ☐
Vote for one.

Commissioner 2nd Dist.—WM. C. L. DEMANN—Republican Independent. ☐
Commissioner 2nd Dist.—THOMAS BELAIR—Peoples Independent. ☐
Commissioner 2nd Dist.— ☐
Vote for one.

Commissioner 4th Dist.—L. HANSON—Republican. ☐
Commissioner 4th Dist.—GEORGE JARMAN—Peoples Independent. ☐
Commissioner 4th Dist.— ☐
Vote for one.

County Commissioners' Proceedings.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Oct. 2nd, 1900.

3 o'clock p. m.

Special meeting of the board of county commissioners, Red Lake county, Minn.

Pursuant to call dated Sept. 20th, 1900 board met in extra session this day.

Meeting called to order by the chairman.

All members present.

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake County

Gentlemen:

We, your committee on construction of county jail, beg leave to report as follows:

On Sept. 17th, 1900, the committee received and opened the following bids for $3,000.00 worth of jail bonds, which was found on the estimates submitted by Architect Strassburger to be the necessary amount of funds needed for the construction of said jail, viz:

First State Bank of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for a 5 per cent. semi-annual interest, 20 year bond. $3040.

Merchants State Bank, of Red Lake Falls, Minn., for a 5 per cent. semi-annual interest, 20 year bond $3087.

Trowbridge, Niver & Co., of Minneapolis, Minn., for a 5 per cent. semi-annual interest 20 year bond including blanks, $3165.

Stoddard, Nye & Co., of Minneapolis, Minn., for a 4½ per cent. semi-annual interest 20 year bond, including blanks $3025.

After duly considering all the bids, the committee contracted to sell the bonds to Stoddard, Nye & Co.

We then let the contract for supplying the stone, delivered at the jail site, to Otto Zaiser for the sum of $4.50 per cord.

We have also let the contract for the construction of the foundation for the jail, including the concrete under the cells, to Dan Linnihan for the sum of $198.00.

The following bids were received for the construction of the jail above the foundation, viz:

James Brady $1447.
J. J. Rue $1435.
Frank Mageau $1594.

After considering all the bids and taking into due consideration the responsibility of the bidders we recommend that the contract be awarded to James Brady.

Respectfully submitted,
K. M. Hansen
Wm. C. L. Demann
J. B. Hebert,
Committee.

Commissioner Hansen offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved, that the foregoing report of committee on jail be approved.

Which resolution was seconded by Commissioner Johnson and the question being upon the adoption of said resolution, the said resolution, was duly adopted by the following vote:

Ayes: Commissioners Hebert, Johnson, Sutor, Hansen and Demann.

Nays, none.

Thereupon the chairman of the Board declared the resolution adopted.

Commissioner Hansen offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved, that the chairman and county auditor be and are hereby instructed to make contract with Jas. Brady for construction of jail, according to plans and specifications upon his filing with the county auditor the proper bond in the sum of $1500, which resolution was seconded by Commissioner Hebert and on motion carried unanimously the same was adopted.

On motion duly carried, a recess was taken to 7 o'clock p. m.

7 o'clock p. m., Oct. 2, 1900.

Board reconvened.

Meeting called to order by the chairman.

All members present.

Commissioner Hebert offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

RESOLUTION.

Whereas this Board of County Commissioners did, on the 5th day of Sept. A. D. 1900, duly vote to consider the question of erecting a county jail in and for the county of Red Lake and state of Minnesota and duly communicated that fact to the State Board of Corrections and Charities of said state of Minnesota; and whereas said Board of Corrections and Charities did, on the 3rd day of Sept. A. D. 1900, duly offer to this Board of County Commissioners such advice in the premises as they deemed proper, and whereas, after receiving the advice of said Board of Corrections and Charities as aforesaid and on the 5th day of Sept., A. D. 1900, this Board of County Commissioners duly voted in favor of the erection of a county jail in and for said county of Red Lake, the vote for and against the erection of said county jail being as follows:

Ayes 5.

As follows: Commissioners Sutor, Hanson, Hebert, Demann and Johnson.

Nays, none.

Thereupon the chairman of the board declared the same carried, and

Whereas this Board did thereupon proceed to procure plans and estimates of the cost of such county jail and submitted the said plans and estimates of the costs of said county jail to the said State Board of Corrections and Charities for suggestions and criticism before the final adoption thereof by this Board, and whereas the suggestions and criticisms of the said State Board of Corrections and Charities in writing in respect to the said plans and estimates of the costs of said county jail were duly filed in the office of the County Auditor of said county of Red Lake on the 19th day of Sept. A. D. 1900, and are now on file in the said office of said County Auditor, and whereas the plans and estimates of the cost of said county jail, modified in accordance with the suggestions and criticism of said State Board of Corrections and Charities, were duly adopted by this Board of County Commissioners on the 2nd day of October, A. D. 1900, and this Board did, on the 2nd day of October, 1900, duly determine and vote to erect such county jail in and for said county of Red Lake at a cost of $3,000, and whereas it is necessary to issue and negotiate the bonds of said county of Red Lake to the amount of Three Thousand Dollars for the purpose of raising the necessary funds for the erection of said county jail, there being no funds in the treasury of said county available for that purpose:

Now therefore, be it resolved by the Board of County Commissioners of the county of Red Lake, Minnesota,

That this Board of County Commissioners do forthwith issue and negotiate the bonds of said county of Red Lake, in the state of Minnesota, to the amount of Three Thousand Dollars for the purpose of raising the funds necessary for the construction of a county jail in and for said county of Red Lake, said bonds to be in denominations of $500 each, to be dated October 1st, A. D. 1900, to be made payable October 1st, A. D. 1920, to bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, interest to be evidenced by interest coupons attached to said bonds, both principal and interest to be payable at the National Bank of Commerce, in the city of Minneapolis, Minnesota, and that the chairman of this board of county commissioners and the county auditor of said Red Lake County are hereby authorized, empowered and directed respectively to properly sign and attest and countersign said bonds and the interest coupons thereto attached and to affix to said bonds the official seal of said Red Lake county, and to deliver said bonds to Stoddard, Nye & Co., of Minneapolis, Minnesota, the purchasers of said bonds, upon the payment into the treasury of said Red Lake county by said Stoddard, Nye & Co. of the amount of their bid for said bonds, which said bid is the highest and best bid for said bonds and is for more than the par value of said bonds and accrued interest, and has been and is hereby accepted by this board of county commissioners; that the proceeds of said bonds be placed in the treasury of said county of Red Lake to be used for the purpose of erecting a county jail in and for said county; that said bonds and interest coupons thereto attached may be substantially in the following form (the blanks therein to be properly filled in), to-wit:

No...... $500.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.
STATE OF MINNESOTA.
RED LAKE COUNTY.
JAIL BOND.

Know all Men by These presents, That the county of Red Lake, in the state of Minnesota, for value received is indebted to and promises to pay to the bearer the sum of Five Hundred Dollars, lawful money of the United States of America, on the 1st day of October, A. D. 1920, with interest thereon at the rate of four and one-half per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the 1st day of April and October of each year, upon the presentation and surrender of the proper interest coupons hereto attached, principal and interest payable at the National Bank of Commerce, in the city of Minneapolis, Minnesota, and the said county of Red Lake is hereby held and firmly bound and its faith and credit and and all the real and personal property of said county of Red Lake are hereby pledged for the prompt payment of this bond and the interest thereon as the same shall become due and payable.

This bond is one of a series of six bonds of like date, tenor and denomination and is issued for the purpose of raising the necessary funds for the erection of a county jail in and for said Red Lake county, Minnesota, under and pursuant to the provisions of the General Statutes and laws of the state of Minnesota and in pursuance and by authority of a resolution duly adopted by the board of County Commissioners of said Red Lake County, Minnesota, at a legally called meeting of said board of County Commissioners held on the 2nd day of October, A. D. 1900.

It is hereby further certified and recited that all requirements of law have been fully complied with by the proper officers in the issuance of this bond and that all acts, conditions and things required by the laws and statutes of the state of Minnesota to be done precedent to and in the issuance of this bond have been properly done, happened and performed in regular and due form as required by law and that the total indebtedness of said Red Lake county, including this bond, does not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation.

In Witness Whereof, The board of County Commissioners of the county of Red Lake, in the state of Minnesota, have caused this bond to be signed by the chairman of said board of county commissioners and attested and countersigned the county auditor of said county of Red Lake and the seal of said county to be hereto affixed this 1st day of October, A. D. 1900.

Wm. C. L. Demann,
Chairman
of Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake County, Minnesota.

Attest and countersigned:
Adam Zeh,
County Auditor
of Red Lake County, Minnesota.

(Interest Coupon)

No...... $11.25.

October 1st, 1900.

The county of Red Lake in the state of Minnesota, for value received, promises to pay to the bearer eleven dollars and twenty-five cents on the 1st day of———, A. D. 19——at the National Bank of Commerce in the city of Minneapolis, Minnesota, the same being the amount of the semi-annual interest on County Jail Bond No——of said county for Five Hundred Dollars, dated October 1, A. D. 1900.

Wm. C. L. Demann,
Chairman
of Board of County Commissioners of Red Lake County, Minnesota.

Attest and countersigned:
Adam Zeh,
County Auditor
of Red Lake County, Minnesota.

Said resolution having been duly read and the motion to adopt the same duly seconded by Commissioner Sutor, one of the members of said Board, and the question being upon the adoption of said resolution, the said resolution was duly adopted by the following vote:

Ayes, 5.

As follows:

Commissioners Hebert, Sutor, Johnson, Hansen and Demann.

Nays,

None.

Thereupon the chairman of the Board declared the resolution duly adopted.

On motion duly carried a recess was taken to 9 o'clock a. m.

9 o'clock a. m., Oct. 3d, 1900.

Board reconvened.

Meeting called to order by the chairman.

All members present.

On motion duly carried, bills were allowed as follows:

County Poor Fund.
Theo LaBissoniere mdse for Mrs Brault July	5 00
Theo LaBissoniere mdse for Mrs Brault August	6 00
Theo LaBissoniere mdse for Jorstad	7 50
F J Stebbins medicine furnished to paupers	13 40
Dr H Francis medical services rendered, John Taylor	16 00
A M Anderson coffin furnished for Oliver Durand	16 50
John Beaudry boarding E. Morrissette 2 months	16 00
Louis Belair boarding John Taylor 2 weeks	6 00
Ed Garceau boarding Joe Doyea by Lacoursiere	13 00
Ed Garceau boarding Mrs Violette by LaBounty	2 50
W A Schreiter medicine furnished paupers	28 90
County Jail Fund.
E Strassburger plans and specifications co. jail	60 00
County Revenue Fund.
M A Hatten services as fire warden	4 00
Pioneer Press Co. blanks	85
Geo D Barnard & Co. pencils	2 98
C E Boughton services rendered as attorney in case of Polk Co vs Red Lake Co	207 90
Moses Belair dep sheriffs fees in case of state vs Gilbert Olson	7 90
O N Bourdon moving safe and team hire	8 00
Joseph Perrault clerk of court fees	13 45
Ole J Johnson county commissioner 2 days and mileage	10 00
K M Hansen 2 days county commissioner and mileage and 5 days committee work and mileage	30 00
James Sutor county commissioner 2 days and mileage and 3 days committee work and mileage	21 00
J B Hebert 2 days county commissioner and mileage and 7 days committee work and mileage	36 60
Wm C L Demann 2 days county commissioner and mileage and 2 days committee work and mileage	14 60
Wm C L Demann 5 days committee work on jail and mileage	16 40

On motion duly carried meeting adjourned.

Adam Zeh,
County Auditor.

TEXAS SOLOMON.

How the Ownership of a Hen Was Judicially Determined.

Texas has always been noted for the remarkable decisions of some of its minor judiciaries, which, while often showing ignorance of the letter of the law, contained a good deal of rude equity and appreciation of what was right between man and man, says the Mexican Herald. Some of Justice I. P. Franklin's decisions at Brownsville would have done credit to the wise cadi in "The Arabian Nights." One case I recollect in particular. Two women came to him one morning claiming the ownership of a hen, valued perhaps at 25 cents. Each had a crowd of witnesses, who swore point blank up and down, one lot that the hen was the property of one of the women and the other gang that it was the property of the other. Here was a quandary. Franklin thought awhile and then ordered that the hen be left with the court, and said he would render his decision later. Just about sunset that afternoon "Jip," accompanied by the constable, who carried the hen in a soap box, a couple of policemen and two or three of the court hangers-on, appeared in front of the dwellings of the rival claimants who lived just across the street from each other. The police and the hangers-on were ordered to clear the street and to keep all passers-by and curious urchins back, while the rival occupants of the residences were ordered to stay within doors. Then the constable put the box containing the hen at the point in the roadway midway between the two houses, and as the setting sun was tinging the clouds in the west with its last rays he removed the cover of the box and retired on tiptoe. Biddy jumped up on the side of the box, shook her feathers, hopped into the street, picked in the dust for a moment and then, calmly marched into the yard of one of the claimants, proceeded to fly up into a tree to go to roost. Calling the woman of that house to the door, Franklin told her that he had decided that the hen was hers, and, in turning to the other, who had come out, said: "And if you give me any more trouble about that hen I will assess you $2.50 for costs." All the neighbors were well satisfied as to the justice of the decision, and Franklin's reputation as a judge was much enhanced thereby among the native population. He had very shrewdly thought that if no one else knew to whom the hen belonged probably Biddy herself would be the most certain witness in the case.

As Others See Us.

We have a way of generalizing in the most superior fashion in regard to more ancient races. This, however, is a boot for the other foot—a quotation from a certain Chinese essayist, who thus describes the American people: They live months without eating a mouthful of rice. They eat bullocks and sheep in enormous quantities. They have to bathe frequently. The men dress all alike, and to judge from their appearance, they are all coolies; neither are they ever to be seen carrying a fan or an umbrella, for they manifest their ignorant contempt of these insignia of gentlemen by leaving them entirely to women. None of them have finger-nails more than an eighth of an inch long. They eat meat with knives and prongs. They never enjoy themselves by sitting quietly on their ancestors' graves, but jump around and kick-balls as if paid to do it. They have no dignity, for they may be found walking with women.—Youth's Companion.

Not Uncommon.

"Bredren," said Parson Black, earnestly, "dere am some folks in which de still, small voice ob conscience keeps a-gettin' stiller and smaller, until at las' 'd hab ter l'arn de deef an' dumb langwidge if it wants ter attrack dir attention."—Puck.

Talking About Weeds.

"She's a mighty pretty girl and has a lot of money. Wonder what her father is? Must be a landed proprietor, for he's always talking about hay and straw and such things."

"Cigar manufacturer, probably!"—Heitere Welt.

Hotel Attractions.

"Yes, he started a hotel, and he's made a hit, too. You know the old-established place across the street advertised itself as 'a hotel without the discomforts of home.'"—Philadelphia Press.

Not Sunny to Plunksley.

First politician—Old Plunksley wants the nomination and he's ready to tap his barrel.

Second politician—All right. We'll give him a run for his money.—Puck.

THE THIRTIETH CENTURY

It is now the forty-second day of the spring season, in the year 3000 A. D. My name—C-234-M. G.—tells the reader my residence, family and the phrenological classification.

I am a clerk in the bureau of carpet tacks, department of house furnishing of D continent (formerly North America). Although my labor is credited to Guthrie (the governmental center of D continent), I prefer to reside on C continent (formerly Africa) by reason of its superior climatic advantages, as well as the greater selectness of its single tax areas.

Having recently finished my proportion of individual labor for the common good during the current year and received government tickets for the same, I determined to devote my vacation to making a slow journey throughout the world.

My first destination I had determined should be the newest continent of all—continent H (formerly Antarcticana)—and the slow passage thither on an airship freighter was a novel sensation indeed. Under the most favorable conditions a speed of over 100 miles an hour was impossible, and the voyage, although enlivened by numerous well told legends of ships that sailed on the water, seemed interminable. When we flew over the gigantic system of mirrors that by deflecting the rays of the sun have made a semi-tropical country out of this erstwhile ice bound coast, the air became rather oppressive, but in a very few minutes we had reached the elevated landings. Rapidly spreading my wing planes, I jumped outward from the deck and soon reached the ground in safety.

The moving sidewalk carried me rapidly to a place of amusement, where a man informed me that a company would give a faithful reproduction of the wonderful American allegory entitled "Uncle Tom's Cabin." He then stated that in the days of Mark Antony (or Mark Twain, as he was sometimes erroneously called) and McKinley Bill immense audiences gathered to witness this pagan spectacle and that thousands of negroes were torn to pieces by savage bloodhounds for the delectation of the assembled populace. In accordance with the rudely drawn pictures to be found in the extant copies of a curious publication called a comic or conic weekly the part of Little Eva was played by a woman of advanced years, and the cakes of ice were represented by specially constructed and labeled soap boxes.

On leaving the public theater I kept on the moving sidewalk for a few miles and then stepped off and walked for fully 20 minutes on the roadway. This unaccustomed exertion was rather fatiguing, and as night was drawing near I made haste to find a place of shelter.

On my right hand I noticed what looked like a human habitation, although it was not constructed of cut glass with inside shades, as is our universal custom. The house, if such it could be called, was seemingly built of painted wood, with square holes in which a few small pieces of glass were set. Attracted by the possibility of an adventure, which of course is very rare nowadays, I walked at once to the door and entered. Almost at the threshold I met the owner and greeting him cheerfully announced my intention of making a brief stay with him. Much to my surprise he seemed to demur, but soon recovering, his self possession ushered me into a room and introduced me to his daughter. I was rather embarrassed to perceive that she was dressed in the picture custume of antiquity, but presumed that it was merely done in a sportive mood. Yet truly she looked a vision of loveliness. There was something almost picturesque in the braided hair, full skirt and jaunty, huge sleeved waist, with czarina collar, and although for practical purposes our present universal dress is much better adapted for both sexes I cannot but wish that, in the bosoms of their families at least, women might deign to wear the beautiful costume that historians ascribe to the Parkhurstian period.

On engaging the young person in conversation I was astounded to find that her name was Gladys. Who could believe that this name of the past was worn by a native of the thirtieth century?

But my wonder was further increased when, still wearing the ancient garb, she spread a white cloth upon a table and placed thereon several vessels of the chinaware similar to that now in our school museums. Instead of receiving their portions of the condensed food in gluten capsules from the public food factories this family had evidently returned to the old time custom of preparing their food themselves in primitive style.

Much as I marveled at this, I took my place at the table with the twain and joined in their unique repast. Strange as it may sound, the roast slices of meat and vegetables boiled in water tasted extremely well, but the trouble and time required to prepare and eat them must become exceedingly monotonous.

After the strange meal was over Gladys' father left us, and I engaged the maiden in conversation.

She was entirely dissimilar to all the women of my acquaintance. Aside from the wearing of such strange drapery her voice was low and even instead of having the usual womanly harshness, and her gliding walk and composed manner bore no resemblance to the manners of the brusque, excitable women who lead the van of advanced thought in our world councils.

When I ventured to ask his reasons for returning to barbarism in eating and dressing, he turned on me fiercely and said: "Young man, I'm tired of being a machine. I'm a radical. I believe the good old days were the best, and I'm working as a missionary to endeavor to get the people to vote them back again."

Astounded, stupefied by this madman's ravings, I retired to my bed, but not to sleep. This benighted family did not use the water mattresses, which, yielding to the slightest movement, allow every muscle to relax and sleep, so I tossed the livelong night on a crude feather arrangement and vowed that I would return home at once and give notice of this dangerous conspiracy to the world.

And so I have done.—Exchange.

Blissful Ignorance.

well (in cheap restaurant)—Here, are these mutton chops or pork —Can't you tell by the taste?

—No.

—Then what difference does it h they are?—Pearson's Weekly.

We sell the best Norwegian Cod Liver Oil in the market. In pint bottles or any quantity desired.

PETERSON & CURTIS, Druggists.

TOWN TALES.

Dr. Francis was down to St. Hilaire Sunday.

Julius Pleth and wife were down to Crookston last week.

K. M. Hansen was down to Red Lake Falls the first of the week.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

C. L. Dobner was down to Crookston last week on business.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

James Meehan, Jr., has one heavy working team of horses for sale.

James Meehan, Jr., was in the southern end of the county last week.

P. O. Heggland, candidate for county surveyor, was in the city last week.

L. Jensen, Republican candidate for county treasurer, was in the city the first of the week.

Frank Jeffers, candidate for county superintendent of schools, was in the city last week.

John Dobner, of Lake City, was in the city last week visiting his sons, C. L. and H. G. Dobner.

Largest assortment of all the latest books at Stebbins' drug store. Call and see them.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

For an extra good 5-cent cigar, smoke the Double XX. C. Wiener, manufacturer.

First take your home paper, then subscribe for the St. Paul Dispatch, twenty-five cents per month.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

Attorneys Richardson, Lee and Hibner went down to Red Lake Falls the first of the week to attend court.

Frank Bourque and Dennie Connelly went to Red Lake Falls the first of the week to serve as petit jurors.

James Meehan, Jr., attended a political meeting in the school house in the town of Numedal Tuesday evening.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

—John Grove, the head man in the John Grove Land company, accompanied by his wife, was in the city last week.

Capt. Davenport, who is in charge of the improvements on the Red Lake river, was in the city the first of the week.

The Mutual Life Insurance company was represented in this city the first of the week by Geo. L. Hall, of Crookston.

If anyone wishes for a fine engraved picture of McKinley and Roosevelt, call at the News office and one can be had free.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

Hugh Dean came down from the lake last week. He says that he never saw the water in the Red Lake river as high as it is at present.

Alex Van Praag, grand master of the Odd Fellows' lodge, was in the city the first of the week visiting with the members of the local lodge.

Peterson & Curtis, proprietors of the New Drug Store, had a handsome new sign placed in front of their building the first of the week.

Dr. George Tupper, of Chicago, was in the city the first of the week, looking over our future prospects, with a view of locating here.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

The aim of the St. Paul Dispatch is to give news of vital interest to all, and not to a few. Send 25 cents for one month trial subscription.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

A number of people enjoyed an excursion a short distance up the Red Lake river on the steamboat Lilly Sunday afternoon. The band accompanied the excursionists.

Dan Shaw was up to the Red Lake Agency last week on business. He says that the people up there are unanimous for Page Morris, who has secured large appropriations for them.

Quantity with quality is the news given in the St. Paul Dispatch. More and better news than any Northwestern daily. Twenty-five cents brings it to you one month. Send for trial subscription.

F. A. Grady and Samuel Gibeau, Populist candidates for county attorney and register of deeds, respectively, were campaigning in the northern end of the county together last week.

Over 800 persons have taken out naturalization papers in Beltrami county during the past two years. It is estimated that there will be at least 2,600 votes cast in this county this year.—Bemidji News.

Rudolph Rogers, of Lambert, and H. C. Manders, of Garnes, were here the first of the week. The gentlemen are practical cheese makers, and say that an institution of that kind would pay well here.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

C. F. Johnstone, of Sheffield, Iowa, and H. L. Goodrich, of Sperit Lake, Iowa, visited Thief River Falls this week with a view of establishing a national bank here.

The Crookston College opened its fall term Sept. 10. Winter term will open Nov. 5th. Board and furnished room taken care of in private family for $2.50 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

—H. E. Mussey and family, who had been visiting friends in Michigan for the past two months, returned to this city last week. Mr. Mussey reports that the fruit crop in Michigan—while exceedingly large—has proven a failure, owing to the fact that the apples, etc., rot as soon as gathered.

The case of Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Cunningham, the two St. Hilaire ladies who were injured in this city last spring by being thrown from a carriage while crossing the railroad track, against the city of Thief River Falls, is being tried at Red Lake Falls. The city has summoned some thirty witnesses—most of whom are residents this city—and a determined fight is being made on both sides.

VIEW OF A POPULIST.

Congressman Frank M. Eddy Should Be Re-elected for What He Has Done for the People.

From the Red Lake Falls Gazette (Pop.)

FRANK M. EDDY,
Candidate for Re-Election to Congress.

Hon. Frank M. Eddy, the Republican candidate for congress, asks for the support of the people of the district, not upon what he will do, but upon the record he has made during the time he has been in congress. It is a case of facts and results, not one of promises and pledges unfulfilled. In securing the passage of the free homes bill, which became a law last May under his leadership after two years of hard work for the people of his district, he did more for the people of Minnesota than was ever done before by a single piece of legislation. By the passage of this bill, more than 3,400 settlers on the Red Lake reservation alone were benefitted to the extent of $200 each, for it provides that instead of paying $1.25 per acre, they shall receive their homesteads free. This not only means that $680,000 is saved to the settlers, but it saves hundreds of them from being obliged to mortgage their homes to pay the government. The political opponents can exhaust all of their efforts to belittle Congressman Eddy, but here are some facts which they cannot rub out. Here is a piece of legislation which which is so direct in its benefits that no one can fail to see them. You may not have a reservation claim, but you may have a son, a brother, a daughter, a relative or a friend who has. If so, Frank M. Eddy has saved this man or woman $200. Here is a direct benefit, not an imaginary one—a benefit right here at home, not in Porto Rico nor in the Philippines. We are warranted in stating that there is not a family of any considerable size in the whole northern part of the state, of which some member has not received the blessings of the free homes law. In view of these facts his friends feel justified in asking the voters to stand by and re-elect a man who has worked so hard for and been so faithful to their interests. He has been tried and proved a faithful servant of the people. Vote for him; work for him as he has worked for you, Stand by the man who has been your friend and your friend's friend. Show a faithful servant that his efforts for the common people have been appreciated by casting your vote for Frank M. Eddy, the champion of free homes.

Rooms for rent. Inquire of Knute Jorstad.

The Republicans have rented a room adjoining Dr. Francis' office and opened up headquarters.

Chas. A. Forbes arrived in the city the first of the week to look for the wire grass northeast of here for a St. Paul firm.

For a clear Havana hand-made 10-cent cigar, smoke the Atlantic. C. Wiener, manufacturer.

State Treasurer August Koerner, accompanied by two friends, arrived in the city yesterday and went up to the Mud lake country to shoot ducks.

L. Peterson and family arrived in the city yesterday from Crookston. Mr. Peterson has been given the position as manager of the city's electric light plant.

It is said that the funds at the Red Lake postoffice have been discovered about $300 short which will have to be made up by the bondsmen.—Crookston Times.

The John Grove Land company has decided to open up a real estate office in St. Hilaire, and Fred G. Wells, of this city, will be the manager. Mr. Wells is a hustler and will undoubtedly succeed in selling a number of farms in that vicinity.

The "Northern Black Birds" is the name of a minstrel company (formed out of burnt cork and good Methodists of Thief River Falls) that will give an entertainment in the Methodist church tomorrow evening.

> No imperial designs lurk in the American mind. They are alien to American sentiment, thought or purpose. Our priceless principles undergo no change under the tropical sun. They go with the flag.—William McKinley in His Boston Speech, 1899.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

TONIGHT

Republican Rally in Red Lake Falls.

An excursion train will be run from this city to Red Lake Falls tonight. The train will leave this city at 6:30 this evening and will return about midnight. Hon. J. Adam Bede will be the orator of the evening, and the affair promises to be the biggest political demonstration ever held in Red Lake county. The saw mill will close down at 5 o'clock this evening in order to give the employes of that institution an opportunity to go down.

MARKETS.

(Corrected to Date.)

No. 1 Northern	64c
Oats	33c
Flax	$1.49
Beef	2½c
Pork	4½c
Mutton	3c
Eggs	15c
Butter	13 to 20c
Hay, per ton	$6.00
Potatoes, per bu	40c

Two to One on Van Sant.

Ada Herald, (Dem.): During the past week the political pot has been simmering with added vigor, and there is not only a good deal of talk being indulged in, but considerable money is being put up. The fore part of last week Senator Myran placed a bet of $400 to $200 with Mr. Barnard, the ditch contractor—Myran betting on Van Sant and Barnard on Lind. Friday night these two gentlemen placed another bet of $600 to $300. Several bets have been placed during the past week and considerable money will change hands after the result of the November election is announced.

C. E. Winslow was down to Crookston the first of the week.

A DEMO-POP RALLY

Held in the City Hall Last Friday Evening.

T. J. Knox, candidate for railroad and warehouse commissioner on the fusion ticket, addressed an audience in Thief River Falls last Friday evening. The hall was fairly well filled when Mr. Knox commenced his address, but hardly one-half of the number remained until the close of the meeting. He pictured a very gloomy outlook for the future if McKinley was re-elected, saying that it was the intention to make this country an empire. The people would then be subjected to military rule and the right of suffrage would be taken from them. The greater part of his address was devoted to the question of expansion, and he denounced the views of Senator Knute Nelson and other Republican leaders. The masses of people were as prosperous under Cleveland's second administration as they are under the present administration, he said, and then the Democrats in the hall applauded heartily.

In speaking of state issues he said that the defeat of John Lind would mean the triumph of the railroads of the state. He said that John Lind was the man that recommended the increasing of the gross earnings tax, but failed to state that the recommendation was first made by a Republican, State Auditor Dunn, and that the bill was introduced and past the house of representatives at the behest of another Republican, J. F. Jacobson. Neither did he mention the fact that the Great Northern railroad supported Lind for governor, and also that the St. Paul Globe, which has been proven in the courts to be owned by James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, was this year supporting him for governor. We are willing to admit that John Lind is a good, honest man, but there are others equally as honest.

TO UNITE

The Two School Districts in This City.

The following petition was circulated about the city the first of the week:

We, the undersigned, citizens of Thief River Falls, realizing the value and importance of a uniform school system, managed by a single board of education which shall be composed of six members who shall be given power to provide adequate facilities to meet the growing demands of our city, do hereby petition the clerks of the boards of trustees of districts 107 and 57 respectively to publish notices of special school meetings in their respective districts, which shall be called for the purpose of voting upon the following proposition:

Independent District—Yes.
Independent District—No.

Anyone who has given the matter any thought must admit that the best interests of the schools of this city demands the uniting of the two districts here into one independent district. There should be uniform grades throughout the city, and the schools should be under the supervison of one man. At present the school tax rate on each side of the river is nearly equal, and there can be no valid reason advanced why the two districts should not be united.

DIED.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Hansen died last Thursday morning, and was buried Friday afternoon. The child had always been in poor health since its birth last spring. The parents have the sympathy of the public.

Subscribe for the NEWS.

CHEESE FACTORY

Would Be a Good Thing for the Farmers.

TO THE EDITOR: As the present season closes, with the extreme drouth in the spring, followed by two months of rain this fall, the fact becomes more self-evident than ever before that the farmer must have some other source of income than grain raising. Just what this will be, he is puzzled to know. With the great advantages this country has for stock raising, it has proved to be a profitable investment, but he must keep it for years and depend upon an uncertain market for his profits, and when he sells, his stock in trade is gone, and he must spend more cash for more stock and risk a depreciating market for his profits again, which is very unsatisfactory.

During my recent visit to Michigan, I took great pains to discover some source of income to the farmers, other than grain raising, that could be made profitable to the farmers of this section. Being in a village having a cheese factory, which was well patronized both by the farmer and the consumer, I took pains to investigate and decided that it was just the thing, that was wanted in this section, and was of much more profit to the farmer than a creamery. In the cheese factory every farmer sells his milk by the pound, receiving equal pay with his neighbor, without regard to the quality of the milk. The milk from a native bred cow—those most common in this country—is worth just as much, or more, than from the fine bred Jersey, and, therefore, all farmers can receive the full benefit alike.

I have secured the co-operation of one of the best cheese makers in that section, who will join with me in this enterprise, provided the farmers will furnish the milk. It will be no co-operative factory, but the farmer will get his check every thirty days, the same as he would for any other produce he sells. The first thing to be done is to procure the support of the farmers and for this purpose a meeting of farmers is called for next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the city hall, at which time I will explain some facts in regard to it, and will be glad to see as many farmers as possible, who, it is desired, will be prepared to state as near as possible the amount of milk they will furnish. Everybody is requested to be present, prepared to express themselves in regard to the enterprise.

Yours Respectfully,
H. E. MUSSEY.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled No extra fares.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

A RECORD OF FAILURE AND MISMANAGEMENT

What the "Reform" Administration Has Done for the State During the Past Two Years.

EVERY EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT SHOWS WOEFUL INCAPACITY.

"Political Pull" the Qualification for a Position Under Governor Lind.

"By their fruits shall ye know them."

Gov. Lind's administration can best be judged by the results of the various departments under executive control. Their successful management would necessarily reflect credit upon the administration, and for any incompetence, scandal, mismanagement or mistakes in their conduct, the governor is equally responsible: he must stand or fall by the record of these appointees, for whom he is personally responsible.

During his campaign, two years ago, Mr. Lind frequently stated that if elected, he meant to "reform" the different departments, that he would introduce a sort of civil service, retaining all efficient employes, irrespective of their political affiliations; that his only aim was the best service.

And he carried out this "reform" with a vengeance. Immediately after taking office, he and his private secretary, Rosing, commenced to wield the official ax, indiscriminately, and in every department the former office-holders were replaced by active Lind partisans. He has built up a gigantic political machine, such as the state has never seen before, the with one sole object in view—to hold their jobs. Everything has been sacrificed to this end; it is the alpha and omega of their politics. Every officeholder, every appointee, even down to the janitors, the grain inspectors and deputy game wardens, including men who are drawing only $40 a month wages, have been called upon to contribute a part of their monthly salary for the campaign purposes and the "machine."

Is it to be wondered at that in every department, an increased appropriation of money from the state was asked for? Is it remarkable that the cost of maintaining the various departments is greater than it was before? Is it not to be expected that every department, run as it is by men whose only qualification is their "political pull," should be poorly managed or mismanaged?

In his campaign, two years ago, Mr. Lind attacked the character of the then public examiner, M. D. Kenyon; he openly charged that the state prison twine plant was run in the interests of the twine trust; he insinuated that the farmers were being robbed by the existing wheat inspection—and it was necessary to elect him to reform them. These charges were subsequently proven to be absolutely false, and were made for the sole purpose of influencing votes. AND THIS IS HOW LIND REFORMED THE VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS:

Couldn't Divide by 60.

The incompetency and inefficiency of the "reform" wheat inspection bureau has become a by-word. With men who don't know wheat from potatoes appointed as inspectors, it is not to be wondered at that in the open market in Minneapolis, wheat that has graded as No. 3 or rejected, actually sold for more, by sample, than wheat that was graded as No. 1. No wonder that it is necessary to employ a greater number of men in this department, even in a short crop year, to do the work. And besides, it was deemed necessary to provide fat jobs for political friends. Who pays for it? The farmer and taxpayer.

Under Republican management, politics was absolutely kept out of this department. In employing an inspector, he was never asked what his political faith was; he was engaged for his fitness and capacity for the work. Immediately Gov. Lind undertook to "reform" the department, there was a wholesale discharge of competent and honest men, and their places were filled—and more places created—by a lot of ward-heelers and politicians, whose only qualification consisted in their ability to carry a precinct caucus.

It is an actual fact, and a matter that can be verified, that two of these employes were transferred from the weighing to the inspection department of the service simply, because they were unable to figure out the number of bushels of wheat in a car, from the weight of the contents—they were unable to divide the number of pounds by 60.

Minnesota wheat has always heretofore sold at a premium in the Eastern markets, and by this premium the farmers have profited directly. It meant from 1 to 3 cents more per bushel for their wheat. Under present inspection the gradings given by the inspectors have been ignored by the buyers, and the wheat sold by the sample. What does this mean? Why, the buyers lost confidence in the correctness of the grading, by Lind's political grain inspectors, and the remarkable discrepancies between their gradings and the actual selling standards of the wheat have fully justified this suspicion.

Those grain shippers, whose elevators are adjacent to railroad lines running into Chicago, are shipping their grain there in preference of to Minneapolis. The reason for this is self-evident. They are assured a uniform and just inspection with a less "dockage" than is being given under our "reform" administration.

How Game Is "Protected."

During the past few years Minnesota has spent $25,000 annually for the protection of her game and game fish. Under Lind's administration it may well be said that this $25,000 has been diverted into the "reform" campaign fund, for this, like the other executive departments, has been converted into a cog-wheel of the Lind-Rosing machine. It is a notorious fact that this money has been spent, not for the protection of the game and fish, but to employ "deputy game wardens" to travel through their respective counties, organizing Bryan and Lind clubs. Besides this, each deputy game warden was assessed part of his monthly salary to support the "reform" press bureau.

One Republican deputy was retained, P. O. Stevens of Detroit, Becker county. Mr. Stevens was obliged to contribute a percentage of his salary to the "reform" bureau, to hold his job, but when it was demanded of him, as a condition of his remaining on the force, that he get out and poll the county in the interests of Lind, he resigned. Even the employes at the state fish hatchery, drawing $40 a month wages, were obliged to assist in "greasing the wheels."

And in return for this expenditure, what are the benefits derived by the taxpayer? During the recent "close" season, the violations of the game laws were open and flagrant. Every hotel and restaurant in St. Paul and Minneapolis served prairie chickens during the month of August. Mayor Smith (Democratic) of St. Paul, stated that the enforcement of the game law under the present administration was "rotten," and Uri Lamprey, the well known Democratic attorney of St. Paul, expressed the opinion that it would take ten years' time to repair the mischief for which the present game warden is responsible.

But the commission was obliged to make some showing. On the first day of the shooting season, Saturday, Sept. 1st, Rev. Alexander McGregor of St. Paul went out hunting and bagged sixteen prairie chickens. As they would spoil if carried until Monday, he sent them in a satchel, checked as baggage, to St. Paul. His little son called for the satchel, and was arrested with it in his possession by an "alert" game warden, and was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of shipping chickens contrary to law—an offense which the law plainly does not contemplate in such a case. The district court promptly dismissed the case.

A couple of weeks ago an old man, a Polander, ignorant of the laws, customs and even the language of the land, was fishing for bullheads and catfish, with a net, in the Mississippi river. Three valiant deputy game wardens went out in a launch, armed with shotguns, two cases of beer and a bottle of cocktails. They confiscated the old man's net, and when he expostulated he was shot and killed. The Ramsey county grand jury has indicted his slayer, Deputy Game Warden Edward Corbett, for murder in the first degree.

This, then, is the record of the game and fish commission under the "reform" management: Fish, chickens, deer and moose slaughtered out of season; $25,000 of the people's money squandered; a fifteen-year-old boy wrongfully and illegally arrested for carrying some chickens his father had shot,—and an inoffensive old man killed.

"Don't Go Back of the Red Line."

This remark of Public Examiner Pope to the expert accountant who investigated the books of the city of Mankato, will pass into history. When the expert was about to commence his work, "Gen." Pope called him to one side and said:

"You will find a red line in the books; don't go back of it, as I, myself, audited the books up to that date and found them correct."

But the expert did "go back of the red line." Furthermore, he found that "back of the red line" the books showed a peculiar shortage—$500.00 was missing from the public library fund without any record of it. An investigation on the outside showed that it had been "borrowed" by Mr. Pope, while he was president of the library board, and neither back nor before the red line was there any record of that sum having been repaid. In fact, no one knew of the loan. As a result of the expert's going back of the red line, the city attorney of Mankato was directed to commence proceedings against Mr. Pope for the recovery of the $500.00 and interest for the time he had held it—about five years. Mr. Pope settled the matter by paying back the $500.00 with interest. Would it have been repaid yet if the expert had not "gone back of the red line?" Even the Democratic papers of Mr. Pope's town condemned his action as "illegal" and "peculiar."

Is Still a Vacancy.

The vacancy in the department of education caused by the resignation of State Superintendent Prendergast has not yet been filled. Gov. Lind appointed a gentleman named Lewis—who had no other experience than teaching in a small school—to fill the place, but county superintendents all over the state are aware of his incompetence.

This is one of the departments with which the general public is not brought in close contact, hence its workings pass unnoticed, save when some glaring mistake is made. Mr. Lewis has "distinguished" himself by two of these. The first was by an effort to hold "district" summer training schools for teachers. After one trial this was abandoned and the former plan of holding them in each county was resumed. His second effort was when he accused five teachers in Douglas county, who were taking examinations for certificates, of "cheating." This was indignantly repudiated by the Douglas county superintendent of schools (a Democrat), and Mr. Lewis very willingly dropped the hot end of the poker.

"Remember the Twine."

But it is in the management of the state prison binder twine factory that the abuses are the most glaring. Not only has it been wastefully and almost criminally extravagantly mismanaged, but the results are so apparent and so directly felt by the farmer that they cannot be concealed or glossed over.

Henry Wolfer was superseded as warden of the prison by C. McC. Reeve. Mr. Wolfer was not only one of the best prison men in the country, but his services as manager of the twine plant were invaluable. Mr. Reeve's "qualifications" may be summarized by simply saying that they were the opposite of these.

Last winter Warden Reeve went into the Eastern market to buy sisal fiber. It was "sending a boy to mill." The importers of the fiber kindly took him in charge, made him believe that the market was going skyward, and that his only salvation lay in buying enough stock to keep the factory running a couple of years. Thus it was that he bought about 7,000,00 pounds of sisal FOR FUTURE DELIVERY at the highest price the market had known for years. Not only that, but they unloaded upon him a large quantity of ROTTEN, NO GRADE FIBER THAT WAS PRACTICALLY WORTHLESS. The rest of the transaction is history known to every farmer in the state who used prison twine this year. The twine was unsatisfactory, much of it rotten and brittle, owing to poor material, and NOT A SINGLE BALL OF IT HELD OUT IN LENGTH THE STANDARD MEASUREMENT OF 500 FEET PER POUND which was guaranteed by the circulars sent out by the prison managers. The shortage ran from 40 to 80 feet per pound, or 200 to 400 feet per ball.

Owing to the high price paid for the fiber the prison twine was of necessity sold at a higher price than outside twine, the first time in the history of the plant that such has been the case. In other words, the prison factory, instead of acting as a lever to keep down the price of outside twine by selling its own product at cost, has actually been unable to compete with the outside twine!

But the worst has not yet been told. The fiber bought at exorbitant price "for future delivery" continued to arrive at the prison after the season's business was over. ONE MILLION POUNDS WERE RECEIVED AT THE PRISON THE LAST OF JULY—all bought at a cost about double the price on the day of delivery. The prison factory now has on hand nearly two million pounds of fiber and twine of doubtful quality, which cost twice what it is worth in the market to-day. This is a condition which must be faced in the next season's business.

And this is how Gov. Lind has "reformed" the state twine industry. He is not promising the farmers "cheaper binder twine" in his campaign speeches this year, as he did two years ago. Neither is he admonishing them to "remember the twine," as he did the last campaign. He fain would have them "forget the twine"—as he has forgotten to speak of it in his speeches this year.

The "Trust Baking Powder Commission."

The department of the dairy and food commission is of much more importance than those unacquainted with its workings and objects give it credit. When properly and intelligently conducted it stands as a safeguard between the public health and impure food, adulterations, etc. Under past administrations not the faintest criticism could be made against the department; it was under the direction of competent and conscientious men who had the public welfare at heart.

Shortly after the department had been "reformed" the Minneapolis office was discontinued. Half a dozen inspectors were tried there within as many months, but their general incompetence was such that the branch office in that city became worse than useless. This left the largest city in the state directly without local service and the milk dealers and others are practically without supervision.

It was just about this time that Commissioner Bowler was busily engaged in discovering three grades of pure vinegar from the same barrel—which, by the way, had been condemned as impure.

But the most severe criticism directed against the office is on account of its alleged connection with the baking powder trust. After the baking powder law went into effect, Mr. Bowler sent out circulars to dealers directing that they cease selling baking powder, the formula of which was not printed on the can. He was immediately "persuaded" to revoke this order. He followed it up with another, which he also revoked; and even a third time did he repeat this farce.

A few weeks ago he caused to be arrested a grocer, P. O'Grady, doing business on Wabasha street, St. Paul, for selling a certain kind of baking powder NOT HANDLED BY THE TRUST. Mr. O'Grady secured the services of an attorney who made a thorough investigation into the matter, with the result that when the case came up in court (before Judge Orr) he openly charged that Mr. Bowler was not acting in good faith in the matter, but was influenced by the baking powder trust. He requested that Mr. Bowler be subpoenaed as a witness and be required to testify as to the animus of the department in the matter. The subpoena was issued and the case continued—BUT IT NEVER CAME TO TRIAL; MR. BOWLER DISMISSED IT!

That's the service being given by the dairy and food commission, and that is how it is trifling with the sacred interests it is supposed to guard, the people's health.

Has It Paid?

Two years ago John Lind made his campaign on so-called "state issues." He made all manner of charges of corruption against the Republican administrations of previous years. In his addresses he plaintively appealed to the people for "a chance to open the books." He went before the voters as a candidate of no political party, but as a public-spirited citizen with a mission to "reform" things. How he has "reformed" them is shown in the foregoing. His charges of corruption were shown by legislative and non-partisan investigation to have been wholly false. Men whom he had traduced during the campaign retired from office with the very highest testimonials from him; their places were filled with persons who would consent to prostitute their offices into parts of the gigantic political machine for self-aggrandizement that he has built up—and the people are paying for it.

Nearly one-third of the beer consumed in the world is brewed in Germany.

BRYAN'S STAND ANALYZED.

COL. FROST OF SOUTH DAKOTA ON THE PHILIPPINES.

The Well Known Soldier and Leader Scoffs at the Platform Which Bryan Has Cunningly Devised.

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 9, 1900.—Editor: Kindly allow space for a few thoughts from a soldier, who has been there, upon that portion of Mr. Bryan's Indianapolis speech which refers to the Philippines.

Mr. Bryan says:

"After the Filipinos had aided us in the war against Spain we could not honorably turn them over to their former masters; we could not leave them to be the victims of the ambitious designs of the European nations; and since we do not desire to make them a part of us, or to hold them as subjects, we propose the only alternative, namely, to give them independence and guard them against molestation from without."

He also lays down the following as the policy of his party:

"1. To establish a stable form of government in the Philippine islands, just as we are now establishing a stable form of government in the island of Cuba.

"2. To give independence to the Filipinos, just as we have promised to give independence to the Cubans.

"3. To protect the Filipinos from outside interference while they work out their destiny, just as we have protected the republics of Central and South America, and are, by the Monroe Doctrine, pledged to protect Cuba."

Now, let me say that it was also the feeling of the Republican leaders that we "could not honorably turn the Filipinos over to their former masters" nor "leave them to be the victims of the ambitious designs of European nations."

It was precisely this feeling which led to the purchase of the islands. There is no doubt whatever that certain European nations stood ready to seize the archipelago as soon as we should quit it. This is so notorious that even Mr. Bryan is compelled to recognize it.

This fact being admitted, it will be seen that if the United States wished to save the Filipinos from European masters it had to assume the burden of defending them against foreign aggression; and, if it assumed this burden, it was bound, in justice to itself, to see that the local government was not one that would recklessly involve its protector in international difficulties. This, it seems to me, is self-evident. In other words, we were forced by circumstances to interfere in the government of the islands.

As I hobnobbed with the Filipinos before hostilities and fought them afterward I feel that I know something about them.

There are a few able men among the Mestizos, or half-castes. Some of these have been educated in Europe and are men of large views and attainments; but the Mestizo class, compared with the whole population, is a mere drop in the bucket. If the entire population were equal to the best representatives of the Mestizo class there would be no question as to fitness for self-government. But it is a fact that the mass of the population is not far removed from savagery. Added to this, they are not homogeneous, but are divided into numerous tribes, speaking many tongues and dialects, and, moreover, are jealous and suspicious of one another. This, in itself, is a pretty certain guarantee of anarchy and chaos the instant the restraining hand of the United States is removed.

Perhaps Mr. Bryan is willing to let the Filipinos fly at each others' throats, but I doubt if the American public opinion would let him.

Mr. Bryan says he intends, if elected, to give the Filipinos independence under an American guaranty. It seems to me that he would find himself confronted by the very difficulties President McKinley had to meet.

If Mr. Bryan set up a Filipino government he would have to feel that it was worthy of confidence before he pledged the honor of the United States to its support. Unless he insisted upon certain guarantees in return for protection he would be a traitor to his country. The first thing demanded would be that the islands were to be justly and intelligently governed. Mere promises from those in power would not suffice, and Mr. Bryan would probably choose agents of known integrity upon whose reports he would base his conclusions. If his agents reported that the men in power were not to be trusted with its exercise and were unworthy of our guaranty and that the people were not ready for self-government, it is interesting to speculate upon his course.

He would very probably take the course chosen by President McKinley:

First—To establish a stable government in the Philippine islands.

Second—To give the inhabitants the fullest share in that government which they were capable of exercising, said share to be increased as their capabilities increased until they attained to complete independence.

Third—To protect them from foreign aggression and domestic disorder while working out their destiny.

No fair man can deny that President McKinley's plans for the Philippines will be a boon to the Filipino people when carried out. This is known even to the present rebels, but they are not fighting for the people, but for their own selfish ends.

The Filipino people have become our wards; they look to us to train them and fit them for the future. Shall we turn our backs upon them?

Rightly considered our role is one of pure benevolence. I say this boldly in the face of recent taunts of "greed," "exploitation" and the like. This role is a new one in history, so was our republic, and so are most of our American institutions, but we have faith to believe the trust will be nobly kept and the wards will be rendered all that is theirs when they come to full maturity and understanding.

—A. S. Frost,
Late Colonel First South Dakota Vol.
Late Colonel First S. D. Vol.

Bryan's Lack of Experience.

It is a recognized fact that one cannot successfully sail a ship or run a locomotive without previous training. Only disaster can be expected to result from an attempt to do so.

Mr. Bryan undertakes to reform and readjust the business of the country, and one would naturally suppose that he was possessed of large experience in commerce and finance. But the facts are:

Mr. Bryan is professedly a lawyer, but in Lincoln, Neb., where he resides, he has never been retained in any case of importance, and his small practice has been in the county court, where jurisdiction is limited to $500, and before the justices of the peace.

He has never been connected or placed in touch with any financial, commercial, industrial or manufacturing business whatever, and has, therefore, never had opportunity for any education in these matters.

He has never had any experience in the state legislature.

He has never even served as alderman in the city council of Lincoln.

He has never had any political experience whatever, outside of his four years in congress and his campaigning tours.

Although forty years of age, his only apparent source of income is what he may derive as compensation for his public speaking and from contributions of the free-silver people.

History teaches us that the business interests of the individual and of the country can only be successful when they follow the teachings of experience. Only infinite peril could result from the accepted leadership of a talking machine like Bryan, who has nothing to recommend him but his gift of speech.

Rural Delivery a Success.

The successful inauguration of the rural mail delivery service, by which farmers are enabled to get at least one delivery of mail each day, is one of the achievements of which the McKinley administration is proud.

For years the Democrats have scoffed at the possibility of such a service; but they must now admit that it has succeeded.

On the 1st of October of this year there has been established 2,039 rural routes, and it is expected that there will be fully 4,300 by the 30th of next June. About 775 will be established in the next thirty days.

Larger appropriations will undoubtedly be made at the next session of congress for the further extension of this service, and the general interest in it is such that at least one-fourth of all the correspondence at the postoffice department at Washington is in reference to this new convenience for farmers.

In placing these facilities at the service of the farming communities, the department is careful to place the routes in such a way that daily deliveries can be made in all kinds of weather and under all ordinary circumstances. This means much for the good roads movement, which has the approval of all progressive farmers. In many communities the county authorities, in order to get the better mail arrangements, often guarantee that the roads will be placed in proper shape for the mail carrier. Of course the farmers along the road thus traveled and placed in good condition, naturally are the gainers by having the roads placed in better condition.

Farm and Factory Interests.

When the American workingman is well employed, and at good wages as he now is, he is always well clothed and well fed. He is a good buyer and the American farmer shares his prosperity in the increased demand for food products. It appears that in times of prosperity the American wage earner eats more and wears more than in periods of industrial depression. The difference that this means to the farmer is shown by the value of ten of the leading farm crops in 1895 and 1899. These were:

	1895.	1899.
Corn	$514,985,524	$629,210,110
Wheat	237,938,998	319,545,259
Oats	163,655,068	198,167,976
Rye	11,964,826	12,214,118
Barley	29,312,413	29,594,254
Potatoes	78,984,901	[illegible],328,833
Cotton	260,338,096	332,000,000
Hay	393,185,615	411,926,187
Tobacco	35,574,220	45,000,000
Flax	12,000,000	24,000,000
Total	$1,767,930,671	$2,090,958,735

In 1895 the country was in the clutch of Democratic hard times, while in 1899 and 1900 the complete reverse of these conditions obtained. The change for the farmers is nearly a third of a billion dollars. The Republican policy of encouraging home industries increases the demand for food supplies.

Measures which tend to keep the workers profitably employed are closely identified with the farming interests. It is the falsest kind of economic reasoning to claim that farm and factory are not one in their interests.

What Does Bryan Want?

"The workingman wants no sophistries, no abstruse arguments. What he does understand is his daily bread and the daily bread for his wife and little ones. Give him a chance to earn it."—Mr. Bryan in 1896.

"Republicans assert that the workingman has a "full dinner pail." I ask, in the first place, whether a full dinner pail is all that a laboring man needs? It is an insult to the wage-earner to say that his thoughts are entirely centered upon his physical wants. Republican speakers and editors assume that the laboring man is all stomach. They act upon the theory that he complains only when he is hungry and is happy whenever his hunger is appeased."—Mr. Bryan in 1900.

Perhaps Mr. Bryan does not know that the wage earner has better wages, wears better clothes, eats better food and has over $500,000,000 more in the savings banks laid aside for a rainy day than he had in 1896, after four years of Democracy.

Mr. Bryan may not know these things, but the wage earner does—and so does the farmer who grows the wheat, meat, wool, cotton and other provisions and supplies that the wage earner buys.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

To Be Voted on

AT THE NEXT GENERAL ELECTION,

TUESDAY, NOV. 6, 1900.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
Department of State,
October 1, 1900.

Pursuant to section three hundred and eleven (311) of the General Statutes of 1894, the same being chapter one hundred and fifty-seven (157) of the General Laws of 1887, the proposed Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota, as adopted by Act of the Legislature for 1899, for submission to the voters of this state at the general election to be held on Tuesday, the sixth (6th) day of November, A. D. nineteen hundred (1900), is herewith submitted:

ALBERT BERG, Secretary of State.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
Attorney General's Office,
St. Paul, July 3, 1900.

Hon. Albert Berg, Secretary of State.

Pursuant to chapter 157 of the General Laws of 1887, I herewith file in your office synopsis of Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota as proposed by chapter 92 of the General Laws of 1899. I am very respectfully,

W. B. DOUGLAS,
Attorney General.

SYNOPSIS OF AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF MINNESOTA PROPOSED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE SAID STATE AT THE LAST SESSION THEREOF, AND TO BE VOTED UPON AT THE GENERAL ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 6TH, 1900.

By General Laws 1899, Chapter 92, it is proposed to amend Article eight (8), Section six (6) of the Constitution.

The section as now existing reads as follows:

Section 6. The permanent school and university fund of this state may be invested in the purchase of bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, but no such investment shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the issue of which the same in part would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed seven per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property of the county, school district, city, town or village issuing such bonds; nor shall such loans or indebtedness be made at a lower rate of interest than three per cent per annum nor for a shorter period than five (5) years, nor for a longer period than twenty (20) years, and no change of the town, school district, village, city or county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of the issuing of such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

It is proposed by said chapter to amend the same so as to read as follows:

Section 6. The permanent school and university fund of this state may be invested in the bonds of any county, school, district, city, town or village of this state, but no such investment shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the bonds to be issued or purchased would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property of the county, school district, city, town or village issuing such bonds; nor shall such loans or indebtedness be made at a lower rate of interest than three (3) per cent per annum nor for a shorter period than five (5) years nor for a longer period than twenty (20) years, and no change of the town, school district, village, city or county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of the issuing of such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

The effect of the above amendment if adopted will be to authorize the investment of the permanent school and university fund of this state for a period of not less than five (5) or more than twenty (20) years at an interest rate not less than three (3) per cent per annum, in the bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, when the bonds to be issued or purchased will not make the entire bonded indebtedness of such municipalities exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property contained therein.

The substantial change proposed by said amendment is to authorize such investments when the entire indebtedness, including the loan in question, does not exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property in such municipalities; whereas, under the existing constitution loans are permitted only where such total indebtedness does not exceed seven (7) per cent of the assessed valuation.

July 3, 1900.

W. B. DOUGLAS,
Attorney General.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

United States Map.

15c. A copy of our handsome map, 48x38 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 43. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Our entire stock of General Merchandise, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, must be closed out within the next thirty days.

We offer everything at or below cost. Nothing reserved from this sale. Seven thousand dollars worth of choice merchandise must be sacrificed. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs. It will pay you to take advantage of it.

TERMS CASH. Positively no goods charged.

Building for sale or rent.

Fixtures for sale.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON, Vice-President.

FIRST STATE BANK
OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done.
Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - - - MINN.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, - WASHINGTON, D. C.

A BIG RALLY.

Held at Red Lake Falls Last Thursday Evening.

The people on the other side of the river at Red Lake Falls thought that Matt Skala was foolish when he built the large opera house there, but events have proven that Matt knew what he was about, for the building, with a seating capacity of about 2,000, was filled to overflow last Thursday evening, when the Republicans held their big rally. There were about 300 going down on the special train, and the meeting was in every way a success.

The first speech of the evening was delivered by a Mr. Savary, who is in the employ of the state central committee, and was a rousing good, unanswerable argument for Republican principles. Mr. Savary is one of the best orators who has visited this part of the state during the campaign.

R. J. Montague next addressed the meeting for a short time.

J. Adam Bede then took the floor, and, as he invariably does wherever he speaks, he captured his audience at the start, and held them till he got ready to quit. His happy way of presenting his ideas will always insure him an attentive audience, whether they are in sympathy with his views or not. The band contributed their full share towards the evening's entertainment, and the Glee club gave several songs, which were well received and heartily enjoyed. Taken altogether, the occasion was an unquestionable success.

Up at Big Fork.

Will Lennon, who has spent a month cruising in the Big Fork country, was in the city last week. He believes that the country up where he has been cruising will be one of the richest in the state, and predicts a bright future for the city that will be built on the Big Fork.

It has millions of saw timber to back it, and a pulp paper mill will be put in as soon as possible, the excellent water power at that point making a particularly favorable place for the establishing of this industry, for which a company has already been formed. The large amount of spruce timber thereabout will furnish an unlimited supply of material for such an institution to work up, and when the land is cleared the agricultural possibilities are second to no part of the state of Minnesota.

The Backus-Brooks Lumber company owns millions of pine in the vicinity of Big Fork, and will build there one of the largest saw mills in the state.

Between Lee and Simons.

L. C. Simons, who last week announced his intention of making the fight for county attorney, says he is in it to stay, and that he is meeting with encouragement from all parts of the county. It would appear to the Gazette that the fight is now between Simons and Lee, whereas before his candidacy was announced the concensus of opinion was that Grady would have won out.—Red Lake Falls Gazette (Pop.)

VOTE FOR EDDY

Good Reasons Given Why We All Should.

The people of Marshall and Red Lake counties in Minnesota have been particularly and greatly benefited by the passage of the free homestead law. It was not only a direct help to those who had homesteads affected by it, but practically added many thousands of dollars to the property of these counties, for, if that bill had not been passed, the United States government would have received the money which is now left in the hands of the settlers. All the people of the United States recognize Frank M. Eddy as the one who secured the passage of that law. It saved the homes of many poor people, and shows that Mr. Eddy championed the cause of those who were unable to help themselves, and he is justly entitled to every vote in these two counties.

But there is a large tract of the diminished Red Lake Indian reservation within the boundaries of Red Lake county that should be opened to settlement. It should be done the coming winter, and if we elect Mr. Daly he will not be in congress before December, 1901, and then will be a stranger, without influence, and one of the minority party, and God only knows when we would get that land open to settlement.

We need help now, so let us help one who can, and will, help us.

Vote for Eddy. A VOTER.

Hard Times for Indians.

Washington, Oct. 26.—In his annual report to the commissioner of Indian affairs, Captain W. A. Mercer, acting agent at Leech lake, says that Indians on the reservations have been without work since the "dead and down" timber operations were suspended, except for what little work could be given them at the agency. Says Captain Mercer: "Had it not been for the fact of my keeping the agency sawmill in constant operation, there would have been dire distress among the most energetic class of Indians around here. The young men who have wanted to work have had enough at the sawmill to supply their needs and to keep their families from suffering for food. Altogether, this has been a hard year on the Indians of all these reservations, and they have born up bravely under the strain. Few people can be found anywhere who would have endured sufferings more heroically."

The annual census of the Indians on the reservation shows there are 1,350 Red Lakers, 892 Leech Lake Pillagers, 655 White Oak Point Mississippis and 448 Cass and Winnebigoshish Pillagers, a total of 3,345 Indians.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

THE PARTY OF THE FLAG.

My fellow citizens, this campaign can and probably will settle the future of this republic. The man who casts his ballot casts his ballot into the coming centuries. You vote for yourself individually, but more you vote for generations yet unborn. This campaign affects the progress of the race, it concerns the welfare of the world. It looks even to that distant but blessed time foretold by all the seers, when her imperial power and noble purpose shall compel the parliament of the man, and on every single, solitary, advancing, hopeful and constructive issue in this campaign, the brave and hopeful side is taken by the grand old party. I love that term. It is that indeed. In peace the party of peace. In war the party of war. But everywhere and always the party of American prosperity at home and American supremacy abroad. Everywhere and always the party of the flag.—United States Senator Beveridge.

CLOTHING!
CLOTHING!!
CLOTHING!!!

I have just received from Chicago a large assortment of ladies' winter jackets, which I will sell at ridiculously low prices.

This lot contains the finest grades of English Kersey, Beaver, Melton, Astrakan and Boncle, and comes in black, blue, brown, green and light and dark tan.

I am now prepared to show the finest line in the city of Clothing, Shoes, Underwear, Hats and Gents' Furnishings.

H. Lowin, RED ✳ STAR CLOTHING HOUSE. Proprietor.

HOTEL OGAHMAH.
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

G. H. Turville,
Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection

LA BREE AVENUE, THIEF RIVER FALLS.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, NOV. 1, 1900.

"Four Years More of the Full Dinner Pail."

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY.
For Vice-President.
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Sound Money, Protection and Expansion.

VOTE

TO OPEN UP

THE RESERVATION.

A VOTE for Frank M. Eddy will be a vote to open up the reservation.

AND Ed Hamry, by the way, is also lining up his forces for the second battle.

OPEN up the reservation! That should be the paramount issue in Thief River Falls.

DO NOT forget to vote for all Republican county nominees. They are all good men and deserve to receive your support.

THE opening up of the reservation means more to the citizens of Thief River Falls than anything else. Vote and work for the man that can accomplish this without delay.

WHEN you vote next Tuesday, do not forget to mark an X after Louis Hanson's name. The office of county commissioner is one of the most important in the county, and the taxpayers should see that a responsible man is elected to fill this office.

L. C. SIMONS, the Republican candidate for county attorney, is making an aggressive campaign and the indications are that he will receive more than the Republican vote in the southern part of the county. He is a bright, progressive young attorney, and his election would mean that the office would be conducted in an upright and honorable manner, and all would receive justice.

ALEX A. SWEAAS published a communication in the Press last week in which he condemned Congressman Eddy for securing the passage of an act to govern the running of loose logs, rafts and steamboats on the Red Lake and other rivers. The bill provides that neither the lumbermen or steamboat men shall have a monopoly of the river, and that the rights of each will be respected. Mr. Sweaas seems to think that the lumbering interests on this river are of no importance, and that the steamboats should be given the same rights that existed prior to the beginning of lumbering in the Red Lake country. Mr. Eddy recognizes the fact that the interests of the lumbermen and steamboat men are mutual—that the cutting of logs up the river has created the business for the steamboats, and that if the lumbering operations of that section were suspended there would be very little work for the steamboats on this river to do. It will be next in order for Alex to oppose the opening of the reservation on the theory that another town will be started up river that will eclipse Thief River Falls. It would be just as reasonable.

"REFORM" STYLE OF CAMPAIGN

VICIOUS METHODS EMPLOYED BY "MINNESOTA'S TAMMANY," IN ITS DESPERATION OVER A LOST CAUSE.

THE MRS. RUTHERFORD CASE

Chairman Rosing Sprung a "Sensation," and Now Wishes He Hadn't.

It is worthy of note that Republican speakers and Republican newspapers have refrained from any personal abuse of Gov. Lind. They have criticized the workings of his administration, his public acts and his public statements, as they have a right to do, and which are certainly open to criticism, but they have indulged in no mudslinging.

What a contrast this is to the Democratic method of campaigning! They opened the ball two months ago, by calling Capt. Van Sant "a Little Tin Soldier." This was in the New Ulm Review, a paper owned and controlled by Gov. Lind personally. The more decent Democrats protested against this sort of guerilla warfare, whereupon the Review brazenly came back with the assertion that Capt. Van Sant was not only a "Tin Soldier," but a "brassy" one, as well. It is hardly necessary to say, in this connection, that the captain served four years in the Civil war, with honor and distinction, and that the Department of Minnesota, G. A. R., has accorded him the highest honor in its power, electing him department commander.

Then came the infamous "drunken cartoon," issued by the "Reform Press Bureau," representing Mr. Van Sant as reeling along the street with a bottle marked "enthusiasm whisky" protruding from his pocket. Capt. Van Sant's personal habits are above reproach, as all who know him will testify.

The "broken ladder" cartoon was the next vulgarity perpetrated by the Reform Press Bureau, which is conducted under Private Secretary Rosing's personal management, and sends its manufactured "arguments" to all the Democratic papers in the state. It pictured the captain, still drunk with "enthusiasm whisky," falling off a ladder leading to the governor's chair. This effort of the Press Bureau was just about on a par with the preceding one.

Then came one of the most scandalous and vile creations perpetrated by the Reform "Art" Bureau—the "boodler" cartoon. It showed Capt. Van Sant as placing away in his safe several bulky packages, presumably money, and intimated that he was "influenced" by this means while in the legislature; also, that he did not vote for some four or five bills. Mr. Van Sant served two terms in the legislature, in 1893 and 1895. His record the first term demonstrated his ability and worth, and led to his election as speaker of the house in 1895 by the unanimous vote of every member, including Democrats and Populists. In his latter capacity he proved to be one of the ablest presiding officers in the state's history; that session will long be remembered for its economy, its capacity for business, and the amount of beneficial legislation it provided. Mr. Van Sant's public record is open to the scrutiny of the state; nowhere can he be found other than the friend of labor and the champion of farming interests. The insinuations against him in this respect are fabrications of a diseased brain. During the 1893 session, much of the meritorious legislation was due to his untiring efforts. As an instance of this may be mentioned the bill for the vestibuling of street cars, to afford protection to the motormen in stormy weather. This was introduced in the senate by Senator Towney, and was supported and voted for in the house by Mr. Van Sant, and the latter is entitled to every credit for its passage and for helping to make it a law—and yet the Fusion press is announcing that he "dodged" the bill!

The Reform Press Bureau, with its usual disregard for truth, also alleges that he "forgot to vote" on certain bills, which were passed in 1895, when he was speaker of the house, and had no vote except in case of a tie!

This brings us down to the latest effort of the Minnesota "Tammany Hall," to vilify a citizen whose reputation for integrity in every walk of life makes him proof against such mud-battery assaults. On the evening of Oct. 17, L. A. Rosing spoke in Duluth. At the conclusion of his speech, a woman named Mrs. Rutherford, of Minneapolis, arose and made a dramatic statement that Capt. Van Sant had deprived her of a large sum of money. She said:

"Sam Van Sant and my husband, who is now dead, were old friends for some years. They were both old soldiers, and after the war a strong friendship grew up between them. They were associated together in business, as well as social and fraternal ways. Years ago Van Sant and my husband joined an A. P. A. lodge in Iowa as charter members. Then they were partners in the steamboat business, and my husband died during the existence of this partnership. With the shares and dividends that rightly accrued to me through or from this partnership, I should have gotten $12,000. Did I get it? Not a cent of it; and I want to tell you here to-night, that it is due to that man Van Sant that I failed to get it. As a consequence, I had to give up my beautiful home, and am now living in a barn instead."

This statement made by Mrs. Rutherford has been heralded far and wide, but the "promoters" of it are beginning to wish that they had let it alone. The wild charges were made by a woman of mind not too sound; she had previously made them, not only to the different state committees, but also to the daily newspapers in St. Paul and Minneapolis, both Republican and Democratic, but investigation showed their falsity. Now, mark the cunning of Mr. Rosing: It would not do to allow her to make the statement public in St. Paul or Minneapolis, so she was taken to Duluth, where she gives it out, with every arrangement prepared to make it as dramatic as possible, and this, too, on the eve of election, in the hope that it would stampede votes to Lind.

Notice, also, the adroitness with which it is made to appear that Capt. Van Sant is an "A. P. A." But this, in fact, proves the falsity of the entire story, FOR AT THE TIME SHE ALLEGED HER HUSBAND AND CAPT. VAN SANT BELONGED TO THE A. P. A., THERE WAS NO SUCH ORGANIZATION IN EXISTENCE. We will add that Capt. Van Sant never belonged to it.

The story is utterly untrue, and, in fact, evidence keeps coming in, proving that the whole connection between the captain and Mrs. Rutherford's late husband only goes to show the kindness of heart of the Republican gubernatorial nominee.

The best statement of the case, up to date, comes from a Democrat, who declares that the charge made by Mrs. Rutherford is absurd. George A. Galloway, a resident of Winona, who is conversant with the facts in the case, writes as follows:

"I have before me an account of a statement made by Mrs. Rutherford to an audience in Duluth, attacking the business honesty and integrity of S. R. Van Sant, the Republican candidate for governor. I am a Democrat and hope for the success of Democratic principles. The principal one is justice and right to all men, and, as I am conversant with part of the lady's statement, it will show the absurdity of the balance. In the spring of 1889 I was a stockholder in the Le Claire Navigation company, of which S. R. Van Sant was president, and W. A. Blair of Davenport, Iowa, was secretary and treasurer.

"I sold my stock that year to L. L. Fisher, an attorney of Davenport, and S. R. Van Sant, and eight shares to George Rutherford, who did not have the money to pay for this stock, and Mr. Fisher and Capt. Van Sant gave his security for the payment, with the understanding that they should be reimbursed out of the profits of the boat and out of Mr. Rutherford's salary.

"I received my money from Fisher and Van Sant. I have been told by Capt. Blair that 1889, 1890 and 1893 were very successful years for the company, but owing to low water and some of the mills shutting down, for which the company was running logs, the business began to go backward, and in the fall of 1893 L. L. Fisher offered to sell me his stock for 50 cents on the dollar. Capt. Rutherford died in 1895 or 1896, and, as dividends were declared each year and paid, and as the salaries on steamboats are paid each trip, we can see the absurdity of the statement that, from a $1,000 investment made in 1889, and that borrowed, that in 1896, $12,000 was his due.

"I have known Capt. Van Sant in a business way for over twenty-seven years, and have seen him fight adversity in business ways, that not one man in a thousand would come out of successfully, and I do not believe that there is a man he ever had business dealings with—from men he has run logs for to the roustabouts on his boats—who can truthfully say he ever wronged them out of a dollar. Let them attack Capt. Van Sant's political views and principles all they can, and that is where we may win, but his business and personal character are above reproach."

It is believed that the Democrats are making preparations to spring another story, similar to the above, on the eve of election, when it will be too late to expose it. The voters will, it is needless to add, treat it with the contempt it deserves.

Such disreputable tactics are certainly nauseating to all respectable citizens of all political parties. They are out of place in this enlightened age and state. Men differ honestly on questions of national policies, but personal abuse and villification should have no place in politics. The best way to stamp the seal of disapproval upon such tactics is to defeat the purpose for which they are employed.

A BARE-FACED LIE.

Being Circulated by Certain Democrats in This County Relative to the Prison Twine Plant and the Grain Inspection.

The Democrats are quietly circulating a story through the county that the Republican party is opposed to the continuance of the prison binder twine factory and the present grain inspection. SO IT IS, AS CONDUCTED AS A POLITICAL MACHINE, AS AT PRESENT.

The Republican party, however, has ever demonstrated that it is the friend of the farmer, and it certainly is in favor of the continuance of grain inspection and of the prison twine industry, and the suave, oily-tongued politician who tells you otherwise is a liar, pure and simple. Both of these institutions were given to the farmers BY REPUBLICANS. Both have grown in usefulness and benefit to farmers under REPUBLICAN management. Both were conducted on a strictly non-partisan plan, when the Republican party was in control of state affairs, and BOTH HAVE BEEN CONVERTED INTO POLITICAL MACHINES under Democratic control.

You can safely trust the Republican party to properly conduct these state institutions for the benefit of the farmer, as it did before.

This story, started by the Democrats to direct attention away from their mismanagement of the institutions, will deceive no one. The farmers know that their best interests are served by the Republican party.

On a par with other political maneuvering, was the nomination, by the Lind-Rosing machine of H. C. Koerner for state treasurer. This was done for the sole purpose of misleading Republican voters into thinking that he is Hon. A. T. Koerner, the present state treasurer, who is not a candidate for re-election. The two Koerners are in no way related, and they are as different as their political principles.

J. H. Block is the Republican nominee for state treasurer. He is thoroughly qualified for the office, and he doesn't sail under false colors in making the race.

THE FARMERS STAND THE LOSS

THE OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE MANAGEMENT OF THE STATE PRISON BINDER TWINE FACTORY.

MAKES A BRAZEN STATEMENT

Twine That Was Sold at Ten Cents Worth Only Six Cents at the Time of Delivery.

There's a remarkable feature about that binder twine business. Warden Reeve furnished one set of figures (official) to the state auditor; B. F. Nelson, president of the board, furnished another set (different); the prison board then hastily got together and made a report giving still another set—and now in order to "explain" a few discrepancies, they have still another guess coming. There's one significant item in the report—two-thirds of this year's output of twine was sold on credit—and there is nearly a half million dollars in outstanding accounts!

The board alleges that if these accounts were all collected the year's business would show a slight profit—about $16,000. Why would it? Simply because the farmers who bought the twine had to pay for the mistakes of the prison management.

The report itself is one of the strongest pieces of evidence of the rottenness with which the business is conducted. It acknowledges that the twine, sold to farmers at 10 cents a pound, was worth only 6 cents at the time of delivery, owing to the decline in the price of the fiber. The state, through the asinine judgment of the governor and prison warden, had loaded up with fiber when it was at its highest, for nearly two years' run. The only way to avoid hopelessly swamping the institution and running it into debt a couple of hundred thousand dollars was to make the farmers stand the loss. There was a partial crop failure—in some few sections it was almost total—and many farmers who had ordered prison twine early in the season wrote in to cancel a part of their order. This the management refused. It was a privilege always extended under Republican administrations, but the present officials demanded their pound of flesh. This represents largely the four hundred-odd thousand dollars of "bills receivable." How much of this is collectable? Under the conditions and taking into consideration the inferior quality, short-length twine furnished, how much of this indebtedness could be collected in case it was necessary to bring suit against these debtors in the courts?

What a very peculiar situation! There are nearly two million pounds of binder twine on hand at the prison, to be carried over until next season. Owing to the exorbitant price paid for the fiber it will cost the state, manufactured, 10 cents a pound. It is worth according to Gov. Lind's statement only 6 cents a pound, and he says that it will probably go still lower. In other words, there is a net loss of at least 4 cents a pound on it, or well up towards $80,000. Now mark Gov. Lind's own words: "Figuring the twine and fiber on hand at their present value (6 cents), and figuring as assets the outstanding accounts (over $400,000), the state will make a profit of about $16,000 on the twine plant this year. Even if his statement is correct, this means that the farmers who bought prison twine this year paid $50,000 too much, to cover the loss caused by the shrinkage in value of that kept over until next season. Can anything be plainer? Will Mr. Lind or his press bureau explain who stands this loss, unless it is the farmers who were obliged to pay such an exorbitant price for their twine this season? That 4 cents a pound must come from somebody: it doesn't come from the state, so Mr. Lind says, so who stands it? And what about that four hundred-odd thousand dollars in outstanding accounts?

The whole affair is one of the most outrageous, high-handed proceedings ever attempted in any state. If the institution was a private enterprise and attempted to do business in that way would the people stand for it? Then how much more liberally should it be conducted when it is supposed to be run for the benefit of the farmers, whom it has so shamefully betrayed!

Two years ago John Lind promised the farmers that if he was elected governor he "would give them cheaper twine." So he has—in quality. The farmers will "remember the twine" this year.

FROM A SMALL BOY'S LETTER.

What Troubled Him When the Boxers Besieged the Peking Legations.

Here is a brief extract from a letter written to a friend in Kansas by one of the small sons of Mr. Jewesbury, who was among the besieged in the Peking legation:

"I and mamma, and Donald have lost their bicycles because the Boxers have burned our bicycles.

"We are having a very nice time in Peking. Are you well? We brout five of our reading books, and our other books are burned up. We are trying and trying as hard as we can to save our lives. We have put some sandbags at the windows so that the Boxers cant shoot us. We are trying as hard as we can to take that big cannon away from the Boxers, but we can not get the cannon away. We have a bullet hit our house. . . . We eat rice three times a day. We can not have all the butter we want. We have thirty-nine people.

"The bullets have stopped."

Accuracy Demanded.

"Bagsby went up to see the Thousand Islands on a special-rate excursion ticket."

"How did he enjoy the trip?"

"He came back threatening to sue the railroad company."

"What for?"

"He couldn't count but 993 islands!"

—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

PHIL A. KAUFER, Red Lake Falls Gazette
JEFFERS & DOUGHTON, R. L. F. Courier.
IVES & SOLL, St. Hilaire Spectator.
JOHN W. EASTMAN, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. } ss. DISTRICT COURT.

Adolph G. Gallasch, Plaintiff,
vs.
F. H. Kratka, Alice B. Kratka, M. D. Wells, H. G. Macpharland and R. R. Wells, Co-partners as M. D. Wells & Co., Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a Judgment and Decree entered in the above entitled action on the 22d day of September, 1900, a certified transcript of which has been delivered to me, I, the undersigned, Sheriff of said Red Lake county, will sell, at public Auction, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, the tenth day of December, 1900, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the court house in the village of Red Lake Falls, in said County, in one parcel, the premises and real estate described in said Judgment and Decree, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lots number thirteen (13) and fourteen (14), in Block number fifty-eight (58), in the original townsite of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof now on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for said Red Lake County.

Dated October 22d, 1900.

CHARLES SAMPSON,
Sheriff of Red Lake County.
A. A. MILLER,
Plaintiff's Attorney,
Crookston, Minnesota. Oct 25 6

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. } ss. DISTRICT COURT.

L. Ellington, Plaintiff,
vs.
F. H. Kratka, Alice B. Kratka, Jacob Morck, Minnie Morck, John G. Woolley and Mrs. John G. Woolley, his wife, Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a Judgment and Decree entered in the above entitled action on the 22d day of September, 1900, a certified transcript of which has been delivered to me, I, the undersigned, Sheriff of said Red Lake County, will sell, at public Auction, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, the tenth day of December, 1900, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the court house in the village of Red Lake Falls, in said County, in one parcel, the premises and real estate described in said Judgment and Decree, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lots one (1), two (2) and three (3), of Block fifty-eight (58), in the original townsite of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for Red Lake County, Minnesota.

Dated October 22d, 1900.

CHARLES SAMPSON,
Sheriff of Red Lake County.
A. A. MILLER,
Plaintiff's Attorney,
Crookston, Minnesota. Oct 25 6

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. } ss. DISTRICT COURT.

J. W. Wheeler, L. Ellington, A. G. Gallasch and C. Hendrickson, Plaintiffs,
vs.
F. H. Kratka, Alice B. Kratka and Mary C. Wilcox, Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a Judgment and Decree entered in the above entitled action on the 22d day of September, 1900, a certified transcript of which has been delivered to me, I, the undersigned, Sheriff of said Red Lake County, will sell, at public Auction, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, the tenth day of December, 1900, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the court house in the village of Red Lake Falls, in said County, in one parcel, the premises and real estate described in said Judgment and Decree, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lots number twenty three (23) and twenty-four (24), in Block number thirty-one (31), in the original townsite of Thief River Falls, Red Lake County, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds in and for said County.

Dated October 22d, 1900.

CHARLES SAMPSON,
Sheriff of Red Lake County.
A. A. MILLER,
Plaintiff's Attorney,
Crookston, Minnesota. Oct 25 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., October 11, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 24th, 1900, viz: Nicolai O. Finnestad, H. E. 15,350, for the W½ SW¼, SE¼ SW¼ and SW¼ SE¼, Sec. 21, Tp. 156 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

E. Tenbeiro, of Newfolden, Minn.
John O. Bakke, of Newfolden, Minn.
H. M. Gustafson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Ole N. Skaarnas, of Newfolden, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.
oct 11 6t

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of Congress approved February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale, at this office on the 21st day of November, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tract of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SW¼ Section 4, T. 157 N., R. 41 W.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated Oct. 9th, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.
Oct 11 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 28, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on November 19th, 1900, viz: Hermanus Hansen, H. E. 16,730, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 25, Tp. 156 N., R. 45 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole O. Lund, of Holt, Minn.
Olaf [illegible], of Holt, Minn.
[illegible], of Holt, Minn.
Arne A. Moe, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.
Oct 11, 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 17, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Carolina Olson, H. E. 19,860, for the SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 34, Tp. 156, N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Peder O. Peterson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Torger T. Hollom, of Newfolden, Minn.
Isak W. Garvo, of Newfolden, Minn.
Aslak H. Langli, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.
sept27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 14th, 1900, viz: Even P. Ensestad, H. E. 19,177, for the NE¼ NE¼, Sec. 14, Tp. 153 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole A. Ronning, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Bernt Wold, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
L. M. Kjos, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Henry Notland, of Thief River Falls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 5th, 1900, viz: Edward Bolton, H. E. 16,043, for the N½ NW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and NW¼ NE¼, Sec. 12, Tp. 157 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Julius Henson, of Ingalls, Minn.
Alfred Mickelson, of Ingalls, Minn.
John Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.
George Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON,
Register.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 21, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 13th, 1900, viz: Tina O. Howe, H. E. 17,013, for the Lot 7, Sec. 6, NE¼ NW¼ and Lot 1, Sec. 7 Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Hans Hagen, of Ware, Minn.
Hans Johnson, of Ware, Minn.
John Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Severin Haug, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 25, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 15th, 1900, viz: Vaclav Havranek, H. E. 19,103, for the SW¼, Sec. 4, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Hudik, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Vavrika, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Krall, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE,
Receiver.
10 4 6

PORTER & PAULSON,
Proprietors of
CITY DRAY
and
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars—Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv. Crookston	Ar. 6:20 p m
9:25 a m	" Shirley	" 6:00 p m
10:05 a m*	" Ives	"*5:30 p m
10:31 a m	" Wylie	"*4:55 p m
11:30 a m	" St Hilaire	Lv. 4:30 p m
12:10 p m	Ar. Thief River F	" 1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv. St Hilaire	" 4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar. Red Lake F	" 3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address

F. M. MILLER,
G. N. Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Subscribe for the NEWS.

We sell the best Norwegian Cod Liver Oil in the market. In pint bottles or any quantity desired.

PETERSON & CURTIS,
Druggists.

TOWN TALES.

Rooms for rent. Inquire of Knute Jorstad.

M. K. Wall went to Red Lake Falls yesterday.

There will be services in the Catholic church Sunday.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

James Meehan, Jr., has one heavy working team of horses for sale.

Morgan Vaughan came down from Germantown the first of the week.

Dan Gracie, of Nobish, was in the city Tuesday renewing his acquaintance.

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Stebbins surprised them last evening.

L. Jensen, candidate for county treasurer, was in the city the first of the week.

John Sorum was down from his claim in Marshall county the first of the week.

Last evening was Holloween and the boys about town played the usual pranks.

E. Perusse, Democratic nominee for register of deeds, was in the city yesterday.

C. G. Rapp, Republican candidate for representative, was in the city the first of the week.

Largest assortment of all the latest books at Stebbins' drug store. Call and see them.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

The Ladies' Aid of the Catholic church will be entertained this afternoon by Mrs. J. H. Werstlein.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

M. E. Todd and family removed the first of the week to Red Lake Falls, where Mr. Todd is teaching school.

The Red Men will give a dance in the Odd Fellows' hall tomorrow evening. Tickets, including supper, $1.50.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

If anyone wishes for a fine engraved picture of McKinley and Roosevelt, call at the NEWS office and one can be had free.

The St. Paul Dispatch has the only complete market page of any Twin City daily. Send 25 cents for one month trial subscription.

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for $75.

For a clear Havana hand-made 10-cent cigar, smoke the Atlantic. C. Wiener, manufacturer.

Owing to the condition of the roads in this vicinity, the John Grove Land company's office has been temporarily removed to St. Hilaire.

The St. Paul Daily Dispatch is the popular woman's paper west of Chicago. Twenty-five cents for one month trial subscription will convince you.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Martin Moe has disposed of his house and lot in this city and left the first of the week with his family for Winona, Minn., where he will reside in the future.

The total population of the United States is 76,295,220. Minnesota has 1,751,395. In a week or so the NEWS will publish the population of Red Lake county.

Trond P. Hamre, well known in this city, has filed a petition asking to be adjudged a bankrupt in the court at Crookston. He places his assets at $228 and liabilities at $2,849.

Have you noticed the St. Paul Dispatch with its new exclusive telegraphic service from every city on earth? Twenty-five cents brings it regularly to your address one month.

Nels Holberg, Republican candidate for register of deeds, was in the city last week. Nels has a host of friends in the northern part of the county, and will receive a large vote up here.

Peter Detch, representing the Baltimore Packing company, was in the city the first of the week. Mr. Detch's company is desirous of securing a privilege of fishing with nets on the Red lake.

The meeting held in the city hall last Saturday to discuss the cheese factory proposition was well attended, and a number of farmers have signified a willingness to sell milk to the institution should it be started.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

The Crookston College opened its fall term Sept. 10. Winter term will open Nov. 5th. Board and furnished room taken care of in private family for $2.50 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

The minstrel show given by the ladies and gentlemen of the Methodist church last Friday evening proved a great success. The house was well filled and all of the actors were heartily applauded. It is the intention to give several entertainments of this nature during the winter.

Better deer hunting is promised this season than has been obtainable for several years. The open season for deer begins on Nov. 1 and five days later the season for moose and caribou commences. The moose and caribou season extends until Nov. 10, while deer may be killed until ten days later.

Cards have been issued announcing the marriage of Peter P. Odegard to Miss Tina Erickson. The marriage will be solemnized Sunday evening, Nov. 4, at 7 o'clock, in the Norwegian Synod church. Both the contracting parties have many friends in this city who will wish them much happiness.

C. J. Knox has discovered the the only way to successfully raise wheat in this country in a wet season. Some wheat accidentally got mixed with the sand that was used in the plastering of his new house on the East Side, and it is now growing on the walls of the house in a healthy condition. As it is under shelter, there can be no danger of it being destroyed by rain, hail or frost.

For an extra good 5-cent cigar, smoke the Double XX. C. Wiener, manufacturer.

It is reported that some of John Lind's game wardens are up in the vicinity of Red lake, endeavoring to arrest violators of the game law. They may succeed in arresting a few homesteaders who are killing a deer now and then for meat, but if the game wardens had really wished to perform a commendable act, they would have come up here last July, when the deer and moose were killed by the hundreds by the Indians.

Gus Beaulieu, the Indian agent and interpreter, was here the first of the week, enroute to the Red Lake agency. He was accompanied by Chas. Moulton and Chief Neise, the latter a stalwart specimen of the finest physical development who might well have stood as the principal character in one of Cooper's tales. There is something of politics in their mission to the Red Lakers, although they claimed to be paying a mere friendly visit.

TO ST. HILAIRE

The John Grove Land Company Removed to That Place.

Julius Pleth, manager for the John Grove Land company in this section of the state, has removed his office from this city to St. Hilaire. The removal is only temporary and is caused by the fact that the roads leading out of the city are in such poor condition that it is almost impossible to take land seekers into the country. The company which Mr. Pleth represents has thousands of acres of land in this vicinity, and next spring a number of settlers will be brought here from the southern part of the state and settled upon this land, providing the roads are in better condition.

Men of Mr. Pleth's stamp are needed in this community, and it is to be hoped that the conditions will be such that next spring the land company will again be doing business in Thief River Falls.

WON THE SUITS.

Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Cunningham Get Judgments.

The case of Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Cunningham against the city of Thief River Falls has been tried in the district court. Mrs. Adams secured a verdict for $5,000 and Mrs. Cunningham a verdict for $4,000.

The Adams case was tried first and a great deal of objection was made by some of the residents of this place, on account of the fact that an inferior jury had been selected. The second jury was above the average, and this also brought in a verdict for plaintiff. It is thought that the verdicts will be set aside, but, in case they are not, the Great Northern railroad will have to pay them, and not the city.

Republican Rally.

Hon. W. A. Funk, of Mankato, addressed the voters of this city at the city hall Tuesday evening. The meeting was in every way a success, and, notwithstanding the fact that the inclement weather kept many people at home, the attendance was quite large. Mr. Funk delivered an able address, and treated the opponents of the Republican party in a very courteous manner.

MARKETS.

(Corrected to Date.)

No. 1 Northern	64c
Oats	33c
Flax	$1.47
Beef	2½c
Pork	4½c
Mutton	8c
Eggs	15c
Butter	13 to 20c
Hay, per ton	$6.00
Potatoes, per bu	40

SCHOOL REPORT

For Month Ending Friday, October 26, 1900.

We submit the following information regarding the present condition and standing of our schools, trusting that these facts will be of interest to pupils, parents and friends:—

TEACHERS.

Jas. A. Wilson, principal, 7th, 8th and 9th grades.

Helen McGrath, 5th, 6th and 7th grades, Latin.

Estelle Stinchfield, 4th grade, drawing.

May C. Vaughan, 2nd and 3rd grades.

Rachel Richardson, 1st and 2nd grades.

Helen E. Wallin, primary and 1st grades.

SEVENTH, EIGHTH AND NINTH GRADES.

Enrollment	40
Cases of absence	66
Cases of tardiness	8
No. neither absent nor tardy	18
Average daily attendance	33.75
Percentage attendance	84

Irregular students:

Mamie Herron, Gertrude Meehan, Anna Thomas and Winnie Herron.

No. below grade:

None.

Students with highest standing:

9th Grade—Wayne Richardson.

8th Grade—Hildy Bostrom and Olga Thompson.

7th Grade—Nicholas Werstlein and Bertil Backe.

FIFTH AND SIXTH GRADES.

Enrollment	34
Cases of absence	124
Cases of tardiness	19
No. neither absent nor tardy	5
Average daily attendance	27.80

Irregular students:

Theodore Clowes, Ella Carlson, Olivia Werstlein, Albert Halverson, Nora Connely and Lillian Connely.

No. below grade:

Grade 75.

5th Grade—Nellie Aspelund, Mamie Miller and Albert Halverson.

Students with highest standing:

5th Grade—Arthur Bostrum and Lydia Carlson.

6th Grade—Nona Thompson, Irene Caldwell and Philip Zeh.

FOURTH GRADE.

Enrollment	39
Cases of absence	118
Cases of tardiness	2
No. neither absent nor tardy	17
Average daily attendance	33

Irregular students:

Hilma Erickson, Anton Erickson, Edna Johnston, Oscar Sather and Carl Krinshberg.

Students with highest standing:

4th Grade—

1st Sec.—Odin Brudee	94
2nd Sec.—Elodie Johnson	94

Below grade:

Grade 75.

1st Sec.—Orban Eberhardt	70
Solmer Hanson	74
Oscar Burkee	72
2nd Sec.—Anton Erickson	74
Clara Olson	71

SECOND AND THIRD GRADES.

Enrollment	62
Absence in days	74
Cases of tardiness	12
No. neither absent nor tardy	36
Average attendance	55.75

Irregular students:

Anna Adolphs and Jennie Sather.

Pupils below grade:

Thilda Furr, John Meiers and William Moran.

Pupils having highest standing:

Grade 2.—George Aspelund, Anna Holzknecht, Caroline Aspelund, Inez Johnson, George Werstlein, Freda Gunderson and Auden Lee.

Grade 3.—Frances Schmitz.

FIRST AND SECOND GRADES.

Enrollment	48
Cases of absence	91
Cases of tardiness	10
No. neither absent nor tardy	21
Average daily attendance	43
Percentage of attendance	90

Irregular students:

1st Grade—Julian Knudson, Annie Meiers and Ole Granum.

2nd Grade—Elsie Adolphs.

Students below grade:

1st Grade—Mary Fountaine, Earl Holzknecht, Irma Johnson and Ole Granum.

2nd Grade—Albeen Erickson, Casper Kittleson, Millie Kittleson, Arthur Burkee, Philip Robbecke and Herbert Schofield.

Best students:

1st Grade—Edith Johnson.

2nd Grade—Henry Olson.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT.

Enrollment	50
Cases of absence	134
Cases of tardiness	18
No. who have left school	3
No. neither absent nor tardy	13
Average daily attendance	41

Irregular students:

Laura Muller, Mary Panek, Alma Carlson and Alheen Stromberg.

The name of the best scholar, including deportment:

1st Grade, Div. A—Olga Aos.

2nd Grade, Div. B—Olive Porter.

TOTAL FOR ALL DEPARTMENTS.

Enrollment	273
Cases of absence	607
Cases of tardiness	69
No. neither absent nor tardy	110
Average daily attendance	234.3
No. pupils decidedly irregular	40
No. below grade	18

The standings given above include deportment.

I desire especially to call the attention of the patrons of the school to the large number of cases of absence and tardiness, and very earnestly solicit solicit your cooperation that these obstacles, which so seriously hinder the progress of our work, may be removed.

JAS. A. WILSON,
Principal.

YOU MAY BET

On Election or Anything Else Without Losing Your Vote.

It has generally been understood that the making of an election wager would deprive a man of his right to vote, and many who have made rash statements as to the outcome of the campaign have taken refuge behind this supposed condition when pressed to back their opinions with money. The matter has been referred to the attorney general of Minnesota, and this is the answer of his assistant, Danahower:

"This office does not desire to encourage any form of gambling, but, having been asked the question several times, it must frame its opinion.

"It is possible that betting on the result of an election might come within the scope of the corrupt practice act, but that fact of itself would not deprive a man of his right to vote.

"In order to bring about disfranchisement, it would be necessary to have a trial, conviction and a judgment of a court of last resort. Even a proclamation from the president of the United States or congress could not debar a citizen from the use of the elective franchise.

"At the time of the war, the president issued a proclamation by which men who had fled to Canada to escape the draft were penalized by disfranchisement. Judge Gordon E. Cole, of the supreme court of this state, held that such persons could not be disfranchised, for such a proclamation was opposed to the plain letter of the constitution of the United States, which says that only those convicted of felony or treason lost their right to vote.

"Even in the case of one who offered a bribe or inducement to secure another to vote according to his wishes, there would have to be a judicial investigation before punishment or sentence of a court before disfranchisement would follow.

Vote "Yes."

Voters should not fail to vote "yes" on the constitutional amendment. The amendment simply provides that any village, town, school district, city or county can borrow an amount equal to fifteen per cent of its valuation at three per cent interest from the permanent school fund of the state. The state has millions of dollars invested in the securities of other states at three per cent, and there is no reason why the state cannot loan to its own villages, towns, school districts, cities and counties at the same rate. At present an amount equal to only seven per cent of the real estate valuation can be borrowed, and the rate is four per cent.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

READ THIS!

Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc. Special prices for large lots.

C. KRETZSCHMAR.

THE BEER THAT MAKES ST. PAUL FAMOUS TODAY

Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.

JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty,
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice,
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - MINN

DR. J. J. HOVE,
PHYSICIAN and SURGEON.
Office Over First State Bank.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN.

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.,
DENTIST.
In Thief River Falls from 5th to 10th of every month. Office over harness shop.

Wesley Evins, City Dray Line.

All work in my line promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me an order and be convinced.

Wesley Evins,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

THIS IS LIND'S "REFORM" GRAIN INSPECTION

A Dapper Hotel Clerk Inspects All the Flax Received At Minneapolis.

Ignorance, Incompetency and Insubordination in the Weighing Department.

Some Weighers Are Able to Divide by Sixty, and Some Are Not.

Governor Lind's Statement Disproved by One of His Own Employes.

There is no subject about which more mis-statements have been made by the administration speakers, including Gov. Lind and his railroad commission, than the grain inspection department. And it is also a fact that while the methods of inspection have been discussed to quite an extent, the weighing department has been overlooked. This department is just as important as the inspection, for what profiteth it a shipper to gain a grade on a car of grain and lose fifty bushels in weight?

Unfortunately, the work of the weighing department is so utterly devoid of merit that if the whole truth should be told it would hardly be believed.

Prior to Gov. Lind's administration the weighers represented every shade of political opinion. Out of fifty weighers in the Minneapolis district, twenty-one could be named who were not Republicans and did not vote the Republican ticket; yet not an instance can be found in the whole history of the department where one was removed on that account.

The first rush of new grain in the fall of 1899 found a lot of new and inexperienced weighers. They had all carried their precincts at a Democratic caucus or been delegates to a Democratic convention. This was the principal qualification. The reports of some of these new weighers were gorgeous with red-ink corrections. Mistakes aggregating 10,000 pounds were frequently made in weighing a car load; car numbers were crossed, twisted and transposed; complaints of shortage were made by shippers, and general consternation prevailed. Two men were taken from the weighing force and transferred to the inspection force because they were unable to divide by 60 in reducing the pounds in a car load to a bushel. As a result shippers became vehement in their denunciation of the weighing service; dealers were distrustful or dissatisfied, and the lack of confidence was so far-reaching that many shippers of other states who had been shipping to this market began shipping elsewhere.

But, in the face of all this, Weighmaster O'Brien, whose knowledge of the department is confined to political service rendered and money contributed by each employe, was instructed to keep chopping off heads until his assistants were obliged to protest, because there were no longer old weighers enough to instruct or watch the new ones!

Gov. Lind and the commission understood this condition of things, but those who had rendered political services had to be rewarded, regardless of qualifications.

Not every one can make a successful weigher. The business is peculiar. A good weigher is born, not made. He must be, first, a man of keen perception, quick and accurate in figures, a fair mathematician and a good penman. He must make reports of his work which constitute the basis of settlement for the commodity weighed, and he must have a fair knowledge of the mechanism of scales and elevators, in order to know whether or not they are working properly; and, lastly, he must be on the alert to see that everything done at the elevator or mill is just and businesslike, for the interests of the shipper are wholly in his hands. Men past the age of forty-five or fifty, particularly those not accustomed to writing or figuring, seldom become accurate as weighers, although one who becomes a good weigher at thirty or thirty-five can continue a good weigher until, perhaps, sixty.

But men continued to be appointed as weighers who were anywhere from fifty-five to sixty-five, and had none of the necessary qualifications. Neither did old age constitute the only source of disqualification. Some were disqualified for physical reasons and some by dissipation. But in the face of all the disqualifications and incompetency of the new men, not one was removed on that account except the two men who were unable to divide by 60. Weighmaster O'Brien's disqualification for the position he holds is so well understood by the railroad commission that an outside man is employed to do the most responsible part of his work, heretofore done by his predecessor. This man and the deputy supervise all the work, and Mr. O'Brien simply devotes his time to editing his newspaper. The work of the office would go on just the same, perhaps better, if he kept away all the time. O'Brien, however, attends well and faithfully to the duties which he was appointed for—the political duties.

As an instance of the peculiar methods in vogue, a man who had been weighing for more than a year loaded a scale so heavily that there was not enough scale weights to balance it. He went to another mill and carried weights enough from another scale to pull the beam down. There have been other transactions equally ridiculous.

The worst criticism that can be made, however, is that the department is a political machine. Weighers are free to leave their work at any time to attend a convention or primary, or to spend what time is, in their opinion, necessary for the welfare of the party in their respective precincts. Night weighers have often been allowed to attend caucuses, and not only the substitutes, but the men who were relieved, drew pay. It would be astonishing to know how many instances there have been where two fees have been paid in this manner for one man's work.

Among the delegates who attended the Democratic convention in Hennepin county in June, to elect delegates to the state convention next day were fifteen state weighers, and most of them were elected as delegates to the state convention. This does not take into account others who went to their counties elsewhere in the state. The standing of a weigher is materially strengthened if he can represent his precinct at a convention, and he is permitted all the time necessary for his campaign.

In his speech accepting the gubernatorial nomination, Gov. Lind said:

"There has not been a single instance of complaint, either from the East or from European markets, either as to shortage in weight or grade, of a single bushel of wheat that has passed through the Minnesota service. Prior to that time, and under the administration of Mr. Clausen, complaints from Buffalo and from England, both in regard to grades and shortages in weight, were persistent and common."

This is absolutely false. It is not likely that Gov. Lind intended to misrepresent, but his information probably came from his chief inspector, and the inspector certainly knew better. The complaints in shortage in weight on cargo shipments from Duluth to Buffalo have been as frequent, and the amount of shortages as great during the administration of Gov. Lind and the present railroad commission as they ever were in the history of the department. There were so many complaints of serious shortages on cargoes from Duluth to Buffalo during the past winter and spring that the Duluth weighmaster grew frightened. Finally State Scale Expert Neale went to Buffalo and made an investigation, occupying three weeks. The report made by Mr. Neale to the commission explains itself. Here are a few items of it:

"I watched the unloading of the steamer Queen City, with wheat from Duluth. This cargo comes out forty-four bushels short on a load of 100,000 bushels. There was some damage, estimated at six bushels; my estimate was twenty bushels."

"I tallied the steamer Lansing, laden with 89,000 bushels of wheat from Duluth, into the Kellogg & Niagara "B." It came out 104 bushels over. I noticed that some of the grain was damp, which may have more than made up for the actual shrinkage in transfer."

"I watched the unloading of the steamer Tracy, laden with 64,000 bushels of corn from Duluth. This came out twenty-seven bushels short."

"I have noted various shipments from Duluth with shortage or overweight:

Mohawk	20	bushels short.
Cleveland	77	bushels over.
Boston	15	bushels short.
Majestic	18	bushels over.
Troy	2	bushels short.
Hudson	91	bushels over.
Queen	24	bushels short.
Lansing	104	bushels over.
Northern Light	23	bushels short.
Eddy	95	bushels over.
Wave	21	bushels short.
Viking	485	bushels short.

"The steamer which carries the grain gets the 'average,' being bound to deliver only the amount named in the bill of lading."

There is no special significance to Mr. Neale's report except that it furnishes a positive denial of Gov. Lind's statement, by one of his own employes.

All who have been led to believe that the grain service is being conducted on a more economical basis than formerly have only to glance at the official reports on file.

The report of the weighmaster of the Duluth district shows that the number of bushels of grain weighed during the grain year of 1900 was 134,749,956. The official report of the grain year of 1899 shows that the number of bushels of grain weighed by the Duluth district for that year is 192,528,657, or an excess over the year 1900 of 57,575,703 bushels. The expense of the Duluth district for the year 1900 was $43,108.27, while for 1899 it was $38,563.63, or $4,544.74 less. In other words, it cost the present administration $4,544.74 more to weigh 134,749,956 bushels of gran than it did the previous administration to weigh 192,528,657 bushels. This does not take into account the expense of the appeal board.

Now, these are the figures. They are official and on file where any one can see them.

No one would think very much about this if it were not that it is being constantly proclaimed from the housetops that the grain service has been "reformed." It is simply one of many other instances which show that all such pretenses are not only untrue, but known to be untrue by those who make them.

In connection with this disclosure of the weighing branch of the grain service it might be interesting to some to learn who inspects all the flax received at Minneapolis and something about the merits of his work, as shown by the records of the inspector's office.

Mr. Reishus, in his first report, made himself famous by saying that a man of ordinary sense should make a good inspector after an apprenticeship of two or three months! Mr. Reishus would hardly have made such an official statement if he had had any experience himself.

Any one who knows anything about inspecting grain, knows that it requires the experience of years.

But what was still worse, Mr. Reishus proceeded at once to act upon this theory. As soon as he was sworn in he appointed Herbert Gray, a hotel clerk from his town, as "flax sampler." The records, for some purpose known only to Mr. Reishus, give his residence as Swift county, but in truth and fact he came from Marshall, Lyon county. Although he was nominally flax sampler, he was assigned to clerical work in the Minneapolis office. He was appointed in October, and, after doing clerical work until the following February, he was made flax inspector, and has since inspected all flax received in Minneapolis!

Of course, the same kind of skill is not required in the inspection of flax as in the inspection of other kinds of grain. It consists principally in sifting out the dirt, weighing it and figuring out its per centage. The grain receivers at Minneapolis say that more than one-half the cars of flax inspected are reinspected, and that in almost every case the percentage of dirt is changed. This shows that the original inspector either cannot weigh the dirt correctly or is not able to figure out the percentage.

A car was recently inspected and graded "No. 1," 12 per cent dirt. It was reinspected and graded "Rejected," 12 per cent dirt. It was carried to the appeal board, who graded it "Rejected," 19 per cent dirt. The parties in interest became disgusted, and after weighing a sample, settled on the basis of "Rejected," 16 per cent dirt. The history of this car is known to every commission man in Minneapolis, and illustrates the character of the "reform" in the inspection department.

The whole thing is a matter of record, and is open to the inspection of every one.

It cannot be wondered at that the grain department is in a demoralized and disreputable condition. Two years ago it had a worldwide reputation. Representatives of state departments and grain associations from other states came here to study our methods, and magazine writers wrote long articles upon its merits which were read by the civilized world. But how different now!

The whole story is told when it is said that the powers that be have chosen to build up a political machine of the department instead of making it efficient or of trying to maintain the reputation it has enjoyed in the past.

And it is in striking contrast to previous administrations where, instead of turning the department into a political machine, efficiency and ability were insisted upon. It is a matter of history that under a Republican administration of the department a rigid civil service bill was drawn up and recommended which positively prohibited in every form the exercise of political influence upon any employe.

AND THIS IS "REFORM!"

More Information Concerning the Notorious Minnesota Tammany Hall.

Nothing has ever been called to the attention of the people that has created more indignation than the showing of the corrupt practices used by the Lind-Rosing machine in its attempt to build up a second Tammany Hall in Minnesota. According to even the conservative figures admitted by the Globe, when it acknowledged the authenticity of the Corner letter, it would be entirely impossible for the Democratic machine to raise a corruption fund of not less than $40,000 a year. There are four offices which alone pay not less than $100,000 a year and are filled by men who never in their lives could draw from any legitimate occupation $2,500 a year. There are the offices of oil inspector, surveyor general of logs at Minneapolis, surveyor general of logs at Stillwater and the governor's private secretary. It can readily be seen that under strong pressure the incumbents of these positions would willingly pay one-third of their salaries to an agency which would guarantee the continuance of their officeholding career in such lucrative positions.

Then follows the other offices, clear down to the $40 a month men. This infamous system is what we have in fulfillment of Gov. Lind's extravagant promises of reform and the injection of purity into public service. P. O. Stevens, until recently a deputy game warden in Duluth, furnishes some interesting light on this subject.

"I had a letter written by Mr. Beutner sometime in last March. It was in regard to my sending in what I was in arrears on the 'apportionment,' or rather 'assessment.' All the wardens have paid $1 per month. I saw Mr. Beutner's list of all employes of his department. I paid in, all told, $14, and there was $3 against me when I was let out. This La Bage case is identical with mine, only in my case it was not only the money, but I was asked to go out and help organize township committees and get the county in shape for Gov. Lind. I told the committee that I was not paid by the state to do that kind of work, and if they were protecting that kind of 'game' they would have to get some one else.

"Sure enough they did, and employed Mr. Skaerin of Audobon. I can prove that the first ten days of August, instead of looking after violators of the game law, the state paid him salary, expenses and a six days' livery bill for going through the eastern part of this county organizing it and working for Lind: and while he was doing this prairie chickens were being killed right and left, even on his own farm!"

CONSOLIDATING ROADS ASSISTS THE EMPLOYES

BETTER CHANCE FOR RAILROAD MEN THAN EVER BEFORE.

A Return to the Old System of High Freights, High Fares and Jerk-water Railroads Is an Impossibility.

(By William H. Baldwin, Jr., President of the Long Island Railroad.)

To appreciate the significance of the value of railroad consolidation to the public, it is only necessary to attempt to conceive of a return to former conditions. The small independent railroads, with their relatively small number of employes, each road with its own standards of equipment dependent upon the idiosyncrasies of its principal officers or directors; each road with responsibilities to the public as a carrier only to the extent of its own short line—all these limitations suggest a local independence which *would permit to the railroad the employ*ment of labor on the basis of "supply" for its small demands.

On the other hand, the gradual growth of large systems composed of many such small lines produces a new and constantly growing responsibility to the public, until finally a point is reached where the law of supply and demand affects but remotely the skilled labor necessary in transportation service. The function performed by railroads has become too important to the body politic to permit of any solution of these serious labor and wage questions, except by intelligent consideration on the part of the representatives both of the management and of the employes.

The effect of consolidation has brought many good results to the employes: An increased ability on the part of the railroads to pay higher wages; to employ more men; an improvement in standards of tracks and equipment, which has reduced the hours for a day's work and has made the service less dangerous. It has also made the employment of men in the service more regular throughout the year and thus kept together a regular force, and has developed a code of standard rules, governing the army of employes, which have dignified their employment and made more permanent their positions.

The saving by consolidation is due to the ability to develop business economically.

Conversely, the business of any trunk line to-day could not be handled by a series of independent lines with varying standards, at the present rates which are profitable to the larger lines. With the improved efficiency and economy of transportation, rates have constantly declined and traffic has been continually developed. With increased density of traffic, the number of employes has been increased in proportion and has been paid a higher wage. The improved facilities and higher speed of trains have made the day's work for a trainman, not one hundred miles as a maximum, but as a minimum, so that to-day, with high speed trains, the trainman may earn in two hours' time a wage higher than he earned in earlier days in five hours' time. Even though the wage per mile run were the same to-day as in past years, the actual work which the trainman can physically do within reasonable hours is oftentimes 100 per cent greater. The locomotive engineer of to-day may average easily one hundred and seventy-five miles per day, and at an increased rate of pay over the one-hundred-mile day of the past.

In railroads, more than in any class of labor in this country, we have seen the results of wise leadership on the part of the trade unions. Both capital and labor aim at monopoly; the best result is obtained only when intelligent counsel prevails. The railroads are moving on toward greater consolidations and with constantly increasing benefit to their million employes and to the public. More and more each year the managements of railroads acknowledge their public duties, more and more each year the operation of railroads is becoming a governmental function, so that, as I see it, the best condition will be reached when the relations between the government and the railroads are intelligently defined, with the management and operation left in the hands of private persons. The ideal condition is to so operate the railroads as to approach an ideal governmental operation and yet to retain the ownership in private capital.

The history of railroad wages has shown that the public has been willing always to recognize the responsibilities of railroad men, and has given its sympathy to them in their reasonable demands. The employes, as a rule, have shown an intelligent understanding of the reasonable wage, and when they have not acted fairly and wisely they have not been supported by the public, have been refused their demands by the railroads and have learned that reason must prevail.

WM. H. BALDWIN, JR.

New York.

REMEMBER!

"If there is anyone who believes the Gold Standard is a good thing, or that it must be maintained, I warn him not to cast his ballot for me, because I promise him it will not be maintained in this country longer than I am able to get rid of it."—William Jennings Bryan in a speech at Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 16, 1896.

Positions of Non-English Papers.

Nationality	Rep.	Dem.	Ind.
German	16	12	3
Scandinavian	19	2	..
Italian	7	2	2
French	3	..	1
Bohemian	3	5	1
Polish	2	4	..
Jewish	2	..	..
Dutch	1	..	..
Slavonic	2	1	1
Swiss	2	..	..
Totals	58	26	8

A Set-Back for Democracy.

Mr. Bryan and his followers are having a hard time to convince the farmers that they are worse off in 1900, with protection and sound money, than they were in 1896, with the shadow of free silver impending and a free trade law in operation.

A general comparison of articles of farm consumption and farm production between the two years completely disproves the Bryan theory.

In the item of farm animals alone, the farmers are worth $500,000,000 more than they were in Democratic days. The table printed below, which is from the reports of the United States Department of Agriculture, is worth study:

Total value of farm animals in 1896 .... $1,727,926,634

Total value of farm animals in 1900 2,212,750,678

The difference is apparent in every class of animals. Divided into appropriate groups, the increase is strikingly shown:

Value of Horses and Mules.

1896 .... $603,844,643

1900 715,636,534

Value of All Cattle.

1896 .... $872,833,961

1900 1,204,208,866

Value of Sheep.

1896 .... $65,167,735

1900 122,665,913

With all grain, animals and other farm products higher in price, it is no wonder that the farmers of this country have little use for Bryanism.

Breadstuffs Abroad.

While Europe is naturally our largest market for breadstuffs, the percentage of growth to other grand divisions is increasing. North America (other than the United States), Oceanica, Asia and Africa all show larger percentages of increase in 1900 over 1899. The increase to North America was 18 per cent, Oceanica 45 per cent, Asia 84 per cent.

The Asiatic market for breadstuffs is considered by flour shippers of Minneapolis, Portland and San Francisco to be the most promising in the world. Commercial activity with China will take on renewed energy after the difficulties now existing there are settled in some way.

It is fortunate at this juncture that this country has a president who not only insisted on the rescue of the Americans in China, but insists on the maintenance of the "open door" by which Americans will trade with Chinese points on equal terms with anybody, no matter what political complexion the Chinese imbroglio may assume.

Export of Corn Products.

Total exports of corn to all foreign countries in 1896 were 99,992,835 bushels and in 1899 they were 174,089,094 bushels. The following shows the value of the exports of beef and hog products in 1896 and 1899:

Beef	$29,720,258	$28,645,544
Pork	10,639,727	4,017,200
Bacon and hams	83,331,151	46,112,010
Lard	42,208,462	33,680,851

To China, Japan, Asiatic Russia, Australia, Hawaii and the Philippine islands exports of the following two corn derived products were in 1890 and 1899 respectively in value:

	1899.	1900.
Provisions	$966,775	$518,190
Fertilizers	736,621	114,988

Idaho Values Increase.

The total increase of value of the wool crop, of horses and sheep and of lead mined in 1900 was $23,884,986, as compared with the values in 1896. That is why Idaho will go for McKinley this year.

Implement Exports Booming.

American agricultural implement manufacturers have the field practically to themselves in Canada. Our exports grew from $781,415 in 1896, to $2,006,943 in 1900. American implements have driven the English article almost entirely from Canada, although English manufacturers are favored to the extent of 12 1-2 per cent in the tariff.

Manufactures Sold to Europe.

American manufacturers sold to Europe in the last two years of Cleveland's administration goods valued at $412,000,000. European buyers took $820,000,000 of American manufactures in the first two years of the McKinley administration. Which is the better showing, and which policy is the best for America to pursue?

Old Democratic Prosperity.

(Omaha Bee, Dec. 20, 1893.)

The sufferings of the breadless and bedless men at Rescue hall, and the threatened abandonment of that institution on account of limited funds, as published in the Bee yesterday, aroused public sympathy. It is probable that prompt action for the relief of the homeless and hungry will now be taken.

A Case of

HAMM'S BEER

Will Prove a Splendid Tonic for the Tired Housewife • Supplied by Agents Everywhere, or • THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

To Be Voted on

AT THE NEXT GENERAL ELECTION,

TUESDAY, NOV. 6, 1900.

STATE OF MINNESOTA.
Department of State,
October 1, 1900.

Pursuant to section three hundred and eleven (311) of the General Statutes of 1894, the same being chapter one hundred and fifty-seven (157) of the General Laws of 1887, the proposed Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota, as adopted by Act of the Legislature for 1899, for submission to the voters of this state at the general election to be held on Tuesday, the sixth (6th) day of November, A. D. nineteen hundred (1900), is herewith submitted:

ALBERT BERG, Secretary of State.

STATE OF MINNESOTA.
Attorney General's Office.
St. Paul, July 8, 1900.

Hon. Albert Berg, Secretary of State.

Pursuant to chapter 157 of the General Laws of 1887, I herewith file in your office synopsis of Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Minnesota as proposed by chapter 92 of the General Laws of 1899. I am very respectfully,

W. B. DOUGLAS,
Attorney General.

SYNOPSIS OF AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF MINNESOTA PROPOSED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE SAID STATE AT THE LAST SESSION THEREOF, AND TO BE VOTED UPON AT THE GENERAL ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 6TH, 1900.

By General Laws 1899, Chapter 92, it is proposed to amend Article eight (8), Section six (6) of the Constitution.

The section as now existing reads as follows:

Section 6. The permanent school and university fund of this state may be invested in the purchase of bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, but no such investment shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the issue of which the same in part would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed seven per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property of the county, school district, city, town or village issuing such bonds; nor shall such loans or indebtedness be made at a lower rate of interest than three per cent per annum nor for a shorter period than five (5) years, nor for a longer period than twenty (20) years, and no change of the town, school district, village, city or county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of the issuing of such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

It is proposed by said chapter to amend the same so as to read as follows:

Section 6. The permanent school and university fund of this state may be invested in the bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, but no such investment shall be made until approved by the board of commissioners designated by law to regulate the investment of the permanent school fund and the permanent university fund of this state; nor shall such loan or investment be made when the bonds to be issued or purchased would make the entire bonded indebtedness exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property of the county, school district, city, town or village issuing such bonds; nor shall such loans or indebtedness be made at a lower rate of interest than three (3) per cent per annum nor for a shorter period than five (5) years nor for a longer period than twenty (20) years, and no change of the town, school district, village, city or county lines shall relieve the real property in such town, school district, county, village or city in this state at the time of the issuing of such bonds from any liability for taxation to pay such bonds.

The effect of the above amendment if adopted will be to authorize the investment of the permanent school and university fund of this state for a period of not less than five (5) or more than twenty (20) years at an interest rate not less than three (3) per cent per annum, in the bonds of any county, school district, city, town or village of this state, when the bonds to be issued or purchased will not make the entire bonded indebtedness of such municipalities exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property contained therein.

The substantial change proposed by said amendment is to authorize such investments when the entire indebtedness, including the loan in question, does not exceed fifteen (15) per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable real property in such municipalities; whereas, under the existing constitution loans are permitted only where such total indebtedness does not exceed seven (7) per cent of the assessed valuation.

July 3, 1900.

W. B. DOUGLAS,
Attorney General.

The Chicago Tribune

Is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

United States Map. 15c.

A copy of our handsome map, 48x38 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot well use postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. 44. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

CLOSING OUT SALE

Our entire stock of General Merchandise, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, must be closed out within the next thirty days.

We offer everything at or below cost. Nothing reserved from this sale. Seven thousand dollars worth of choice merchandise must be sacrificed. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs. It will pay you to take advantage of it.

TERMS CASH. Positively no goods charged.

Building for sale or rent.

Fixtures for sale.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON, Vice-President.

FIRST STATE BANK
OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. G. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
O. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier.

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

General Banking.

Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE, REAL ESTATE, FARM LOANS and INSURANCE.

Collections Promptly Attended to.

Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.

M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.

General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done. Horse shoeing a specialty.

WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - - MINN.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,

VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, WASHINGTON, D. C.

ALL BURNT TIMBER

On the Reservations Ordered to Be Sold.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Secretary Hitchcock today authorized the sale of all the dead and down timber on the diminished White Earth and Red Lake Indian reservations in Minnesota. About thirty million feet of valuable timber will be involved in the sale. Rules and regulations governing the cutting of the timber are now in course of preparation at the Indian office. No details of the plan to be pursued in removing it will be given at the department until the rules and regulations governing are completed.

Although Capt. Mercer is agent at Leech lake, it is understood he will have charge of the logging on account of his familiarity with the subject. The Leech lake agent has been here for several days conferring with the officials. He leaves for Minnesota tomorrow to prepare for the work involved in the order issued by Secretary Hitchcock this morning.

No decision has been reached in connection with the sale of the burnt timber at Leech lake. The plan of Capt. Mercer was to include in the sale of the dead and down timber small tracts of standing pine. The law officer of the department has expressed the opinion that such a plan would not be in compliance with law, and the matter is temporarily held in abeyance.

It is expected that the representations made by Agent Mercer since his arrival here will prompt Secretary Hitchcock to dispose of the dead and down timber at Leech lake. This question will be taken up on the return of the secretary next week.

THE HEAVY RAINS

Have Delayed Lumbering Operations.

The heavy rains of the past two months have completely filled the sloughs and swamps in the northern part of the state, and the woods are so full of water that logging operations are seriously handicapped. It is almost impossible to get teams and supplies into the camps, and the conditions are such that no extensive work can be done until the ground freezes.

At present there is little demand for men in the woods, although this is the period of the year when thousands are usually sent into the forests to cut timber. As soon as the cold weather sets in there will be, on account of the fact that the season has already been shortened by unfavorable conditions, an enormous demand for help. The logging men are beginning to believe that there will not be enough men available to do the work that has been planned.

Work has been so plentiful on the farms and railroads during the season that the labor market has been almost depleted, and there is no reason to believe that there will be a sudden increase in the number of applicants for employment. The logging contractors have never been confronted by a similar condition, and anticipate that they will have to offer extra inducements to get crews this winter. The logging work last year was expensive on account of the scarcity of labor, but it begins to look as if it will be much more so this year.

Several choice farms for sale in the town of Excel, Marshall Co. Call on or address: H. L. Bergeron, Excel, Minn.

USED HIS KNIFE.

Sever Larson Carves Anton Warboel's Adam's Apple.

What might have been a case of killing occurred in one of the city saloons last Tuesday evening, about 8 o'clock. As it is, Anton Warboel is now in the hospital with an extra hole in his face, and Sever Larson is in jail awaiting the result of his unthoughted act. As near as we can learn the facts, they are about as follows:

Tuesday evening, Warboel, a well known character around town, went into Koppang's saloon, on First street, and, after fooling around with those he found in the bar room, started for the back room, saying that if anyone was in there he would throw them out. On entering, he saw Larson, better known around town as "Crazy Dane," sitting in a chair, cleaning his pipe with a knife. He caught hold of Larson's shoulders and made an effort to put his threat into execution. The old man resisted, and, in the shuffle, struck Warboel in the throat with his knife. The blade, which was not very sharp, struck the wind-pipe and glanced to one side, cutting the skin and severing some blood vessels, causing the blood to gush from the wound in torrents. The wounded man was carried to Dr. Wattam's office, where he was cared for. The wound is not dangerous, but will cause the patient to remain in the hospital, to which he was taken Wednesday morning, for some time. Larson was arrested and placed in jail. The old man is well known as a quiet, harmless individual, and it is not likely he will be prosecuted.

Larson has been released from jail, as Warboel refused to prosecute him.—Warren Sheaf.

THANKSGIVING.

November 29th Named by the President.

President McKinley has issued the following proclamation:

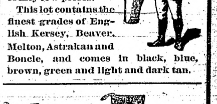
"It has pleased Almighty God to bring our nation in safety and honor through another year. The works of religion and charity have everywhere been manifest. Our country through all its extent has been blessed with abundant harvests. Labor and the great industries of the people have prospered beyond all precedent. Our commerce has spread over the world. Our power and influence in the cause of freedom and enlightenment have extended over distant seas and lands. The lives of our official representatives and many of our people in China have been marvelously preserved. We have been generally exempt from pestilence and other great calamities, and even the tragic visitation which overwhelmed the city of Galveston made evident the sentiments of sympathy and Christian charity, by virtue of which we are one united people.

"Now, therefore, I, William McKinley, president of the United States, do hereby set apart Thursday, the 29th day of November next, to be observed by all the people of the United States, at home and abroad, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to Him who holds the nations in the hollow of His hand. I recommend that they gather in their several places of worship and devoutly give Him thanks for the prosperity wherewith He has endowed us, for seedtime and harvest, for valor, devotion and humanity of our armies and navies, and for all His benefits to us as individuals and as a nation; and that they humbly pray for the continuance of His divine favor, for concord and amity with other nations and for righteousness and peace in all our ways."

CLOTHING!
CLOTHING!!
CLOTHING!!!

I have just received from Chicago a large assortment of ladies' winter jackets, which I will sell at ridiculously low prices.

This lot contains the finest grades of English Kersey, Beaver, Melton, Astrakan and Boncle, and comes in black, blue, brown, green and light and dark tan.



I am now prepared to show the finest line in the city of Clothing, Shoes, Underwear, Hats and Gents' Furnishings.

H. Lowin, RED ✳ STAR CLOTHING HOUSE. Proprietor.

HOTEL OGAHMAH.
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.

SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

G. H. Turville,

Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.

First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.

Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection.

LA BREE AVENUE. THIEF RIVER FALLS.

THE NEWS,
By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, NOV. 8, 1900.

Does anyone believe that the free homes bill does not apply to the Red Lake reservation now?

Minnesota elected seven Republican congressmen, a majority of the members of the state legislature and the whole state ticket. That is doing rather well.

Frank M. Eddy is again elected, his majority being over 3,000. The only thing to regret is that a majority of the votes of Thief River Falls were cast against him.

CRYING OF THE BABIES.

This and Other Reasons Furnish Grounds for Complaint to Washington Police.

Washington has the reputation of harboring more cranks than any other city in the union. Complaints by them to the police department bear out this unenviable reputation fully. The life of the chief of police is made burdensome by these cranks, who have appealed to him to stop the crying of infants who are made miserable by the hot weather. This is perhaps one of the most unreasonable complaints yet made, but those made relate to almost everything that goes to make up a city.

The writers of these letters object to boys playing in the streets, to boys swimming in the river, and the use by children of small wagons. They object to barking dogs, prowling cats, crowing roosters, cackling hens, noisy crows and sparrows. They complain about the obstruction of the streets by pushcart merchants, as well as about the quality of their goods. Newsboys are objected to, as well as hucksters, drivers of ice wagons, lunch and clam wagons.

The meek and lowly scissors-grinders and organ-grinders would have to earn their livelihood in other ways if these persons could have their way. Rapid transit cars would be supplanted by horse cars, automobiles and locomobiles would be forbidden the use of the streets, and the hand of progress turned back at least half a century to suit the kickers. There are laws relating to the barking of dogs, the crowing of roosters, and the regulation of the speed of all sorts of vehicles. These are enforced strictly, but notwithstanding this a great deal of time of the police department is wasted in replying to complaints.

KIDNAPED GIRL RETURNS.

Reaches Her Home After Spending Twenty-Six Years with Gypsies.

Twenty-six years ago Laura Hancock, then a girl ten years old, was kidnaped from Johnsville, near Mount Gilead, O. Every effort was made to find the child, but without avail. Her family, though search was long abandoned, had never ceased to hope that some day she would return. The other afternoon a woman arrived at Mount Gilead and startled people who knew of the kidnaping by saying she was Laura Hancock. She had been stolen by gypsies, she said, and taken west. For 24 years she had shared the fortunes of her captors, but never abandoned her efforts to learn who her parents were. She finally succeeded. In relating her experiences she says:

"One year ago I escaped from the gypsies, after being transferred from tribe to tribe. I began working my way homeward, paying my fare by working in kitchens. I was harshly treated during the early portion of my life and learned to do fancy work and sell it from door to door to pay my share of the tribe's expenses."

AN INVENTOR'S GOOD LUCK.

Devises Plant to Purify Streams and Scheme Brings Him a Fortune.

William E. Heal, of Marion, Ind., has made a discovery that will probably bring him a large fortune and which promises to solve the problem of purifying the streams of Indiana that are being polluted by refuse and acids from mills and factories. The game fish in nearly all the rivers of Indiana have been killed. Horses and cattle have been poisoned and offensive odors from some of the rivers have caused injunction proceedings to be filed against several manufacturers. The health officers and fish commissioners have been trying to solve the problem for several years without success.

A plant was erected by Heal which was devised to prevent the pollution of streams by utilizing the waste material. Most of this waste from the mills contains sulphuric acid, and with Heal's method it was found that the refuse could be converted into blue vitriol or copperas, and blue stone. The copperas can be marketed at $15 per ton, while the blue stone brings $90 per ton.

ECONOMY WITHOUT PAY.

A Dealer Gives Reasons for the Difference in the Manner of Packing Goods.

"Goods in large packages like, for instance, tomatoes in gallon cans," said the canned goods man, according to the New York Sun, "are sometimes crated, this being done for the sake of economy, the crate costing less than a box. But canned goods in smaller packages, of which the number of cans put up is enormous, are commonly shipped in boxes. The reason for this is very simple.

"The big cans are likely to have only a strip or a band label, the rest of the broad expanse of tin being left uncovered. It isn't necessary to put this package up in fancy style, for it is not to be displayed anywhere. These goods are sold to hotels and restaurants and other large users. The steward or other purchaser knows the goods perfectly by the label, which is to him an unmistakable brand; he wouldn't care a bit if the label was scratched or marred, as it might be by coming in contact with something through the open space in the crate. What he wants is the goods.

"On the other hand, the small cans are completely covered with a handsome label, which helps to make the goods salable. These cans are displayed on the shelves and on counters and it is important, of course, that these should be in perfect order as to labels. The cans must not be dented in. One bad-looking can might mar a whole display, besides not selling so well itself. So the small cans are shipped in boxes for their protection, which is of more importance with these goods than the saving that might be effected by crating them."

IT WAS THE WOMAN'S WAY.

How a Scheming Housewife Saved Money While Her Husband Was Absent.

There is really no use of having a man about the house.' At least that is the opinion of many members of the fair sex. There is a Detroit woman and her cook, however, who have learned the fallacy of such an idea, says the Free Press.

The other day the head of the household was suddenly called away from town. When he was gone his wife decided to look after the barn herself and put the money thus saved into a beautiful summer dress that she did not need. That evening it rained, and she tripped to the stables in a machintosh that she tossed on the nearest part of the nearest horse, in lieu of a convenient peg, and was immediately kicked a dozen feet in a straight line. The cook ran out and displayed her presence of mind by turning the hose on her mistress and playing it on her until she had to revive in order not to drown.

When it came to putting hay down into the mangers the cook fell headforemost into the funnel-shaped chute made for this purpose, and most of her blood had gravitated to her brain before the people in the block—two policemen, a contractor and a veterinary surgeon—had rescued her. She is in bed under medical care, the wife is being treated for general contusion of the body, and the returned coachman is under extra pay to assure the husband that everything went off nicely.

GYPSY CAUSED ALARM.

What Was Believed to Be Burglars in a Mansion Turned Out to Be a Dog.

A burglar alarm turned in to the Cottage Grove avenue station a few nights ago from a Michigan avenue mansion resulted not in the capturing of burglars, but in the finding of a pet dog which had been missing for three days, reports the Chicago Chronicle. Sergt. O'Connor and several officers responded to the call in the patrol wagon. They found the family standing on the front step greatly excited. The officers surrounded the house, making it impossible for the intruders to escape, and two of the bluecoats placed their revolvers handy and entered the house.

The excitement had been caused by a noise in the basement under the fireplace. The officers listened, but could hear nothing and descended the stairs. They could find no evidence that burglars had been there and finally the sergeant opened the ash dump which is under the fireplace. He found a small dog covered with soot and coal dust and so nearly starved that it could not walk. He carried the animal upstairs and its mistress seized the pet in her arms.

"Why, Gypsy has been missing for three days," she said, "and I supposed she was stolen. Here she has been starving to death in that dirty ash pan."

Gypsy had stepped into the fireplace and had fallen through the pipe into the basement box.

The French Mushroom Crop.

The annual crop of mushrooms in France is valued at $2,000,000; and it is said that there are 60 wholesale firms in Paris dealing exclusively in them. In the department of the Seine it appears there are some 3,000 caves in which mushrooms are grown, and about 300 persons are employed in their culture, and rarely leave these caves.

Many Shinplasters Still Out.

It has been recently estimated that there is still outstanding more than $15,000,000 of the old "shinplasters," or fractional paper currency. No doubt much of this has been destroyed, but private collectors are believed to hold great quantities of the bills. They are still redeemable at face value, though they are no longer legal tender.

RIGHTS OF VAGABOND MULE.

Legal Decision That Affects Long-Eared Animals and Their Owners.

In "a lawsuit arising out of the unlawful acts of a disorderly mule" the opinion says the animal was found "loitering about the streets . . . without any apparent business, no visible means of support and no evidence of his ownership except a yoke on his neck," which was evidence that "the mule had been at some time in a state of subjection, but did not indicate to whom." Being arrested and taken to the lockup, after five days' delay an advertisement was published for two days and then the mule was sold. This notice, relates Case and Comment, was held insufficient on the ground that "no owner would feel any great sense of loss in so short a time."

On the question of delay before publishing the notice, which the ordinance required to be published immediately, the court said: "The argument is that the word 'immediately' as used in the ordinance does not mean 'instantaneously;' that the poundkeeper must have sufficient time to shut the pound gate, so as to keep the mule in, before he starts to the printing office; that after he does start he may proceed in a brisk walk and is not required to run, and after he gets there time must be allowed to set up the matter in type and there must then be a delay until the hour when the paper is printed and ready for distribution, and that the poundkeeper is not required to get out an extra. We are satisfied the learned trial judge did not mean to require such dispatch as this."

GETTING UP SPEED QUICKLY.

An Ingenious Grade Device That Is Employed on the Central London Railway.

A novel expedient is being tried to shorten the running time of trains on the Central London railway, the underground electric line that was opened recently, says the New York Tribune. This road has 12 or 13 stations and a length of 6½ miles. The track of the Central London is not laid altogether level. Just before reaching a station it rises 1.66 feet to a hundred, and immediately after leaving it descends even more rapidly for a short distance, the grade being 3.3 per cent. The object of this plan is to stop a train more quickly when it is arriving, and hasten its departure when it moves onward again.

It has often been observed that trains on the elevated road in this city waste more time in slowing down and getting up speed again than they spend with open gates. A train may remain motionless only six or eight seconds, but the loss of time from the other causes is two or three times as great. By accelerating both stoppage and start a saving of ten seconds might be made. This repeated a dozen times would make a difference of two minutes in the total run. The advantage secured by the expedient employed in London is apart from and additional to the use of electric motors, which enable a train to develop full speed sooner than steam does.

SHARE THEIR VACATION.

London Lawyers Open the Inner Temple Gardens to Poor Children.

When the weather gets hot in London the leading lawyers leave their city quarters for the country to enjoy what they term the "long vacation," a period of about ten weeks, says the New York Post. Close by the Inner Temple, one of the headquarters and resorts of these lawyers, are the neighboring poor districts, where live small children who don't have "long vacations." And now come these great "long vacation" lawyers and say, in effect, to these small children, to the boys and to the girls: "Beginning with June 12, you small boys and girls, the Inner Temple gardens, the green grass, the trees and the flowers thereof, are by permission of the Benchers (that's us) thrown open for your comfort and happiness, to be by you enjoyed from the hour of six p. m. until dusk every evening; and so they shall remain every evening, Mondays and Saturdays excepted, until the end of August, a period of about ten weeks, more or less; and this, for you, shall be in the nature of a 'long vacation.'"

And so it happens that the lawyers are to share their "long vacation" with their small neighbors.

Queer Japanese Custom.

At the close of formal dinners in Japan the guests are presented with any portion of the meal they may fail to eat. However great or small the amount may be, it is carefully wrapped up for them, and they are expected to take it home with them. The unique custom was followed at official dinners until a short time ago, when it was discontinued, but the withdrawal of government example has not materially affected the practice. There may be all kinds of elaborate courses at a dinner that one does not care for, but the mental struggle to say "No" is not half so hard when you know you will get a chance to carry the food off, and either give it to the children, throw it to your dogs or cats, or distribute it among your friends. The Japanese practice is all that could be expected. Each kind of food is kept separate, and at the close of the dinner the share of each guest is made up in a neat and artistic bundle.

Teacup Valued at $600.

Among the exhibits at the Paris exposition is a set of teacups the cheapest of which is valued at $600.

REAL POOH-BAHS IN CHINA.

Officials Who Combine Many Prerogatives and Work Hard According to Their Idea.

Some idea of the work of the average Chinese official will be gathered from the following statement made by an eminent Chinese statesman to an interpreter, says the London Mail.

The interpreter states: "I once asked a member of the Chinese cabinet who was complaining of fatigue and overwork for an account of his daily routine. He replied that he left home every morning at two o'clock, as he was on duty at the palace from three to six. As a member of the privy council he was engaged on that body from six until nine. From nine until 11 he was at the war department, of which he was president, and, being a member of the board of punishment, he was in attendance at the office of that body daily from twelve until two. As one of the senior ministers of the foreign office he spent every day from two till five or six in the afternoon there. These were his regular daily duties, and in addition to them he was frequently appointed to serve on special boards or commissions, and these he sandwiched in between the others as he could. He seldom reached home before seven in the evening."

It should be added, however, that the Chinese idea of hard work is not quite the same as the English idea. The Chinese official undoubtedly spends long hours at his various offices, but this is no safe guide. Perhaps the busiest department in the Chinese government is the board of punishment, which reviews the sentences pronounced by Chinese judges in all parts of the empire. Naturally, therefore, the work is rather heavy, but in other departments eating and drinking is the chief business of the day.

FORTUNE IN A TRUCK FARM.

One Man Near Philadelphia Who Has Accumulated Half a Million Dollars.

There are over 600 acres of Philadelphia land under cultivation south of Porter street, in the district known as the Neck, and there is now living in Germantown a man who has amassed a fortune of $500,000 in raising early vegetables in that locality, says the Philadelphia Record. His two sons are still engaged in truck farming, although they have not the same chances as their father had during the civil war, when spinach sold for eight dollars a barrel and onions brought $12 a barrel. The father, with his half million, has removed to a handsome country seat near Germantown, where he lives in opulence.

He was an orphan and at the age of 21, having been bound to a trucker, he went with another man to work a farm on shares. In two years he was able to take a farm of his own and success crowned his efforts. In those days the farmer took his own produce to market and sold it direct to the consumer without the aid of the commission merchant. Then, too, there was no competition from the south in the matter of early vegetables. The labor of boys could be had for two or three dollars a week. But all this is now changed. On Porter street between Thirteenth and Sixteenth there are two large public schoolhouses, and the boys who used to work on the farms now attend school. The farmers are consequently obliged to employ men at this season of the year and pay them nine dollars a week.

AN INVENTIVE RECTOR.

English Divine Whose Church Bells Are Now Rung by Means of Electricity.

In the parish of Runwell, in Essex, England, an apparatus has been lately invented by the rector for ringing the church bells by electricity. The origin of the invention is rather curious. The rector, finding a difficulty in obtaining bell-ringers, rung the bells for three months himself. In order to save labor involved in performing this task, he invented the "automatic ringer," and erected the apparatus in the church tower. By connecting the machine with the electric current already in use for lighting the church and rectory, he succeeded in ringing the bells with perfect order and precision. The invention is in all respects an absolute success and the apparatus can be worked by oil power instead of by electricity. This makes the invention of general interest with regard to bell ringing. The "automatic ringer," for which a patent has been obtained, can be supplied to churches and buildings whenever required. The profits will be devoted by the rector to the fund for restoring the ancient church of Runwell, where the invention had its birth.

Cares of Royalty.

Members of the royal family in England have been indulging in some confessions as to when they are really happiest. The prince of Wales has admitted that he is happiest when he can shake hands and talk with Sir Edward Clarke without its being rumored that "the prince of Wales is violently opposed to the present war," and when he can spend a quiet evening at home with the princess and his family. "I am unhappiest," he continues, "when I have a raging toothache and have to attend some social function, where I must smile as pleasantly as though I never had a pain in my life." These confidences of royalty are instructive, says the New York Observer. Public duties if honorable are burdensome, and many a man who wears a ducal coronet would gladly rid himself from time to time of its wearisome weight.

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil A. Kaufer, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffers & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Sell, St. Hilaire Spectator.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. } ss. DISTRICT COURT.

Adolph G. Gallasch, Plaintiff,
vs.
F. H. Kratka, Alice B. Kratka, M. D. Wells, H. G. Macpharland, and B. R. Wells, Co-partners as M. D. Wells & Co., Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a Judgment and Decree entered in the above entitled action on the 22d day of September, 1900, a certified transcript of which has been delivered to me, I, the undersigned, Sheriff of said Red Lake county, will sell, at public Auction, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, the tenth day of December, 1900, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the court house in the village of Red Lake Falls, in said County, in one parcel, the premises and real estate described in said Judgment and Decree, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lots number thirteen (13) and fourteen (14), in Block number fifty-eight (58), in the original townsite of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof now on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for said Red Lake County.

Dated October 22d, 1900.

CHARLES SAMPSON,
Sheriff of Red Lake County.
A. A. Miller,
Plaintiff's Attorney,
Crookston, Minnesota. Oct 25 6

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. } ss. DISTRICT COURT.

L. Ellington, Plaintiff,
vs.
F. H. Kratka, Alice B. Kratka, Jacob Morck, Minnie Morck, John G. Woolley and Mrs. John G. Woolley, his wife, Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a Judgment and Decree entered in the above entitled action on the 22d day of September, 1900, a certified transcript of which has been delivered to me, I, the undersigned, Sheriff of said Red Lake County, will sell, at public Auction, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, the tenth day of December, 1900, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the court house in the village of Red Lake Falls, in said County, in one parcel, the premises and real estate described in said Judgment and Decree, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lots one (1), two (2) and three (3), of Block fifty-eight (58), in the original townsite of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for Red Lake County, Minnesota.

Dated October 22d, 1900.

CHARLES SAMPSON,
Sheriff of Red Lake County.
A. A. Miller,
Plaintiff's Attorney,
Crookston, Minnesota. Oct 25 6

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. } ss. DISTRICT COURT.

J. W. Wheeler, L. Ellington A. G. Gallasch and C. Hendrickson, Plaintiffs,
vs.
F. H. Kratka, Alice B. Kratka and Mary C. Wilcox, Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a Judgment and Decree entered in the above entitled action on the 22d day of September 1900, a certified transcript of which has been delivered to me, I, the undersigned, Sheriff of said Red Lake County, will sell, at public Auction, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, the tenth day of December, 1900, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the court house in the village of Red Lake Falls, in said County, in one parcel, the premises and real estate described in said Judgment and Decree, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lots number twenty three (23) and twenty-four (24), in Block number thirty-one (31), in the original townsite of Thief River Falls, Red Lake County, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof now on file in the office of the register of deeds in and for said County.

Dated October 22d, 1900.

CHARLES SAMPSON,
Sheriff of Red Lake County.
A. A. Miller,
Plaintiff's Attorney,
Crookston, Minnesota. Oct 25 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., October 11, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 26th, 1900, viz: Nicolai O. Finnestad, H. E. 15,210, for the W½SW¼, SE¼ SW¼ and SW¼ SE¼, Sec 21, Tp. 156 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

S. Tanheim, of Newfolden, Minn.
John O. Bakke, of Newfolden, Minn.
K. M. Gustafson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Ole N. Skaarnas, of Newfolden, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
oct 18 6t

NOTICE.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota.

PUBLIC SALE—ISOLATED TRACT.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of instructions from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under authority in him vested by section 2,455, U. S. R. S., as amended by the act of Congress approved February 26, 1895, (28 Stat., 687) we will proceed to offer at public sale for cash at this office on the 21st day of November, 1900, at ten o'clock A. M. the following tracts of land, to-wit:

NW¼ SE¼ Section 4, T. 157 N., R. 41 W.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above described lands are advised to file their claims in this office on or before the day above designated for the commencement of the sale, otherwise their rights will be forfeited.

Dated Oct. 9th, 1900.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
Oct 11 6t.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 28, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minnesota, on November 19th 1900, viz: Hermanne Hansen, H. E. 16,730, for the SE¼ SE¼, Sec. 15, Tp. 156 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole O. Lund, of Holt, Minn.
Oluf Iversen, of Holt, Minn.
Osvald Hoel, of Holt, Minn.
Arne A. Moe, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.
Oct 11 6

Dr. A. Ekern,
(LATE OF BERLIN, GERMANY.)
Specialist—Eye ear nose and throat.
GRAND FORKS NORTH DAKOTA
Office in Herald Block.
Hours: 9 to 12 a. m 1 to 4 and to 7 p. m

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Sept. 17, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 1st, 1900, viz: Carolina Olson, H. E. 19,580, for the SW¼ NE¼, Sec. 34, Tp. 156, N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Peder O. Reiarson, of Newfolden, Minn.
Torger T. Solldm, of Newfolden, Minn.
Isak W. Garfve, of Newfolden, Minn.
Aslak H. Langli, of Newfolden, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.
sept27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 14th, 1900, viz: Even P. Enasstad, H. E. 10,177, for the NE¼ NE¼, Sec. 14, Tp. 153 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Ole A. Henning, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Bernt Wold, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
J. M. Kise, of Thief River Falls, Minn.
Henry Norland, of Thief River Falls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 20th, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 5th, 1900, viz: Edward Bolton, H. E. 16,043, for the NE¼ NW¼, SE¼ NW¼ and NW¼ NE¼, Sec. 12, Tp. 157 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Julius Hanson, of Ingalls, Minn.
Alfred Mickelson, of Ingalls, Minn.
John Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.
George Bolton, of Ingalls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., September 21, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on November 15th, 1900, viz: Tina O. Howe, H. E. 17,043, for the Lot 7, Sec. 6, NE¼ NW¼ and Lot 1, Sec. 7 Tp. 157 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Hans Hagen, of Ware, Minn.
Hans Johnson, of Ware, Minn.
John Haug, of Ware, Minn.
Severin Haug, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.
sept 27 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn. September 25, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before L. G. Browning, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Thief River Falls, Minn., on November 15th, 1900, viz: Vaclav Havranek, H. E. 19,103, for the SW¼, Sec. 4, Tp. 158 N., R. 41 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Joseph Krall, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Hudik, of Ware, Minn.
Charles Vavrika, of Ware, Minn.
Frank Krall, of Ware, Minn.

A. F. GEORGE, Receiver.
10 4 6

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Oct. 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on December 17th, 1900, viz: Emil Anderson, H. E. 15,601, for the S½ NW¼ and N½ SW¼, Sec. 34, Tp. 157 N., R. 43 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

Aron Anderson, of Ingalls, Minn.
Anders Andersen, of Ingalls, Minn.
Ole Erikson, of Ingalls, Minn.
Jim Wallin, of Ingalls, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
nov 8 6t

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION.

Department of the Interior, Land Office at Crookston, Minn., Oct. 31, 1900.

Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before D. B. Bakke, U. S. Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, at Newfolden, Minn., on December 18th, 1900, viz: Sarah Kulseth, H. E. 15,781, for the Lot 7 Sec. 6, and Lots 1 and 2, Sec. 7, Tp. 155 N., R. 44 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

William Forsberg, of Hellem, Minn.
Ole Mehust, of Hellem, Minn.
Ingebrikt Swenson, of Hellem, Minn.
Bersl Staunes, of Hellem, Minn.

SYLVESTER PETERSON, Register.
nov 8 6t

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.

OGAHMAH Camp No. 3401, M. W. of A., meets semi-monthly, 1st and 3d Thursdays, at 8 p. m. Visiting neighbors are cordially invited to attend meetings.

READ THIS!
Minneapolis and Chicago prices for hides, fur, wool, etc Special prices for large lots.
C. KRETZSCHMAR.

MONEY To PATENT Good Ideas may be secured by our aid. Address, THE PATENT RECORD, Baltimore, Md.
Subscriptions to The Patent Record $1.00 per annum.

We sell the best Norwegian Cod Liver Oil in the market.
In pint bottles or any quantity desired.
PETERSON & CURTIS,
Druggists.

TOWN TALES.

F. A. Grady was in the city Sunday.

Herbert Fuller was in the city last week.

Frank Jeffers was in the city last week.

Farm for sale. Inquire of Mrs. L. Douglas.

Jacob Thill, of Wylie, was in the city Sunday.

Sheriff Sampson was in the city over Sunday.

A house for sale or rent. Apply at News office.

H. E. Ives was up from St. Hilaire last week.

James Meehan went to Red Lake Falls this morning.

James Meehan was down to Crookston last week.

C. A. Robbecke was down to Crookston last week.

N. W. Tarrant was down to Crookston last week.

Tip Nolan was up from Red Lake Falls last week.

L. C. Simons transacted business in the city last week.

Room for an office for rent. Inquire of M. C. Harlow.

Matt Skala, of Red Lake Falls, was in the city Sunday.

County Auditor Zeh was in the city the first of the week.

F. H. Kratka was down to Minneapolis last week on business.

K. M. Hansen was down to Crookston the first of the week.

Wm. Lennon came up from Crookston the first of the week.

Buy your watches, clocks and jewelry at the City Drug Store.

Dr. Morley, specialist, eye, ear, nose and throat, Crookston, Minn.

James Meehan, Jr., has one heavy working team of horses for sale.

J. L. Johnson and W. A. Case, of St. Hilaire, were in the city last week.

Taken Up.—One-year-old light red steer. Ole Iverson, Thorwick, Minn.

A. R. Holston address a fusion rally in the city hall last Thursday evening.

Morgan Vaughan was down to St. Paul with a car load of stock last week.

Will trade a good work mare for a good milch cow. Inquire at the News office.

All trimmed hats and trimmings at cost. Going to leave the city. Iverson Sisters.

Dr. J. E. Argue, the Red Lake Falls dentist, was in the city the first of the week.

James Meehan, Jr., was down in the southern part of Red Lake county last week.

Largest assortment of all the latest books at Stebbins' drug store. Call and see them.

Lots 50x150 feet for sale in Meehan's addition, on the installment plan, $10.00 monthly.

The best and most complete line of jewelry, cut glass dishes, china, etc., at the City Drug Store.

L. G. Browning, United States commissioner for the district of Minnesota, is prepared to give attention to homestead filings and take final proof.

Rev. L. J. Parbst returned to this city the first of the week from an extended trip through the state.

Several men arrived in the city the first of the week from St. Paul to work on the electric light plant.

Regularity is one of the features of the St. Dispatch. Send 25 cents for one month trial subscription.

You can have any lot in Meehan's addition not already sold for $100 to $75, if taken within the next 60 days.

For Sale—Lots 3 and 4, block 34, original townsite of Thief River Falls. Write to A. F. George, Crookston, Minn.

All agree that the Northwestern news service of the St. Paul Dispatch is unequaled. Only 25 cents per month by mail.

If anyone wishes for a fine engraved picture of McKinley and Roosevelt, call at the News office and one can be had free.

Wylie Tindolph picked a number of ripe strawberries on the East Side Sunday. Who says this is not in the banana belt?

Homesteaders desiring to make final proof can do so in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning and thus save a trip to Crookston.

Patrick Henry, chief clerk in the government office at St. Paul, was in the city last week taking an inventory of the government's property in this vicinity.

They're raising considerable stock up in Roseau county, and they make them carry their own beef to market. A drove of 270 was driven to Stephen last week.

James Meehan, Jr., has decided to close out his real estate. You can't invest your money any better than to purchase one of the large lots in his addition for from $100 to $75.

Dr. Geo. Taper, of Chicago, has decided to locate here, he having purchased the practice of Dr. Francis, who will leave in a few weeks for the Pacific coast, where he will locate.

Have you seen the St. Paul Dispatch rural mail box? The only government approved box in the market, and furnished as a premium with one year's subscription to the paper at $3.00 paid in advance.

If you want to file on a piece of government land it will not be necessary to go to Crookston. Make your filing in Thief River Falls before L. G. Browning, U. S. commissioner for the district of Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jackson gave a Halloween party last Saturday evening. The guests were dressed as children from 8 to 12 years of age, and the evening was spent in playing games. All report a most enjoyable time.

The train service on this branch of the Great Northern has been changed, and the train now goes to Red Lake Falls before coming to Thief River Falls, and it arrives here at 2:35, leaving again at 3:35 and going direct to Crookston.

Shaw's Pure Malt.—The sick and delicate need a gentle tonic-stimulant. It is often a matter of life and death with them. The ideal nutriment and restorative is Shaw's Pure Malt, sold by Morgan & Brink, Thief River Falls, Minn.

The Crookston College opened its fall term Sept. 10. Winter term will open Nov. 5th. Board and furnished room taken care of in private family for $2.50 per week. Tuition, $1 per week. Send for catalogue. Address, J. C. Sathre, Crookston, Minn.

During the month of September $417,994.40 were received in the Modern Woodmen society's benefit fund, 500,000 members paying the same. The receipts to the general fund were $8,022.96, making the grand total receipts for the month $426,017.36. In acknowledging remittances, 11,319 receipts were issued by the bookkeeping department of the head office at Rock Island, Ill.

For a clear Havana hand-made 10-cent cigar, smoke the Atlantic. C. Wiener, manufacturer.

REPUBLICANS WIN!

McKinley, Van Sant and Eddy Elected by Substantial Majorities.

Populists Elect Most of Their Ticket in Red Lake County.

About the hottest election ever witnessed in Thief River Falls was held Tuesday. The great fight was made on congressman, and all other men upon the ticket were lost sight of. The supporters of M. J. Daly circulated numerous roorbacks calculated to prejudice the people against Eddy, and they had the desired effect. The free homes bill was pronounced as no good; Mr. Eddy's character was assailed, and even religion was made an issue. McKinley received 161 votes in this city, and Bryan 156, while Eddy only got 154 to Daly's 185. Van Sant also ran far behind the ticket and received but 101 votes to 212 for John Lind.

McKinley has carried Minnesota by a majority of about 75,000, and his vote throughout the United States is considerable larger than the vote of four years ago. Bryan's vote is much smaller.

Frank M. Eddy has again demonstrated his ability to get votes, and is elected by a majority of between 3,000 and 3,600. This county gives Daly a majority of about 300.

Capt. Van Sant is elected governor by a majority of about 12,000. This is the estimate made by Tams Bixby.

The result on county commissioner proved to be a great surprise to many people of this city. Louis Hanson is elected, but the great run made by Jarman proved to be a big surprise. The following is the vote:

	Hanson.	Jarman.
First ward	72	67
Second ward	52	52
Third ward	44	56
North	15	14
Norden	44	10
Sanders	—	—

The following county ticket was elected:

Auditor—Adam Zeh.
Treasurer—O. T. Tandberg.
Register of Deeds—Sam Gibeau.
Sheriff—Chas. Sampson.
Judge of Probate—J. T. Knight.
County Attorney—F. A. Grady.
Supt. of Schools—Frank Jeffers.
Coroner—Joseph Belair.
Surveyor—P. O. Hegglund.

C. G. Rapp is probably elected representative. Swanson carried this county by a plurality of 300, but in Beltrami county Meehan received the fusion vote and Rapp the Republican vote. With four precincts to hear from, Rapp's majority over Swanson is about 200.

Six county officials in Polk county were elected by the Republicans. The only place where the Populists were successful in the state was here in Red Lake county.

About 100 votes were cast in Red Lake county for Debs.

A large number of defective ballots were cast in this city.

Red Lake county gave Lind a majority of about 900.

For an extra good 5-cent cigar, smoke the Double XX. C. Wiener, manufacturer.

To learn that the international railroad congress at Paris resolved itself into a triumph of American genius will be taken as a matter of course. Everybody acquainted with the circumstances looked forward to this as a foregone conclusion. The great railroads of America handle business with a high efficacy and at a low cost, which simply bewilder the officials of European rails. For example, an average freight train load of some 760 tons, such as the New York Central was able to exhibit for its main line in its last report, or the average rate of 2.6 mills per ton per mile, which the Baltimore & Ohio was able to show last year on its soft-coal traffic, make the European manager think that he is reading tales of Aladdin and his wonderful lamp.—Grand Forks Herald.

MARKETS.

No. 1 Northern	64c
Oats	33c
Flax	$1.47
Beef	2½c
Pork	4½c
Mutton	3c
Eggs	15c
Butter	13 to 20c
Hay, per ton	$6.00
Potatoes, per bu	40c

QUEER WAYS OF BRIDEGROOMS

One Paid the Minister on the Installment Plan and Another in Chickens.

A bridegroom once came to the minister to engage him to perform the wedding ceremony, says Lippincott's Magazine, and after all the arrangements had been made the bridegroom-elect said, frankly:

"I tell you right now that I can't pay all in one lump the three dollars I am planning to give you for the job. I have had a cut in my wages and I won't have the three dollars to spare all at one time. I'll give you a quarter after the wedding, and then I'll come around to your house ev'ry Saturday night and pay you a quarter until I am square with you. I don't like this here gittin' married on the installment plan, but it is the best I can do."

Said a southern minister:

"One of the queerest fees I ever received was from a young negro bridegroom for whom I performed the wedding ceremony at my own home. At the close of the ceremony and just as the bridal party of five or six were about to depart the bridegroom said: 'Yo' will find de fee for yo' kindness out in a co'nah ob de po'ch, sah.' I followed the party out on the porch, and when they had gone on their way I looked in a corner of the porch, where I found a pair of fine fowls tied together by the legs. They set up a lusty squawk as I picked them up. The bridegroom had said as he went down the steps that they were 'ob his own raisin',' but I never felt quite sure of that."

GERMANS IN THIS COUNTRY.

Among the States Wisconsin Leads in the Number—Percentages of the Cities.

Milwaukee, famous for its beer, may now claim distinction as being the "German City" of the United States. There are more Germans in Milwaukee in proportion to its population than in any other city. The percentage of population is 60, and Hoboken is a close second, with 57 per cent. New York has only 38 per cent., and Chicago 37 per cent. Boston is at the bottom of the list, with a German population of only seven per cent. of the total. Detroit, Buffalo, Cleveland, Newark, Cincinnati and Jersey City have larger percentages of Germans in their populations than either New York or Chicago, says the New York Herald.

Among the states Wisconsin leads in proportion of residents born in Germany. It is estimated that 283,000 native born Germans are now located there, or 17 per cent. of the total population. New York, however, has the largest number of native born Germans—653,000, but this is only nine per cent of the population. Illinois has 336,000, or ten per cent. Minnesota, with 129,000, is equal to Illinois in percentage. Iowa has 144,000 Germans, but a percentage of only eight, while Massachusetts stands about at the bottom of the list, with 31,000 Germans, and a percentage of one. The United States is credited altogether with 2,993,000 German-born residents.

Attention Settlers.

* * *

Having been appointed United States Commissioner for the District of Minnesota, I am prepared to receive Homestead Entries and make Final Proofs. Office at my store in the town Newfolden, Marshall county.

D. B. BAKKE,
Newfolden, Minn.

TIME AND SPACE are practically annihilated by the ocean cables and land telegraph systems which now belt the circumference of Old Earth in so many different directions. "Foreign parts" are no longer foreign in the old meaning of the term. Europe, Africa, Asia, are "next door" to us. What happens there to-day we know to-morrow—if we read THE CHICAGO RECORD, whose Special Cable Correspondents are located in every important city in the world outside of the United States. No other American newspaper ever attempted so extensive a service; and it is supplemented by the regular foreign news service of The Associated Press. For accurate intelligence of the stirring events which are shaking the nations—of wars and rumors of wars—of the threatening dissolution of old governments and the establishment of new—of the onward sweep of the race in all parts of the world—the one medium of the most satisfactory information is the enterprising, "up-to-date" American newspaper, THE CHICAGO RECORD.

FREE A large map of the world on Mercator's Projection, about 22x16 in. in size, beautifully printed in colors, with a large-scale map of [illegible] on the reverse side, will be mailed to any address free of charge on receipt of request accompanied by two 2-cent stamps to cover postage and wrapping. The maps illustrate clearly how comprehensively the special cable service of The Chicago Record covers the entire civilized world. Address The Chicago Record, 181 Madison street, Chicago.

Do You Want Nice, Juicy, Tender Meat?

—if so call at the Thief River Falls Meat Market (recently purchased by the undersigned from Foley & Holzknecht) and inspect our line of meats. We will always aim to carry in stock a full line of the choicest and tenderest meats, game, fish, etc., and our prices will always be reasonable. Give us an order and be convinced.

JOSEPH H. WERSTLEIN,
—PROPRIETOR OF—
The Thief River Falls Meat Market.

HE WAS GETTING TIRED.

The Annoying Experience of a Janitor with a One-Night Theatrical Company.

While I am at it I might as well tell of that other company—a repertoire company—who played 12 plays, opening Monday afternoons and playing twice a day for the entire week in towns not usually good for a "one-night stand" for a metropolitan organization, says the Denver Times.

This one opened on a Monday afternoon at Ravenna, O., an extraordinarily bad stand, and it was "raining pitchforks." Two o'clock came and not a single soul in the house; 2:30 and the anxious "actor-manager," looking out the "peephole" in the curtain, saw one lone individual sitting in stately silence in the middle of the "hall."

To close and not play meant the circulation of the report that they were stranded, so the a.-m. stepped before the curtain and said:

"Sir, notwithstanding that you are the only distinguished citizen of this progressive place who has deigned to honor us with your presence at this, our opening performance, I wish to state that we shall proceed with the performance and give just as careful a production as though the 'house was packed to the walls.'"

"I wish you'd hurry up, then," grunted the audience. "I'm the janitor and I want to go home."

Sultan's Silver Jubilee.

Great preparations are being made for the sultan's silver jubilee on August 31, when he will have been 25 years on the throne. Poets and historians are busy writing accounts of his pious works and the great things he has done for his subjects. These will be translated and published in all languages.

NO OTHER MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest as The North American Review. — Boston Journal.

IN THE North American Review

YOU WILL ALWAYS FIND The Right Topics, By the Right Men, At the Right Time.

It is essential to every American reader who wishes to keep up with the times. The New York Sun says of it: "The North American Review constantly offers to the public a programme of writers and topics that excite the reader and gratify the intellectual appetite. In this respect there is no other magazine that approaches the North American Review."

It is neither a partisan nor a sectarian publication, but All Sides of All Questions in which intelligent readers are interested are promptly discussed in its pages, and facts and arguments are presented with all the ability and logical force of the most eminent writers in the world.

Subjects that concern the interests of American Women receive constant and special attention.

50 Cents a Number; $5.00 a year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.
The North American Review, N.Y.

Artistically Arranged Advertising Always Attracts Attention.

The John Hancock

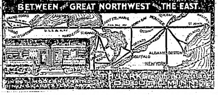
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASS.

Established in 1862. Issues the Massachusetts Standard Policies. Dividens Cash and Paid-up values for each year J. T. STIMMEL, State Agent,
Cor. Nicolet and 3rd, Minneapolis Minn
F. C. BUTTS, Northern Minn. Agent, Fergus Falls, Minn

I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

WANTED.—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

DULUTH, SOUTH SHORE & ATLANTIC RY.
THE STRAIGHT-AWAY LINE
BETWEEN THE GREAT NORTHWEST AND THE EAST.



The Pioneer Press,

"OLDEST AND BEST

With the SPECIAL CABLES
OF THE NEW YORK HERALD
The full service of the ASSOCIATED PRESS
and its PRIVATE NEW YORK WIRS
PRINTS THE NEWS
12 to 24 hours ahead
of any Northwestern paper.

Burlington Route

"JUST LIKE THE CLUB—ONLY

better"—is what every traveler says of the buffet-library car on the Burlington's Chicago Limited, leaving Minneapolis 7:20 p. m., St. Paul 8:05 p. m., every day, arriving at Chicago 9:25 next morning. Has sofa, writing desk, card tables, easy chairs, illustrated weeklies, popular magazines, daily papers and a well-stocked buffet. Lighted by electricity. Heated by steam. The "Scenic Express" leaves Minneapolis 7:40 a. m., St. Paul 8:15 a. m., except Sunday. Arrives at Chicago the same evening. Ask your home agent for tickets via this line.

P. S. EUSTIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago, Ill.
GEO. P. LYMAN, Ass't Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul Minn.

Necessary

For the Picnic Lunch • Twenty-Four Bottles of Satisfaction in Every Case

HAMM'S BEER

Supplied by Agents Everywhere, or THEO. HAMM BREWING CO., St. Paul, Minn.

STEVENS FAVORITE

GIVE THE BOYS A
Stevens Favorite Rifle.

It will teach them to enjoy outdoor life, to learn how to shoot. The first will bring health and a good disposition. The latter will induce coolness and deliberation, command of eye and hand—all valuable helps for success in future life. There is nothing cheap about a Stevens Rifle but the price; the quality is of the very best.

Favorite (with Open Sights) $6.

Where dealers do not carry these in stock we will send, express prepaid, on receipt of price. Our new catalogue contains description of the entire line of arms made by us; also a valuable reference book for shooters. No charge except stamp for postage.

J. STEVENS ARMS & TOOL CO., Chicopee Falls, Mass.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinions.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

United States Map.

15c.

A copy of our handsome map, 48x34 inches, printed in four colors and mounted on a roller, will be sent to any address on receipt of 15 cents in coin, postal or express money order. We cannot sell in postage stamps. GEO. P. LYMAN, General Passenger Agent C., B. & N. R. R., St. Paul, Minn.

CABLE ROUTE TO ORIENT.

Chinese Trouble Revives the Discussion as to the Best Direction for It.

The Chinese situation makes pertinent and timely the discussion of direct cable communication with the orient. If the United States really hopes to extend its commerce in the far east, direct, easy and certain communication is indispensable. Attention is being drawn to the proposed Alaska line, a cable independent of that now being constructed to Honolulu. The shortest distance via Alaska to a connection with the Japanese telegraph system is 3,085 nautical miles; to the Siberian wires 3,540, and to China 5,400. The Alaska line has the advantage in distance, as well as in the cost of construction and operating, over any other route surveyed. It will also secure to the government much needed communication with that part of the American possessions in the far northwest which daily are becoming of more consequence.

The surveys indicate that the northern route from California to Japan by way of Cape Flattery is only half as long as the southern route, says the Denver Post. This proposed line, as surveyed, bends slightly to the north of the ideal short line in order to pass through Sitka, the capital of Alaska. Four stations are made in Alaska, at Sitka, on Kadiak Island, at Dutch Harbor and on Attu, the last of the Aleutian islands, which is only 640 nautical miles from the Japanese Russian boundary, where the cable is divided, one branch running south 810 knots to a junction with the Japanese land wires; the other due west 617 knots to a junction with the Russian telegraph system. In this way connection would be effected with the whole of Asia by two different routes, making complete interruption practically impossible. The greatest stretch of cable would be but 858 knots in length, and this could be cut in two by placing a station on the Commander islands. Should congress decide to construct a cable to the orient, and operate it, no better route can be selected than the Alaskan.

SHIRT-WAIST MAN.

In Resplendent But Unique Attire He Is Refused Service at New York Casino.

The shirt waist man who was put out of the Astor house the second time he called there and was politely received at the Waldorf-Astoria was "called down" at the Casino roof garden, New York, the other night. He was a dream in haberdashery. His shirt waist was pink and striped, and his trousers were white and flannel. In the shirt was an enormous real diamond, earned by diligent work in a Center street law office, for the shirt waist man is a member of a very well-known firm that deals largely in theatrical and divorce cases.

The lawyer, with a very pretty girl on his arm, swept toward the stage and took a seat at a table. Refreshments were ordered. The waiter shook his head.

"No, sir," he said, frankly. "I can't do it. There's Mr. Lederer over there looking at us and shaking his head. He's given strict orders that we are not to serve any shirt waist men."

The shirt waist man argued. Then he arose angrily and led the way out, followed by the pretty girl.

"We did not ask him to go or drop him off the roof or insult him in any way," said Manager James Lederer. "We just wouldn't serve him. That is our right. A man must be appropriately attired."

BATHER CATCHES A SHARK.

Lures It Into Shallow Water and Then Drags It Out by the Tail.

There is on exhibition at Schwark's saloon at Long Branch, N. J., a seven-foot shark that Ernest Kupfer declares he captured while bathing near West End. Kupfer says he has had experience with sharks off the east coast of Australia, and that when he saw the fin of one within a few feet of him he was not alarmed.

"I was in deep water," he said, "and I knew if I could get the shark into shallow water he would be my prize. I pulled for the shore, making as much noise as possible, as past experience had taught me the more noise the less danger to a bather. With the aid of two or three good breakers I had the shark in shallow water. I caught him by the tail and at the same time called to a bather on the shore to bring me a bathing towel, so that I could get a better hold. My friend came to my assistance, and in a few minutes we had the shark ashore."

Kupfer is 60 years old. He is spending the season at the Herbert cottage on Broadway, where he exhibited his prize after it had been viewed by the people of West End and vicinity.

Crowning of the German Emperor.

The German emperor has not yet been crowned, although he has reigned for 12 years. It has now been settled that the two hundredth anniversary of the foundation of the kingdom of Prussia is to be celebrated at Konigsberg by the coronation of his majesty and the empress, and the festival will last for a week. All European sovereigns will be invited to the ceremony, which will be of a magnificent description.

Manufacturer of Burglars' Jimmies.

One man makes all the burglars' jimmies in London. The police know the man well and are fully aware of his peculiar trade, but there is no law by which he can be arrested.

BOERS AS PASTRY COOKS.

Housewives of the Transvaal Are Fond of the Old Dutch Dainties of New York.

About 13 years ago, when the first gold rush took place to the Witwatersrand gold fields, the place was only approached by road; there were no railways for some years afterward. Lumbering mail coaches brought the miners from Kimberley or Natal to Johannesburg, says the Chicago Evening News.

On the road were stopping places where the teams were changed and the passengers refreshed. These houses were usually Boer farms, and the farmers made a good thing out of dispensing hospitality to wayfarers.

In the middle of a long table stood the dishes. Everyone helped himself by digging a two-pronged fork into the dish nearest him. There was no tablecloth; everything was dirty and unappetizing. But the farmers' wives are clever at making preserves and they particularly excel in a preparation of tangarines preserved in sugar sirup. Slices of melon, pumpkin and quinces are also preserved this way. The clingstone or yellow peach, which grows on every farm, makes a splendid jam, and dries excellently. But the best preserve is made of stoned and sun-dried apricots, flattened and pickled with salt and sugar.

Boer housewives are very fond of the old Dutch dainties of New York described by Washington Irving and eaten to this day—"oily keoks," or doughnuts fried in fat.

CLASS OF NAUGHTY-NAUGHT.

The End of the Century Class in School and College Has Superior Advantages.

The class of 1900, in school and college, in thought will salute its predecessors, near and remote, on the coming graduation day. As an end-of-the-century class, says Youth's Companion, its interest may go out sympathetically to the graduates of 1800.

It may congratulate itself on its superior advantages and surroundings. The picture, for example, of a New York man on his way to the commencement exercises a century ago would suggest certain changes and developments. He saw no telegraph, telephone nor trolley wires; no electric light posts, no street car, no bicycle, no automobile, no steam fire engine, no gas fixture in a window, with baseball glove and catcher's mask suspended thereon; no one of many conveniences and absolutely necessary contrivances as we now estimate them.

Nevertheless, it would be a mistake to infer that the material side of the environment was a fair indication of the mental equipment and possibilities of that day. A diploma is a commission to do something in and for the world, and it must be owned that the class of 1800 and other classes of that general period set an example of performance that our candidates for certificates and degrees may well imitate. It is the use, and not merely the number, of advantages that is decisive.

GARDENS UNDER A BRIDGE.

Located Beneath Madison Avenue Structure in the Harlem River.

It is not often that one finds a garden in the middle of a river flowing through a great city, and thronged with all manner of craft, but the Harlem river at its busiest section contains two of them, says the New York Post. They are located beneath the Madison avenue bridge, on each bank of the river, and rows of lettuce, potato stalks and tomato vines shut out the roar of the city. Few cross the bridge without being attracted by the two green patches, and the uniformed employes are constantly plied with questions by the curious.

"Oh, it was old Patsy over there who started the gardens," they say.

"Old Patsy" is a watchman, whose duty it is to keep things clean and in order on the bridge. "I was something of gar'ner, sir," he says, "in the ould counthry, and had a nice place iv me own wanst, before the hard times come, and I saw them thriangles out there, and the clay in them, and I just thought to meself I could rise a few vegetables for th' ould woman. And I set to work here lasht year, and, what d'ye think, but we had lashins iv praties and things for the whole winther. The place is full o' rats and they do be playin' havoc wid things. But maybe afther all I'll have a dacint crop."

ONE ON THE BARKEEPER.

How an Impecunious Patron Got a Seltzer Lemonade for Five Cents.

A man with a rusty coat entered a saloon on West Madison street and called for seltzer and lemon. When the glass was set before him he looked at it with a red and nervous eye, says the Chicago Chronicle.

"Kindly drop a lump of sugar in it," he said to the barkeeper. This was done and the man with the rusty coat agitated the mixture with a spoon. Then he drank it, tossed a five-cent piece upon the bar and left the place with a dingy handkerchief at his lips. Another man who stood near the cigar-lighter and who had been an interested spectator now spoke.

"What do you charge for seltzer and lemon?" he asked.

"Five cents," was the prompt reply of the bartender.

"And what for a seltzer lemonade?"

"Fifteen cents."

"Well, said the man at the cigar lighter, "I can see how you can get one for five cents."

Then the barkeeper remembered the lump of sugar and beat his breast in anger.

HENRY W. LEE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Office on LaBree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

N. CAMPBELL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
Land Office Contest Cases a Specialty.
CROOKSTON, - - MINN

IRA C. RICHARDSON,
LAW AND COLLECTIONS.
Office over the postoffice.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

FRANK H. KRATKA,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office on La Bree Ave.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN

DR. J. J. HOVE,
PHYSICIAN and SURGEON.
Office Over First State Bank.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - MINN.

J. E. ARGUE, D. M. D.,
DENTIST.
In Thief River Falls from 5th to 10th of every month. Office over harness shop.

Henry Francis,
M. D., C. M.
Member College Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario. Office in the Gilbertson building, north of H. Lewin's Store, on LaBree Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minn.

PORTER & PAULSON,
-- Proprietors of --
CITY DRAY
-- and --
TRANSFER LINE.
Great Northern Express Handled.
Everything in Our Line Done Promptly and at Very Reasonable Rates.

THE GREAT NORTHERN

Palace Sleeping Cars and Family Tourist Cars--Meals Served a la Carte.

Through service between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Helena, Butte, Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Connections at western terminals for Kootenai country, Oregon and California points, Alaska, Japan and China. Connections at Twin cities for points east and south.

LOCAL SCHEDULE.
Daily Except Sunday.

9:00 a m	Lv.	Crookston	Ar.	6:30 p m
9:25 a m	"	Shirley	"	6:00 p m
10:03 a m	"*	Ives	"*	5:30 p m
10:21 a m	"	* Wylie	"*	4:55 p m
11:30 a m	"	St Hilaire	Lv.	4:30 p m
12:10 a m	Ar.	Thief River F	"	1:10 p m
1:50 p m	Lv.	St Hilaire	"	4:30 p m
2:35 p m	Ar.	Red Lake F	"	3:35 p m

* Stop on signal.

Connections made at Crookston for all points. For further information call on or address
F. M. MILLER,
G. N. Agent,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

Wesley Evins,
City Dray Line.
All work in my line promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. Give me an order and be convinced.
Wesley Evins,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

THE BEER THAT
MAKES ST. PAUL
FAMOUS TODAY
Is the Hamm Brewing Company's Celebrated Excelsior Export and Muencher Table Beer.
JUST TALK TO R. B. VINING AT THIEF RIVER FALLS.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

THE THIEF RIVER FALLS NEWS.

VOL. XVII NO. THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1900. TERMS: $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Our entire stock of General Merchandise, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, must be closed out within the next thirty days.

We offer everything at or below cost. Nothing reserved from this sale. Seven thousand dollars worth of choice merchandise must be sacrificed. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs. It will pay you to take advantage of it.

TERMS CASH. Positively no goods charged.
Building for sale or rent.
Fixtures for sale.

Mullarky & Hansen,
Thief River Falls, Minn.

C. L. DOBNER, President. H. G. DOBNER, Cashier. L. ELLINGTON, Vice-President.

FIRST STATE BANK
OF THIEF RIVER FALLS.

A General Banking Business Transacted.

DIRECTORS:
A. C. GALLACH, Cashier of Northern Exchange Bank, St. Paul.
L. ELLINGTON, Cashier of Scandia-American Bank, Crookston.
J. W. WHEELER, Cashier of First National Bank, Crookston.
C. HENDRICKSEN, Capitalist, Grafton, N. D.
C. L. DOBNER, President.
H. G. DOBNER, Cashier

BANK OF RED LAKE FALLS,
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
General Banking.
Agent for the Great Northern and Minn., Wis. & Pacific Ry. Co.s Lands in Red Lake County.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE,
REAL ESTATE,
FARM LOANS
and INSURANCE,

Collections Promptly Attended to.
Owner of the Abstract Books formerly owned by Sortedahl & Storaasli, the only complete set of Abstract Books for Red Lake County.
M. O. SORTEDAHL, President and Cashier.

The City Blacksmith-Shop,
John Forsberg, - - Prop.
General Blacksmithing and repairing promptly done. Horse shoeing a specialty.
WAGON SHOP IN CONNECTION.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, - - - - - - MINN.

PATENTS GUARANTEED

Our fee returned if we fail. Any one sending sketch and description of any invention will promptly receive our opinion free concerning the patentability of same. "How to Obtain a Patent" sent upon request. Patents secured through us advertised for sale at our expense.

Patent taken out through us receive special notice, without charge, in THE PATENT RECORD, an illustrated and widely circulated journal, consulted by Manufacturers and Investors.

Send for sample copy FREE. Address,
VICTOR J. EVANS & CO.,
(Patent Attorneys,)
Evans Building, WASHINGTON, D. C.

IT'S HIGH

Lots of Water Up at the Red Lake.

G. A. Morrison, general overseer of the Indians at the Red Lake Agency, was in the city the first of the week superintending the shipping of a large amount of freight to the agency. Mr. Morrison, as sub-agent, has practically full charge of the Indians on this reservation, under Capt. Mercer, who is the agent in general charge of the Leech Lake, Red Lake and Winnibigoshish tribes. He reports matters progressing favorably at all points in his district. The 'Cross Lakers, the band at the narrows between the two arms of the Red Lake, have now taken kindly to the idea of patronizing the school built for them by the government.

The rainfall in the Red Lake district has been grater, he thinks, than in any other portion of the state. The lake itself with its area of nearly 500 square miles, is from two and one-half to three feet higher than it was in June or July, and its tributaries are higher now than they were ever known to be by any of the inhabitants white or red now living. The Indians have no traditions that tell of a higher stage of water than now exists.

Woodmen Death Rate.

During the month of October just closed, there were 222 deaths of members, aggregating $408,000, reported to the head clerk of the Modern Woodmen society. This was the heaviest death rate in any one month in the history of the society. While this is so, it is not to be considered an indication of weakness, for the society is the largest in the United States, and the more members, of course, the more deaths, but not necessarily a larger percentage of deaths per 1,000 members. In fact, the very opposite is the case. The death rate of the Woodmen society last year was 4.91 per 1,000 members. Basing the death rate for the entire year 1900 on the October showing, it would be 5.12 per 1,000 members, while last year four other societies, with approximately as large a membership, showed a death rate of 5.67, 7, 8.06 and 11 per 1,000 members. This puts the Modern Woodmen society, by comparison, far in the lead with low death rate.

A house for sale or rent. Apply at NEWS office.

NOVEL SERENADE.

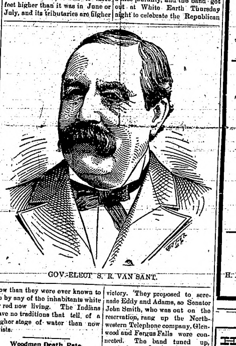
An Indian Band Serenades Congressman Eddy.

There have been serenades and serenades, but it is doubtful if there ever was a more novel election serenade than the one given Thursday evening to Congressman Frank M. Eddy and Elmer E Adams, chairman of the Republican congressional committee. Congressman Eddy has always been very popular with the Indians on the reservation. He has done much for them. Through his efforts a fine school house costing $50,000 has been built and a telephone line extended from Detroit to the agency at White Earth. They have always been his loyal supporters and the talk that they were going against him has never worried him or his advisors. They have been wearing handsome badges reading, "Boo Zhoo, For Congress, Frank M. Eddy, the Man With a Straight Tongue, Boo Zhoo." The reservation gave him a nice plurality, and the band got out at White Earth Thursday night to celebrate the Republican victory. They proposed to serenade Eddy and Adams, so Senator John Smith, who was out on the reservation, rang up the Northwestern Telephone company, Glenwood and Fergus Falls were connected. The band tuned up, marched into the agency headquarters, where the telephone receiver was located, and played a lively air. The music was transmitted down across the reservation to Detroit, thence to Fargo, N. D., and then down to Fergus Falls and Glenwood. It was well rendered and as distinct as if the serenaded party had been on the reservation. The serenade was highly appreciated. It is doubtful if any other congressman, sitting in his own home, has ever been serenaded by an Indian band 150 miles away in the middle of a reservation. A good many novel things have happened to Congressman Eddy but this is one of the queerest.—Fergus Falls Journal.

Palaces on Wheels.

The Burlington's new Minneapolis and St. Paul-Chicago and St. Louis train consists of a buffet library car, a combination sleeping car, a standard sleeping car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car, a reclining chair car and a day coach (high back seats.)

The most costly, beautiful, luxurious cars on earth. Steam heated; electric lighted. Wide vestibuled. No extra fares.



GOV.-ELECT S. R. VAN SANT.

CLOTHING!
CLOTHING!!
CLOTHING!!!

I have just received from Chicago a large assortment of ladies' winter jackets, which I will sell at ridiculously low prices.

This lot contains the finest grades of English Kersey, Beaver, Melton, Astrakan and Boncle, and comes in black, blue, brown, green and light and dark tan.

I am now prepared to show the finest line in the city of Clothing, Shoes, Underwear, Hats and Gents' Furnishings.

RED ✳ STAR
H. Lewin, CLOTHING HOUSE. Proprietor.

HOTEL OGAHMAH.
C. A. ROBBECKE, Prop.,
Thief River Falls, Minn.
STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS.
SPECIAL ACCOMMODATIONS TO HUNTING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.
NEWLY ENLARGED AND REFITTED THROUGHOUT.
BUS LINE IN CONNECTION.

G. H. Turville,
Livery, Feed and Sale Stable.
First Class Turnouts Furnished on Short Notice.
Omnibus line from depot to any part of city in connection
LA BREE AVENUE, THIEF RIVER FALLS.

THE NEWS,

By John W. Eastman.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THURSDAY, NOV. 15, 1900.

The Populists have again won a victory in Red Lake county. This is the only county in the state where they reign supreme.

The last election again demonstrates that a resident of Thief River Falls or St. Hilaire cannot secure a majority of the votes cast in this county, no matter on what ticket he is running. The French living in the southern part of the county vote solid, while the vote in the northern half of the county is split up. And it will ever be thus.

Congressman Eddy voices the sentiments of all loyal Republicans when he says: "I have only one thing special that I am going to work on; I am going to make a fight to have the next congress apportioned on vote, and not on population. If the south is going to disfranchise a large portion of the people, I want to see their representation cut down accordingly."

One of the most interesting articles in the November number of the North American Review is from the pen of that illustrious Japanese statesman, Count Okuma, who, a few years ago, was prime minister of the empire. It is entitled "The Industrial Revolution in Japan," and it tells how, at the restoration in 1868, when the Japanese people were seized with a craze for everything European, the manufacturers and workmen of Japan found themselves without a demand for their products, and everything had to be imported from Europe or America. There ensued a period of widespread distress, until the people realized that, if they were to escape industrial ruin, they must learn how to make at home for themselves the things for which they were depending on other countries. Factories of various kinds were accordingly established, and several industries have been so successful that they have not only supplied the home demand, but driven out European and American rivals from the markets of the far east. As an instance, Count Okuma cites the match industry:

"Among the most successful manufactures newly started in Japan, we may mention the match industry. Formerly, flint was in universal use in Japan; but, when matches were imported, they began at once to be used, even in the remotest villages. Some shrewd business men saw the great profits that could be realized from this industry; so it was started; and, although it had to encounter some difficulties at first, yet, before many years had passed, the home-made matches completely drove out those made in Europe. But, indeed, the success did not stop here; Japanese matches soon entered into competition with their European rivals in the Chinese markets. There they were again victorious. Today they are exported, besides, to Corea and Siberia, to Hong Kong, Singapore, British-India and to the islands of the southern Pacific, the annual amount of the export having now risen to about yen 7,000,000 in value."

Eddy at Home.

The little county of Pope, where Congressman Eddy lives, gives him more plurality than all the other seventeen counties in the district give Daly. This shows how the congressman stands at home.—Fergus Falls Journal.

THREE REPUBLICAN WINNERS.

CHAS. G. RAPP.

CHARLES SAMPSON.

LOUIS HANSON.

Marcus Denies.

Marcus Johnson was in Crookston today enroute to Red Lake Falls to look over business matters that have been neglected somewhat during the election excitement.

Mr. Johnson's face wore a placid look that showed him to be well satisfied with the way the returns came in, and he is credited with being $15,000 to the good as a result of his election wagers. He is a modest man, however, and denied that any such sum was snugly ensconsed in his inside pocket, or had been transferred to his bank account as a result of his good guessing. In fact, he denied that he made a cent on the result of the returns. Tom Shevlin, he said, was the only man he knew who was fortunate in this regard. The latter gentleman, Mr. Johnson said, has cleaned up about $18,000 on his wagers.—Crookston Times.

For New Accounting System.

It is announced that within a few days Governor Lind will appoint five or seven persons to form a commission which will draft a bill to be presented to the legislature, when it meets in January, providing for reorganizing the system of accounting in the county auditors' and treasurers' offices in the state. It is proposed to devise a system that will be a complete check on county funds, receipts and disbursements, so as to render accidental or criminal shortages impossible.

The appointees have not yet been named, but it is reported that either John Gleason, auditor of Polk county, or E. J. Miller, auditor of Big Stone county, will be chairman. It is to be hoped that the effort to devise such a self-protecting system may be successful.

THE TOTAL VOTE

Of Red Lake County for Each Candidate.

The following is the total vote of Red Lake county on the national, state, congressional and county ticket:

PRESIDENT.
Bryan	1,091
McKinley	778
Debs	67
Woolley	81
Malloney	9
GOVERNOR.
Lind	1,535
Van Sant	554
Lucas	81
Haugen	25
Fairchild	10
Rietz	5
CONGRESSMAN.
Daly	1,222
Eddy	879
Anker	57
Boen	14
REPRESENTATIVE.
Swanson	1,004
Rapp	748
Meehan	452
AUDITOR.
Zeh	1,465
Case	685
TREASURER.
Tandberg	1,169
Jenson	858
Thill	359
REGISTER OF DEEDS.
Gibeau	1,052
Holberg	885
Perusse	193
Hamry	24
SHERIFF.
Sampson	1,061
Linnihan	579
Moran	526
JUDGE OF PROBATE.
Knight	969
Johnson	793
Bachand	344
ATTORNEY.
Grady	1,124
Simons	545
Lee	498
SUPERINTENDENT.
Jeffers	1,700
O'Brien	918
CORONER.
Belair	1,136
Grundy	943
SURVEYOR.
Hagglund	1,060
Stacy	1,040
COMMISSIONERS.
Demann	320
Belair	204
Hanson	273
Jarman	215

Polk County Republican.

Polk county, which for years has been one of the strongest Populist counties in this section of the state, has been redeemed by the Republicans. The following is the vote on the national, state and congressional ticket:

NATIONAL.
McKinley	2,797
Bryan	2,459
STATE.
Lind	3,292
Van Sant	2,112
CONGRESSIONAL
Eddy	2,715
Daly	2,665

Indians Not Diminishing.

The remarkable statement that the Indian population of the United States today is little diminished from what it was in the time of Columbus, Coronado, Raleigh, Captain John Smith and other early explorers, is a feature of the annual report of the commissioner of Indian affairs, William Jones.

The report disputes positively the commonly accepted theory that by constant contact with the whites the extinction of the Indian is only a matter of time. The commissioner declared with emphasis that his researches from the most reliable data obtainable proves that the red men are not decreasing in numbers.

Since 1870, the time of the first reliable Indian census, the population has been stationery, the only decrease being attributable to Indians becoming citizens of the United States.

SWISS AS MILITARY MEN.

Strict Government Conditions Make Their Army a Superb War Machine.

Every year the Swiss soldier must do a certain amount of rifle practice in order to keep his marksmanship up to a high standard. He is allowed to choose his own time and place for this practice, but under strict government conditions. The Swiss army last year was composed of a total of 264,000 fighting men. A French military authority holds that "this army, in case of war upon its territory, need not fear any army which can be named." An English officer who witnessed its maneuvers two years ago wrote to the London Times that "of the Swiss army as a war machine it is impossible to speak in terms other than those which, to anyone who has not seen its performance, must appear too laudatory." The National Review contrasts the Swiss military organization with the British volunteer system and very much to the disadvantage of the latter. "Our men," says the writer, "are ill-trained in shooting and often armed with defective or discarded weapons. The Swiss have thoroughly modern arms and are probably the best shots in Europe. The Swiss system of mobilization is perhaps the most effective in the world." The Swiss have always been a fighting nation and the power which should attempt to annex them against their will would engage in a tremendous undertaking.

BELIEVE IN SOOTHSAYERS.

Many Women of Various Classes Are Regular Patrons of the Clairvoyants.

The writer recently called upon half a dozen professional palmists and clairvoyants and gathered in the course of the interviews some very startling facts concerning the clients who consult these ladies, says the New York Telegram.

"Every unmarried woman," said one clairvoyant to me, "asks the same question, namely, 'When shall I marry?'—a patently absurd question. Others, again, while not going quite so far, would like to know the initials of their future husband, whether he will be dark or fair, and so on.

"Some people's notions of the power of palmistry," declared another lady, "are wildly vague. For instance, a gentleman called here the other day who had lost $100, and he asked me where it could be found."

Fashionable authors are prone to inquire if their new books will go well, and one of our best known actors invariably consults a palmist in order to learn whether he will be successful in a new role.

Men, I learn, are quite as superstitious as women, and some even more so. Stockbrokers come in large numbers to consult one fashionable clairvoyant, and to another flock betting men, in order that the crystal globe may be consulted as to the success of a horse who may be carrying their money.

WOMEN HAVE DECORATION.

Forty-One of Them Have Received the Ribbon of the Legion of Honor.

According to a chart in the Palais des Femmes at the Paris exposition—the women's palace—the number of women who have received the ribbon of the Legion of Honor is not large—some 41 in all. Sarah Bernhardt is the latest name to be recommended for this honor, and this is the first time, it is understood, that an actress has been nominated. Of the 41, 31 had been decorated for special services in connection with hospital or ambulance work, one was an artist, one an archaeologist and three were rewarded for heroism in war. Rosa Bonheur was the artist, and she received the distinction in 1853 as a result of the award by the jury of the grand prix for her picture, "The Horse Fair," now known far and wide. The emperor did not approve of the Legion of Honor being conferred upon a woman, and it was not till 1865—12 years after—that she actually received it. In 1894 she became an officer of the order. Juliette Dodu, who was condemned to be shot by the Germans during the Franco-Prussian war for refusing to telegraph a message, was another. She was released by the order of Prince Frederick Charles, to receive both the cross of the legion and the military medal.

FOOD FOR THE FAMISHED.

Island in Torres Strait Where Stores Are Left for Distressed Sailors.

"Did you ever hear of the old ocean storehouse in Torres strait?" asked the old seaman, relates the Washington Star. "It's called Deliverance island, though it is sometimes marked on the charts as Berby island. It is like a mound rising out of the ocean, the highest point being about 50 feet. It is well-nigh barren, having only a few bushes and shrubs. On one side is a sandy beach, on the other a fissure forming a sort of cave, in which stores are left by men-of-war and merchant vessels passing through for the relief of distressed and shipwrecked sailors. I went in there last year from the Enterprise, an American bark.

"During a calm, we lowered a boat and pulled. In this cave we found tins of preserved meat, biscuits, tobacco and a wooden box marked 'post office.' Our skipper, Capt. Samuels, wrote a letter to a friend of his in Boston. It reached him, too. Deliverance island that day belonged to the French, but we took down their flag and hoisted the stars and stripes. That is the custom—the last ship through the straits hoists its flag on this ocean storehouse and post office."

LEGAL NOTICES.

All legal notices published by the undersigned will be charged for at full legal rates.

Phil A. Kaufer, Red Lake Falls Gazette
Jeffris & Boughton, R. L. F. Courier.
Ives & Soll, St. Hilaire Spectator.
John W. Eastman, Thief River Falls News
Thief River Falls Press.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. } ss. DISTRICT COURT.

Adolph O. Gallasch, Plaintiff,
vs.
F. H. Kratka, Alice B. Kratka, M. D. Wells, H. G. Macpharland and B. R. Wells, Co-partners as M. D. Wells & Co., Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of a Judgment and Decree entered in the above entitled action on the 22d day of September, 1900, a certified transcript of which has been delivered to me, I, the undersigned, Sheriff of said Red Lake county, will sell, at public Auction, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, the tenth day of December, 1900, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the court house in the village of Red Lake Falls, in said County, in one parcel, the premises and real estate described in said Judgment and Decree, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of Red Lake and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lots number thirteen (13) and fourteen (14), in Block number fifty-eight (58), in the original townsite of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, according to the plat thereof now on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for said Red Lake County.

Dated October 22d, 1900.

CHARLES SAMPSON,
Sheriff of Red Lake County.
A. A. Miller,
Plaintiff's Attorney,
Crookston, Minnesota. Oct 25 6

SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER JUDGMENT OF FORECLOSURE.

State of Minnesota, County of Red Lake. } ss. DISTRICT COURT.

L. Ellington, Plaintiff,
vs.
F. H. Kratka, Alice B. Kratka, Jacob Morck, Minnie Morck, John G. Woolley and Mrs. John G. Woolley, his wife, Defendants.

